

Dr. L. H. Van Houten's Invitation To Science Academy Accepted

1942 Meeting To Be Held In Northwestern Pennsylv- ania For the First Time

Meeting in the northwestern part of Pennsylvania for the first time in the history of its organization, the Pennsylvania Academy of Science, largest scientific group in the state, will hold its 1942 session at Edinboro State Teachers college, Edinboro, Pa. The Executive Council of the Academy, when meeting to decide upon the question of where its next annual two-day session would be held, unanimously accepted the invitations sent to the president and the college, to be our guests on our campus.

The Pennsylvania Academy of Science is the most important scientific organization in the state, and includes members from the science departments of every college and university in the state, as well as anyone who is interested in scientific research. There are four different divisions of it: general, geology, and meteorology sections, and the Junior Academy section. The Senior Academy has approximately 500 members, while the Junior Academy, meets at Edinboro at the same time, is composed of about 250 members of science clubs of different high schools of the state. Once a year a meeting is held at some college or university in Pennsylvania, where papers are presented of research work of members carried on during the past year. Dr. H. W. Thurston, Jr., of the Botany Department of Pennsylvania State College, is the president of the Academy of Science this year. The president-elect for 1942 is Dr. E. A. Vuilleumier, Professor of Chemistry and dean of Dickinson College. Each year a volume, entitled The Proceedings of the Pennsylvania Academy of Science, is published.

Staff Appointed For College Handbook

Hazel Dennison, junior, and Pat Masterson, sophomore, are co-editors of a committee formed to revise the college Handbook in preparation for the coming school year. Miss Brown was appointed faculty advisor to the group.

The other members of the committee are Gene Kaminski and Don Wagner, sophomores, and Frank Holo-wach, freshman.

Miss Hudson's Books Given to Library

The library wishes to gratefully acknowledge the gift of a large part of the personal library of Nelle G. Hudson, former science instructor in the college. These books were made available through the kindness of Miss Ketcham who felt that no disposition of her books would have been more pleasing to Miss Hudson.

Miss Hudson served on the library committee for many years and her interest lay not only in securing a well rounded collection of books in her particular field but also in the general development of the library.

This collection, designated by commemorative book plates has been catalogued and placed on the library shelves. There are ninety-nine titles which are new to the library and sixty-seven titles which are duplicates. These books are primarily in the field of science and represent the newest material available in high school and college texts and teaching materials.

EDINBORO PLAYER'S ANNUAL PLAY TO BE GIVEN NEXT WEEK

C. A. A. Students Reach Solo Stage

Vincent, Bleech, Ackelson, And Schaaf Progressing Fast

They are flying through the air with the greatest of ease now, those four Edinboro State Teachers College students who are taking the CAA Course at Graham airport in Meadville. All four of our students have reached the solo stage. From this time they must complete 35 hours of solo flight before taking the flight test.

The course, carrying with it four credit in science, 72 hours of ground-work at the college, and over 40 hours of actual flying, leading to a private pilot's licence, has evoked considerable interest on the part of the student body of the college. Owing to strict medical requirements, conflicts in schedules, and other reasons, many of the interested students were unable to enroll in the course this year, but four Juniors at the college, along with four students of Alliance college, Cambridge Springs, are working every day toward their final tests.

Mr. John Bleech, of Warren; Mr. Stuart Ackelson, of Pittsburgh; Mr. Will Shaaf, of North Girard; and Miss Betsey Vincent, of Westchester, are the students taking the course here.

The students are grateful for the aid extended to them by President Van Houten, who has assisted considerably in providing for the course and affording transportation to the airport; to Mr. H. W. McNees, professor of science and mathematics who is in charge of the ground school held four nights a week; and to Mr. Mark C. Jackson, of the Edinboro High School faculty, who is instructing the students in navigation. In the ground school, courses in meteor-

Dr. C. J. Christensen Speaks At Cornell

Dr. C. J. Christensen, Professor of Economics, Psychology, and Philosophy and Director of Extension service of the College, addressed the fifteenth annual Institute for Parent-Teacher Leaders at Cornell University, Wednesday, April 23.

