A MYSTERY

Was there ever a literary society meeting at C. V. S. N. S. without a visiting teacher? Did a teacher ever visit a society and not write a report concerning the pros and cons of the society program? Was a report ever submitted that did not contain at least one or two suggestions for the betterment of the society?

The suggestions—they are covered with dust and many of them have long since moulded away in the backs of the society members' minds. Time was when they were considered and perhaps some action taken upon them; but indeed those days seem to be gone forever. To be sure the visiting teacher lays the suggestion before the society personally. He inscribes them on the face of his written report. The written report, along with the attached suggestion is again presented for the society's inspection when the president reads the report as it was submitted to the office.

Where have the societies hidden these suggestions? How have they kept them from making any noise? What is the use of the faculty making suggestions, if the society is not going to consider them?

These and many other similar questions have arisen from the mystery surrounding the strange disappearance of the suggestions. It has been impossible to keep them waiting through the long months in the dust of forgetfulness. The owners of the suggestions are rising up and calling attention to the fact that they have made suggestions and that the suggestions have disappeared leaving no trace of their presence upon the society.

Surely the faculty, as well as some of the members of both societies, are justified in the questions that they are asking. Every Friday evening two teachers give up an entire evening to attend the societies. This fact in itself is enough to warrant at least some slight consideration of the matters that they lay before the society. Of course the visiting teacher is told by the presiding officer that the society is very grateful for his intimations. They then proceed to express their appreciation by promptly storing the hint on a back shelf, along with the other hints for the betterment of the society.

It is suggested that the societies take stock of the suggestions that have been made during the past weeks. It is without a doubt that there are many that will prove of infinite value. Normal and Philo, here is another opportunity to improve your society. Try-out, if you do not care to adopt them on the spur of the minute, some of these gentle reminders. Perhaps, through try-out, you will find the very one that your society needs—one that would have at first glance been pushed far back on the shelf of forgetfulness.

THE CAMPUS REFLECTOR hopes to see some of these suggestions given a trial, if not an acceptance, by both the societies in the near future.

GOOD ENGLISH

The obligation of every student of C. V. S. N. S. to use his mother tongue should be efficiently employed every day in every way. Yes, this is Good English Week, but that does not necessarily mean that because this is Good English Week, next week should be Bad English Week, or Just as Bad as It Always Was English Week. The mistakes of this week should be profited by next week and so on until each week would be a bit better than the past one.

The ability to use good English is a distinct asset to any teacher, and the man or woman that graduates without having gained an orderly method of expression has a poor chance in the teaching field. There is too great a tendency to say the easy thing, too little to say the correct thing.

We have a good start—why not continue it?

Y. W. MEETING IN CHARGE OF MISS LOUISE SWARTZ

"Service" was the topic of the lesson at the weekly Y. W. C. A. meeting held in the court of the dormitory last Sunday. The meeting was in charge of Louise Swartz '24. Sara Rider '24 read, as the Scripture Lesson, Psalm 100. A quartet, "Crossing the Bar," was sung by Theadora Poor '25, Ethel McCormick '24, Sara Rider '24 and Elizabeth Selfridge '24. Miriam Embick '24 recited. The leader gave an exceedingly interesting discussion on the topic, "Service for Christ, Service for Others and Service for Self." In the second division, "Service for Others," she used as an illustration Life at C. V. S. N. S. She said that we are all living here as one large family and should regard each other as such; but instead of being loyal to the girls, we find fault with everything anyone does and that as soon as one person leaves a room, the others present immediately criticize her. "This isn't service for each other," Miss Swartz said.

GOOD ENGLISH AND BOOK WEEK IN THE TRAINING SCHOOL

The Training School children are joining in the nation wide celebration of Good English Week and Book Week. They began the celebration last Friday, having a Good English program in the assembly period. A play, "Alice in Grammar Land" was very ably presented by the ninth grade pupils. Alice in her journey thru Grammar Land found that the king of that land punished the Hatter, the Duchess and other inhabitants for grave mistakes in English. Awaking from her dream, Alice decided to watch more carefully the English of Dinah, her cat as well as her own.

