

Dr. L. H. Van Houten Succeeds In Getting Aviation Instruction

With final negotiations being completed by Dr. L. H. Van Houten president of Edinboro State Teachers College, and William A. Mehl, supervisor of the Allegheny County Airport, Pittsburgh, students of Edinboro college have been favored with the privilege of aviation training under the sponsorship of the Civil Aeronautics Authority.

Four Edinboro students have successfully passed their physical examinations and have procured their student pilot certificates which enable them to begin flight training. Miss Betsy Vincent of Westchester, Stuart Ackelson of Brentwood, John Bleech of Warren, and Will Schaaf of North Girard, are the four successful candidates for the course at the college. All of these people are juniors at Edinboro this year.

In order to fill the desired quota of the class, several students from Alliance College, in Cambridge Springs, have been invited to join the class which meets four night a week in Loveland Hall. The class is under the direction of H. W. McNees, professor of science and mathematics at the college.

The class follows the prescribed regulations of the Civil Aeronautics Authority, which requires, first, a complete medical examination by the authorized CAA physician of the district; a period of groundwork of 72 hours, to be held at the college and which includes 24 hours of meteorology, 24 hours of Civil Air regulations, and 24 hours of navigation. In addition, at least 30 hours of actual flying experience, plus an equal amount of groundwork at the Graham Aviation Co. field at Meadville are required. This latter training is:

Bundles For Britain

The Canterbury Club announces the drive for Bundles for Britain, which ended on March 29th, a big success, and to thank all students and members of the faculty who contributed and who helped with the details of the drive.

Friday, March 28th, was the special day for student contributions when the bundles were on display in the lobby of Haven Hall early in the evening. They will be packed by the Canterbury Club and sent to Erie Bundles for Britain headquarters sometime this week.

Arts Convention In New York April 16-19

32nd Annual Convention

Following the Easter vacation, the Eastern Arts Association will hold its 32nd annual convention at the Hotel Pennsylvania, New York City, April 16-19, 1941.

The Programs of the General Sessions have been planned to provide information and inspiration in large measure. The convention provides: (1) opportunity for discussion of pertinent subjects; (2) stimulating talks by the leaders in the field; (3) important exhibitions of school work; (4) the chance to become acquainted with worthwhile people; (5) many ways of broadening your outlook; (6) information about new materials and teaching aids. Reports from the Research, Accrediting and other committees will demonstrate the effective work which is being carried on by the Association throughout the school year.

New York's great museums, galleries, schools, theaters, other institutions and countless points of historic interest makes that city an ideal

Florek Lectures At Erie Academy High

Cameras can be used for other purposes than to snap pictures of the best girl, and to better ends, perhaps. Witness the success of Florian Florek with his photomicrography outfit. Given a camera, a microscope, suitable material and an imaginative mind, he has taken pictures of biological subjects that would interest even the layman.

Upon March 18, 1941, Florian drove to Erie in the morning to lecture to Academy High School's Photo and Science Clubs. For thirty-five minutes he talked about the method of doing photomicrography, and explained and illustrated its use in the classroom. A recent issue of the Erie Daily Times ran an article of his on this same subject.

Florian, a future science teacher, member of the Photo Club and of Phi Sigma Pi, is the laboratory assistant of Dr. John C. Johnson, who is professor of biology here and also Director of the Rocky Mountain Biological Laboratory. Dr. Johnson assisted materially in Mr. Florek's venture into the realm of the unseen and the unheard. Incidentally, Florian has quite a collection of these snapshots.

STUDENTS DEPART THURSDAY FOR EASTERN STATES MEETING

Rehearsals Underway For Play "Kind Lady"

Production To Be Staged In New Auditorium May 8

Rehearsals for the Edinboro Players' production of "Kind Lady" by Edward Chodorov were begun on Thursday, March 20. The performance is set for May 8th, in the new auditorium.