"Maintaining Community Morale Through Recreation," was Dr. Christensen's topic for discussion.

The general theme of this year's institute was "Safeguarding Our Human Resources."

"Kind Lady" Is Presented For High School Seniors

On Thursday, May 8th, the Edinboro Players will present "Kind Lady" by Edward Chodorov, as their annual spring production. This year the performance is sponsored by the college through the High School Guest Day Committee, the members of which are Mr. Mallory, chairman, Miss Nettie Mai Ruttle, Miss Brown, and William Peiffer. The play will be staged in Normal Hall auditorium before an invited audience of five hundred high school seniors. Following the performance the guests will be received by the faculty and members of the cast at a reception in Reeder Hall sponsored by the Social Arts Club.

The play is the story of Mary Herries, the "kind lady," who feeds a "beggar", Henry Abbott, on Christmas Eve and is rewarded for her generosity by having Abbott keep her a prisoner in her own home for several years while he sells her priceless art treasures.

"Mary Herries" is being played by June Howard, "Henry Abbott," the villain of the piece, is being enacted by Ralph Knopp. Others in the cast are: Charlotte Weaver as "Rose"; Betty Klapthor playing "Phyllis Glensing"; Robert McKinney, "Peter Santard"; Marjorie Martin, "Lucy Weston"; Richard Rockwell, "Mr. Edwards"; Jane Vaughn, "Mrs. Edwards"; Robert Ulrich, "Mr. Foster"; June Welker, "Aggie Edwards"; Ellen Haiston, "Ada"; Don Wolchik, "Doctor"; David Small, "Gustave Rosenberg".

The production staff is as follows: Miss Jane S. Ludgate, director; Harold Stoops and Donald Wagner, assistant directors; Edward Damits, stage manager; Evelyn Glenn, property manager; Morrison Orr, sound effects; Dorothy Lincoln, costumes; Earl Madigan, lighting; Jim Brown, business manager, and Harold Powers, publicity.

Tickets for college students and townspeople go on sale today at 35c, all seats reserved. Tickets may be obtained from members of the Edinboro Players.

Fifty-Five Schools Participated in Rural Music Festival

Last Saturday, April 26th, the campus of the College was a swirl of activity, as six hundred pupils of fifty-four nearby rural schools thronged the campus to participate in the Sixth Annual Rural School Music Festival.

This is the only festival of its kind in Pennsylvania, and as it has been entirely sponsored, from its origin, by the college, it was of particular interest to the entire student body.

Miss Esther Wilson, director of music at the college, was the originator of the festival five years ago, and has been responsible for its immense popularity and success in inspiring interest in music through the elementary schools of Erie and Crawford counties. Five years ago, when invitations were issued for the first Music Festival, seven schools, representing about one hundred children, responded. Last year, over forty schools appeared for the all-day session.

Rehearsal of group singing, under the direction of Miss Leah Thorpe, music representative for the American Book Company, was held in the new auditorium from 10 until 11:30 a. m. At 8 o'clock in the evening, the massed chorus of over five hundred children, presented their concert under Miss Thorpe's direction.

Miss Thorpe directed this chorus two years ago, and so thrilled the children, teachers and audience with her fine personality and leadership that through public demand she returned to direct this year's concert.

This year, the theme was "Children of Other Lands," hence, the costumes, folk songs, folk dances, and interpretations of manners, customs and beliefs of our overseas neighbors as presented last Saturday.

McKINNEY ATTENDS MEET

Bob McKinney, Art student and member of Alpha Psi Omega, Dramatic fraternity, attended the third annual Tri-State Convention of Alpha Psi Omega at the Fairmont State Teachers College, Fairmont, West Virginia, last week-end.

Alpha Delta Sorority Holds Spring Formal

Alpha Delta members and alumnae with their guests danced to the music of Gregg Ott and his orchestra at their annual Spring Formal which was held in the gymnasium of the Teacher Training School last Saturday evening, April 26.

