Dedication

Because he is the founder of our Business Education Department and the President of our College;

Because he epitomizes dynamic leadership and advancement in modern business education on a collegiate level;

Because he represents the ideals of our organizations: Loyalty, Service, and Progress;

Because he embodies the human qualities of friendship, sympathy, and open-mindedness that are inherent in a good citizen and a successful teacher,

We, in the Business Education Club and Pi Omega Pi Fraternity, proudly dedicate with sincerest gratitude and appreciation this Anniversary Yearbook to Dr. Harvey A. Andrus.

Foreword

1950! Mid-point of the century and the twentieth anniversary in Business Education at the Bloomsburg State Teachers College.

The Business Education Club and its little brother, POP, in celebration of this event, have combined their efforts into the issuance of a joint anniversary publication. So, hoist anchor and away, we're off on a cruise through the Business Education Club and Pi Omega Pi!

The Old Professor

Another year!—the leafy avenues
Of smoky, golden light; the mottled shade
Of campus walk; the maple woods aflame;
The blackbirds congregating in the elms—
And I poking my stick among the leaves!

The students come!—with romance in their eyes,
Strolling in couples on the river road
As did their sires and mothers years ago;
And stern professors, grave and purposeful,
Push up the hill; and in the lanes I meet
Pert young instructors, striding proudly by,
Unheedful of the pathway's steep ascent—
I, fumbling in the pebbles, breathing hard!

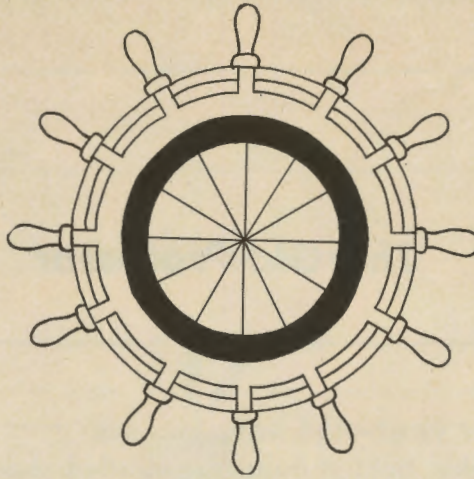

I lean my head to hear the sounds once more—
The chapel bell, the swelling organ notes,
The cadenced murmurings from lecture halls,
The cheers reverberating from the field—
I silent in the shadow of the tower!

Too old, too old—they think I am too old
To touch these tender minds. They gave to me
The honor name Emeritus. But I—
I wonder if in worlds of Time and Space
Such words as age and youth can mean so much!
I wonder—poking here among the leaves.

A Quick Look At the Faculty

Richard G. Hallisy

Mr. Richard G. Hallisy, Head of Business Education Department, has been teaching at Bloomsburg since 1947. Besides his many administrative duties, he teaches Secondary Business Education, Economics, and Business Organization. During his first year he taught Shorthand, Typing, and Bookkeeping. Prior to 1947, Mr. Hallisy was employed by the Veterans' Administration as Educationalist in Business and Clerical Training.

As Director of Business Education, some of his duties are: scheduling all business students and making such adjustments in schedules as may become necessary, evaluating credits of transfer students, holding conferences with students having scholastic difficulties, etc.

Mr. Hallisy is a member of the Production Committee and Course Syllabus for compiling Bulletin 271, the Business Education Manual. In 1948 he spoke to the PSEA Northeastern Division Business Teachers Section, and in 1949, to the Lycoming County Business Teachers. He is a Doctorate Candidate at the University of Pittsburgh.

Earl A. Gehrig

Mr. Earl A. Gehrig, sponsor of Alpha Delta Chapter of Pi Omega Pi since 1946, has been teaching at Bloomsburg since January of 1943. Before coming to Bloomsburg, Mr. Gehrig taught in Danville High School. During his first year at Bloomsburg he taught Accounting, Business Mathematics, Business Organization, and Economics. Now his courses are confined to various courses in accounting.

For his Master's Thesis in Business Administration at Northwestern University, Mr. Gehrig chose as his subject, "A Cost Accounting System For a Small Shoe Factory." Mr. Gehrig has also taught Accounting for three years in the extension program of Pennsylvania State College.

Mr. Walter S. Rygiel

For the past seven years, Mr. Rygiel has been sponsor of the Business Education Club although he has served as sponsor or co-sponsor since he began teaching at Bloomsburg in 1938. Before coming to Bloomsburg, Mr. Rygiel was Head of the Commercial Department at Wyoming Memorial High School, Wyoming, Pennsylvania. During his first year at B.S.T.C. he taught Shorthand, Typewriting, and Business Law. At the present time he teaches Typewriting, Business Law I and II, School Law, Shorthand Methods, Methods of Junior Business Training, and Curricular Materials. Besides these subjects, Mr. Rygiel supervises student teachers at Berwick, Bloomsburg, and Danville High Schools.

Among the more recent surveys which he has contributed to business education are: "Incentives and Motivating Devices for Typewriting," "Banking for High Schools," "Business Law Course of Study" for Pennsylvania Business Education Manual, Bulletin #271, "Survey Study of Shorthand Standards and Curricular Practices in Pennsylvania," and "Survey Study of Typing Standards and Curricular Practices in Pennsylvania." Master's Thesis: "Vocational Choices of High School Students." He is working on his doctorate at the Pennsylvania State College.

A LOOK AT THE

Christened in Fall of 1930

YE OLDE SHIP, "Business Education," was christened and launched on its maiden voyage at Bloomsburg in the fall of 1930. It was at that time that the Department of Public Instruction designated the State Teachers College at Bloomsburg, Pennsylvania, as one of the institutions where commercial teachers for high schools of the state would be trained.

The ship put out to sea with two officers, Mr. Harvey A. Andruss and Miss Margaret Hoke, and with a crew of less than fifty students in the department.

On September 15, 1930, the students of the Commercial Department organized the Junior Chamber of Commerce which blossomed out into a flurry of shipboard activity during the remainder of the year. On May 15, 1931, the department sponsored the initial Commercial Contest. It was such an outstanding success that it has become an annual event sponsored by the Business Education Department.

Having many members in the Business Education Department eligible for membership, in the fall of 1934, the Junior Chamber of Commerce petitioned for membership in the National Professional Business Education Fraternity, Pi Omega Pi. This fraternity was founded at the State Teachers College at Kirksville, Missouri, in 1923, and at the present time boasts of sixty-three chapters located all over the United States. The Alpha Delta Chapter of Pi Omega Pi was installed at Bloomsburg on May 28, 1935, for the purpose of recognizing superior scholarship in the business subjects and professional promise of prospective commercial teachers.

The next few years were a period of great expansion. In 1937 Mr. William C. Forney took the helm of the department as Director of Business Education. In the same year Pi Omega Pi began publication of a monthly newspaper, "Pop." January, 1938, heralded the advent of the present Business Education Club sponsor, Mr. Walter S. Rygiel. It is the boast of the department that in 1939, its founder, Mr. Harvey A. Andruss, was appointed as president of the College.

In the meantime, the annual Commercial Contest had taken on such an expansion of interest and participation that it became necessary to divide contestants into two groups: Class A consisting of senior-high schools with over 500 students; Class B consisting of high schools with no more than three commercial teachers and less than 500 pupils. This set-up has been retained to the present time.