This week the walls of the Training School corridors are covered with posters made by Miss Culp's children's Literature and Story Telling classes. Each poster illustrates a good book for children and is made so attractive that the children seeing the poster, will want to read the book.

The children of the Intermediate and Junior High Grades have entered into a book contest. Each child is writing a composition the subject, "Why I Like—"

The name of the book liked best is inserted in the blank space. The compositions are to be not more than 75 words long. The best of each grade are to be published in "The Chronicle" so that the parents may read them and perhaps become interested in buying better books for their homes.

Another very important activity of book week is the preparation of a Book Pageant to be given in the Assembly Hall, Friday, November 16. Written invitations have been sent to the parents inviting them to come and see the pageant in which children from all grades are taking part.

BREAKFAST HIKE HELD LAST SATURDAY MORNING

The breakfast hike, the event that has been looked forward to for the past few weeks, articulated last Saturday morning just as old "Sol's" beaming face came up from behind the mountains. One hundred and twenty fair co-eds braved the perils of early morning rising and tramped toward the "Cave" and breakfast.

None but those skilled in culinary art participated in the annual breakfast hike spree, since every girl was required to cook the weiners and bacon that she wished for her own consumption. From the amount of weiners and bacon that disappeared, it is evident that the hiking squad of C. V. S. N. S. is composed of excellent chefs. The weiners and bacon were supplemented by rolls and apples.

The role of hikers was changed to that of ballet girls by a group of girls from the senior class and another group from the Junior class. The girls shook the dust of the road from their heels in dances that brought forth gales of laughter from the spectators.

Eight fifteen found the early risers wending their way into the dormitory and discussing the "Hare and Hound Chase" which will be held November 17, and also the last hike of the season which is scheduled for November 24. The last hike will be taken to Chambersburg.

The Philo program this week sounds unusual, "honest Injun."

REFLECTIONS

Reba Shue

Thurston Collicott

Man's life's a vapor
 Full of woes,
 He cuts a caper,
 Down he goes.
 A girl's life here's a hurry.
 Well, she knows
 If she's not home early,
 No more shows.

Topics of the day discussed in the dining room:

"I must count my calories for today. If I didn't eat breakfast, do I count it anyhow?"

"I'm going to have mine taken over. They're horrible. I don't look like that, I hope."

"Do you know we must pay class dues and Cumberland money this week? What makes a year book cost so much, I'd like to know?"

In line with the idea of a time budget for studying, it might pay to use words and actions to best advantage.

A well dressed gentleman noticed a mother and her small son who seemed to be in great difficulty. He inquired as to the trouble and learned that the boy had swallowed a nickle. He promptly held the child by the feet, and the money rolled to the sidewalk. In her relief the mother said, "O, thank you. You must be a doctor for you knew just what to do."

"No, madam, you've mistaken," he replied. "I'm the collector of Internal Revenue."

"PREDESTINATION" SUBJECT AT PRAYER SERVICE

"What Makes Me What I Am?" was the main theme of Rev. Wetzel's sermon at Prayer Meeting last Wednesday. He said that heredity and environment and creation by God are some of the factors in determining what we are. He believes firmly that we are created in God's image, but he argued that what we are or ever can be is done chiefly by the power of will. Rev. Wetzel rejected the theory of predestination, claiming if the ends of our lives were decided ages ago, there would be no need for any effort, whatsoever, on our parts to lead pure, successful lives. We are held accountable for our deeds and our misdemeanors. The closing thought of the sermon was that the greatest gift God has given us is the privilege of choice, whether our lives should be great or humble, noble or ignoble.

Professor Pennington was in charge of the meeting. A double quartet of mixed voices sang.

SCHOOL HEAD DISFAVORS AUTOS FOR STUDENTS

Declaring that it is very difficult for a student with more than one hundred dollars a month spending money, to spend the money and also stay in school, Dr. John Henry MacCracken of Lafayette College advocates that allowances be kept at a minimum and also discourages the possession of motor cars by college men according to an article of his in the New York Herald on "No Motor Cars Are Needed at College."

IT HAPPENS TO EVERY GIRL

A woman is queer there's no doubt about that.

She hates to be thin and she hates to be fat.

One minute it's laughter—the next it's a cry.