Marion Duffy, president of the sorority, had Elaine Ghering and Marjorie Martin as co-chairmen of the dance. On committees were Jean Baldwin, Jean Alexander, Sally Wilson, Edna Mitchel, Ellen Haiston, Margaret Kingsley and Elaine Highfield.

Following the dance a breakfast, catered by the Coffee Shop, was served in adjoining rooms of the Teacher Training School.

ology, navigation, and Civil Air Regulations provide a thorough background for the final test to be given the last of May by Mr. William A. Mehl, Supervisor of the Allegheny County Airport, Pittsburgh, which will entitle the students their licenses, provided they pass their flying tests in the meantime.

The students are breathing a bit easier now that they have passed the solo stage, but prior to that intensive practice had to be made in banks, turns, climbs, glides, straight-and-level flight, stalls, power stalls, spins, takeoffs, and landing. The spins pull down the top rating for the most thrilling maneuvers. After an altitude of at least 3000 feet is reached, the motor is throttled back and the nose is pointed up. As the plane loses speed it settles. By hitting the right or left rudder hard, the plane is thrown into a spinning vertical position. On the second revolution, great speed is achieved, and the ground one else was making a brave appearance to be wirling around the occupant of the plane. From there on you hang on and hope for the best.

At the end of the course a trip of at least 50 miles solo is to be undertaken by the students. They must plot out their own courses, map out their flights, and include at least two landings at strange ports.

Life Saving Class Exams, May 6, 29

Life saving class members, under the able tutelage of Frank Pettinato, Erie senior, are polishing up their technique in anticipation of May 6. Red Cross examiners will arrive on that date to administer a two-hour test to the following: Freshmen—Shirley Edwards, June Hostetler, Marjorie Hall, Sally Wilson, Suzanne Sack, David Small, George Kasonovic, Vernon Dornbaugh, Chet Eisaman; Juniors—Ellen Haiston, June Keyser, Dick Rockwell; Senior—June Welker. Four students who enrolled in the Red Cross Life Saving Instructors' Class in Erie, will complete their tests on May 29. They are: June Keyser and Doris Heintz, Juniors; Wallace Skelton, Sophomore; Mickie Schlindwein, Freshman. These students are to be commended on their work, as the course requires the highest efficiency in swimming and teaching.

Also in line for congratulations is Elaine Ghering, Edinboro senior, who will enter the Women's National Intercollegiate Golf Tournament at Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio, June 29-30, July 1-2-3.

INVITATION TO SCIENCE ACADEMY ACCEPTED

President Van Houten, who six weeks ago sent letters to the president and secretary of the Academy, said of the honor bestowed upon Edinboro: "We are very pleased to have this group here and are glad they accepted the invitations I extended." Dr. John C. Johnson, president of the Academy in 1934 and member of our faculty expects the meeting to be the largest ever held.

All buildings and facilities of the college will be at the disposal of the Academy during the two days, the Friday and Saturday before Easter; that research papers from delegates of the University of Pennsylvania, University of Pittsburgh, and Bucknell University have been promised for next year.

Dr. Johnson attended the session this year, held at Coatsville, near Philadelphia, on the 10th and 11th of this month. While there he presented two papers: The Present Status of Certification of Science Teachers in Pennsylvania and The Need For an Integrated 12-year Science Program in Our Public Schools. Seventy-four papers in all were submitted, dealing with different fields of research. Dr. Johnson had the signal honor of being appointed chairman of the Committee on certification of Science Teachers, which is composed of nine of the leading men in the science field. He is also chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements at Edinboro, of which others will be from the science faculties of nearby colleges who will be asked to aid him.

Potpourri

Stand back, folks! King Cotton is at the wheel!! and the female section of the campus is blossoming into white and pastel summer clothes again! I'm sure that Easter vacation must have proved very disastrous for many parental exchequers. Par example: Katy Davis' suit that is so well tailored....you've seen it....longish jacket....huge pockets. Dorothy Yoder's heavenly blue 3-piece outfit....a lovely example of what they are doing this year with suit and coat combines. Also chalk up one for Gurley Himes, who, it is rumored, is the first girl seen in ages that really looks just right in a cape. Hers is the military, square-shouldered type in navy wool and she wears it over a smooth tan suit. Have you seen Ellen Graves strolling along in that two-piece dress suit with the clever pockets? They are all sort of ruffled....This suit, too, is that fresh light blue that seems to be so smart this spring. On her head a cluster of flowers and a froth of veiling become an enchanting hat.

