"Canterbury Tales" Opens At Nixon Theater Jan. 19

"Canterbury Tales," a rollicking musical hit offering sex with a twinkle instead of a leer, will be presented at the Nixon Theatre for one week beginning Monday, January 19. It is now in its second year of sellouts in London. Prior to this present tour, "Canterbury Tales" ran for several months on Broadway.

Ray Walston, Constance Carpenter and Martyn Green are the stars in the company of 30 which Hal James and National Performing Arts are presenting on a coast-to-coast engagement.

Mr. Walston has been a star in the legitimate theatre, motion pictures and television for a number of years in America and London but he is perhaps best known for his starring role in the TV series, "My Favorite Martian." He is also currently co-starring as Mad Jack Duncan in the film, "Paint Your Wagon."

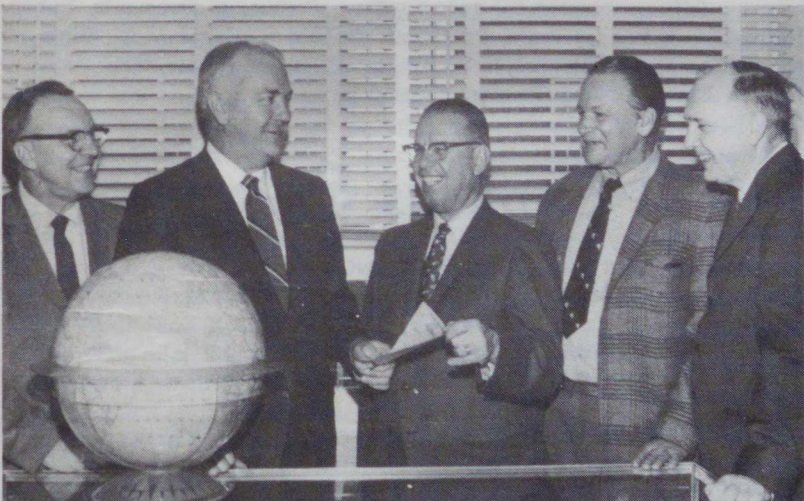

Constance Carpenter has starred for many years in London and New York. One of her major Broadway successes was a two-year run in "The King and I" when she took over after the death of Gertrude Lawrence.

Martyn Green is considered the greatest living authority and performer of the Gilbert and Sullivan light operas as well as a Broadway star, including his present and starring role on Broadway as Chaucer and Justinus in "Canterbury Tales."

"Canterbury Tales" is based on five of Geoffrey Chaucer's naughty fables. The London Sunday Times hailed it as the raciest, bawdiest, most good hearted and good humored musical in town. The American company is directed by James Hammerstein, son of Oscar II.

Performances for "Canterbury Tales" will be presented nightly except Sunday at 8:30. Wednesday matinee 2:00 p.m., and Saturday matinee 2:30 p.m.

Tickets are on sale at the Nixon Theatre.

Winter Commencement Speaker, J.W. Barr Speaks At Hamer

Joseph W. Barr Jr., the first Secretary of the Pennsylvania Department of Community Affairs - the first such community-oriented state agency in the Nation, will be the Winter Commencement speaker here at California State College on January 17, 1970.

Mr. Barr has had many experiences in local and state governmental activities. He was the mayor of Oil City. He was also a leader in State and National League of Cities. He led an active role in establishing a new State-level department designed specifically for dealing with and focusing State resources on the problems of communities. This job led him to his appointment as Secretary of the Pennsylvania Department of Community Affairs when it came into being in 1966.

Since the time of his appointment to the secretaryship by Governor William Scranton, and his reappointment by Governor Raymond P. Shafer in 1967, he made the department a guiding force in the creation of a number of Commonwealth-community service programs totally new in concept and, in some instances, serving as models for programs on the Federal level or by sister states.

His record in public life reflects a sort of pre-history of the Department of Community Affairs. His activities in the Chamber of Commerce and as a leadership volunteer in city planning led to appointments with the Pennsylvania Planning Association and the Pennsylvania State Planning Board in 1963.

As Mayor of Oil City from 1960-1966, he saw his community renaissance efforts lead to an All American City Award in 1964.

During his term as mayor, he was a director of the Pennsylvania League of Cities, serving as president in 1962 and 1963. Through the Pennsylvania League he became active in the National League of Cities on important committees dealing with intergovernmental relations.