You can't understand her however you try;

But there's one thing about her that everyone knows;

A woman's not dressed 'til she powders her nose.

You never can tell what a woman will say.

She's a law to herself every hour of the day,

It keeps a man guessing to know what to do—

And mostly he's wrong when his guessing is through;

But this you can bet on, wherever she goes,

She'll find some occasion to powder her nose.

I've studied the sex for a number of years,

I've watched her in laughter, and seen her in tears;

On her ways and her whims I've pondered a lot,

To find what will please her and what will not;

But all that I've learned from the start to the close

Is that sooner or later she'll powder her nose.

At church or a ball game, a dance or a show,

There's one thing about her, I know that I know—

At weddings or funerals, dinners of taste,

You can bet that her hand will dive into her waist,

And every few minutes she'll strike up a pose

And the whole world must wait 'til she powder's her nose.

ARMISTICE DAY PROGRAM BIG SUCCESS AT PHILO

Every member of Philo had a chance to participate in the Armistice Day program presented by the Society in the Training School auditorium last Friday evening, when patriotic songs and old time favorites under the direction of Margaretta Snow '24 were sung as only Philomatheans can sing them. "Jingle Bells," "Annie Laurie," "Love's Old Sweet Song," "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny," "Till We Meet Again," "Auld Lang Syne" and "America," rang out in a great burst of music.

Jack Seal '24 read an excellent essay, according to Prof. Stewart, the visiting teacher, on "Armistice Day." Harold Miller '25 delivered an oration, and Miss Lola Pheasant '25 gave a reading, "The Child's Blanket."

The debate of the evening, "Resolved, That France is justified in demanding reparations from Germany" was debated affirmatively by Florence Nicodemus '24 and Mary Troup '24 and negatively by Roy Whitsel '25 and John Baker '25. The judges decided in favor of the affirmative speakers.

Miss Mildred Shirk '24 entertained the audience with a piano solo, "Whispering Pines" by Harry D. Kinder, which was unusually well received.

The special feature, cleverly planned by Mildred Barkdoll '24 was unique and well presented. Miss Barkdoll sang an amusing number, "You'll Not Remain Single Long," while her co-workers acted out the suggestions offered in the song. They were: Anabelle Leshner '25 and Harry Wolf '25, Helen Maxheimer '25 and Corbin Pennington '25, and Mildred Kline '25 and Hubert Zimmerman '26. The number was received with a loud burst of applause.

The girls' quartette, under the direction of Madeline Klinepeter '24 sang a very beautiful number, "Minstrel's Request" by West.

The Philo Review was edited this week by Mary Swisher '24. Louise Swartz '24 acted as critic, and Sarah Ryder '24 was recording secretary and Clair Smith '24 presided.

Prof. Stewart was the visiting teacher and he gave an inspiring talk to the members of Philo.

MILLERSVILLE DOWNS NORMAL BY HEAVIEST SCORE OF YEAR

Team in Crippled Condition; Five Regulars Out of Line-up

FUMBLES AND PUNTS COSTLY

Last Saturday the Red and Blue team after playing Millersville Normal on their field, came back to C. V. S. N. S. with a defeat marked up in the form of a 27-0 score.

Millersville won the game by the use of forward passes, line plunges and Normal's mistakes.

C. V.'s team made fatal errors in passing and punting. Although the team started the game without five regulars, Geedy, Cliff Smith, Don Ritter, Angle and Jimmy Smith, the boys played ball below normal except in the first period.

The game started with Normal receiving. The fray during the first ten minutes was great. It was a spectacle fit for Kings but after the end of the first quarter it slowed down and both teams lagged in their playing. The first quarter was played in the center of the field with both teams punting on fourth down and then running the ball back to midfield to only lose it on downs.

George Meredith and Clair Smith did practically all of Normal's gaining but miscalculated plays lost the hard earned ground. Eby, a green man at quarter-back cannot be criticized severely for that position isn't mastered overnight.

The second chapter of the struggle proved to be the beginning of the Red and Blue downfall. They started to use forward passes and they soon proved disastrous. Millersville intercepted and took the ball on the 38-yard line. The home team began a rush of end runs, plunges and passes for their first score and point after goal. During this period Capt. Gilbert's men played hard ball and as a result two Millersville boys had to be carried off the gridiron.

