Degrees are officially granted to the preceding lists of candidates when the fulfillment of all academic requirements have been certified by the University.

THE ACADEMIC PROCESSION

The centuries old pagentry of the academic procession dates from ancient tradition rooted in the early universities. Since the first academic ceremonies were predominantly in the charge of the clergy, they followed the familiar order of the religious procession. Today's academic procession is made up of members of the platform party, followed by members of the faculty, followed by candidates for graduation. After the ceremony, the order of the recession remains the same.

THE MACE

The staff carried at the front of the academic procession is called the mace. It is a symbol of authority and indicates that the activity is an official function of Lock Haven University. Since responsibility for the ceremony is shared by the honorary marshals, each of them carries a mace. The maces were fashioned from wood from Old Sullivan Hall which once stood on the present site of Stevenson Library.

ACADEMIC ATTIRE

The traditional costume worn by Lock Haven University faculty, staff, Council of Trustees and distinguished speakers at Convocation and Commencement is a record of academic achievement.

The origins of academic dress date back to the 12th and 13th Centuries, when universities were taking form in England and other parts of Europe. The ordinary dress of the scholar, whether student or teacher, was the dress of a cleric. Long gowns were worn, and may have been necessary for warmth, in unheated buildings. Hoods may have served as a cover to protect the tonsured heads of monks and other medieval scholars in the winter.

European institutions have always had great diversity in their specifications of academic dress. In contrast, shortly after the traditional academic dress was brought to the United States with the founding of Kings College (now Columbia University), American educators opted for a standardized system that all colleges and universities might follow.

In 1895, the Intercollegiate Commission, a group of leading American educators, drafted a code of academic dress, which in addition to regulating the style, cut and material of the gowns, prescribed the colors which represent various degrees of learning. This code was revised in 1932 and 1959, and updated in 1986.

The wearer's level of degree is indicated by the gown's cut. Doctoral gowns have full sleeves which are round and open. Gowns worn by Masters have long, closed, somewhat fuller sleeves, which reach nearly to the wearer's knees. The arm goes through a slot, giving the appearance of short sleeves. Those worn by Bachelors have long, pointed sleeves.

The color of the gown also varies. Although most of the doctoral gowns are black, in some cases their color is that of the university conferring the degree. Trimmed with three two-inch velvet bars on the sleeves and a five-inch velvet border extending from the back of the neck down the two sides in front, the doctoral gown is usually black. The velvet trimming may be of a color that indicates the nature of the degree. Master's and Bachelor's gowns have no such facing.

The size and shape of the hood, which is the most significant part of the academic dress, indicate the degree of the wearer. The Bachelor's hood is three feet in length with a two-inch velvet border; the Master's hood measures three and one half feet in length with a three-inch border; and the Doctoral hood is four feet with a five-inch border.

The color of the velvet border and hood lining indicate the academic field and the color or colors of the institution granting the degree respectively. Worn by University President Craig Dean Willis and graduates of the University's Master's Degree Program, the Lock Haven University hood is lined in the school colors of crimson and white. Other representative colors displayed by members of the University faculty and staff include:

Pennsylvania State Universitydark blue and white
Ohio State Universityscarlet and gray
Temple Universityred and white
Columbia Universityslate blue and white
Duke Universityroyal blue

The colors worn by Lock Haven University faculty and staff for all academic purposes, including the trimmings of doctors' gowns, edging of hoods, and cap tassels, are associated with the following disciplines:

WhiteArts, Letters, Humanities
DrabCommerce, Accountancy, and Business
Light BlueEducation
BrownFine Arts
CrimsonJournalism
LemonLibrary Science
PinkMusic
Silver GrayOratory
Dark BluePhilosophy
Sage GreenPhysical Education
Golden YellowScience
CitronSocial Science

The mortarboard cap, conventionalized from the skull cap worn by the monks of the 12th and 13th Centuries, is usually black. Tassels are worn over the left front quarter by degree holders; candidates wear the tassel over the right quarter until the degree is conferred.
