

LIMIT SET TO SUMMER SCHOOL ENROLLMENT

Majority of Faculty Will Return for Summer Session

The school will soon be facing another busy summer session. The Normal School authorities realize that the best work cannot be done when the membership exceeds 800 as it did last year. For this reason the enrollment for this summer will be limited to 650. Present appearances indicate that there will be no trouble in reaching this figure.

All the regular Normal School faculty will return for the summer session except the Misses Harris and Snively of the Training School, who will spend the summer in study at the Teachers' College, Columbia University; Miss Bausch expects to spend the summer in Europe and Misses Heffernan, McCreary and Costenbader, who will not return either. Mr. Grove will return to take his position which has been filled during his absence by Professor Kenyon. Miss Lane will devote the summer to putting the finishing touches to a book which she will soon publish. Miss Oyer of the Training School will return to take charge of the primary-kindergarten work, and Mr. Houck will remain to assist with the Junior High School subjects.

Miss Blood, Dr. Morris Wolf and Dr. Carl, who were members of the faculty last summer session, will return this year. Mrs. U. S. Bixler, of Landsdowne who has had wide experience in normal school work, will have charge of the teaching of reading and teaching of story telling.

FACULTY CLUB CELEBRATES AT GRAFFENSBURG INN

Thirty-four members of the Faculty Club attended a chicken and waffle dinner at Graffensburg Inn on Monday evening.

The dinner party was arranged as a climax to the work of the club for the year.

The earlier part of the evening was devoted to the regular business of the club. The musical part of the evening consisted of a vocal solo by Miss Mildred Shambaugh; French horn solo, Prof. David O. Slyter; Violin solo Prof. Stanley Brunner; and instrumental trio, Prof. Green, Slyter and Brunner. The nature of the Club's activities for the coming season were discussed. The study of the Pennsylvania Novels was agreed upon as the subject to be taken up next winter.

Dr. Heiges acted as toastmaster during the dinner and Dr. Lehman responded to the toast. The rest of the evening was spent in singing and talking and everybody reported a good time.

SATURDAY HIKE WILL BE A "WADING HIKE"

The hike squad will leave the school at 10:30 Saturday morning to hike to Swinging Bridge. Louise Swartz '24 has announced that the plan of the hike is to make wading in the stream at Swinging Bridge the main attraction of the morning. Every member of the squad is expected to cast aside her scholarly dignity and paddle around in the brook to her heart's content. The girls are reminded that they are to bring towels. The usual singing and cheering will find a place on the program.

SHARE IN NATIONAL DEBT IS DETERMINED

The national wealth is now $320,853,862,000. The last three circular formations, figuratively speaking, seem to indicate that our share has been discovered and included.

VARSITY MEETS SECOND DEFEAT OF SEASON LAST SATURDAY

Valley Team Plays Loose Ball;
Errors Costly

The Red and Blue varsity met their second defeat of the season when the Kutztown batsmen handed them a 3-2 defeat on the latter's field last Saturday.

The game was loosely played from start to finish and several errors on the part of the Valley team allowed Kutztown to register. The local team however, threatened to score in the ninth when Bob Line drove out a neat triple but was called out for his failure to touch the initial cushion.

Neither side was permitted to score until the third stanza when Geedy tallied for the Red and Blue on Miller's triple while Runyan completed the circuit for the Orange and Black nine. The opposing team came back in the fourth inning when Ortt hit a double bagger and scored on the Smeltz's single thus giving the Kutztown team a one point lead. The succeeding three sessions were uneventful for both teams while Blynn registered for the Shippensburgians again in the eighth which made the score a tie. Coach Ingalls' team threatened to break the tie in the ninth when Line clouted out one good for three bases but was thrown out because he cut the first base. Jimmie Swope also had a neat single in the ninth but to no avail as the Kutztown lads tightened on the next two plays and the side was retired. The Orange and Black team secured a run in the closing session which gave them their 3-2 win.

Dan Grove pitched good ball for the Red and Blue outfit and had eleven strike outs during the contest while the opposing moundman had but four accredited to him.

"THE GLEAM" RECOGNIZES THE EXCELLENCE OF POEMS

The editor of the "Gleam," Mr. Paul S. Nickerson, has given a distinct recognition to four poems written by students in Miss Parks' Poetry class during the summer term of 1923. Last October, Miss Parks, head of the English department, submitted several poems to the editor of the magazine of verse for young people. Recently a letter was received commenting on the excellence of these poems. Although worthy of publication they will not be published because of the great pressure on the magazine from secondary schools. Mr. Nickerson states, "We are puzzled to know whether we should admit normal school poetry to our pages."