During his tenure as secretary, the Department of Community Affairs has developed a state urban assistance program, with primary emphasis on housing development and urban renewal, which is one of the most comprehensive and ambitious in the nation. It also includes technical and financial assistance in local government modernization, and in such functional areas as community recreation and parks facilities, anti-poverty and human resource development activities for the disadvantaged, job training and counseling for the "Hard Core" unemployed, and public mass transportation.

With such an impressive record, Joseph W. Barr will be a fitting speaker for the first graduating class of 1970.

Editorial . . . Night Class For Owls, Or Night Class For Dunces?

Every student in this institution of lower living faces the double threat of graduating (equal to induction) and scheduling night classes. What is a night class asks the naive freshman. Let him schedule one and he becomes an authority on elder students, conscientious profs, and long classes.

Night classes are usually scheduled for interesting subjects such as the History of the 27th Ward, The Mathematics of Basket Weaving, or Modern Theory of Gas Station Management. You know these subjects are both necessary for a well-rounded personality and credit in all majors. Of course, all these subjects are taught by professionals in their fields. After all, Dr. Boron was District Manager for Sun Oil Co. for 47½ years before being fired for stealing Plaid Stamps. Then he came to this institution upon Dean of Grub's request to teach a seminar on Cafeteria Sanitation in Geriatric Wards. After two uneventful years of teaching this elective subject, he then transferred to the Business Department and now teaches Theory of Gas Station Management II. (This is the advanced course required for all future managers of Hi-Value, Big Scott or El Cheapo Stations.)

A night class is the only type of class where a prof lectures for three hours straight with only a five minute break, (while the prof downs three boxes of Dr. Lindon's Cough Drops) and knows less about the subject when he leaves than when he entered.

A night class is the only type of class where it is possible to have a two-hour test and two hour lecture in a three hour period (with the five minute break). In a night class, the enrollment is usually 35 girls (all 27 or older; usually older by 30 years) and 3 boys and 47 dirty old men. The boys usually watch the "girls" who watch the dirty old men who are watching the boys.

A night class is the only type of class in which a student enters not knowing where he is going, exists only to leave at 9 p.m. and finally leaves not knowing where he was and decides never again to take a night class.

Now the scene shifts to prescheduling and our student decides to cut a few corners and schedules a NIGHT CLASS.

Snow Removal At CSC . . .

Last weekend's snowstorm here at CSC brought to light one of the many problems on our campus; mainly people falling on their "BIZOUCH", because of the icy and snowy conditions of campus sidewalks and roads. However, bright and early Monday morning the Crack CSC Snow Removal Crew was hard at work removing the top two inches of the four inches of solid precipitation from our streets and sidewalks. QUESTION? Is it too hard to remove the bottom two inches of snow also, or does the Crew enjoy watching the CSC students play Russian Roulette walking to class? We know the staff is short handed, but is it too much to ask to have all the snow removed and some salt put on the icy spots? We hope in the future all the snow is removed quickly before someone falls and is seriously injured.

Letters To The Editor . . .

Ed Note: We invite comments on this subject.
Dear Ed:

Often times we cannot see the trees for the forest. A lot of small things go by unnoticed because larger things tend to overshadow them. Yet, little things can be just as important and meaningful as those of greater magnitude. It is time for our fellow students to realize that a number of small things can be done to improve our campus.

One of the small things that can be done is to construct a podium at a central location on campus. Why not? There would be several advantages to having such a podium. The podium would be a great instrument in arousing student interest. By discussing and debating the issues that are important to the campus the student body would become more informed. The informative nature of the forum would aid in solving the big communications problem on campus. The forum also would provide to all students an outlet for free speech which has been stifled on campus, it merely provides everyone another opportunity to be heard. Above all this entire project is inexpensive. I am sure that SAA has the necessary funds. The results of this undertaking will more than justify the minimal cost involved.

In closing, I urge SAA, Student Congress, the Speech Department and the entire college community to support this small but significant goal to its completion. One last thought maybe we will be able to hear someone speaking from the podium with Christmas salutations in the background.
Sincerely,
Jim Rhoads

The Editor Comments . . .

This past Monday, I was invited to a Borough of California Council Meeting. The purpose of this invitation was to witness a speech by President Encapera which in part dealt with college students. The secondary purpose of this invitation was the hope that this first meeting might result in further co-operation between the town and college.

President Encapera said, "We will consider college students to be our guests . . . in return, we will expect them to be decent and responsible and to act as a guest should act." Later in the speech he stated, "All newspapers will be invited . . . to attend our meetings, and this includes the college newspaper."

