MERRY REVELRY GREETSS STUDENTS AT JUNIOR PROM

Receiving Line Forms in New Parlor; Suspended Ceiling of Purple and Gold Streamers Constructed in Gymnasium

MOON CROWNING TOUCH OF DECORATIONS

Eleven o'clock Saturday evening found a throng of tired, happy C. V. students, the strains of the home waltz still ringing in their ears, walking slowly over the snow covered Campus toward the dormitory. The evening was a success from beginning to end. The receiving line formed promptly at seven o'clock in the new parlor which was opened for the occasion. Ralph Swan, president of the Junior Class, and Lola Pheasant, secretary, headed the line. The other people in the line were Mr. and Mrs. George S. MacLean, Mrs. George H. Stewart, Mr. H. E. Boher, Mr. George H. Stewart Jr., Mrs. Ezra Lehman and Dean and Mrs. Heiges. William Hudson '25 acted as master of ceremonies. The gay dresses against the beautiful and brilliantly lighted background of the parlor formed a picture that the Juniors will long remember in connection with their prom.

In the gym, a veritable sea of purple and gold met the eye, for a suspended ceiling had been constructed, made up entirely of purple and gold streamers. The class banner was at one end of the room and at the other end was the class motto—"Renigans non Fluctuans" or "Rowing Not Drifting." However, the crowning touch of the decorations, according to the consensus of opinion was the moon. The merry old friend of revelry and youth winked one eye at the dancers, from his station above faculty corner and for two whole dances, his mellow rays furnished the only light for the party.

The Club Royal Orchestra from Carlisle was ensconced upon a platform converted into a bower of greens

At eight o'clock the dining room was open to the Juniors and after these guests of honor had been served, the other guests were privileged to flock there for refreshments.

What a transformation a few changes can make in the Normal School dining room! The long tables gave place to cozy little ones, just large enough for four. Each table was decorated with a center piece of sweet peas—the class flower—and by two gold candles shaded with unique little candle shades worked out in a conventionalized design of the sweet pea. The favors were small cups of purple and gold filled with candy and nuts.

Fountains always have been associated with music and happiness and this idea was carried out in the dining room where an old stone fountain, covered with greens, splashed merrily during the entire evening.

The color scheme of purple and gold was minutely carried out, even to the ice cream which was raspberry garnished with candied orange peel.

The menu for the supper was as follows:

Chicken Puffs	Olives
Pickles	Rolls
Salted Nuts	Cakes
Candy	Ice Cream-Demi-tasse

Much credit for the success of the prom is due to the committee in charge, the underclassmen who volunteered to serve the supper and to Misses Huber, Cox and McWilliams.

The prevailing sentiment both among the students and faculty seems to be "long live the prom." It is rumored that a large percentage of students are already planning what they shall wear to next year's fete.

HAGERSTOWN SIX TO CLASH WITH RED AND BLUE TEAM

The Shippensburg girls' varsity will meet the Hagerstown sextette to morrow afternoon at three o'clock on the Normal School floor. This will make the second tilt of the season to be played on the home floor for the Red and Blue aggregation. Up to date they have not chalked up a victory from either of the two games that they have played, but from the way they handled the situation last Monday evening when they bucked up against the Reserve team, it is probable that they are going to give Hagerstown plenty of trouble.

Hagerstown is coming here with a live wire aggregation. Their past reputation is an excellent one and they do not mean to drop their colors to the Shippensburg squad. Last year they handed the home team two defeats.

Even though the Hagerstown team flouts many victories, the C. V. S. N. S. girls intend to avenge the past defeats. Although the local co-eds are more mature, the game will be a hard one.

A committee will meet the visiting team and entertain them in the girls' dorm.

The probable line-up will be:
Forwards—Smith, Lehman.
Guards—Heckman, Morrow.
J. Center—Felton.
S. Center—Minehart.

PRESS CLUB PLANS TO HOLD ANNUAL DANCE

The Press Club is another quarter heard from in the social world for the organization is planning to give its annual dance, March 15.

The Press Club Dance is one of the elite social events of the year for attendance is limited strictly to Club members and their guests. Although the general plans have been made there are many details which must yet be worked out and all that is definitely known is that the decorations promise to be in keeping with St. Patrick's Day.