During the war years the college activities were dominated by the V-12 and V-5 units at the college. But in the Summer of 1946, as the Navy units moved out of Navy Hall with the conclusion of the program, the Business Education Department began moving in. By the beginning of the fall term of 1946-7 instruction of all business subjects except office practice were centered in this fine new building. Navy Hall was erected just prior to the war, intended originally as a junior high school. It lent itself, however, to the needs of the rapidly growing Department of Business Education which at that time had a capacity enrollment of 300 students.

At the present time the department boasts approximately 320 students and nine faculty members. It has a fine new building in Navy Hall with the finest, most modern lighting, heat, and ventilation. The clerical practice room recently completed on the first floor of Navy Hall has the most modern equipment available as do typing and stenographic rooms.

With all the fine, modern equipment and the unusually competent teaching staff with Mr. Richard G. Hallisy at the helm, it is inevitable that Bloomsburg should take the lead in providing the highly competent and skilled commercial teachers that the highly complex society of today demands.

With Our Former Mates

BUSINESS EDUCATION CLUB

AVAST THERE you swabbies, it's time you were hearing from some of the old salts. Just to remind you, we were all at one time rookies going through boot training, but now we are through and are sailing the seas of life. We, as a segment of the alumni, send our heartiest congratulations to the Business Education Club upon their twentieth anniversary. We sincerely hope that the Business Education Club and all its members, past and present, will always keep the sails to the wind and continue their successful progress into the future. To show you what happens to us once we get our sea legs, we have listed below the names of the 1949 members and their place of employment. We may not all be captains of our own ships as yet, but remember that every member of a crew is necessary for the proper operation of that ship.

In conclusion, it might be interesting to note that eight graduates are teaching in their home town, twenty-seven are teaching away from their home town, and that fifteen are teaching out of the state of Pennsylvania as far West as Montana. But no matter how far we may sail in the sea of life, Bloomsburg State Teachers College will always remain with us as our "mother ship." So here's to the future mates, and may it bring success and happiness.

PI OMEGA PI

As a result of our survey of alumni, we received the following information. To those grads who sent back these questionnaires, we are extremely grateful. We hope you find your classmates among those alumni listed below, and that reading about old friends will recall many happy days at the "College on the Hill."

MRS. PAUL W. BALLEs, 322 West Race Street, Pottsville, Pa. Formerly Miss Claire Sirrocco, Mrs. Balles is kept busy with the BPW Club and with teaching religion to pupils of grades five through nine. Hubby is a graduate of Carnegie Tech, doing graduate work at the University of Virginia in marine engineering; he sports a Phi Kappa pin, too.

MR. MURRAY BARNETT, 4085 Oakwood Avenue, Los Angeles 4, California. Murray and his wife are the proud parents of Lynn Judith Barnett, six months young, and the apple of daddy's eye. Murray is a Deputy Probation Officer, and is interested in psychology. He tells us that Cal. needs teachers, and wants to know what you grads of '40 and '41 are doing.

CAPTAIN LEE ROY BEAUMONT, 7851 Q.M. Depot A.P.O. 407, c/o Postmaster, New York. Captain Beaumont is presently located in Munich, Germany, and is the poppa of seventeen-month old Bruce. We know Lee would very much like to hear from some of his old classmates, so how about getting out the quill, alumni?

MRS. E. EVANS BLEZEK, McCarthy's Hotel, Cape Charles, Virginia. The former Elizabeth Evans is the handsome mother of two strapping fellows; Edwin, 10 and Rutter, 21. Mrs. Blezek is a hotel owner and manager way down south in the land of Dixie, and occupies her spare time with the Theatre Guild.

MR. ROBERT U. BORNEMAN, Sanatoga, Pa. Bob is a Boy Scout executive, and has a little girl scout of his own — Roberta May, age 7. Bob tells us that he thinks of BSTC often and hopes to attend the Alumni Day this year. We'll be looking for you!

MRS. ALBERTA J. COCCAGNA, 324 West Lancaster Avenue, Wayne, Pa. The former Miss Mary DeVitis is finding out what it's like to be mom to a one-year old cherub, Ann. Mary's a full-time housewife, but is interested in interior decorating, too.

MISS LOIS M. DATESMAN, R. D. #1, Bangor, Pa. Lois is teaching at Bangor High School — Salesmanship, Economic Geography, and Business Aptitudes. Lois advises fellow teachers to let students participate as much as possible, even to relating personal experiences. She says duties as adviser to Commercial club and magazine keep her busy, and although she loves teaching, she'd rather be back at BSTC as a student!

MRS. WILLIAM J. DAVIS, 215 North State Street, Ephrata, Pa. The former Isabel Anne Gehman is the wife of a Marine officer and the mother of 1-year old Karen Louise. The Davis family has just returned from a tour of duty overseas on Guam. They were there when the typhoon "Allyn" hit the island in November with 124 m.p.h. winds. At present they're stationed in Clearfield, Utah.

MR. JAMES H. DEILY, JR., 522 South West End Avenue, Lancaster, Pa. Jim taught 3 years at Millersville High School, all commercial subjects but Shorthand. His advice: if you find a particularly difficult pupil, marry her — and he did just that! He and "she" are now the proud parents of Michalene Mae, 2½ years old. You can now find Jim hiding behind a large walnut desk just to your right at the Lancaster Farmers Bank.

MISS MARGARET DEPPEN, Shamokin Street, Trevorton, Pa. Margaret is busily occupied with teaching Shorthand and Typing, but is interested in traveling and sports, too. (Have you ever attended the B-Club's annual trip to Eagle's Mere, Marge? All alumni are welcome!)

MISS GERTRUDE E. DERMODY, 23 Farnham Avenue, Torrington, Connecticut. Laurels for President Andruss! Gertrude finds that his book, "How to Teach Bookkeeping and Accounting," proves very helpful in her teaching of bookkeeping up in neat New England. The recipient of a Master of Arts Degree from N.Y.U. in 1948, Gertrude is now a member of Delta Pi Epsilon, a graduate fraternity.

MR. ROBERT C. DIEHL, 529 Northampton Street, Easton, Pa. Teaching Bookkeeping I and II, and Business Math at the Gettysburg High School in Gettysburg, Pa. is right up Bob's alley. He's treasurer of Activities, Athletics, and the branch office of PSEA. A Master's Degree in Education was Bob's achievement in 1946 at Temple University, in addition to doing graduate work at Columbia. (And girls, he's still single!)

MR. FRANK DUDZINSKI, 221 Maple Street, Clayton, New Jersey. In addition to teaching J.B.T., Consumer Ed., Economic Geography, and Math at Clayton High School, Frank is coach of the Jayvee Basketball team. Those of us who know Frank have an idea that he's probably one of the most popular members of the faculty!

MISS RUTH A. EBRIGHT, 322 Washington Street, Mifflintown, Pa. Ruth is an active teacher at Mifflintown High all right! In addition to teaching Law, Filing, Shorthand, and Typing, she manages to find time for her painting, bowling, and horse-back riding. Ruth is mighty curious about her former classmates.