He then announced the formation of a planning committee headed by Mr. John Greenleaf, which has for its objectives the investigation of the traffic problem posed by the influx of commuters, the lack of housing and the extreme problem of the lack of parking areas.

I wish to commend the Borough Council for starting on its duty by realizing the problems and potentials of the town. Now all one can hope is that these problems

Alumni Council Fights For House Bill 999 At Carlisle Meeting

The Council of Alumni Associations of the 14 State-Owned Institutions of Higher Education in Pennsylvania continues to press for passage of House Bill 999.

The bill, which would create a central board of college and university directors to coordinate activities of the 14 state-owned institutions of higher education and at the same time give more fiscal autonomy to the local campuses, is on second reading in the Senate. It was passed by the House in June by a vote of 126 to 64.

The Council of Alumni, at its fall meeting in Carlisle, Pa., passed a resolution urging the Senate to pass H.B. 999 in this session of the General Assembly.

Donald G. Ernakovich, Vice President of the Alumni Council, wrote to Governor Shafer reminding him of his commitment to the principle of a single state board and of his expressed support for the state college system in general. The Governor replied that he continued to support the concept of a single state board as embodied in H.B. 999 and that "petty" amendments will not stand in the way of its passage. The Governor promised to sign the bill when passed and invited the Council to be present at the bill signing ceremony.

The Council is also advocating the appointment of an official full-time director of alumni affairs at each of the state-owned institutions.

Officers elected for 1969-70 were: Samuel F. Furguele, Indiana University of Pennsylvania, President; Donald G. Ernakovich, Shippensburg, Vice President; Ralph V. Kraft, Millersville, Secretary and Karl B. Etshied, West Chester, Treasurer.

CSC Science Teacher Assoc. The Road Runner On Campus Gains Strength

California Student Pennsylvania Science Teacher Association is now here on California's Campus. This organization is basically elementary science teacher involved, yet it offers knowledge and experience to all its members in the fields of elementary science. Dr. Thomas Moon and Mr. Hubert Snyder are the advisors of this organization. Mr. Snyder is also president of the Pennsylvania Science Teacher Association.

The Christmas Meeting

The California Student Pennsylvania Science Teacher Association held a social affair on the 18th of December at two o'clock in New Science. Guest speaker was Dr. Lister; he was assisted by Dr. Balling. The topic of the day was two-fold. First to be discussed were turtles, with many representatives of the turtle family present much was learned on the subject. Second the trend went to the reptile family, in particular to the feeding and force feeding methods of snakes. Later questions of those present were answered by the members of the science department who were present. Then, last but not least, refreshments were served.

If you are interested in joining the California Student Pennsylvania Science Teacher Association, contact Dr. Moon or Mr. Snyder, Room 202 New Science or attend the next meeting. The date will be posted in New Science Building.

From The Vulcan . . .

One of the real nice spots here at Cal State is the Herron Snack Bar, IN THE SUMMER. I mean, it's really a groove to sit out on the patio and cool it between classes. Sadly enough this pleasure is not extended to include the winter portion of our brief stay at school. When the cold is out and about the inside of Herron looks like a "B movie" version of "The Black Hole of Calcutta". People are jammed into every nook and cranny eating, smoking, talking and making out. It's so crowded that some people are forced to sit on the juke box. Of course they refuse to move when a stranger wants to play a record and I don't blame them a bit. After all a seat is a seat and in Herron the word is almost an extinct term. What makes the entire situation funny is that the back room has loads of wasted space. Occupied by a few tables and sometimes less chairs the back room is a refuge from all the screaming, hair pulling and loud music so prevalent in the big room. Of course, if you happen to like music you're out of luck. When it can be played the Juke Box can hardly be heard in the big room let alone the back one.

Now I'm not knocking the staff, they do an amazing job considering the handicaps they work under. The thing is, there isn't enough of them and their equipment is inadequate to say the least.

Maybe a few tables and chairs to supplement the ones already there and a Juke Box speaker would make the back room a safety valve for the great rush hours. Just maybe everybody would be happy, even me.

Definitely,

are solved as quickly and efficiently as possible.

I want the students of this campus to know that the town council knows we exist (contrary to popular opinion) and that they want our opinions. I also want the council to know I will give them all the co-operation they need to accomplish their goals. But I want them to know that they are the ones who have to remedy the situations at hand. The decisions ultimately rest on their desks and how fast they will move from those desks into action is entirely up to them.