June Howard and Ralph Knopp are cast in the leading roles of "Mary Herries" and "Henry Abbott". Betty Klaphor and Robert McKinney provide the romantic interest in the roles of "Phyllis Glenning" and "Peter Santard". "Mr. and Mrs. Edwards", "Aggie Edwards", "Ada", and the "Doctor", Henry Abbott's accomplices in crime, are played by Richard Rockwell, Jane Vaughn, June Welker, Ellen Haiston and Dan Wolchik, respectively. Marjorie Martin is cast as "Luc Weston", Mary Herries' friend, Charlotte Weaver plays "Rose", the maid; David Small is "M. Gustav Rosenberg", the art dealer, and Robert Ulrich plays "Mr. Foster".

This production is taking the place of the usual "High School Guest Day"; six hundred high school seniors have been invited to attend this "Evening of Drama". Following the play they will be entertained at a reception, with the Players and the Faculty as hosts.

Tickets will sell at 35c, all seats reserved. However, if you are unable to get tickets for the May 8th performance, you will have a chance to see the play on May 24th, when it will be repeated for Alumni Day.

Lecture Entertainment Plans Announced

The student-faculty committee appointed by the Student Council to select and contact special numbers for next year's Lecture Course reported last week to the Council.

The plans for next year are for fewer but better lectures and programs. Proceeding along these lines, the committee is arranging for five numbers which cover a broad variety of fields. Tentative features are Mac Clelland Barclay, Vincent Sheehan, and a dance cast headed by Katherine DeMille. Karl Robinson, an Alaskan traveler and explorer, is already contracted for.

Bill Bohn Scheduled For Panel Discussion

The sixteenth annual spring conference of the Eastern States Association of Professional Schools for Teachers will be held this year in the Hotel Commodore, New York City, on April 4 and 5. The two days, Friday and Saturday of this week, will be devoted to interested discussion of the problems that confront schools in general and their student cooperative councils in particular.

Ablly representing Edinboro at this conference are four students elected in assembly last semester; namely, Jean Baldwin, Kathleen McCray, Bob Ulrich, and Bill Bohn. Mr. Bohn is scheduled to participate in a panel discussion on "How to adequately finance a student activity program;" his specific topic will be "Men's Athletics."

The program of the convention is so arranged that the large bulk of the activities will descend on Friday, leaving Saturday comparatively free with only a morning session. Starting Friday morning, there will be a meeting of faculty advisers and student chairmen, followed by a general meeting if student delegates. The rest of the morning will be turned over to the panel discussions in which small groups will take part. In the afternoon various panels will merge for a general discussion of the morning's topics.

The Saturday morning meeting will consist of a grand summarization of the preceding day's panels by students before a joint assembly of student and faculty delegates. One of the high lights of the two days is the conference banquet on Friday evening at which noted educators will speak. The Edinboro students, accompanied by Miss Baron, are leaving today for New York.

Chick Farrell To Play At Junior-Senior Prom

The Junior Senior Prom, featuring Chick Farrell and his twelve-piece orchestra, will be held in the Training School gym Friday evening, April 18.

Miss Jean Baldwin and "Aubie" Abahazi are chairmen of the tickets and decorating committees, respectively.

Popenoe's Lectures Cite Marriage Factors

"The Changing Family In the Changing World"

On March 26, Dr. Paul Popenoe, a well-known sociologist and member of the American Institute of Family Relations, spent the day on campus lecturing on marriage in an effort to present factors of a successful marriage and thus serve to decrease the overwhelming divorce rate of the United States.

In the morning his topic for a lecture to the entire college and senior students of the training school was "Looking Forward to Marriage." The main ideas of this talk were further developed in the afternoon, when there was one hour of lecture and another hour for answering questions.

That Dr. Popenoe's humorous and informal, yet forceful, manner of speaking appealed to everyone was clearly shown by the ease with which so many students asked pertinent questions. The remainder of the afternoon he generously gave over to private interviews with various individuals.

"The Changing Family in the Changing World" was the topic for the evening presentation of the lecture-entertainment course. Dr. Popenoe began by stating that the family is the oldest institution in existence, adding that only by constant change can it survive. He blamed the Industrial Revolution, which has diminished family functions almost to the vanishing point, as the cause for the increasing divorce rate. Said he, "United States divorce statistics show that one out of every five marriages ends in divorce." Danger periods are during or immediately following the first year of marriage, or from the fifth to ninth year. Marriages based merely on interest in home and children frequently end in divorce after twenty-five years.