MRS. NEVIN L. EHRHART, R. D. #2, Red Lion, Pa." Actually, the former Aleta Stiles, her husband, and Beth Elaine, their 2½ year old daughter, live in York, but you can write her at the above address. Beth says that besides being a housewife and mother, she's also a bookkeeper. Knitting and crocheting are her hobbies, and entertaining any friends who might be located near York!

MR. H. BURNIS FELLMAN, 134 South Franklin Street, Allentown, Pa. Burnis and his wife, the former Reba M. Henrie of Mifflinville (BSTC, '43) are kind of partial to a certain Barry Craig, age 2½. Burnis is teaching Business Essentials and J.B.T., and points out that showing students just how soon they will be using this information develops a lot of class interest. During the summer, you can find him doing graduate work at Penn State.

MISS BETTY L. FISHER, R. D. #4, Cooper Twp., Danville, Pa. Betty can often be seen hurrying from the Hutchison Insurance Office in the First National Bank Building to the Church school of the Bloomsburg Baptist Church. "How about a POP reunion?" asks Betts. What do you think, grads? . . . Betty's hobbies are photography and supervising the church school at the Baptist Church.

MRS. SAMUEL R. FRANK, 462 Railroad Street, Manchester, Pa. A "blessed event" graced the household of Samuel Frank and his wife, the former Miriam Louise Utt, on February 9. Congratulations, folks! Miriam is quite occupied with house-keeping and directing the choir of her husband's Lutheran church. She taught 5½ years, however, in 4 school systems and says that she finds high school students more and more indifferent to their school work. (By the way, the little one's name is Rebecca Louise.)

MISS IRENE L. FREDERICK, Route 1, Milton, Pa. Salesmanship, Bookkeeping I and II, Business English, and Typing I account for much of Irene's time at Milton High. She uses bulletin board displays and progress charts in Typewriting, BEW contest problems in Bookkeeping, and analysis of actual business letters in English. Her hobby is collecting postal cards, so how about writing her a few? (You might tell her what professional organizations you've joined.)

MISS ESTELLE O. FRIDAY, 455 Nutt Road, Phoenixville, Pa. We think Estelle must be almost indispensable out yonder in Phoenixville High. She's teaching Shorthand, Typewriting, Bookkeeping, Bus. Law, Consumer Ed., and Physical Ed. In addition she directs plays, coaches girls' basketball, and advises the cheerleaders. Good work, Estelle!

MRS. EARL A. GEHRIG, 407 East Fourth Street, Bloomsburg, Pa. The charming and gracious wife of our POP sponsor, the former Anna Jean Laubach, has a full-time job taking care of her two children, Barbara Diane, 7½ and Frank Douglas, 4—and Mr. Gehrig, of course, instructor in the accounting department at BSTC. Mrs. Gehrig's presence at POP functions is always one of their most pleasant features.

MR. GEORGE GERA, 108 Melrose Avenue, Catonsville, Maryland. Teaching 2 classes in Shorthand, 1 class in Typing, and 3 classes in Business Math would be plenty for most of us. But George finds that teaching night-school shorthand is an interesting sideline. He says that bringing in outside related material, plus talks by members of the community add a lot to any subject. (He's working on his master's, too)

MISS BETTY GILLIGAN, 355 Crooks Avenue, Paterson, New Jersey. Betty's a "white-collar girl" out in Paterson; she's employed as a secretary and has recently joined the National Secretaries Association. Here's an interesting item: she tells us that this association is beginning an educational program and devising examinations to certify secretaries and furnish them with the title of CPS, which would be similar to an accountant's having a CPA.

MR. IRVING T. GOTTLIEB, 121 Highland Road, R. D. #10, Pittsburgh 27, Pa. The "Smoky City" is fortunate in having Irving on the faculty of one of its high schools. He's teaching Shorthand, Typewriting, Bookkeeping, Office Practice, Consumer Ed., and Commercial Arithmetic, and advises using visual aids whenever possible in addition to making your teaching practical and meaningful. Irving is married, and received his Master's at the University of Pittsburgh. He'll begin work on his Doctor's Degree this summer at the University of California.

MR. JOSEPH GRIBBIN, 2019 Huntington Street, Bethlehem, Pa. Joanne, 7; Joseph, Jr., 5; and Patricia, 3, are pretty proud of their pop. He's teaching Shorthand and Bookkeeping at Liberty H. S., and teaches evening classes at the Bethlehem Business College. Not only that, but he received his M.A. at N.Y.U. in 1939 and belongs to Delta Pi Upsilon. Joe says that the teacher must show interest in the subject, before his students can get interested. How right you are!

MR. THEODORE HARWOOD, Naples, New York. He's engaged! (Well, that let's him out, gals). We're wondering if your girl helps you correct those Law, Bookkeeping, Typing, Math, and J.B.T. papers, Ted. (?) He advises getting down to the level of the students and acting like a human being. Ted belongs to a number of professional clubs.

MR. NORMAN HENRY, 5204 Norwood Avenue, Baltimore 7, Maryland. We hear that television is quite the thing down your way, Norman, so you must be in the right business. He's office manager of television and radio sales at the Bendix Corporation, in addition to teaching Finney's Elementary Accounting at the Baltimore College of Commerce. Like Ted Harwood, Norman says, "Put yourself on the level of the students you are teaching." The Henry's have a little girl, Linda Jean, 14 months.

MR. CLAYTON H. HINKEL, 332 Glen Avenue, Bloomsburg. A capable instructor in Shorthand and Typewriting Applications, and in Methods and Tests and Measurements, Mr. Hinkel is one of the most popular faculty members. He says that a quotation written on the blackboard at the beginning of the shorthand period is an attempt to give students a little humor, philosophy, and some additions to their shorthand vocabularies. And by the way, folks, by the time you're reading this, a certain three-year old lad by the name of Lee Hinkel, will be getting used to a new brother or sister! Congratulations and best wishes from PI OMEGA PI!

MR. WILLIAM E. HORVATH, 43 North Street, Slatington, Pa. Assistant Football Coach, and instructor in Math, Typing, Bookkeeping, and Consumer Ed. is Bill's status at Slatington High. To Billy, 4; and Patty, 2, he's just "Dad." He says his special teaching technique is just plain DILIGENCE. He says that he's met many former BSTC students at Columbia, while working on his Master's. "Why not a BSTC Alumni Club in Lehigh County?" asks Bill.

MRS. HARVEY P. HUBER, 606 St. Catherine Street, Lewisburg, Pa. Formerly M. Elizabeth Zong, Mrs. Huber is the mother of 3½ year old Carolyn. While hubby Harvey, also a BSTC and Bucknell graduate, is traveling as inspector for Retail Credit Co., Elizabeth occupies herself with her household duties and with being secretary-treasurer of the Marine Corps League Auxiliary. (P.S. She managed her own soda fountain for 2½ years.)

MRS. ANTHONY KALINOSKI, 76 Italy Street, Mocanaqua, Pa. Wife, mother, and business partner! That's the former Eleanor Shiffka's schedule nowadays. She says that as soon as Carol Ann, 5; and Marie Helene, 3, can take better care of themselves, she's coming back to BSTC for further study in the elementary curriculum. Wouldn't you say Anthony was lucky to have such a partner in his fire insurance business?