The poems which were considered to be of unusual excellence were: "Song" by Margueretta Snow, "These Common Things on Earth" by Dorothy Coble, "The Stranger" by Nina Ruth, "Finis" by Myrtle Eshelman, and special commendation on "The Twentieth Century Moth" by Myrtle Eshelman and "Oppressive Summer Night" by Nina Ruth.

It is possible that some of this work may be compiled in "Glimpses," A national Anthology of Secondary School Verses, Mr. Nickerson further stated, "You may be sure I shall be glad to see any further work of your students and it is barely possible that I may at some time be able to use some of the work of your students."

MILLERSVILLE GIRLS PAY TRIBUTE TO MOTHERS

The girls of Millersville State Normal School recently were hostess to their mothers over a week-end. An invitation was sent to every mother to spend the week-end at the school. Over sixty per cent were present.

NORMAL ANNIVERSARY PROGRAM IS READY FOR PRESENTATION

Margaret Peters '25 and William Hudson '25 Will Take Leading Part in Play; Dance under Miss Heffernan's Direction

Normal Anniversary program is ready for presentation this evening. The Program has been unified and its predominating characteristic is its uniqueness. The people on the program are thoroughly familiar with their selections and have gone through a strenuous period of polishing.

Normal is celebrating its fifty-first anniversary this year. It will be remembered that last year was its fiftieth birthday and consequently the society exerted itself to put on an extra fine program. In spite of this fact, the committee promises that this year's program will surpass last year's.

Wilson Dodd '24 will deliver the oration. Mr. Dodd has been coached by Prof. Gilbert. Harry Markley, the leader of Normal Societies' Glee Club, says that the club will present the best number that has been given in the history of the society. Mr. Slyter has aided Mr. Markley in the direction of the Glee Club, preparatory to their appearance this evening.

A male sextette composed of Clifford Smith, Percy James, Clairmont Smith, Harry Markley, Clarence Shuler, and Vincent Trich, promises something new in the way of men's choruses.

Ethel McCormick, who has been working under the tutorage of Mrs. Blanche Wright Hale, will sing a solo. Miss McCormick has not divulged the title of her selection.

A reading will be given by Ruth Frank and Clifford Smith who have been coached by Miss Parks.

Miss Heffernan is in charge of the dance which is in keeping with the rest of the program. The dancers are Anna McFadden, Katherine Werner, Martha Hutchinson, Emma Gross, Margaret Schaffstall, Josephine Corle, with Mae Parfit as substitute.

The leading parts in the play will be taken by William Hudson and Margaret Peters. The other characters will be played by Florence White, Harry Gardner, Charles Gentzler, Ralph Swan, and William Parthemore.

Miss Edna Arnold has directed the play.

RUTH KEADLE WILL RECEIVE MANTEL FOR CLASS OF '25

Ruth Keadle, a member of the Junior High Group of the class of '25, has been chosen to receive the mantle for the Junior class from Reba Shue who has the mantle oration. It has been the custom to choose the person with the highest average in the Junior class for the honor of representing the class on Class Day. This year the members of the two year class and the three year class were eligible. Miss Keadle has the highest average of any one in both groups of the class of '25. She has been a student of C. V. S. N. S. for four years. She received her high school training in this institution.

SCHOOL BOARD TO GIVE DINNER TO FACULTY

The school board of Shippensburg Township will entertain their wives, and Dr. and Mrs. Lehman, Mr. and Mrs. Harley, Miss Huber, Miss Snively and Miss Harris at a chicken and waffle dinner at the new National Hotel. The dinner will be held Monday, May 26th.

C. V. GIRLS WILL PLAY DICKINSON TENNIS SQUAD

First Co-Ed Tennis Team in History of School

Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, the C. V. S. N. S. girls will meet the Dickinson girls in a tennis match. The event will take place at South College and Shippensburg will be represented by Peggy Lehman, Theodore Poor in doubles, and Miriam Steever in singles.

For the first time in the history of the institution a co-ed varsity team will be put on the courts. The girls have been playing in tournament for the past several weeks in order to determine the make-up of the team. Each class has its own team which was selected by a series of elimination matches.

The girls who will play doubles represent the high team in the Junior class and also the victories in the inter-class tournament.

Miriam Steever is the representative of the Senior class in singles and also the victor in the inter-class tournament.

For the past two days the girls have been playing under the coaching of Mr. Krebbs and Mr. Ingalls.