The following committees are in charge.

Social Committee—Mildred Breneman, chairman; Naomi Wineland, Martha Hutchinson, Lola Pheasant.

Dance Committee—Jack Seal, chairman; Genevieve Mitchell, Arthur Filler.

Decorating Committee—George Brougher, chairman; John Harris, Louise Swartz, Mabel Zimmerman.

FRESHMAN CLASS WILL BE REPRESENTED IN ATHLETICS

Tired of obscurity, the Freshman Class of C. V. S. N. S. will place teams in the field to compete in all athletics as do the other classes of the school. Last fall the Freshmen were represented on the football field by a team of husky followers of the pigskin. During the basket ball season the class has placed a boys' and a girls' basket ball team which has been a credit to the class.

BOYS TAKE PART IN PHYSICAL ED. EXHIBITION

Two Hundred and Twenty-five Students Take Part in Various Events

GROUP DANCING FEATURES

The annual physical training exhibition was given in the gymnasium yesterday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock. For the first time in the history of the exhibitions, the boys had a place on the program. This was one of the largest affairs of its kind staged by the Physical Education Department, since two hundred and fifty students took part in the various events.

The exhibition was under the direction of the members of the department, Miss Robb, Miss Hefferman and Mr. Ingalls. Miss Robb coached the Senior girls, Miss Hefferman the Juniors and Underclass girls and Mr. Ingalls the boys' work.

The opening numbers of the exhibition were performed by the Juniors and Underclass girls, the Juniors leading off with a Grand March, followed by a folk dance, "The Irish Lilt" by the Underclassmen. The Seniors contributed a wand drill as their share in this section of the program.

Two competitive games were played, one between the Juniors and Underclassmen and the other between the Juniors and Seniors. The Juniors won both contests.

Group dancing also played a prominent part on the program. The "Horn Pipe" was danced by eight fair sailor maids. They were attired in white and wore sailor hats tilted at a decidedly rakish angle. The girls in the dance were: Emma Gross, Dorothy Weaver, Margaret Shafstal, Mae Parfet, Ruth Miller, Blanch Straley, Mary Morrow and Guyda Stine.

The Spanish dance was given by Anne McFadden, Edith Throckmorton, Thelma Hutchinson, Catherine Werner, Ethel Warfel and Ruth Wahrman. The Spanish ladies wore the costumes of their native country and glided to the music of their gayly be-decked tambourines.

Josephine Clark led the Indian dancers who were: Dorothy Tritle, Mary Troup, Louise Armstead, Leah Decker, Helen Crozier, Anna Mary Miller, Gertrude Griffith, Betty Minehart, Ruth Blouse, Fay Bower and Jessie Baylor. The squaws danced around a bonfire in the center of the gym, giving realistic warwhoops.

The boys demonstrated various phases of military marching and the kind of work that they do on the apparatus.

The exhibition attracted large numbers of people. Not only were the students and faculty present but there were also a number of outsiders in attendance.

MISS SLAVEN LEAVES FOR OHIO TO TAKE NEW WORK

Miss Slaven left the Shippensburg Normal Sunday, February 10th to enter a new field of work in Columbus, Ohio. A new department has been created in the Ohio State Department which provides for a system of libraries in the high schools of the state. Miss Slaven has complete charge of the department; her headquarters are in Columbus but she will travel from place to place advising and helping in the organization of these libraries.

Miss Slaven received her training in the University at Minnesota, the Lelam-Stanford University of California, and her special library training was received in Pittsburg. She was a member of the staff of the New York Library where she had special charge of the reference department.

HEATING SYSTEM OF C. V. INSTALLED IN LATE EIGHTIES

First Pipe System Introduced in Boys' Dormitory in 1883; Ground For Present Heating Plant Was Purchased in 1899

SHIPPENSBURG HAS FINE HEATING PLANT

Who said its cold at C. V. S. N. S.? Have the students of today a more delicate construction than their forefathers? Perhaps the old grads were immune to cold—say during the blizzard of '88. Anyway, we know that a modern system of heating was not installed in the school until long after this time. Probably some such system was needed, for the January Herald for 1897 says, "On account of the cold weather the water has been shut off from the fountain and the fountain basins emptied. The gold fish have been placed in the large aquarium which has found a place in the Model School." The April Herald of the same year, however, reassures us that "The water has been turned on in the fountain, and the gold fish have been returned to the fountain." In the beginning and even in the "early eighties," stoves were used to heat the buildings of C. V. S. N. S. About 1883 a pipe system was introduced in the boys' dormitory, which, of course, was a great improvement over the first heating system, even though it didn't "work" much better than the system in vogue today.