MR. CHARLES L. KELCHNER, 3501 Minnesota Avenue, S. E., Washington 19, D. C. A busy lad, he! Besides being employed as budget analyst in the Navy Department, and being active in the Organized Reserve Corps, George expects to complete the requirements for his M.A. Degree in Public Administration at the American University in Washington, D. C. in June. He and Geraldine find plenty of extra-curricular activity with a little bundle of energy called Mary Ann, 2½ years old.

MR. DONALD A. KESSLER, 647 State Street, Hamburg, Pennsylvania. Don's teaching Shorthand, Typing, JBT, and Math 'way off in Hamburg, while his delightful wife, the former Mary Ellen McWilliams is teaching at Danville, and supervising BSTC student teachers. Don says, "Vary your class routine; you'll accomplish more! And why not a course in school procedures while you're still in college?" He's interested in Hi-Y Clubs and intramural sports, and says "Hello" to everyone.

MR. LAWRENCE H. KLOTZ, Schnecksville, Pa. Larry is teaching an explanatory course in Business Essentials, and Office Machines at Allentown High School. He's married and has two "little men": Larry H., 3; and Joel, 11 months. He's interested in home movies and photography, and we'll bet that Larry, Jr., and Joel prove to be interesting subjects.

MR. CLEMENT G. KOCH, 100 Rugby Road, Brooklyn 26, New York. Clem's questionnaire was pretty brief, folks. (He must be busy keeping track of how "Dem Bums" are doing). But he did tell us that he's a public accountant with Arthur Anderson Co. on Wall Street. That's getting right in there, Clem!

MISS HARRIET KOCHER, New Colonial Hotel, 15th and M. Streets, N.W., Washington 5, D. C. The "District" is the garden spot of the world to Harriet. She's employed as a secretary, and teaches evening classes in Distributive Ed. We're proud to have a "government girl" among our POP alumni.

MR. ALFRED M. LAMPMAN, 814 Chestnut Street, Columbia, Pa. His training as football manager at BSTC must have come in handy, for Al is Asst. Football Coach at Columbia. He's teaching Typing I and II, Consumer Ed., Office Practice, and Business Fundamentals. We hear he's giving private football lessons to Barbara Jean, age 4.

MR. ROBERT C. LEWIS, 310 East Market Street, Danville, Pa. Greetings to a friend and cohort! Bob was editor of the 1939-40 yearbook and quite understands the burning of the midnight oil and the brainracking of your editor. Bob's married, has two children: Kathryn, 5; and Stephen Robert, 16 months; he's Business Manager of the Kindt Chevrolet Garage and is interested in home movies.

MISS DOROTHY LOVETT, East Stroudsburg High School, East Stroudsburg, Pa. Dot is one of our January, '50 grads, and her ability was soon recognized. She began teaching at East Stroud the morning after the January Senior Ball. (Now that we consider to be quite an admirable accomplishment!—knowing Senior Balls as we do). Dot was a big help to your editor in sending out those questionnaires, and to her we send a vote of thanks!

MR. JOSEPH F. LYONS, 32 Spruce Street, Wilkes-Barre, Pa. Joe says he's not engaged as yet. May we assume you're contemplating that great step? He's teaching Bookkeeping, Typing, Sales, and Math; and he, too, advises the use of visual aids in clarifying material that is otherwise vague. He's interested in School Banking, and says, "Why not a regional set up of POP members whereby timely reunions might be arranged?" (What think you, Horatio?)

MR. DALE E. MANTZ, 828 Main Street, Slatington, Pa. If you happen to be on-campus some nice weekend, you may see Dale drive up in a brand new Pontiac. He's teaching Shorthand I and II, Typewriting I, II, and III, and Commercial Law. Keeping up with the news of the day is Dale's outside interest, and he advises teachers to put as much variety in class work and in presentation of material as possible.

ALFRED J. MARCHETTI, 512 E. Elm Street, Tamaqua, Pa. Al is still "seeking knowledge" — he's working for an M.A. in Business Education at the Teachers College of Columbia University. He sees George Dotzel, and Nick Panzetta quite often.

MRS. JOHN MASCAVAGE, 237 North Fourth Street, Allentown, Pa. The former Florence Stefanski is the mother of 3 children: John Jr., 5; Jerry, 2; and James, 6 months. (Pardon the pun: they must soon be Jayvees at BSTC. Remember your loyalty to the Alma Mater!) Florence says she just keeps busy being a mother, and has fun watching her children grow.

MR. SALVATORE A. MAZZEO, 1223 Ferry Street, Easton, Pa. Personal enthusiasm is Sal's panacea for all teaching ills. He says, "Remember that youngsters are human beings, too, and are capable of many emotions." He's director of school plays and Business Club activities, and is presently completing his Master's degree at Temple. (Here's another single young man, girls! Take note.)

MR. JACK L. MERTZ, 165 West College Avenue, Springfield, Ohio. "Down by the O-Hi-O" . . . that's where Jack is

Assistant Professor of Bus. Administration at Wittenburg College. He received his M.S. in Commerce and Finance from Bucknell in 1947, and is teaching Accounting, Economics, Principles of Business Administration, Business Correspondence & Reports. He says he tries to keep his classes real and interesting. Congratulations on the good work, Professor!

HAROLD L. MILLER, 32 Cherry Street, Danville, Pa. Harold is one of the best down at Bloomsburg High; he's the haven for bewildered student teachers, and you can often find him at various meetings on campus in the capacity of speaker. Harold's in the market for any teaching materials which you members have been using. Consumer Economics, Law, Sales, and Bookkeeping are where Harold shines. (Sorry, gals, this one's married.)

KERR MILLER, 1212 High Street, Williamsport, Pa. "$1 per year and 50c to college students"—that's Kerr's Cry for the PBEA of which he is President. Hard work, common sense, and a keen interest in each student are the "techniques" he adapts to teaching Clerical Practice and Typing at the Williamsport H. S., and adult evening classes. His 15-year old daughter, Mary Jane, is mighty proud of her dad, and well she may be.

MR. HARRY NELSON, Department of Anthropology, University of California, Berkeley, California. Harry's interested in just one thing—getting his Ph. D.! He's a teaching assistant in Anthropology 1A, 6 sections a week, and says "hello" to (and I quote) "Mr. Andruss, Earl and Anne Gehrig, Miss Johnston, Dr. Maupin, and anybody else who remembers him." All you gals who are California bound; take note: he's neither married nor engaged!

MR. WILMER F. NESTER, 209 Plainfield Avenue, Pen Argyl, Pa. If you haven't already guessed, Wilmer is engaged to Lois Datesman; he's teaching at Pen Argyl H. S.: Shorthand, Typing, Consumer Economics, Math, and Bus. English. In addition to that, he's adviser for the school paper, Bus. Ed. Club, Aeronautics Club, and Jr. Prize Speaking Contest. Whew! We'll wager you earn your money, Wilmer!

MRS. JAMES OGDEN, R. D. #2, Hagerstown, Maryland. She's the former Jennis Tewksbury, and all we could find on her questionnaire, folks, was that she's married, with a little boy, James Jr., 4½ years old. It looks as if Jimmy and the household tasks of a wife and mother forbade her taking the time to write more! (And you school teachers are complaining?)