The general consensus of opinion is that this is one of the best lectures we could have here—it might be said that Dr. Popenoe stands as an example of applied and tested theory—and theory is stressed most in colleges.

place for the Convention.

The conference groups of the Eastern Arts Association have proven their worth by providing an opportunity for open discussion of the many questions connected with art education. The meetings are offered in the hope that many will carry away not only inspiration but definite practical help.

The general theme, "Art Grows with the American Way", is presented with the belief that a proper program of art education has enhanced values in times of stress such as our country and the whole world are now witnessing. The defense of that spirit of freedom and individual creative resourcefulness tempered by the recognition of order as a basic necessity in a design for living, has challenging phases in which art education may play its constructive part. There is a close relationship between the nature of art and the ideals of democracy.

Mr. Aime H. Doucette, accompanied by students from the State Teachers College at Edinboro, will be present at this Art Convention at New York.

MANY OF THE FACULTY MAKE VACATION PLANS

With Easter vacation only a few days away the faculty, as well as the students, are planning what to do with their ten days. The Dean and Mrs. Bailey plan to go to Buffalo to see the water show at the new Memorial Auditorium. Mr. Bailey thinks that the portable swimming pool in which will be used will almost be worth the trip in itself. Dean Brown will drive to her home in New England.

Miss Garrison will spend her holidays with her mother, who is ill. Miss Forness and Miss Wilson will spend their ten days moving and settling in their new home on High street, formerly occupied by Miss Ketcham. Miss Ketcham has moved to the Culbertson house on Maple drive.

Mr. and Mrs. Haller will spend part of their holidays in Edinboro, and part traveling to Washington, D. C., Pittsburgh, Beaver and points south.

Miss Ruttle and Miss Ludgate plan an extended trip to St. Petersburg, Fla. On their way home they will make a tour of Virginia, seeing such

1941 Summer Session

On June sixteenth Edinboro College plans to begin their six weeks Summer Session. Those who have attended Summer School before will find several changes made in the program. Other years it has been necessary to have Saturday classes, but this year the schedule has been so arranged that this will not be necessary.

A very interesting recreational and social program has been planned under the direction of Miss Ruttle, which will include such highlights as an exhibition by the Erie Archery Club, Tennis, Badminton, Shuffleboard Tournaments, Riding, Swimming, trips to places of interest in the surrounding area such as Chautauqua and Cleveland and picnics.

Besides the usual courses which are listed in the Summer Catalogue arrangements have been made for the teaching of the following subjects that have not been offered before: "Mental Hygiene"—Dr. Van Houten, "History of Latin America"—Dr. Mudge, "Creative Music Activities in the Elementary School"—Miss Wilson, "Landscape Painting"—Mr. Haller, and "Textile Design and Weaving"—Mr. Doucette. The six weeks' session will close with commencement on July 25, 1941.

CONVENTION DELEGATE

Of the four delegates selected to represent Edinboro at the convention of Eastern State Teachers Colleges, William Bohn was appointed speaker on one of the many panel discussions and has been informed that his topic will be the program and budget for men's athletics.

under the direction of Burie Barclay of Meadville, and includes actual flight and principles of plane mechanics. At the conclusion of the course, a written examination by authorized administrators is given, along with an actual flying examination to ascertain the passing or failing of the applicant.

The course is described by President Van Houten as one of the most outstanding opportunities in years for students interested in aviation to procure training at so small an expense. A six-dollar medical fee, plus nine dollars for insurance, completes the required amount of money for the course, and this amount is refunded upon successful completion of the training period and subsequent passing of the examination. Under ordinary circumstances, such a course would cost each student about four hundred dollars, but is being sponsored by the Federal government as a part of the National Defense plans.