In July 1898, the trustees of the school purchased a plot of ground from the Himes property, just across from the railroad, for the purpose of erecting a steam heating plant and power house during the summer. This building was not completed so soon, however. In the April Herald for 1899, we read that the "old baseball diamond on Himes' Field was spoiled when the School purchased the plot of ground on which the heating plant is to be erected."

The heating plant as we know it today was not finished until October 1899. With joyous pride, the students of C. V. S. N. S. announced—"The new power house is at last in working order." The stack is one hundred feet in height and has attracted much attention as a stack can be a thing of beauty; its graceful proportions have excited considerable comment. The roofing of the building has not yet been completed, but everything else is in first-class shape and we now feel little fear of the winter. When the grounds around the power house have been fixed up, they will prove quite an addition to our beautiful campus. " (Sure enough, the grounds were fixed up. In the April Herald for 1900, we read—"The grading of the lower part of the Campus is now completed and the grounds cause general satisfaction.")

During the summer of 1910 additional changes were made in the heating system of the school, although the system as a whole was not altered.

In October 1919, a big coal bin, "A very useful if not particularly ornamental structure," was added to the power house. This bin was capable of holding fifteen carloads of coal. This has since been replaced by a newer and more up-to-date bin. No shoveling is necessary to unload the car now.

In January of the same year Dr. Lehman announced to the alumnae in a letter, "You will be interested to know that we at last have a modern heating plant installed in the administrative building. The boys lavatory is splendidly equipped and the gymnasium has been furnished with an up-to-date heating plant."

During the past year, more piping was installed in the buildings of C. V. S. N. S. and in spite of the general opinion that the heating system here is "not-so-good," C. V. S. N. S. really does have a fine system of heating, compared with the heating of other normal schools in the state.

REV. GLENN SPEAKS AT PRAYER MEETING SERVICES

Rev. Glenn was the speaker at prayer meeting last Wednesday evening.

The Junior members of the girls' choral society sang "Glorious Things Are Spoken." Gladys Huber '24 sang "Abide with Me."

"In the name of our God we will set up our banners" was the theme of Rev. Glenn's talk. He said "Our banners should bear the following confession: I believe in the Deity and in the Divinity of our Saviour, Jesus Christ."

He explained that loyalty to one's friends, home, school, and country, meant loyalty to Christ for a spirit of sacrifice, courage and faith in the redeeming love of Jesus would follow. He concluded by saying, "I'm living my life for Christ; too many people are living for self. I'm living for others because Jesus lived for others. He came to administer to others not to be administered to."

DR. LEHMAN ATTENDING EDUCATIONAL ASSOCIATION

Dr. Lehman is in Chicago this week attending the meeting of the Department of Superintendents of the National Educational Association. Educational problems are here under discussion.

SENIORS WIN BY ONE COUNT FROM THE SOPHS

The Senior class quintet won over the classy Sophs five last night on the Gym floor by a 15-14 score with one minute of extra play during which Clair Smith, stellar forward for the Senior team, placed a neat one from the free throw line.

The game was close from start to finish both teams showing up their best on all occasions. The Sophs started off with fast passing but erratic shooting from the floor registering their score from fouls. The Senior squad were permitted but four tallies during the first session while the Sophomore team ran up five, thus giving them a one point lead over their opponents.

During the second half both teams put up a stubborn fight in the first part but in the second, the yearlings got together and held the Senior five to a tie when the final blast was tooted. An extra minute of play was granted and Ref. Jones called one on the Sophomores which gave the ball to Clair Smith who tossed it in for the winning count.

Weibley was the high scoring man for the Sophomore team while Clair Smith was high scoring man for the Seniors registering 7 counts during the last half while he was playing.