MR. EARNEST C. OLSON, JR., 1134 Yeadon Avenue, Yeadon, Pa. Ernie's doing his graduate work at the School of Retailing in N.Y.U. He's still single and advises you BSTC students to "enjoy your last few months or years at Bloom. There's no place like it. Working and graduate school lack the fun and excitement, plus the friendliness that you are now enjoying!" We'll take that to heart, Ernie.

MISS ANNA ORNER, 1355 West Philadelphia Street, York, Pa. Doesn't this sound impressive? Pennsylvania District Secretary and York Radio Chairman of Business & Professional Women's Club. That's how Anna occupies her time when she's not teaching Shorthand I and II, Typing I and II, and advising the staff of the yearbook. She thinks she'll be in Bloom around May 5 for the Business Ed Contest.

MR. THEODORE R. PARSELL, Dagsboro, Delaware. Now hear this! Ted's just completed a 9-room house, most of which he built himself. He's married and has a son, Theodore Wayne, age 5. While teaching Shorthand, Typing, Bookkeeping and Secretarial Office Practice, Ted has come to the conclusion that adequate daily preparation is a requisite. He recommends giving the poor student more opportunity to participate, and is interested in a chart showing Business Grads, Years' Experience, and Present Salary.

MR. JACK M. PURCELL, 18 East Lloyd Street, Shenandoah, Pa. Thank you for the lovely letter that accompanied your questionnaire, Jack. A recent graduate, he's teaching U. S. History, P.O.D., American and English Lit., English, Typing, and Health. He, too, says "Bring the subject matter down to the student's level; after all, they too must wear the shoes of learning! Teaching is what you make of it!" Jack's interested in antiques and articles of Chinese art.

MISS BERNADETTE REYNOLDS, R. D. #2, Box 532, Pottsville, Pa. Here's a progressive business teacher! Bernadette has begun to study steno-type, in addition to teaching Shorthand, Typing, Law, and Office Practice at Cass Twp. High School in Minersville, Pa. She's interested in all types of sports and community affairs.

MR. NEIL M. RICHIE, North Homestead Drive, Yardley, Pa. Neil is teaching Bookkeeping and Accounting at Rider College in Trenton, N. J. But he's also manager of a gentlemen-resident club, the Carteret Club of Trenton. The Richies have a son, Neil Jr., age 3½.

MR. CARL ROBBINS, 224 Roberts Street, Fargo, North Dakota. "Br-r-r! It's cold out here!" But Carl and his wife are managing to survive the sub zero weather quite well. He's employed as an accountant with the Northwest Audit Company, where he's getting a lot of valuable experience. Marie has taken a job as secretary to the Registrar of North Dakota State College.

MISS ANNE T. SABOL, 142 First Avenue, Phoenixville, Pa. Anne's teaching Advanced Typing at the University of Pennsylvania, where she is working on her M. S. She taught three years at Phoenixville High and two years at Hood College. Anne believes that having the students work on community projects not only makes the course more meaningful, but improves community relations with the school!

MR. RICHARD C. STOUT, 97 Brookdale Gardens, Bloomfield, N. J. "Dick" is teaching Personal Typing and JBT and says that assigning students to various offices in school to work spare time serves as motivating device and practical application of JBT. When asked about his "other" interests, he replied: "Good question . . . What with belonging to an 'overactive' faculty organization, doing graduate study at Columbia evenings, and having a wife who likes to see me occasionally."

MR. ANTHONY L. SALERNO, 206 Barber Street, Old Forge, Pa. Tony didn't tell us much on his questionnaire, except that he's teaching Accounting, Accounting Math, Law, and Business Administration and that he's interested in the location and the work of POP alumni.

MRS. SCHIEBER, 3305 Race Street, Philadelphia 4, Pa. You knew her as Rose Marie Kraiser. Up until January 31, 1950, she'd been teaching Business English, Bookkeeping, JBT, and Typing I. She says that field trips to the Mint, the Inquirer Building, and various insurance offices helped to make those JBT classes interesting. Can you guess why she's discontinued teaching? The Schieber's have decided to start rearing a family, and "Junior" is expected in June. Congratulations!

MR. RALPH E. SELTZER, 230 Pine Street, Catasauqua, Pa. In case you didn't know, Ralph's the lucky guy who married Nancy Evancho, a BSTC graduate of '48. He's teaching Bookkeeping I and II, Math, JBT, and Office Practice. His suggestion for Bookkeeping teachers is an enthusiastic, "Use Mr. Gehrig's methods!" Like many others, Ralph would like a reunion of all past POP members.

MR. & MRS. WILLIAM E. SMITH, 327 E. Leamy Avenue, Springfield, Dela. Co., Pa. Mrs. Smith was formerly Dora K. Taylor, and she and Bill, both POP alumni, are quite proud of 2-year old Lyn, and 9-month-old Paula Louise. Bill is an accountant and office manager, while Dora finds herself kept plenty busy being a housewife and mother.

MR. FRANK M. TAYLOR, Main Street, Mifflinville, Pa. "Join your teacher organizations and work for higher salaries!" is the advice we had from Frank, who's teaching Typing, Bookkeeping and Shorthand. He tells us to try to use life experiences as a basis for presentation of a unit—not to worship the text. He's married and has a son, Frank M. III, age 2½. Boating, fishing, accounting and hunting are his outside interests.

MR. JAMES G. TIERNEY, 329 Mary Avenue, Bloomsburg, Pa. "This is the voice of the Susquehanna Valley, WLTR, in Bloomsburg." That's what you'll hear if you tune in to 6-9-0. Jim's been doing fine work as radio announcer for Bloom Radio Inc. If you're in the vicinity of the Hotel Magee, stop in to see him.

MRS. FRED A. UNGERMAN, 1227 Foulkrod Street, Philadelphia 24, Pa. She was formerly Janet Shultz, and is another alumni who prefers the "City of Brotherly Love." Janet was married in March, 1949, and took additional work at Temple University in order to teach elementary school. She's been teaching Typing and JBT in adult night classes, and first grade at the Crispin Elementary School. Nice going, Jan!

MRS. HERMAN E. VONDERHEID, JR., 111 East Seventh Avenue, Conshohocken, Pa. You knew her as Sara Elizabeth Lebegood. She's not teaching, folks, but has a good reason. The Vonderheid's have been promised delivery of a 1950 model in July! And so her leisure time is occupied in knitting and reading. Come on now, alumni, Sara would like to hear from you; she says, "Any news is welcome."

MRS. ROBERT W. WARRINGTON, 112 Ferry Street, Danville, Pa. The former Helen M. Cromis has never been employed as a teacher, but manages to keep well informed on doings in and around BSTC through her Alumni Quarterly. She and Bob have a 3-year old darling, named Carol Ann, and Helen says that her husband's career as a teacher and his graduate work in education, in addition to her teaching in a week-day religious school keep them plenty busy.

MRS. PHILIP YEANY, 928 Butler Avenue, Ambler, Pa. The former Florence Faust is now occupied with her home and Philip Jr., their 15-month old son. But she says that the use of special projects and notebooks, and contests in Shorthand and Typing provide good motivation for high school students. She's very interested in sewing right now. And says she, "How about a special get-together of POP on Alumni Day?"