What the well-dressed Bowery wench will wear was ably displayed by the Edinboro damsels at the Annual Bowery Brawl given March 15th by the Haven Hall girls. Need I say that there were many fetching costumes to be seen though I'm not prepared to estimate how much they would fetch. Not much, I'd wager. Short skirts and shorter skirts kept appearing as the evening wore on. The gaudier the jewelry and the greater the quantity of it, the more effective the costume. Beauty patches, frizzled locks and layers—yet, I said layers of eye-shadow were an integral part of the girls' attire.

Phyllis Myers, as a sailors moll, was quite bewitching, and interesting notes of her out-fit were the long vari-colored curtain tassels worn as ear rings.

Judy Weaver took the prize as best (?) dressed babe in her extremely flowered brief skirt. Topping the fitted stripped jersey and violently-striking ensemble were several ostrich feathers which she called a hat.

I'm sure that no one could have missed the scanties worn by Baldwin-Haiston and Co. The shoes, especially, were so dainty, I thought, didn't you?

Not to be out-done by the weaker sex, Reeder Hall turned out in fine shape. Of note was the costume designed and worn by Mr. Kosanovic, though I do think it made him look a little on the chubby side. I have it from a reliable authority that John Aiton's trousers were not made from old checker-boards sewed together, but hand-painted, no less!! It's a good thing we all like checks, for there were a lot of them there (not the money kind, alas!). Paul "Deacon" Carpenter knocked our eyes out, figuratively speaking, with that race-track outfit of his and he must have had the same effect on the judges for he was awarded the prize as the most ingeniously-costumed male.

The old gym was gaily illuminated with candles stuck in wax-laden bottles in regular Bowery style. Made one feel quite at home. In this dusky atmosphere there was a lot of fun and dancing, with the Haven Hall nickelodeon furnished the down-beat. Refreshments could be had at the bar for a small consideration during intermission, and this was also the time set for the unique floor-show staged entirely by the female talent of the school with the able assistance of Jack Aiton's bass voice and George Kosanovic's piano accompaniment.

It's not so often that the girls get a chance to take the boys out and show them how a party is correctly conducted, but when they do it's guaranteed to please.

training itself, the college is giving four credits in science for the successful culmination of the training which will end June 1, about a week after the ending of the college term.

CLUBS

Miss Hamilton, Guest
Of Delta Phi Delta

Miss Hamilton, national inspector of the fraternity, was the luncheon guest of Delta Phi Delta Fraternity Friday, March 21, in Haven Hall's private dining room. Following the luncheon, Miss Hamilton attended the business meeting and mock ceremony of initiation ceremonies, inspected the Chi Chapter books, and met the officers of Delta Phi Delta at the home of Miss Skinner, Art Instructor of the State Teachers College at Edinboro.

Miss Hamilton was pleased with the work of Chi Chapter and gave members valuable advice and suggestions for the future.

Alpha Delta Sorority

The Alpha Delta Sorority entertained their ten pledge members at a banquet in the Haven Hall dining room on March 13, immediately following their formal initiation service in the sorority rooms.

Beside her plate each pledge member found a small package in which was an Alpha Delta bracelet.

After the dinner Miss Forness, the faculty adviser, greeted the new members with an address of welcome. Later in the evening the girls attended the Bertita Harding lecture.

The pledge members of Alpha Delta proved their versatility Tuesday evening, March 18, by entertaining the other members of the Sorority at a chili supper in Sorority rooms of Reeder Hall.

Their menu consisted of chili, salad, rolls, cocoa and cookies.

A brief business meeting followed the supper.

spots of historic interest as the homes of Thomas Jefferson, James Madison, Patrick Henry, and the colonial town of Williamsburg. They hope to spend a day in the newly opened National Art Gallery at Washington, D. C.

Dr. and Mrs. L. H. Van Houten will stay in Edinboro, since the holidays of their two daughters who are going to Penn State College will be spent here.

Mr. and Mrs. Zahniser will spend most of their time in Edinboro, with a possible trip to Toronto, Canada. Mr. and Mrs. Bates will also remain in Edinboro, with the possibility of a short trip to New England.

Mr. and Mrs. Offner, Dr. and Mrs. Mudge, Mr. and Mrs. Heinaman, Mr. LaBounty, Mr. and Mrs. McNees, and Miss Pettit plan to remain in Edinboro.