The trip to Carlisle will be made by automobile, the team leaving the school at 10:30 A. M. and returning in time for the dance. They will be chaperoned by Mr. Krebbs.

The following rules will be used to govern the matches: (1) To win a set, leader must be leading by at least two games. If the score is 5 all the leaders must win two games consecutively, the first being her add. (2) A ball falling on the line is reported as falling in the court bounded by that line. (3) The players shall exchange sides at the end of the first, third and every alternate game.

Negotiations are pending for a return match May 31.

MILLERSVILLE WILL PLAY HERE SATURDAY AFTERNOON

The varsity batsmen will meet the Millersville nine on Eckels' Field, Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. This is the first game of the season between the two Normal Schools and from all reports it promises to be one of the best games of the season.

Coach Ingalls has sent his team through a series of hard workouts during the past week and from all indications the team seems to be in the best of shape for tomorrow's fray. Last Saturday's defeat revealed several weaknesses but these have been corrected during the practice periods and a fast and smooth working combination is expected to play tomorrow's game.

Little is known about the strength of the visiting team with the exception that they beat West Chester by a small margin this year and from their past record Millersville always sends a hard fighting team on the diamond and it is expected that they will do the same this year. Last season both teams won their home fray when the two Normals clashed bats.

It is expected that Coach Ingalls will use the same line-up as in last Saturday's game with the exception that Bailey will be at the receiving post in tomorrow's tilt.

MAKING THE INFIRMARY BEAUTIFUL

It is a pleasant looking little building—the C. V. S. N. S. Infirmary. Many are the students that its vine-clad walls have sheltered; many are the students who have sought remedies for their ills within its comforting red brick walls.

The Infirmary is an attractive looking building. It is beautifully situated in the center of a tiny grass plot. Just at this season of the year the students admire it even more than usual, for the Dutch-like plainness of its walls is broken by budding green vines. Soon the outside window sills will be decorated with window boxes. Yes, the external appearance of the Infirmary is very pleasing indeed.

Once you are located inside the Infirmary and have grown tired counting the electric lights, the cracks in the walls and the stars in the window blinds, the at first pleasant looking room begins to grow tiresome. The eyes begin to wander around the room for something bright and pleasant to look upon. Even though the room is clean, pleasant, sunny and bright, something seems to be missing.

The sick-a-bed is not long in deciding what that missing quantity is. It is flowers. Boxes of them on the inside sills of the side windows of the large room on the first floor, as well as in the other rooms on the second floor would surely add to the attractiveness of the Infirmary.

This is the season of the year when flowers are not hard to procure. The duty of securing the flowers seems to fall on the shoulders of the Student Councils. It would be a splendid plan for them to appoint committees to canvass the day students to procure cut flowers for the Infirmary.

Flower season does not last forever, however. Would it not be a good plan to gather flowers while the sun shines? In other words prepare for a famine when we have an abundance.

The boys of the manual training classes at the Training School should be as eager to make window boxes as they were to make hurdles. The boxes could be made this spring and be ready for use at the beginning of the fall term. Without a doubt the students, both day and boarding, would be glad to help fill these boxes with flowers in order to make the Infirmary more pleasant over the winter months.

The "Campus Reflector" recommends that the two Student Councils of the school take the lead in the movement and start the ball rolling by appointing committees to work with Miss Kyle and Dr. Lehman and that they also appoint committees to attend to the construction of the boxes.

Our slogan is "make the interior of the Infirmary even more beautiful than the exterior."

TRAINING RULES

When a horse is to be run in a race he goes through a period of intense training. When an athlete is preparing to enter a contest, he, too, is subjected to a period of training. After he has been safely launched on his career, he continues to train during the entire season.

The team that does not keep training rules cannot expect to come out of a season victorious. To be sure they may shine for a time, but their weakness will eventually come to the surface and they will receive their just dues, the small end of the score.

The keeping of training rules is a matter of individual action. It is physically impossible for any coach to be continually hanging on the coat tails of his squad reminding them that if they attend a dance and stay until the last dance they will more than likely suffer the consequence the next morning.

Not only does the athlete who breaks training rules, bring disgrace to bear on his own shoulders but in so doing he shows a defect in his code of loyalty to his Alma Mater. Indeed his defense is two-fold since he is not playing fair to his team mates and to his school. It is all very well to talk about school spirit, but the spirit of pleasure seems to be a stronger factor.