MRS. CLIFFORD R. YOUNG, R. D. #1, Sinking Spring, Pa. You graduates of '39 will remember L. Evelyn Freehafer. She's married now, and is employed as secretary to the Glidden Company in Reading. She's interested in Pennsylvania Dutch art and in the Reserve Officers' Association (Ladies). If you happen to wander into "that neck of the woods," as Evelyn calls it, she'd be more than glad to see you.

HONORABLE DISCHARGES

Pi Omega Pi

WE'VE become rather accustomed to seeing these Seniors around the campus during the last four years, and particularly at our POP doings. Now it's time for them to step out from the portals of BSTC and take their place in the world as members of the teaching profession. We have confidence that they will uphold all the standards and traditions which we have come to accept, and that they will add knowledge, love, and faith — with these three, the Atomic Age, the age in which you shall live, can become an age of mercy, of joy, and of hope, one of the blessed periods of all human history. Good luck, and God speed!

Dorothy Grifasi

Dot hails from Berwick, and despite the many trials and tribulations of commuting to school every-day, always managed to be in class on time. Dot's conscientiousness and common sense will, we predict, carry her far in the field of education.

Hazel Guyler

Hazel has a full-time job attending B.S.T.C. and taking care of her little daughter, too. She did an excellent job student teaching in Danville.

Walter Guy James

He's the boy who's got the beat to "Sugarfoot Rag" down pat. Amazingly enough, Guy is rather quiet despite his love for syncopated rhythm. Judging from his scholastic record, we can see great things in store for him.

Edward Kreitz

Ed is a boy with a grand sense of humor; he has never failed to greet his classmates—and his troubles—with a very likeable grin, and we trust he'll continue to do so in the future.

Muriel Marks

"How did that nasty old B get in there?" Muriel's scholastic achievements have been the marvel of the student body and the pride of Pi Omega Pi. Keep up the good work, Muriel!

Edward Messa

Active in many campus organizations, and president of both POP and Business Ed Club, Ed has proved his flair for leadership. We're confident that Ed will prove a valuable addition to the teaching profession.

Paul Plevyak

Worried about your tax return? See Paul, and your troubles will be ironed out in nothing flat! A whiz in accounting, Paul is sure to have some A-1 bookkeeping classes when he begins to teach.

Emory Rarig

Your editor won't be surprised if this enterprising lad from Catawissa will one day end up as the President's Economic Adviser. His capable mind and winning personality have endeared him to all his fraternity brothers and sisters.

Betty Ridall

Efficiency plus! That's "Betts." No task is too great for her, and the spirit with which she co-operates on any project will prove an excellent example for the youth whom she will one day instruct.

Charles Roberts

Well known around campus for his excellent dancing and his good scholastic record, "Charley" will be sorely missed upon his graduation in May. We hope he will be able to teach us the latest steps when our class is celebrating its fiftieth reunion.

Marjorie Smith

Marjorie's hairdo's and wardrobe were the objects of her fraternity sisters' admiration. She was well liked by everyone, and the proof of her agile mind was the reception her grades received by her fraternity sisters.

Nancy Wesenyak

As Fashion Coordinator for the Business Education Department's annual fashion shows in her junior and senior years, Nancy was tops. Never shall she forget her tribulations and unending tasks at BSTC, especially her Saturday morning children's radio show. Dependable, efficient, jovial—that's Nancy, our POP editor.

Business Education Club

Seniors! To be honorably discharged from the State Teachers College at Bloomsburg and the Business Education Department, we as underclassmen look upon you with envy. You shall always remember those happy years spent at B.S.T.C., and we shall always remember you as helpful and guiding friends! Good luck and success in your future careers.

Romona Baksi

Romona, a quiet, precise Miss, hails from Keiser, Pa., and finds contentment in Shorthand—the subject she would like to teach "on the job."

Michael Bell

Mike, a New York emigrant, found his future at B.S.T.C. in his wife, Concetta Pettarra whom he married in Spring of 1949, and in his preparation for teaching.

Eugene Corrigan

Wisely using his Retail Selling minor as a waiter at the Texas Lunch, Eugene brought many a student into this lunch counter for that favorite "hamburger with everything."

Jay Cortright

Jay's a proud Poppa of Jay Junior. Zita Spangler became Jay's wife on Christmas Day in 1948—what a happy holiday that was! Now they have a son, Jay Bryan.

Dorothy DeMott

Dot did an excellent job of student teaching at Danville, which incidentally is not far from her home town. We are sure she will do the same when she begins her actual teaching.

Neill Dent

An ardent golf fan, Neill spends much of his time in summer swinging the clubs at Buck Hill Falls in the Poconos. That '39 black Buick he owns served this Vet well in transporting him to and from Philadelphia—his home town.

Rita Dixon

Rita has done marvelous jobs of decorating the Gym for many of our dances and should receive much commendation for her untiring efforts. She's quite an ardent basketball player, too.

Susan Dreibelbis

A very popular coed on the B.S.T.C. campus, Sue was a May Queen attendant. She's a local girl, but did her student teaching at Danville.

Norma Gamble

You can always look for a smile when Norma greets you—she's a happy girl. Doing her student teaching at Williamsport, Norma loved every minute of it.

Joan Grazell

Modeling as a career for Joan? Well, maybe. She did a professional job in several of our fashion shows. Joan is a January '51 grad.

Leonard Gricoski

Having trouble in identifying airplanes? Just ask "Ski", he's crazy about aviation. With his jovial personality, Len gets along with everyone without any difficulty.

Dorothy Grifasi

A Berwick Miss, Dot was secretary of Pi Omega Pi until she went to Williamsport to do her student teaching. She's quiet, but an excellent student.

Curtis Herb

Curt is a local Bloomsburg boy who majored in Accounting. He's now happily married.

Walter G. James

Jazz records rate high on Guy's list of hobbies. Guy, as well as his "What the Harry," expression are well known to the B.S.T.C. community.

Leonard Jaszak

Len claims Dupont his home town. There must be some attraction in Dupont for Len 'cause he was seen going home every weekend—one of those fortunate students.

Richard E. Kline

Although a busy Daddy, Richard still found time to do an excellent job in his school work. It is rumored that Mr. Kline is very much interested in bees.

Thomas Klopp

Tom was another capable Accounting major man. He was a "check-every-month-man" — a Veteran that is. Not the loud type of fellow, Tom is, nevertheless, very efficient.

Edward Kolodgie

"Football is my sport," says Ed. He did a fine job on the Huskie's team, too. Ed did his student teaching in the fine high school at Williamsport.

Glenn Koplin

A hearty laugh and a smile, that's Glenn. Just listen for a laugh that ranges from low C to high C and Koplin will be there. Glenn enjoyed his student teaching at Bloomsburg high. He expects to take graduate work at the Wharton School of Finance at U. of P.

Berdine Logar

Berdine did her student teaching at Bloomsburg High and she loved it. Following the Secretarial Curriculum, Berdine spent much time doing Short-hand on second floor Waller Hall where she had a room since her Freshman year.

Muriel Marks

A conscientious lassie, Muriel caused many a head to turn and brain to ponder trying to figure out how to get all A's and still find time for knitting. What's the secret formula Muriel?

Robert Maza

Rating swimming very high on his list of likes, Bob spent many an hour acting as life guard for College splash parties and other events. He-man Bob also spent beautiful summer days acting as life guard. He's just one big splash—popular too!