W.A.A. Participates
In Equestrain Show

Five Edinboro women participated in the annual Gymkhana held by Flora Stone Mather College in Cleveland last Friday evening. Seventy-two college and high school girls rode in this horse show, which was held in the First Squadron Armory.

Edinboro riders entered in the advanced class were Doris Heintz, Erie; June Welker, Edinboro; June Howard and Esther Stein, York. Doris Mayers, Sharon, rode in the beginners' class.

The Edinboro group, the only out-of-state group invited, brought home six ribbons, representing four third places and two fourth places. This is in spite of the fact that many of the competing riders rode their own mounts on which they had practiced throughout the winter.

Accompanying the group were Miss Nettie Mai Ruttle, Miss Greta Garrison, Nevin Weller, Warren Anna, Mrs. Heintz, of Erie, and John Potratz, of Wesleyville. Mr. and Mrs. Mayers, of Sharon, were also in attendance.

Swimming competition came to an end last week when the Deltas won the last meet by the narrow margin of 23-21. This gives the Deltas a win in two out of three meets.

Frank Pettinato, Erie Beach Guard and Edinboro student, is conducting a Red Cross Life Saving class three days weekly in the college pool. Fifteen college men and women are well on their way to becoming life guards.

The annual play day held by the W. A. A. March 22, brought representatives from five colleges to Edinboro for a day of fun and fellowship. Schools attending were Thiel, Westminster, Mercyhurst, Pitt, and Allegheny. The girls spent the afternoon playing basketball, badminton, shuffleboard, and ping pong, after which they were entertained at dinner in the college dining room.

Program Of Indian
Dances And Folk Lore

The assembly of Tuesday, March 18, presented Reginald and Gladys Laubin in an interpretation of Indian folk lore.

The true spirit of the numerous tribes of the Great Plains region was represented by the Laubins who have made continuous study of the native American Indian mode of living. The authentic dances and language were carried out in colorful Indian garb.

The program, further highlighted by an exhibition of exquisite Indian handicraft, was thoroughly enjoyed by all present in assembly.

SPORTS

Phi Sigma Pi Winning
Intra-mural Games

Intramural basketball, now in its third week of this season, offered many thrilling and interesting games. As in the past, there are two leagues, the "A" league, which includes the teams on which the fellows of supposedly higher caliber play, and the "B" league where the less experienced players make up the teams. No varsity men are allowed to play, and this fact makes the idea more sportsmanlike, as most of the fellows are evenly matched. This year, there are four teams in each league, the fraternities each having a team in both the "A" and the "B" leagues. The "A" league is also composed of the Old T mers, and the Odd Fellows, while the other two teams in the "B" league are DeSimone's Off Campus team, and the team representing the Red Hot A. C.

To date, last year's "A" league champions, the Phi Sigma Pi team, have remained in front, winning three games and losing none. The Kappa Delta Phi team is close behind, having lost only one game, and that one to the Phi Sigs. It would be expected that the best games would be those in which "A" league teams competed, but such is not the case; the closest and most exciting games being in the "B" league. This game which was played last week, brought together the teams of the two fraternities, and the game finally ended with the Phi Sigma Pi team ahead by two points, the final score being 43-41. However, there was some protest as to the time and score, so that the game is to be replayed. The Kappa Delta Phi team was the champion in the "B" league last year, and if they can hurdle the Phi Sigs this season, they should recapture the throne.

As the chief purpose of intra-mural basketball is to promote good sportsmanship, and merely to give every fellow in school a chance to get a little exercise, and not to exploit players or teams, there will be very little mention of scores, names, etc., in regards to the intramural basketball program.

Social Arts Club

The pre-vacation activities of the Arts club was brought to a successful close Saturday evening, March 29th. Members of the club witnessed the Erie Civic Theater Association production of the well-known Broadway play, "Three Men On A Horse."

This comedy, written by John Cecil Holm, is a story in three acts of the short comings and long shots of the race horse "Profession". Not only was the play very well received, but the audience realized the kindly atmosphere of the Playhouse was a reminder of the cosmopolitan quality of a First Nighter program.