THE ENVELOPE SYSTEM

Several weeks ago Dr. Lehman announced in chapel that on a certain day in the not far distant future the contents of the envelopes kept on file in the main office would be ready for inspection. These envelopes contain the records (at least that is their reputation) of the deeds of the students, be they good deeds or bad deeds. It is within these envelopes that the history of the student's life at C. V. S. N. S. is recorded. They are a record of the goals that have been achieved, a particularly hard task that has been well performed, a record of excellent co-operation in the class room, or of an active part that has been taken in literary society. They also contain black marks, as well as commendatory ones, which have been chalked up against the students. There are instances where rooms have not been cleaned, some social regulation broken, or a failure in academic work. In fact these envelopes are the student's reputation here at school.

They are letters of recommendation that are exhibited when a school superintendent is searching for a prospective teacher. We are told that in many cases they are the straw that tips the scales either favorably or unfavorably. By their contents, a superintendent knows if the young man or young woman is capable of filling a vacancy in his school.

Many of the students heeded Dr. Lehman's announcement and at the time set, paid the office a visit in order to learn the nature of the contents of the envelopes on which their names were inscribed. Many are the cries of disappointment and anger that have echoed through the buildings since the reading of the envelopes. In some cases students have taken a decidedly active part in society, but no recognition was awarded their efforts. In other cases a considerable amount of time and effort was expended in helping to prepare for a Junior Reception, society reunion or anniversary, but it is evident that all records of this activity have been mislaid.

Then too, some students found nothing but an empty envelope awaiting them. There are few students, be they ever so negative, who have not done some act for which a note of commendation or perhaps one of reprimand might be placed in his envelope. There are also a few students who are so disinterested that they have given the faculty members little or no opportunity for commending or for reprimanding them. What kind of envelope recommendation will these students be able to expect when they are ready for positions?

Is the envelope system of C. V. S. N. S. to become a farce? It certainly is an excellent plan since it enables the student to tell exactly where he stands in the opinion of the faculty and it permits the faculty to determine the ability of the student. Then, too, as we have said before, it is an excellent recommendation for a prospective school teacher. It is too fine a system to allow to go into decay, as there are all evidences that is doing.

What incentive is there for a student to continue doing good work or for another trying to overcome some fault, if he does not receive some recommendation for so doing? Much dissatisfaction has been caused through the absence of write-ups in the envelopes and it seems to be the consensus of student opinion that something should be done to remedy the evil. If the system does not stand firmly back of its reputation it would be far better to do away with it. Therefore, it is suggested that some steps be taken to either bring the records up to date or else abolish the system.

THE BAND

The C. V. S. N. S. concert band is an efficient, well-oiled organization. It has appeared in chapel on several occasions and made a decided hit with the student body. It also played at the first home basketball game of the season. This was its first and last appearance at a basketball game. Now that the team has started to win, we feel that they need all the encouragement that can possibly be offered them. Without a doubt the support of the band would be a decided impetus to the team.

Will we see the band at the game to-morrow? Surely the members would be glad to do their bit toward adding another victory to the one that we have already chalked up to our credit. Here's hoping that the band turns out in full force for the frays with West Chester and Hagerstown to-morrow.

PARLIAMENTARY DRILL CREATES EXCITEMENT AT PHILO

A Parliamentary Drill was given at Philo, under the direction of a committee suggested by Miss Edna Arnold, faculty advisor, last Friday evening. According to visitors, it is seldom that such excitement or spirit is shown at a Philo meeting. In the midst of a heated discussion detailed to decide the case of whether or not John Harris '25 should be required to fill his place on the program, a motion that the Parliamentary Drill be drawn to a close came not only as a surprise but as a genuine shock to many members who did not know until then that the case was only a basis for a much needed drill in Parliamentary Law. The committee feels that the drill was a complete success and have been complimented upon the procedure of the plan for such a worthy cause.

It is not often that the alumni return to Philo and condescend to entertain Philomatheans with such pleasing numbers as did Maude Keister '22 and Kathryn Heefner '23. After making a few remarks to the society, Miss Keister gave a humorous reading and Miss Heefner sang "My Old Kentucky Home." Both numbers received the kind of applause which denotes real appreciation.