The crippled and patched up team of the Red and Blue came back with plenty of fight in the second half but it did not last long and the opponents took advantage of their opportunity and scored another touchdown from a triple pass. Shippensburg made several breaks by way of fumbles and bad punts. Millersville was fortunate enough to get the benefit of them. Time and again Coach Ingalls' men tried desperately for a score but to no avail.

During the last period Normal opened up another passing attack and went the distance of the field but lost the ball on the 20-yard line through a costly fumble. They held Millersville after a terrific onslaught on the Red and Blue 10-yard line. Quarter-back Eby started another passing attack to Harbaugh, Hays and Jimmy Smith who had been out until this period on account of an injured neck. They carried the ball back to the field and tried desperately to score but it was in vain. The game ended with the ball in the Red and Blue's possession on the fifteen yard line.

GOOD ENGLISH ESSENTIAL IN PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Physical Education is another phase of the curricular work where English plays an important part. Miss Robb, head of the Physical Education Department, states, "There's no type of work in which the process of imitation is more active than in Physical Training. The students consciously and unconsciously imitate the posture, the tone, inflection and even the exact words of the command; also in the explanation of games as the time is limited and the group is a large one, correct English is essential to the success of the game."

Seniors, have you had your physiognomy reproduced at Laughlin's yet? November is passing.

In filling your card with other folks' English errors, don't neglect to remedy your own.

NEW MEMBERS ADD VIM AND PEP TO NORMAL'S PROGRAM

Normalites appearing on the program for the first time took the lead in last Friday's meeting. Harvey Hamill's cornet solo, "Tripoli," was the best number of its kind given in Normal Society this year. The vocal solo, "Little Mother of Mine," by Beatrice Myers '24 permits Normal to add another name to her list of soloists. The Glee Club sang "Tingle-Ingling," a selection from "High Jinks."

The moving pictures under the direction of Mabel Frank '25 were of the latest release. Ten scenes were shown, each demonstrating some phase of school life. "How to act on Senior Night Out," "What to do on the Campus," and "Instructions for the Third Party" were a few of the things solved for the students. The educational reel included a boxing match between "Kid" Sell and "Knock-out" Gardner. "Time-out" Hudson, the referee, showed good form and won the decision of the house.

The Oration on Armistice Day by George Kauffman '25 was suited to the occasion. The ending, in which everyone arose and gave the pledge of allegiance to our flag, was something unusual. Millie Minnick '25 recited "The Sand Man" to the accompaniment of the piano. This was a new idea and showed the ability of the new member. Clarence Flickinger '25 edited the gazette in true Normal Fashion.

The business meeting was very spirited. After a heated discussion, formal debating was adopted by the unanimous vote of the society. Nominees were chosen for election of officers next Friday evening. A motion was passed to elect a director for Normal's Orchestra. Nominations were also made for this position, and the director will be chosen at the next meeting.

The nominations were as follows: President—Walter Strike, Chalmers Sell. Vice President—William Hudson, Vincent Trich. Secretary—Effie Wynn, Guida Stine, Mabel Smith. Critic—Helen Dougherty, Wilbur Mehring. Director of Orchestra—Harvey Hamill, Edwin Harbaugh, William Hudson.

Have you assisted the Christmas Book week activities of the Training School? You will need some inspiration next year for your own school. Why not store away some ideas now?

ALUMNI

The Alumni Association of Philadelphia held their annual banquet in the large ball-room of the McMurtrie Restaurant on Spring Garden Street, November 10, 1923.

A business meeting preceded the banquet. At the meeting it was decided to hold a banquet annually on the Saturday evening following Easter Sunday. The election of officers for the year resulted as follows:

President, H. K. Strickler '90 of Ardmore, Pa.; First Vice President, L. B. Hafer '93, Philadelphia; Second Vice President, C. J. Walters '89, Philadelphia; Corresponding Secretary, Laura B. Staley '86, Ardmore; Recording Secretary, Laura Nonnemacher '17, Allentown; Treasurer, Dr. Zimmerman '07, Philadelphia.