Daley's Sports 'n' Shorts

★ STUDENT APATHY REGARDING SPORTS

by Pete Daley, Times Sports Editor

During the past weeks I have witnessed something here at CSC that I have never seen at any other college or university that I have visited. STUDENT APATHY IN SPORTS. In simple terms, that "Olde I don't give a DAMN attitude." (Please forgive the profane language.) This is the only thing that we can call it. This is something that everyone has been afraid of for a long time. We eventually knew it would come here. Well it is here now and it is about time we do something about it before it is too late to contend with. As Coach Hester said to me at the start of the season, "We have a fine team this season, but we need the men of the bench just as much as we need the fans in the stands to cheer us on." The Vulcan roundballers have been winning, but the fans haven't been cheering. As a matter of fact, they haven't been attending any of the Inter collegiate activities here at CSC. I can't condemn all the students, because there are those never say die fans that would go to any sport any time of day and any type of weather. Of course we are not condemning these students, but we are condemning those students who make up some trivial and purile excuse why they can't attend. Evidently to those who have never been to these events, the cost is a big fat "0". That twenty-five dollars that you paid at the beginning of the year takes care of this. Why don't you get your money's worth and at the same time see some fine swimming, wrestling, or basketball. Not only have our roundballers been making tracks to clinching the state championship, but we have detected the swimmers and wrestlers following suit.

So let's all get out and support our Fighting Vulcans. Let's don't let that "I DON'T GIVE A DAMN ATTITUDE" set in to our little Mon Valley college town.

Bernie Floriani (44) shows Steubenville some of his fancy footwork. By the way, Bernie, field goals are only good in football.

VULCANS STUN STEUBENVILLE 72-62 NOW 8-2

Moving into high gear in the second half, California State College Fighting Vulcans topped Steubenville College 74-62 at Hamer Gym last Monday night.

It was the eighth victory in 10 starts for Coach Myles Witchey's Vulcans this season.

In the first half, the two clubs battled on even terms with Steubenville walking off the court at intermission with a 32-31 advantage.

However, California dominated the action in the second half with 43 points to only 30 for the visiting Ohio quintet. Ray Greene enjoyed another big night for the Witcheymen with 22 points as he came through with eight field goals and six charity tosses.

Jack Taylor was runnerup in the scoring with 17 markers while Bernie Floriani and Tom Katruska followed with 15 and 10 points respectively.

Rege Wood dominated the Steubenville scoring with eight ringers and five fouls for 21 points.

Last Friday the Vulcans also defeated Clarion 82-70 in Pennsylvania Conference Play.

With four players hitting in the double figures, California State College whipped a fine Clarion State club at Hamer Gym.