Experience has proved that training rules must be kept faithfully by every member of a team, if that team expects to do anything on the grid-iron in the cage, or on the diamond. It is the small damaged section of a machine that causes the breaking up of the entire engine.

There are athletes with a code of honor similar to the code of honor that the breakers of the Eighteenth Amendment possess. They know that they aren't allowed to smoke, because smoking is detrimental to their breathing. In spite of this knowledge they wait until the coach's back is turned and then smoke to their heart's content, thinking how clever they are to break a training rule and get away with it.

It is a wise coach who makes no training rules, because he knows that they are useless since his men delight in seeing how many of the prescribed regulations they can disobey. It is the wiser coach, however, who lays down training rules that he knows will be assets in bringing in victories to his squad. It is the latter coach who suspends his men, even though it means the crippling of the team, because they have broken training and thus brought defeat home in their suitcases.

NEW OFFICERS INSTALLED AT PHILO FRIDAY EVENING

The weekly meeting of Philo Literary Society was held in the Training School Chapel, Friday evening at seven o'clock. At this time the newly elected officers took their places. The retiring President, Mr. Weaver, laid stress on Philo's motto, "Be a Booster, not a Knocker."

Martha Donner '25 gave a humorous reading "Buying a Railroad Ticket" by Thomas Arnold. The story centered about the misunderstanding of a colored gentleman who wanted to buy a railroad ticket. He became very angry when the ticket agent asked him where he was going. After much persuasion, the colored man said he was going to Chicago. When told it would cost sixty-five cents, he exclaimed, "One inch and a half of ticket for sixty-five cents!"

An oration entitled "Little Things that Count" was given by William Barber. John Miller was called upon for an extemporaneous speech. The Society made several suggestions as to the subject he might speak upon. He chose as his subject, "Why I spend so much time on the tennis court." He said that since he could not take part in other athletic activities of the school, he hoped he could represent his class in tennis.

A dance was given by six girls with Mildred Kline as Chairman. Lillian Boyer, the May Queen, was enthroned beneath the decorative May pole. The gay dancers did a Classical dance for the Queen and cleverly matted their ribbons around her.

The Philo Review portrayed five boys on a camping party. Each received letters from his friends at C. V. S. N. S. Each boy read his letter and commented on the different phases of school life.

The musical side of the program consisted of a selection "In the Time of Roses" by Louise Reichard, sung by Theadore Poor '25 and a piano solo by Helen Goodyear '25. She played "Barchetta" by Nevin.

"ANY CHILD" PAGEANT GIVEN AT ASSOCIATION MEETING

The pageant "Any Child" which was directed by Reba Shue '24 was presented at the joint meeting of the Y. M. and Y. W. in Main Chapel last Sunday evening. Ruth Frank '25, the president of the Y. W. for next year, presided at the meeting.

"Any Child" is an allegory which illustrates the different stages in the life of a child. The mother was portrayed by Sarah Rider '24. Knowledge was played by Reba Shue '24, Accomplishment by Mildred Brenneman '24, Pleasure by Blanche Straley '24, and Religious Education by Margie Cashman '24. Each visited the mother and baby with gifts and each claimed the child for her own. The Child, Janet Shearer, grew to the age of seven. At the age of eleven years the part was taken by Troupier Sipe, at fifteen years by Martha Crosier '25, and at eighteen years by Miriam Witmyer '24.

The child was visited at each stage of her girlhood by the attendants who each tried to lure her. "Any Child" realized that knowledge, accomplishment, and pleasure, were desirable, but religious education was the most vital.

STANLEY HALL NOTED PSYCHOLOGIST DIES

G. Stanley Hall, who has been called the father of American psychology, died recently at the age of seventy-eight. He studied and received several degrees in this country. Then he went to Europe where he studied for seven years. For many years Dr. Hall was president of Clark University, the first entirely graduate school of the country.

Dr. Hall has contributed much to the field of psychology. One of his books of special interest is his autobiography, "Confession of a Psychologist." With the death of G. Stanley Hall America loses one of its greatest educators.

A college education is supposed to fit you for a position not entitle you to one.

REFLECTIONS "DUDE" AND "ED" STRALEY

(Dude and Ed Straley)
Everybody had a good time on the moonlight hike even though the only man present was the man in the moon.

Junior—Did you ever hear the story about the white sweater?
Senior—No, what is it?
Junior—It got dirty.

Rain proves more effective than bells in bringing people off the Campus.

Our Canine Friends—Do you take one another unto each other to dig bones for each and t'other until death or dog catcher—do you part?