After-dark fashions, of course, are new and prevalent because of the plethora of formal affairs which seem to just naturally seem to blossom out in the spring.

At the Junior Prom and again at the Alpha Delta spring formal the old familiar faces were busily conquering above striking new gowns which must have helped tremendously. Many of the dresses were cotton and, can you imagine anything more practical than this for dresses that get rubbed against men's suits and dragged across dance floors? You can just tub them out and, Lo, they are as fresh as a daisy.

With just three more weeks of school (or is it four?) well, any how....we're going to need to be our comfortablest, and coolest and smartest to offset all the oncoming tests. You know what will do it, don't you? Cotton, of course.

DR. L. H. VAN HOUTEN ADDRESSES ERIE SOCIAL HYGIENE ASSN.

Few curriculum changes have been made in public schools of our country in spite of much talk for many years by many groups, Dr. L. H. Van Houten, president of the College, said last week at a luncheon meeting of the Erie Social Hygiene Association. His topic was "Present Trends in Curriculum Revision."

"This lag is due to disagreements among education leaders, lack of conviction on the part of the common people and the expense involved in making such changes," said Dr. Van Houten. "In the long run the conviction of the common people and their willingness to foot bills are determining factors in changes in school curricula."

High School Play Day Scheduled For May 10

With the early and welcome advent of spring, we hear the swish of tennis rackets, the twang of bowstrings, and the crack of the mushball bat. And, of course, to the riding conscious, the most welcome sound of all is the clatter of newly-shod horses hoofs.

Leaders elected for spring sports, which began Tuesday, April 22, are: Tennis, Frances Skelton; Archery, Jean Alexander; Mushball, Peggy Ellwanger; Riding, Dorothy Searfoss.

Donna Bertram, newly-elected Delta Leader, is to finish the year in the place of Betsy Vincent, who has resigned.

Four hundred girls have received invitations to a High School Play Day to be conducted by the W. A. A. on Saturday, May 10.

An enjoyable and worthwhile play day program is being arranged to give high school students of the surrounding area the finest day possible.

Allegheny College has invited Edinboro women to participate in a play day on May 15. Five W. A. A. members will visit the neighboring school on that date.

Riding enthusiasts enjoyed an early morning jaunt last Sunday at Culbertson's Stable. Miss Nettie Mai Ruttie accompanied the following group: June Howard, Dorothy Searfoss, Doris Mayers, June Welker, Laurence Hickman, Nevin Weller.

The swimming exhibition which was held for the Rural School guests proved to be a big attraction of the day. The only trouble was, the spectators wanted to swim, too.

ALPHA DELTA SORORITY TO ENTERTAIN MOTHERS

Within four days, on May 4, the mothers of the sorority girls will be the centers of attraction on campus. Rome had its feasts and festivals and

LEAGUE TROPHIES FOR 1941 ARE WON BY PHI SIGMA PI FRATERNITY TEAMS

Intramural Basketball

Smashing through spirited opposition, the fast, high scoring Phi Sig combines blazed undefeated through twelve hotly contested basketball games in the college Intramural League and won both the "A" and "B" league trophies for 1941.

The "A" victors met their strongest opposition in the rangy Odd Fellows' team who, in one particular game, led the Phi Sigs by a sixteen point margin at the half. Amid the roars and cries of frenzied spectators, the Phi Sigs batteries rallied and blitzed their way to victory of 36-33.

In their vying with one another for supremacy of the hardwood, the teams received unprecedented support of the student body. A friendly competitive spirit prevailed as the contestants of one day became the spectators of the following day.