A CAPELLA CHOIR

The Edinboro choir is giving a series of concerts in near-by communities. The initial one was here in the Presbyterian church on Sunday evening, March 23.

ning, March 23.

Sunday, March 30, the choir traveled to Fairview for an afternoon concert. The same evening they sang in the Simpson Methodist church of Erie.

The remaining program includes a concert in Union City on April 20 and one in Warren on April 27.

Y. W. C. A.

The Y. W. C. A. held their installation service for the new officers Thursday evening, March 20, in the newly-acquired "Y" room in Music Hall.

The president, Donna Bertram, took the pledge of office as did the other officers.

Vega Ihsen played a piano solo.

A series of three inspirational talks on prayer, love, and faith were given, respectively, by Marie Allen, June Keyser and Ernestine Pardee.

Phi Sig Sez:

(PHI SIGMA PI)

From all reports heard from students who attended the All College Skating Party which was held at Shadeland Gardens Saturday night, March 22, and sponsored by Upsilon Chapter of Phi Sigma Pi, was truly a success. Approximately fifty Edinboroites attended and the committee, headed by Dan Wolchik, and the faculty members who cooperated so splendidly are most worthy of congratulations and thanks.

Phi Sigma Pi is proud of its two basketball teams. The "A" team is undefeated this year in five starts—three of which are intramural league games. The "B" team is also undefeated but has played only two official games this far.

The results of the season thus far are as follows: Phi Sigma Pi "A" 46—Phi Sigma Nu (Alliance College) 23; Phi Sigma Pi "A" 50—Kappa Delta Phi 18; Phi Sigma Pi "A" 43—Odd Fellows 34; Phi Sigma "B" 44—DeSimone's Off Campus 14.

If Phi Sigma Pi "A" should remain undefeated for the remainder of the season, it would be the third year straight that this team has not been beaten—quite a record.

Plans are now going forward for the annual Phi Sig Spring Formal, which for the past two years has been held at the Masonic Temple in Erie. The date set for this important social function is May 17, and the committee now working on the plans for the party is made up of Neal Harrison and Jack Bonnett.

According to the contract, seating of the new auditorium will be completed by April 8.

Dere Mom,

Las week I'd begun to think that spring had rilly sprung....but now I'm not so sure....maybe it'll be diffrent by the time you get this, tho'....

Well, I guess you want to know all about the Bowery Brawl....an' Mom, believe it or not, so many things happened that were rilly unexpected, that I can't tell you everything....not on account of the censor er anything (altho sometimes that has a lot to do with it) but just on account of I'd like to go on livin' peaceful, like I am....altho I think thers some peepil what don't think I am, espeshilly after Sat. nite....do you think I ought to set 'em rite, or ignor them, which I am gonna do, onacounta something called ethics.... what ever that is....altho I will say that thers something what don't concern them, and which they rilly don't kno anything about....

An that reminds me, mom, this is some camp....las nite my radio disappeared....that wuz a result of Private Masterson's blowing up in front of her, on account of she tried fixin it which did not work....you shud have seen her....did you ever see a radio mekanic? nether is Private M....also she received a popcorn popper for her birthday the other day....Yeah, and Mayers comes in on the other end of that, I here....Well, mare, (that's French again, mom) the popularity of the music tent has given way, it seems, to the Rec room....I don't know why....maybe it's the coke-mashine what draws 'em....

Then I herd that Lutenant Crafton got a letter the other day, which was ritten by a flunkie from Reeder.... those were pretty snappy sentenses, mom, if you get what I mean.... Corporal Wilson shur is sailing high these days, and the same goes for a couple of other rookies which I could menshun....Caffish was doing allrite at the Brawl the other nite....and you shoulda seen Sargent-at-arms.... Vaughn....she was a knockout!....Well I guess that's all, except I mite add that on accounta the Sophmore party the other nite the fee was twenty cents after eight o'clock....so the Sophmores came out all rite, with the High Command on the job....