The room was decorated with the school colors. Dr. S. Z. Shope, Philadelphia, acted as toastmaster. Dr. Lehman brought the greetings of the school to the association and spoke of the improvements now being made at the school. He also told of the large attendance at Normal this year. Each class was called on to respond through one of its representatives.

The banquet closed with the singing of the Alma Mater. The remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.

Rose McCahn spent some time at the Normal last Sunday. She is teaching sixth grade at Hellingswood, N. J. Miss McCahn was a member of last year's class.

Mary Good '23 visited at the school over the week end. She is teaching the "Opportunity" class of the first grade in the Neal building, York, Pa.

Frank B. N. Hoffer '85 died at his home near Mt. Joy, November 9, 1923, of pleurae pneumonia. He taught in the schools near his home the greater part of his life.

Philip C. Miller '90 died October 30 at his home in Reading. After graduating from C. V. S. N. S. he taught in the rural schools of Adams and Berks counties. The last few years he has been conducting a grocery store in Reading.

SENIOR CLASS MEETING PLANS FOR YEARBOOK DISCUSSED AT MEETING

A business meeting of the Senior Class was held last Friday night in the Training School Chapel. The Cumberland pennants, pictures and class invitations were discussed.

INTERMEDIATE GROUP HEADS LIST OF SENIORS

None from Jr. High Group to Be Graduated Next June

There are 203 members from last year's Jr. class who are students at C. V. S. N. S. this term. Of this number about 170 will be graduated next June. The remaining members who have elected the Junior High Group, will not finish their course until February 1924.

Among the Senior girls, 53 or 32.9% of last year's Junior class represent the Primary Group. They have a scholastic average of 83.36% which is only excelled by the girls of the Junior High Group. They have nine members with a scholastic average of 84.12%. The boys of the Jr. High Group show an average of 82.1% for the group. The boys of the Junior High Group also lead in scholarship among the boys, the Intermediate Group average for the boys being 77.72% and the Rural Group 79.44%. The boys of the Rural Group have the lowest average of any group while the girls have the lowest among the girls, their average being 81.77%. The girls of the Intermediate Group have an average of 82.34%.

Although the highest general average of the group belongs to the girls of the Jr. High Group, a girl from the Intermediate Group captured the Junior Scholastic Medal last year. Reba Shue carried 18 branches and had an average of 89.11%.

The highest average among the girls of the Rural Group goes to Margaret Fox and to Helen Miller in the Jr. High Group.

Among the girls of this year's Senior class 35.1% belong to the Primary Group, 17.66% to the Rural Group and 47.37% to the Intermediate.

Among the boys of this year's Senior class, there are about 55% in the Rural and 45% in the Intermediate Group.

None from the Junior High Group will be graduated this year.

PROFESSOR STEWART ELECTED SCHOOL DIRECTOR

At the recent election held Tues. Nov. 6, Prof. John Keats Stewart, head of the Latin Department of the school, was elected school director of Shippensburg Township for a term of six years. Prof. Stewart proved a good vote getter as he received more than twice as many votes as his opponent.

Shippensburg Township is to be congratulated on the election of Prof. Stewart for this important office for no one could be better qualified for this type of public service. He is interested in everything that makes for progress and efficiency. For seventeen years he has been connected with the school and is widely and favorably known by all the alumni. He takes an active part in all school activities and is an enthusiastic football man. His constant support of the team makes him a favorite with the student body. He is also an eloquent and forceful speaker and it is predicted that he will be heard frequently on many educational questions of the day. The Campus Reflector congratulates Prof. Stewart on this honor that has come to him.

IMPORTANT SUBJECT DISCUSSED AT Y. M. C. A.

"What Influence do Competitive Contests Have in My Life?" was the topic discussed by the leader, Herbert Sheets, at the Y. M. C. A. meeting on Sunday evening. He stated that the topic is one of so great importance in our lives that it cannot be over-estimated. Mr. Sheets strengthened the statement by saying that life is nothing but a competitive contest and that we should fight it so well that we would reach our goal and be able to give our best to the world. He showed that all great men had to fight the contest successfully before they became great.

Other men who took part in the program were Claude Mellott, Charles Gentzler and Claire Deardorff.

When work piles around you as high as a mountain, remember you're just one elevation in a range.