For the benefit of those athletes who have not earned letters in varsity basketball competition, the athletic department founded the intramural basketball program in 1939.

In its initial year, the tournament was composed of only an "A" league. Members of the teams participating voluntarily contributed toward the purchase of an Intramural Basketball Trophy to be presented to the winning team. It was at this time that the Phi Sigs began their victorious three-year record by winning the first trophy.

The following season, the tournament grew in number of teams and two leagues were formed—an "A" and "B" league. The "A" league consisted of the supposedly more experienced players and those who had practiced with the varsity.

The Phi Sigs repeated their undefeated record the following season and again captured the "A" league trophy, while in the "B" league the Kappa Delta wrested the trophy from the highly rated Reeder Hall team.

This year, with the strongest squad they have yet developed, the Phi Sigs won their third consecutive "A" league trophy and also captured the "B" league trophy. In the "A" league the Phi Sigs rolled up a total of 302 points to their opponents 156 and 246 total points to their opponents 165 in the "B" league.

Under the direction of Otis J. White, Phi Sig coach, the men of the victorious Greek letter team bombarded the buckets to win first, second, sixth and seventh places in the ten leading individual scores in the "A" league, while the Odd Fellows gained third and fourth places, the Kappa Delta, eighth and tenth, and the Old Timers fifth and ninth.

In the "B" league, the Red Hot A. C.'s won first, fourth and eighth places in the ten leading individual scores; the champions, Phi Sig team, received second, third, fifth and tenth places, and the Kappa Deltas gained sixth, seventh and ninth places.

The five high score players in each league are:

(PHI SIGMA PI)

Phi Sig sez that spring reminds him of spring, spring reminds him of fun and fun reminds him of the Spring Formal and Dinner. Our Spring Fling is to be held on Saturday, May 17, in the Masonic ballroom in Erie. Dancing is to be to the music of Gregg Ott and his twelve-piece band. Spring, fun, Spring Formal.

PHI SIG can certainly sympathize with Benny. Poor fellow had to go and get the mumps. Nice swelling, Benny. And to Coach Bailey, we are glad to see him in his office after an appendix operation.

Phi Sig would like to know what caused the fizzling out of the Inter-mural program of basketball.

Mr. Rohleder Speaks To Fraternity Members

At their recent professional meeting, the members of the Phi Sigma Pi Fraternity heard Mr. E. W. Rohleder, principal of Linesville-Conneaut High School, who gave an interesting and informal talk on the qualities of the superior teacher.

Having spent the past year in post graduate work at the University of Florida, where he received his Masters degree in Education, Professor Rohleder possessed a keen understanding of the problems confronting the student as well as a wealth of knowledge and experience gained from years of teaching and administrative work.

Cooperation, participation in community activities, continuous preparation, professional reading, personal and physical fitness, moral fitness, intellectual fitness and enthusiasm were stressed as the qualities and characteristics which mark the outstanding teacher.

Three high schools have been chosen to present plays for the dramatic section of the festival, and, in addition, an all-county play will be presented, with actors taken from schools which are not presenting one-act plays.

Athletic games, including table tennis, wrestling, volley-ball, badminton, shuffleboard, and deck tennis are planned. A gymnasium exhibition with apparatus, marching, calisthenics, relays and games, tumbling, dancing, and hand drills has a part in the program.

Dr. L. H. Van Houten, president of the Edinboro State Teachers College, was elected president of the congregation of the Presbyterian church of Edinboro at their annual congregational meeting during the past month.

Haven Ravin's

Ah, Spring....then came the rains (in Edinboro, always)....and out into it all go people like Kaminski, Mayers, Masterson, and Sewal....deglam-ourizing, but it's fun!....Ever hear of "C. C. B.," unquote, just a little item to remind you....DEAN to you kiddies, and the feminine two-thirds of the campus population need have no more doubt as to their meaning: courtesy, costume, and booklarnin'.... What does one do when one runs out of late pers?....well, we'll tell you, anyhoo....Peg Ellwanger doesn't let a little thing like that bother her.... always finds a way, Peg does.... and it's within the law, too!.....