Edward Messa

A capable president of Business Education Club and POP, Ed's just an all-around guy. Time Magazine takes much of Ed's spare time — that's his favorite reading. Cameras provide a pastime for our versatile Ed, too.

Andrew E. Palencar

"Andy" is another ineligible, girls. Yes, he's married. Although "Andy" graduated in January, he still found time to talk about his Alma Mater's basketball team. He could do so proudly, too, Bethlehem High had quite the team.

John Rick

This quiet, unassuming lad from Keiser, Pa., should make an excellent name for himself in teaching.

Charles E. Roberts

Charles did an excellent job as editor of last year's yearbook—he does an excellent piece of work in any task he undertakes. Very much interested in dramatics. Charles nor the student body will forget the genuine sideburns he grew for the play "The Barretts of Wimpole Street."

William Romig

Aquarium-minded Bill has many varied interests. Just to mention a few, he enjoys dramatics, classical music, and the study of fish.

Walter G. Schiepe

May we call you "Whistle Man," Walt? Besides finding time to do Accounting, Schiepe did an excellent job refereeing J.V. games for B.S.T.C. basketball games.

Edward Smigelski

An Accounting major, Ed hails from Wilkes-Barre. With his ready wit, he should be able to cope with any situation. Williamsport was his port of student teaching.

Warren Sterling

Warren, a local Bloomsburg boy and a Veteran, was a happy-go-lucky guy. His green Mercury met with disaster in a snow storm in front of the W.M.C.A. in Williamsport where he was student teaching. Never shall he forget that tree!

Joseph Sopko

A January graduate, Sopko is now taking graduate work at N.Y.U. George Dotzel and Ed Jackowitz, also Bloom graduates, are his roommates.

Carmela Tarole

"Honey" hails from Bethlehem and is quite the dancer. She did her student teaching at Bloomsburg High and my, what a Typing class she had, or may we say, "My, what a teacher the Typing class had."

Andre Vanyo

You've seen him at the Elks I'm sure; he was a steady worker there. Andre is very much interested in aviation and Accounting, which was his major while at B.S.T.C.

Joseph Vincent

One of Vanyo's pals, Joe, too, followed the Accounting sequence. He claims Wilkes-Barre his home town, but we hear it's Ashland, right Joe?

THE MASTER TEACHER

*Who is the master teacher? He
 Who from despair and fear sets free
 The restless, sullen soul of youth
 To range the harsh terrain of truth,
 And from the blind abyss of folly,
 The blackest pits of melancholy,
 To climb, to fall, to cling, to grope
 Up the grim Everest of hope
 Until above himself he stands,
 A new strength in his bleeding hands,
 And knows that by his faith he won
 The shining summits of the sun.*

— JOSEPH AUSLANDER

A Sailor's Diary

Pi Omega Pi

As the good ship Alpha Delta Chapter owned by Pi Omega Pi started on its journey in October under the command of Admiral Earl A. Gehrig and manned by Captain Edward Messa, First Mate Paul Plevyak, Yeoman Dorothy Grifasi, Storekeeper Emory Rarig, Officer Muriel Marks in charge of Social Programs, and Officer Betty Ridall in charge of refreshments; it had a crew consisting of the following members: John Carl, Max Cooley, Hazel Guyler, Walter Guy James, Edward Kreitz, Dorothy Lovett, Andrew Palencar, Charles Roberts, Joseph Sopko, and Nancy Wesenyak.

In November the good ship Alpha Delta Chapter stopped at the Island of Eligibility by the request of the other members of the crew to pick up such passengers whose names were inscribed in the ship's directory as follows: Shirley Ashner, Naomi Clark, Barbara Frederick, Lillian Mlkvy, Robert Montague, Dorothy Pichel, Marie Radzai, G. Jane Scheetz, Maxine Shirey, Marjorie Smith, Muriel Wagner, and Ralph Wire.

As a result of an interesting forum on board ship in December, the officers together with the crew and passengers, decided to sponsor annually on their journey this clinic, the purpose of which is to acquaint the retiring crew and passengers with the problems encountered by beginning teachers. The entertainment for the evening of December 8 included Mr. Harold Miller, a retired member of the crew of Alpha Delta Chapter, and the topic of his speech was "Optimists of the Future."

As we reached the end of our first-half journey for the year, Officer Muriel Marks in charge of Social Programs secured films for the entertainment on the evening of January 12.

Nearing the port of the Land of the Future such crew members and passengers as John Carl, Max Cooley, Dorothy Lovett, Robert Montague, Andrew Palencar, and Joseph Sopko left the service of the ship. Other crew members securing temporary leave for the city of Williamsport included Dorothy Grifasi, Walter Guy James, Edward Kreitz, and Marjorie Smith. The duties of the Yeoman formerly performed by Dorothy Grifasi were given to G. Jane Scheetz for the remainder of the journey.

On a cold windy night in February Officer Muriel Marks secured some entertainment for the members on board ship, which included the speaker, Mr. Harry Gilmore, Supervising Principal of the Bloomsburg Schools, who gave a most interesting informal speech on "The Problems Confronting New Teachers in Applying for a Teaching Position."

The Alpha Delta Chapter, homeward bound once again and looking for the Island of Eligibility, found entertainment on the evening of March 9 by the securing of some films by Officer Muriel Marks.

With the Island of Eligibility in sight from the crow's nest, the officers together with the crew and passengers decided to pick up the following additional passengers: Michael Hemlock, Charles Kraemer, Richard Kline, John Ryan, Hazel Palmer.

Home port just out of sight, the members of the ship, including the passengers, crew, and officers, decided to have a banquet to end a happy and most interesting journey.

Business Education Club 1949-1950

On October 6, 1949 Ed Messa, the president, met and extended greetings to all the new and old shipmates that would be with the club during the year. Mr. Rygiel, the club sponsor, was introduced and he explained the activities of the club. The committees were announced and introduced by Ed Messa.

The Business Education Club docked at Carver Hall Auditorium on October 20 to hold its regular meeting. After the regular business meeting, Charles Edwards, the program chairman, introduced the speaker for the day, Miss Betty Fisher of the Hutchison Insurance Agency. It was not long ago that Miss Fisher was a member of our club, and the members were eager to hear her views on office etiquette, interviews, and holding a position. Miss Fisher stated that one must have the qualities of common sense and consideration in order to be a success in business.

After having the first venture of the year, a "Doggie Roast," spoiled by squalls, we finally made port at Mount Olympus and had a noisy but wonderful time. I'm sure the Metropolitan Opera Company would have signed many of the members of the club on the spot if they would have had a scout there to hear the singing.

On November 17 we were back at our home port, Navy Hall. This meeting proved to be a very informative, practical, and humorous one. Dorothy Lovett and Andrew Palencar, two of our members, told of their experiences when they were out student teaching. All the members of the club look forward to the day when they will be doing their teaching so they were eager to get some first-hand information on the subject.

Miss Harriet Bailey came on board on December 1 and was introduced to the club by Rita Dixon. Miss Bailey told us of her work as county solicitor. She also gave us the educational background needed to become a lawyer and some valuable tips on the teaching of Law.