Ethel Warfel '24 as chairman of the dance committee presented a new type of entertainment in the form of a dance of winter spirits. Ruth Keadle '25 in long, flowing, white robes, represented winter while Mildred Kline '25, Lola Pheasant '25, Ruth Cless '25, Lillian Boyer '25, and Ethel Warfel '24, danced around the queen in joyous adoration. The dance pleased the audience so much that the girls were forced to repeat it.

The musical entertainment of the evening took the form of a duet. "Merry Moment" played by Margaret Ickes '25 and Ethel Warfel '24, and a vocal duet, "I Dreamt That I Dwelt in Marble Halls," sung by Marian Emerick '24 and Sara Rider '24.

Ruth Cless '25 gave as a reading an original essay on Washington.

A debate, "Resolved, That War can be Outlawed" was debated by Myrtle Eshelman, affirmatively and negatively by Mildred Shirk '25. Both presented the facts very well. The judges decided in favor of the negative.

Let's cheer the team to victory—A repetition of the school spirit displayed at the Kutztown game is expected at the West Chester game.

It is indeed a desirable thing to be well descended, but the glory belongs to our ancestors.

REFLECTIONS

Reba Shue

During the last few days sleighing parties have been much in vogue at C. V. S. N. S.—as a topic of conversation.

Some students are wondering if entering the newly furnished parlor is to be associated with the Junior reception—an annual event.

The musical director at C. V. S. N. S. has announced a family reunion of the Junior Song Book family. Some recently discovered relatives have appeared, and greatly desire to become acquainted with those members of the clan whose whereabouts have been unknown for the last year.

Blessed are they who must attend Sunday School, for their consciences need no spurs.

Blessed are they who abide by the penalty imposed, for three Sundays is their due.

Mr. Slyter's favorite song has lately changed to:

"Where is my wandering book today, The book of my early youth, Its sins fade away, For I need it, forsooth, O bring back that manual, I pray."

WASHINGTON PROGRAM GIVEN AT TRAINING SCHOOL

A short program celebrating Washington's Birthday was presented in the Training School. A sketch of the "Life of Washington" and a paper entitled "Washington's Rules of Conduct" were read. "If," by Rudyard Kipling was recited.

The current events given by a ninth grade boy reflected the history class work.

"The Little Dutch Garden" was sung by the seventh grade and the sixth grade sang "Winter Longing."

VARSITY VS. SUBS GAME PROVES A THRILLING ONE

Exhibiting their customary speed and vim the local girls' varsity defeated the subs last Monday evening on the gym floor, the score being 8-1.

"Peggy" Lehman starred for the varsity, opening the scoring by a neat toss from the free-throw line and latter registering 4 more points by clever passes and heavy defenses on the part of the varsity. Sara Young, jumping center for the subs, did some noteworthy jumping as well as strong and fast defensive work.

It was noticed that some Juniors failed to promenade to church last Sunday.

Saturday's game will decide if victory makes a display of school spirit, or a display of school spirit, a victory.

Training School teacher—"Whose birthday is February 27?" Child—"Mr. Tallman."

What's in a name? Consult the Reflections next week if you are in doubt.

The Seniors of the teaching group have experienced one more meeting along their professional pathway—a parent teacher meeting.

It is to be hoped that the ghost of last year's Junior Chorus may not return to the scene of its earthly existence to haunt its successor.

Two necessary cautions to students: Don't let a thought strike you so hard that it knocks you over. Splinters in one's fingers are painful. Don't scratch your head.

In the library Wednesday evening, "Darkness reigned, and we all got wet."

FACULTY COMMITTEE CHOSEN FOR INTER-SOCIETY DEBATE

The following faculty advisory committee has been appointed for the Inter-Society and Inter-School Debate: Miss Parks, chairman; Miss Arnold, Miss Snively, Prof. Pennington and Prof. Shearer.

The committee has organized but no definite plans have been made for the assistance of the debaters, although they have planned to meet the debating teams of both societies in the near future and make clear certain points which seem rather vague in regard to the question. The committee does not intend to meet each team separately.

No cloud is so dark but that we can see the silver lining if we will but look for it.

HEALTH PROGRAM IS GIVEN AT PARENT-TEACHERS MEETING
 The Parent Teachers Club of the Training School held a booster meeting Tuesday evening, February 26, with the best attendance of the season and a splendid health program. In spite of the slushy condition of the roads an unusually large number of parents were in attendance. The large attendance may be attributed to the fact that the children took part in most of the program.

