Academic Attire

The traditional attire worn by Lock Haven University faculty, staff, Council of Trustees and distinguished speakers at Convocation and Commencement is a record of academic achievement.

The origins of academic dress date back to the 12th and 13th centuries when universities were forming in England and other parts of Europe. The ordinary dress of the scholar, whether student or teacher, was the dress of a cleric. Long gowns were worn, and may have been necessary for warmth, in unheated buildings. Hoods may have served as a cover to protect the tonsured heads of monks and other medieval scholars in the winter.

European institutions have always had great diversity in their specifications of academic dress. In contrast, shortly after the traditional academic dress was brought to the United States with the founding of Kings College (now Columbia University), American educators opted for a standardized system that all colleges and universities might follow.

In 1895, the Intercollegiate Commission, a group of leading American educators, drafted a code of academic dress, which in addition to regulating the style, cut and material of the gowns, prescribed the colors which represent various degrees of learning. This code was revised in 1932 and 1959, and updated in 1986.

The wearer's level of degree is indicated by the gown's cut. Doctoral gowns have full sleeves which are round and open. Gowns worn by Masters have long, closed, somewhat fuller sleeves, which reach nearly to the wearer's knees. The arm goes through a slot, giving the appearance of short sleeves. Those worn by Bachelors have long, pointed sleeves.

The color of the gown also varies. Although most of the doctoral gowns are black, in some cases their color is that of the university conferring the degree. Trimmed with three two-inch velvet bars on the sleeves and a five-inch velvet border extending from the back of the neck down the two sides in front, the doctoral gown is usually black. The velvet trimming may be of a color that indicates the nature of the degree. Master's and Bachelor's gowns have no such facing.

The size and shape of the hood, which is the most significant part of the academic dress, indicate the degree of the wearer. The Bachelor's hood is three feet in length with a two-inch velvet border; the Master's hood measures three and one half feet in length with a three-inch border; and the Doctoral hood is four feet with a five-inch border.

The color of the velvet border and hood lining indicate the academic field and the color of colors of the institution granting the degree respectively. The hood worn by University President Craig Dean Willis is lined in the school colors of The Ohio State University—crimson and gray. Other representative colors displayed by members of the University faculty and staff include:

Pennsylvania State University	dark blue and white
Temple University	red and white
Columbia University	slate blue and white
Duke University	royal blue

Some of the colors worn by Lock Haven University faculty and staff for all academic purposes, including the trimmings of doctors' gowns, edging of hoods and cap tassels, are associated with the following disciplines:

White	Arts, Letters, Humanities
Drab	Commerce, Accountancy, Business
Light Blue	Education
Brown	Fine Arts
Crimson	Journalism
Lemon	Library Science
Pink	Music
Silver-Gray	Oratory
Dark Blue	Philosophy
Sage Green	Physical Education
Golden Yellow	Science
Citron	Social Science

The mortarboard cap, conventionalized from the skull cap worn by the monks of the 12th and 13th centuries, is usually black. Tassels are worn over the left front quarter by degree holders; candidates wear the tassel over the right quarter until the degree is conferred.

The Academic Procession

The centuries old pageantry of the academic procession dates from ancient tradition rooted in the early universities. Since the first academic ceremonies were predominantly in the charge of the clergy, they followed the familiar order of the religious procession in which the place of highest honor was at the end of the procession. Accordingly, the academic procession is made up of members of the platform party, members of the faculty, and members of the graduating class, marching in that order.

The Mace

The staff carried at the front of the academic procession is called the mace. It is a symbol of authority and indicates that the activity is an official function of Lock Haven University. Since responsibility for the ceremony is shared by co-marshals, each of them carries a mace. The maces were fashioned from wood from old Sullivan Hall which once stood on the present site of Stevenson Library.

Commencement Speaker

DR. RONALD E. HESS

Today's commencement address is presented by Dr. Ronald E. Hess, professor of chemistry at Ursinus College, Collegetown, PA.

A 1960 Lock Haven State College alumnus, Dr. Hess also holds a Ph.D. from Cornell University. An accomplished scholar, he is the author of more than eight publications on varied topics in chemical processes. Prior to earning his doctorate, he taught chemistry and biology at Cheltenham Township Senior High School in Pennsylvania. In 1966, he joined the staff of Ursinus College as Assistant Professor of Chemistry. Moving through the promotion process, Dr. Hess was named a full professor in 1983 and became premedical advisor in 1981.

He is the recipient of many honors and awards including the Distinguished Educator Award from the LHU Alumni Association, and the Brownback-Wagner Chair of the Health Sciences. He has held several leadership positions including secretary of the Ursinus College Faculty and member of the college Committee on Medical School Credentials. Active in his community, Dr. Hess has spent 26 years representing Ursinus in the Montgomery County Science Research Competition.

Dr. Hess is a member of the American Chemical Society, International Union of Pure and Applied Chemistry, The Society of Sigma Xi and the National Association for Advisors to the Health Professions. In his personal time, he is active with photography, racquetball and United States Railroads. He is an umpire and manager for little league and American Legion baseball.