At our home port on December 15, Mr. Decker, a representative of the A. B. Dick Company, displayed the various types of stencils. Mr. Decker explained the uses of these different stencils and also showed a new ball-point stylus to the group. Mr. Hallisy announced that a beginning teacher's clinic would be held with previous graduates being the speakers.

We made the cruise down to Science Hall on December 19 for our Christmas party. Club members entertained, and presents of a humorous nature were given to the business faculty members. After the refreshments, everyone went home — full but happy.

On January 5, 1950 we had one of our finest meetings. Mr. John Haubert, head of the Office of Business Education in Pennsylvania, spoke on the teaching of business subjects. Mr. Haubert stressed the need for people to teach the general business subjects instead of just teaching Shorthand, Typing, and Bookkeeping. He also explained the function of his office in relation to us as teachers.

and bookkeeping. He also explained the function of his office in relation to us as teachers.

As the Business Education Club sails on through the year, we look forward to more fine programs and two of our biggest events. Yet to come are the annual Business Education Contest and the annual banquet of our club.

Off Duty . . . Tips for Good Teaching from Those "In the Know"

As the Cooperating Teacher Sees It . . .

As we gaze into the deep blue sea, let's cast our line and reel in the important co-operating teachers' hints.

It is necessary for the student teacher to show initiative and resourcefulness, tactfulness and an endeavor to understand pupils, and the ability to co-operate.

Although many problems confront you as a student teacher, just be yourself and remember:

1. Being well-prepared for the lesson is extremely important because it gives the teacher assurance, and makes the class run more smoothly.
2. Know your students and do not have favorites.
3. Have a goal and make this goal or aim clear to the students, trying in every way to achieve it. Make it clear to the student that you two are partners and must work together; in the end he will benefit from it.
4. When something does not quite go over, do not use the same example again, but resort to a similar example which will explain the problem.
5. Make your examples and illustrations as simple as possible, and as life-like as possible; try to have the students see the example at work in their own every-day experiences.
6. Try to "draw out" from the students rather than "pour in."
7. When giving instructions, wait until everyone is quiet; give instructions simply, clearly and fully.
8. When trouble is brewing, kill it in the very beginning, don't overlook the small things — stop them as soon as you are aware of them.
9. Less noise will be encouraged if the teacher is in the classroom as the students enter.
10. To avoid confusion, have your materials ready to distribute without wasting time.
11. If you make a deadline—keep your word, don't weaken!
12. Conduct the class as though filling an actual teaching position.
13. Keep accurate daily records.
14. Be dependable and loyal to your students, co-operating teachers, and administration.

From Teens . . .

1. Be yourself — don't put on airs and think you're just "it."
2. Have the lesson well planned and know what you are talking about. Present the lesson so the students can understand it. The student expects to learn as much from a student teacher as he does from his regular teacher.
3. Co-operate with your students. Have a kind and friendly attitude toward them as you would your best friends, but don't overdo it.
4. Have a sense of humor. A little added humor in the classroom tends to break the monotony.
5. Show courtesy toward your students.
6. Be able to keep order in the classroom.
7. Be energetic. Give a variety of work and do not sit down at the desk to present your lesson. The student feels the teacher should stand in front of the class while teaching.
8. Dress attractively, not gaudily. Your clothes need not be the best, but students are very critical of neatness.
9. Make students feel at ease.
10. Help individual students when necessary but treat all individuals alike. Don't show partiality.

With these points in mind, remember the students are your best critic masters.

Supervising Teachers Mr. Forney and Mr. Rygiel

During the first week or two, the student observes the training teacher at work. The student's aims should be (1) to get acquainted with the school's program, (2) to learn the names of the pupils, and (3) to familiarize himself with the established regulations of the school.

On the first day of teaching, the student teacher can offset any feeling of fear, or completely eliminate fear, by being thoroughly prepared. This preparedness will include such things as:

1. Adequate supply of working material.
2. Blackboard ready for use.
3. Textbooks and other reference books on hand.
4. A masterly preparation of the matter that is to be taught.

A student teacher will find it profitable to have an open mind for all suggestions. The more prepared the student teacher, the less chance he will have of being surprised at an unexpected call to participate in the work of the classroom. If differences or uncertainties arise between the students and the student teacher, the judgment of the training teacher should reign. The training teacher expects to co-operate with the student teacher, so be ready for suggestions. He expects you to be courteous, willing, prompt, fair, and loyal to him. In the case of illness, there is no reason for your not letting your training teacher know that you will not be there. If the student teacher has a good reason for being absent, he should inform his training teacher or supervisor as quickly as possible. Therefore, it is advisable to have the telephone numbers and addresses of both training teachers and supervisors.

One common question asked by all student teachers is "How familiar should a student teacher be with his pupils?" Certainly, a student teacher should be affable, for he can do much in promoting the welfare of his pupils and is entirely responsible for their progress. He should always show a friendly spirit, but not the "hail-fellow" attitude. The students should respect the student teacher, and respect is not earned in this way. Be sympathetic, friendly, courteous, fair, well-mannered. It pays, for the student is likely to accept his share of responsibility more easily and willingly.

AS WE LOOK BACK over the past twenty years of growth of the Department of Business Education and over the records of our former students, now teachers, we cannot but feel a sense of pride and achievement. With this sense of pride comes a feeling of deep responsibility for the future. You, as graduates, share that responsibility with us. We are dependent upon you in a large measure for the recruitment of outstanding youth to become Future Business Teachers and Leaders of America. We are dependent upon you for constructive criticism. Only through your experiences can we evaluate our training program. The proof of teacher training is in the teaching.

During the past year or two the following steps to improve our program have been taken:

The ground work has been laid for curriculum adjustments which will increase the flexibility of our program and provide for broader training for those having had business courses on the high school level.

Provision has been made for all teachers to observe student teachers in the classroom. The on-the-job needs of beginning teachers may be determined through this procedure.

Additional audio-visual equipment has been secured by the college and transferred to the Business Department. The availability of this equipment has materially facilitated the use of visual aids in our classes. We are building a fine library of films on business and teaching subjects. All films are available for use by student teachers.

We are looking forward with confidence to the beginning of another twenty years of voyaging. We are counting on your cooperation; enrich our cargo with your experiences so that we may carry them to new ports.

R. G. HALLISY, Director
BUSINESS EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

EDUCATION

That man, I think, has had a liberal education who has been so trained in youth that his body is the ready servant of his will and does with ease and pleasure all the work that, as a mechanism, it is capable of; whose intellect is a clear, cold logic engine, with all its parts of equal strength and in smooth working order; ready, like a steam engine, to be turned to any kind of work and spin the gossamers as well as forge the anchors of the mind; whose mind is stored with a knowledge of the great and fundamental truths of Nature and of the laws of her operations; one who, no stunted ascetic, is full of life and fire, but whose passions are trained to come to heel by a vigorous will, the servant of a tender conscience; who has learned to love all beauty, whether of Nature or of art, to hate all vileness and to respect others as himself.

Such a one and no other, I conceive, has had a liberal education; for he is, as completely as a man can be, in harmony with Nature. He will make the best of her and she of him. They will get on together rarely; she as his ever-beneficent mother, he as her mouthpiece, her conscious self, her minister and interpreter.

Those who take honors in Nature's university, who learn the laws which govern men and things and obey them, are the really great and successful men in this world.

by Thomas Henry Huxley