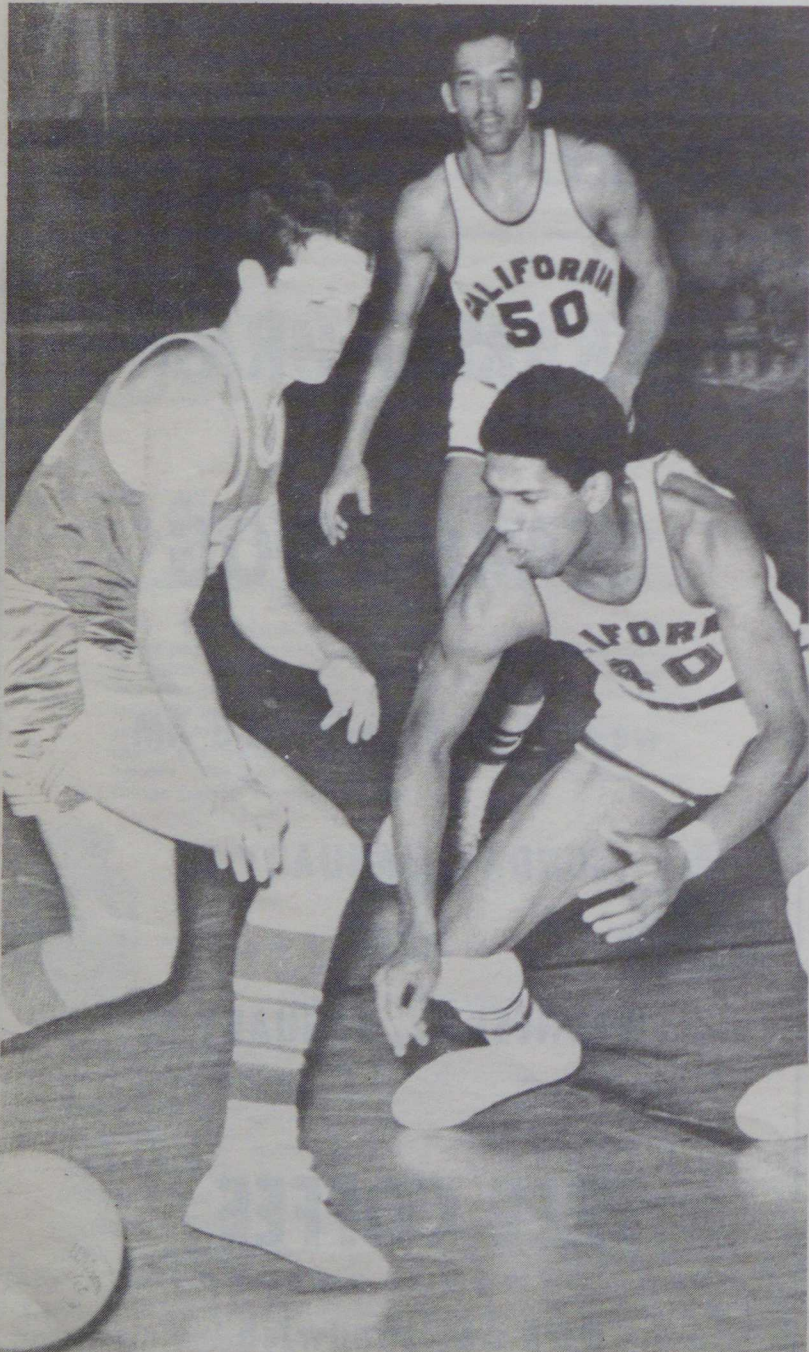

Bernie Floriani led the scoring parade for CSC with 24 points as the senior cager dropped in 10 fielders and four fouls.

Nate Milligan was runnerup in the Vulcan scoring with 18 markers while Tom Katruska and Jack Taylor each rang the bell for 15 tallies.

Carl Jeffries was the big gun for the visiting Clarion Quintet with 20 markers.

The Witcheymen took a 38-34 lead in the first half and also outscored the visitors in the second half with 44 points to 36.

Midway in the second half Clarion tied the game at 51-51 but a foul shot sent the Vulcans into the lead to stay the rest of the game.

Ray Greene (30) dribbles through the legs of Steubenville defenders, Jack Taylor (50) looks on.

CSC Drowns West Liberty

The CSC Tankers extended their seasonal record to 3-1 with an easy victory over West Liberty (66-86).

Leading the Vulcans with two first places were: Mike Stepling, 100 yard freestyle (56.3) and freestyle relay; Jim Finn, medley relay and 50 yard freestyle (24.9); Greg Glarrow, individual medley (2:36.7), and freestyle relay; John Kalinyak, one meter diving, and freestyle relay, other first placers were: Tom Harkness, Bill Weaver, and Jim Nairn, medley relay (4:20.9); Howard Sevel, 200 yard butterfly (2:28.4); Gene Cute, 200 yd. backstroke (2:43.9); also Jim Kirk 200 yard breaststroke (2:38.3); also Mike Stepling took a second in the 50 yard freestyle and Dale Sarinack placed third in the 100 yard freestyle.

SAA Sponsors

Bus Trips To

CSC Away Games

The Student Activities Association Inc. is sponsoring buses to two away basketball games at the beginning of the spring trimester. This is an effort to institute bus trips like this on a regular schedule. The two games involved are Slippery Rock on Feb. 21, and Edinboro on Feb. 28. Each of these games is on a Saturday night. The SAA has chartered two buses for each night and it depends entirely on the response whether this practice will be continued in the future.

Buses to Slippery Rock will be $1.50 and to Edinboro will be $2.00.

CSC Matmen

Win Over

Howard U.

It was strictly no match last Saturday as the California State College wrestlers shelled Howard University, 35-3 at Hamer Gym.

The Fighting Vulcans picked up their sixth victory in eight starts this season.

Scoring pins for California were Dennis Daley, 167; Rich Arrigoni, 190; and Garee Piper, heavyweight.

Decisions for CSC were turned in by Adolph Davis, 126; Warren Zatezalo, 142; Dave Cook, 150; Randy Haught, 158; and Ken Tamburrino, 177.

Tom Boudreau also won a forfeit for the Vulcans in the 118 pound class.