Consolation
"Art is long and time is fleeting,"
This is truth the poet sings,
All our joys and all our sorrows,
Must sometime acquire wings.

Merry dances soon are over,
Likewise our most dreary classes.
E'en the dread despair of flunking,
From our memory soon passes.

And the pages of our notebooks
Soon will crumble into dust;
And our knowledge soon will leave us,
But if it must be, it must.

Yet in spite of all these changes
We have this assurance then,
That the June bugs, the June bugs
Will always come again.

A modern fairy tale—It ain't gonna rain no more.

Dedicated to our socialed strikes—
'Tis said that absence conquers love,
But oh, believe it not!
I've tried alas, its powers to prove,
But oh, believe it not!

The Junior High Group '25 has acquired the professional attitude. Even on their picnic one of them attempted to give the fish swimming lessons.

MOONLIGHT HIKE IS STAGED BY SQUAD ON SATURDAY

Many girls participated in the moonlight hike Saturday evening. After dinner the girls who did not have more than two cuts during the hiking season started gaily on the much planned for expedition. The laughing, cheering bunch went to Swinging Bridge where campfires were built. School songs, old songs and popular songs made the countryside ring with music.

Later the girls gathered in groups and held a song competition. After the songs had died down, Louise Swartz, Head of hiking and toast-mistress of the evening, called on Miss Robb and Miss Van Dusen, Physical Director for next year, Lola Pheasant and Peggy Lehman for speeches. Following the speeches sandwiches were produced and these with toasted marshmallows gave the girls strength for the hike home. "The longest way round is the shortest way home" seemed to be the motto for the hikers for when the moon was high in the Heavens the happy hikers returned through the fields and followed the road to C. V. S. N. S.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY BOYS' GOVERNMENT BOARD

The Men's Student Government Association met Monday evening for the purpose of electing officers for next year.

Under the rules of the Association the President must be elected from the students who have been, for one year, members of the Board of Representatives.

The following men were nominated for officers: President, Clifford Smith, Sherrick Gilbert; Secretary, John Harris, James Smith; Treasurer, Ernest Kennedy, Glenn Bailey, Chester Miller.

Clifford Smith was elected President John Harris was elected Secretary and Glen Bailey Treasurer.

Fell's who do not like to get into a fight should avoid arguments with pacifists.—Shoe and Leather Reporter

What caused the great commotion?
In the halls of the boy's vast Dorm,
High clouds were seen
Resembling a cloudburst or a storm.

Carpets that never before
Had experienced the work of a broom
Were placed as if by an expert
In the center of each room.

Rugs were on once before
In our travels we would tread
Sending high clouds of dust
Far above our head.

In man rooms to our great delight
We found things taking place
Bringing fame and honor
Where once, all was disgrace.

First prize went to fourth floor,
To room two forty-five,
Where now it was impossible
For even a germ to survive.

On third floor the prize
Went to room one fifty-four.
I am sure that the judges
Failed to look behind the door.

And so our life continues
And still the rooms get dirty.
Down with the lazy roommate
Who sleeps until eight-thirty.

The attention of the Boot-Leggers'
Union should be drawn to all the A.
No. 1 moonshine going to waste around this institution.

Evidently the members of the Rotary Club entertain pleasant recollections of Sweet Adeline and Maggie.

The height of our ambition is to become a member of the State Board of Inspectors of Normal Schools and find out "how the other half lives."

Did you ever hear of any one running to catch their train—of thought?

HISTORY AND GEOGRAPHY ROOMS ARE IN USE

The new history and geography rooms are now open for use. Mrs. Stewart and Mr. Krebs have been very much inconvenienced by being forced to leave their classrooms during the period of repair. The history classes were held in the balcony of the Chapel and the geography classes convened in room 10 under the Dormitory.

However, both the teachers and students feel fully recompensed for any inconvenience they might have endured for the rooms are thoroughly modern in equipment and answer the requirements of light and air. The two rooms are connected by a smaller room which is a map room. The room is equipped with shelves running around two sides to accommodate any materials necessary for the work of either department.

The rooms are painted yellow and the light falls from an approved angle.

The history room is not quite large enough to accommodate the history and sociology classes which are unusually large.

ROPE JUMPING CONTEST IS HELD AT HOOD COLLEGE

May Day festivities at Hood College opened Saturday morning, the 10th with a rope jumping contest. The students appeared in childish attire and much enthusiasm was manifested by the girls. Three fathers of Hood students acted as judges and first honors went to the Sophomore class. Individual contests followed the class try-outs.