After an opening prayer by the President, the program was opened by a vocal duet by Charles and Virginia Thrush. Twenty boys and girls from the second grade gave a "Red Cross Nurse Drill," followed by a cornet solo by Albert Heberlig. The first grade sang "Visiting the Blacksmith" with the accompaniment of a victrola. A play, "The Road to Health" was acted by a group of Junior High children. In this play the family learned that one road to health was by eating green vegetables and drinking lots of milk.

Dr. McCreary, a member of the State Board of Health, concluded the program by talking on the "Care of the School Child." He emphasized the fact that in Pennsylvania great strides have been taken for the betterment of the health conditions of the Rural schools. He also presented to the Training School a series of charts on the "Health of the Young Child."

"THE FLITTERMOUSE" APPEARS AT NORMAL
 "The Flittermouse" a play in one act, was the center of interest last Friday evening at Normal Society. The play Committee with Edith Williams '24, chairman, and Miss Parks, coach, deserves commendation for the manner in which they presented this clever and lively comedy.

The curtain rose upon a wild and disorderly scene. The mother, played by Leah Decker '24, and her two daughters, Maude, Guyda Stine '24 and Prissie, Winona Garbrick '26, with brooms as weapons were madly attempting to chase from their living room a flitter-mouse. They failed in their attempt to oust the enemy. The time grows near for the arrival of Maude's young man and Prissie announces that she has succeeded in expelling the flitter-mouse.

Gerald, George Kauffman, the young man and statistician, appears while the mother and younger sister are discussing Gerald's relations with Maude. Prissie in the role of younger humorous sister insists that it is time Gerald marries Maude.

The bashful gentleman during the evening finally summons enough courage to propose. The climax of the proposal is almost reached when Maude, seeing the flitter mouse screams and rushes from the room. The poor man of statistics looks bewildered but the family quickly appears with their weapons and Gerald is kept busy dodging the blows aimed at the mouse. Happily for everybody, Maude faints almost in the arms of Gerald and the play has a Cinderella ending.

The appearance of a new pianist, Gladys Myers, member of the Junior High Group '25, caused much interest at Normal. "Hungaria" by Carl Koelling, was the selection given by Miss Myers. Frankie Dietrich '26 delighted the audience with a humorous reading.

MISSIONARY PAGEANT IS GIVEN AT JOINT Y. MEETING
 The Y. W. C. A. presented a foreign missionary pageant Sunday evening at the joint Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. meeting held in the Main Auditorium. The theme of the pageant was the enlightening of unchristianized foreign women by the Christian women of America.

The tableau was skillfully worked out by Miss Arnold and Miss Robb and very well presented by the following cast:

Mildred Shirk—Miss Pershing.
 Edith Williams—Mexico
 Margaret Peters—Japan
 Anna Berkins—Japan
 Florence White—Korea
 Mary Troup—India
 Ruth Frank—South America

The Christian women were: Mildred Kline, Helen Maxheimer, Sarah Rider, Reba Shue, Ellen Welsh and Mabel Zimmerman.

Through this pageant the value of Christianity in saving the womanhood of the world and America's place in doing this work, was shown. America is the only nation in the world which is in a position to save the world and as the leading Christian nation it is her duty to lead these foreign women to a Christian life.

Ethel McCormick sang the solo parts of the pageant and Ruth Wahrman was the leader for the services.

DEBATERS CHOSEN FOR NORMAL SOCIETY TEAM

Thursday, February 14, the "try-outs" for the Normal Debating Team were held in the Training School chapel. Five minutes were allowed for the main speech and two minutes for the rebuttal.

Of the twelve persons who attempted to win a position on the team the following were chosen: Harry Slothower, captain; Sara Young, Walter Strike and Raymond Cromer, alternate.

The judges were Miss C. B. Parks, Dr. Heiges, Prof. Shearer and Rev. Emmert, pastor of the church of the Brethren, Shippensburg.

"THE CRISIS" WILL BE

A moving picture show will be held in the Main Chapel tomorrow evening. Professor Shearer, who is in charge, expects to show "The Crisis," a powerful photoplay, with an excellent cast, including Marshall Neilan, George W. Fawcett, and Thomas Santschi.