Ah river,

Reeder's Digest

Well, well, well; here we are, nearing another vacation, and all Reeder Hall is flooded with tears to think that soon we shall have to leave the old school for an eternity (ten measley days). We sure hope the residents will be able to survive the ordeal.

As we peeked into Nev Weller's room the other day, we were reminded of the tipsy gent who stepped unsteadily up to the wall of his room and said, "So-o-o-o, you're plastered, too." Yep, Nev was plastering again, and this time he turned out a masterpiece in the form of a red fox. Where did you pick up your technique, Nev?

It seems that someone has been taking particular note of a second floor boarder. They sneaked into his room the other night and elected a striking likeness of him. The materials were: a camera tripod, one plaster head, one sweater, a tube of glue, one battered (or should we say mutilated) hat, a pair of pants, and a pair of gloves. Let's have a pun about that, D. J.

A certain so-and-so on second floor has changed considerably since a certain who-s-it has returned.

One "Mickey" Schlindwein and his roomy, "Bud" Eisaman, have a visitor nearly every morning, we hear his visits are really pleasant.

The fellows are certainly enthused over the intermural schedules. The only thing that is missing is the student body. No kidding, if you want to see some real games, just take in one of these battles.

Ladies and gentlemen; I wish to take this opportunity to announce the presence of "THE WHITE HOPE," namely, George Kosanovic. George has turned wrestler, and a good one at that. Look him up, Bailey, he's got possibilities.

Just a word to let you know that a certain red-head of Reeder is up to his old tricks (if we may say so, he is back-tracking). Guess who?

It seems that "Deacon" Carpenter and "Snaggy" Snyder have been tooting together lately to the accompaniment of "Strangler" Kosanovic, pianist. No kiddin', they've got rhythm. May we quote that popular song, plus a small change, "Those Three Are All Alone."

Well, guess that's about all the chatter for this edition. Until next time keep your eyes and ears open, your mouth shut, and your work (night-work??) up to date.

Kappa Komment

(KAPPA DELTA PHI)

Hi-Ho, everybody; believe it or not, SPRING is here. Yes sir; it hit us sort of unexpected like, but as ever, she is a most welcome visitor. With her will probably come the re-enacting of many a pleasant memory of last year.

It won't be long 'till pilot Hahn and co-pilot Mensinger are seen buzzing their Mercedes around the campus again. Of course we musn't forget Blasdell, he'll be in there pushing, too. Don't get sore boys, when you're flying low, we'll all be jealous. If you get into any trouble, just take "Butch" along, she knows all the answers (about aviation, an' stuff-like-that-there).

We've been having it hot-and-heavy at the last few meetings, what with plans for the Spring Formal an' such coming up. Better start working girls, get your man early, 'cause this is really an occasion.

An order has been sent in for some more of the Keppa Delta Phi shirts for the new members. You'll probably see a lot of them in the near future.

Off Campus News

We thought you might like to know how a few of the off-campus people are going to spend their Easter vacations, so we asked some of them and here are the results.

Frank Felice is going to further his education by studying at the Cornell University Library at Ithaca.

Doris Heintz will work for a while at the Boston Store before going to the Eastern Arts Convention.

Earl Madigan and Harold Powers are going to work for a florist.

Mary Talor plans to visit Swarthmore College, New York and Philadelphia.

Harold Bohn will help build a greenhouse.

Don Daley is going to drive a school bus.

Ed Culbertson will be getting up in the wee small hours to deliver milk.

Ollie Wester and Marshall Webb plan to hand out milk shakes and such in Isaly stores.

Otis White will be doing a lot of stooping—working as a pin-setter.

Morrison Orr will be behind the counter of a grocery store.

Ralph Knopp expects to do nothing but have a good time before going to work for a florist, not the least of which will be attending a performance of "Twelfth Night" starring Helen Hayes and Maurice Evans.

Nick DeSimone says he's going to sleep, but we doubt that!

Bill Peiffer will visit in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia.

Evelyn Glenn expects to spend the most of her time in the dentist's chair! (Cheerful thought!)

All in all it seems that everyone will be busy. But remember to save some time for fun and relaxation from study. Happy Easter!