Then there was the Prom (which we are not exactly featuring, except to mention that on the night of April 18th, several things were floating around (and we don't mean the dancers, either)....namely a ring and a frat pin....life's like that....and so are Mabel Stewart and Arky Vaughn....and we almost forgot, while every-ttempt to get ready that night, Maggie disappeared....that's all right, Mag, we don't appreciate electrical storms much either....and now give a cheer for our Sally....who holds her own.... and you can say that again! also, Highfield, seems to prefer the Erie male, or is it Corry?....Note: to the package what walked off accidentally, or otherwise, with some of Mayer's favorite Artie Shaw records....even a trade for some of her Ink Spots wouldn't be as discouraging....

And so we say goodnite, dear readers, with perhaps one more suggestion to the girls on the second floor....have you seen Sewall's little notice (can't say as we blame her) on the shower room door?

Off Campus News

Two off-campus girls attended the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. conferences at Slippery Rock S. T. C. Saturday, April 26th.

Don Granahan is working the night shift at the Erie Forge and Clem Intrieri punches the clock at the same time at the Karl Marx Toy Works.

We all extend our deepest sympathy to Neil Harrison, who is out of school with a beautiful case of mumps, and wish him a speedy recovery.

Don Brown's draft number came up but he was deferred until July 1st.

The House of Klingensmith and the Book Shop are moving to the Kiehl home on Meadville street at the end of May. So far the same group of fellows will be with Mrs. K. next year, with the exception of Knopp, who doesn't care to plan so far ahead.

Several off-campus people tried out for the golf team last Monday: Vic Fuller, last year's district 10 winner, Peter Gall, Frank Holowach, Bill Peiffer, and Eyaine Ghering, who, incidentally, is sporting a beautiful set of matched woods, a graduation gift.

At this time we wish to welcome back Bob Kaufmann, who has been out of school for over a month with a toe infection.

Swiss Yodelers To Sing Here May 1

The world famous Fraunfelder family will appear for an evening of yodel melodies and songs Friday evening, May 9, at 8 p. m., in the Normal Hall auditorium.

This family, who has thrilled thousands with yodel melodies in four languages, will bring to the Lecture-Entertainment series the fine traditions, enthusiasm, characteristics and stability of the Swiss people.

Mr. R. Fraunfelder, the only Swiss Yodel composer and prominent Echo Yodeler from the Swiss High Alps, wrote the yodel melodies for the following motion pictures: "Mad About Music" (Universal Picture), "Paradise for Three" (MGM Picture), "Melodies in Spring" (Paramount Picture), and "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" (Walt Disney).

This sparkling and different program is the last of the current series of the Lecture Entertainment Course.

Kappa Komment (KAPPA DELTA PHI)

Well, spring is here, and with spring comes the Formal. This year, because the Culbertson Hills Country Club is undergoing extensive alterations, we are having our dance in the gymnasium of the Training School the evening of May 17. Jim Hill is chairman of the committee.

Last week one of our brothers, Stu Ackelson, soloed. He has now completed the first phase of his C. A. A. training.

Plans are being made for a Kappa Delta Phi Alumni Banquet at which all alumni are to be guests of honor.

Reeder Hall once heard that the Golden Rule was made to be obeyed. Let us refresh your memories: it is "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." It seems we have slipped—or at least some of us. We hear you had some trouble after the prom, Mickey. Didn't you have any change for the kid sister? You had better learn to duck fast because shoes are in season this spring. Chester "Pop" Iseman had some trouble not many week-ends ago in Meadville. What's the matter Chet, no will power. You had better not follow your nose too close at those auctions, Sloan, you may get it under the block yet. "Blest be the tie that binds." This goes to reference to S'amokin, Pa. Tough Pot Pourri. Bleech and Schaaf, "The Flying Fools", have soloed. Just remember boys, a plane only goes solo. (Copyright, D. J. Fananni).

Just to close up, I want to remind you "Reeder Rouges" that the dorm is your home, while living in it we must give and take, cooperate, and above all be friends!!!
