TEACHER COLLEGE DEFEATS SHIPPENSBURG 38-34

BASKETBALL TEAM EARNS VERDICT OVER SHIPPENSBURG FIVE IN HARD FOUGHT GAME

Local Varsity Quintet Downs Conquerors of Bloomsburg Teachers, Last Year's Champions in Bitter Struggle After Extra Five Minute Period.

In the most thrilling and bitterly contested game seen on the local basketball court in many years Coach Morgan's Raiders conquered the flashy quintet from Shippensburg Teachers College last Saturday afternoon, after an extra five-minute period, by a score of 38-34. The game was witnessed by a capacity crowd that was on its toes from beginning to end, stirred to action by the wonderful team work and fighting spirit shown by Coach Morgan's rejuvenated quintet. They flashed an offensive that aught no need for future opponents of the locals while their defense was such that Shippensburg found their shots hurried and their passing game broken up time after time.

Every Player a Star.

To name an individual star for the local quintet would be impossible so well did the boys work together. Captain Robb with his wonderful passing and flashy defensive play stood out prominently; Plummer before his exit on personal fouls, before contributing four double-deckers to the local cause, played a very aggressive game against the visitors; Bardo, counting six twin-pointers and two free throws for a total of fourteen points, was the life of the Raiders' attack, playing a whale of a game, both defensively and offensively. He also made a feature play when he took the ball from the center of the floor and dribbled, unaided, through the entire visiting team to score a basket. Post played a fine game at center, outplaying his opponent throughout, and scored a total of ten points by caging three field goals and successfully tossing four free throws out of five attempts. Cowfer, playing an aggressive game at guard, blocked off many of the visitors' rushes to the basket and showed a remarkable ability to diagnose Shippensburg's plays.

Time after time the visitors would start an offensive play only to have "Red" bob up at the right place and break up the play. Cowfer also contributed the feature shot of the game when he looped a long double-decker from the center of the floor during the fourth quarter. This shot seem-

SHAKE SOCIETY MEMBERS ENTERTAINED BY ADVISOR

Dr. and Mrs. Rude entertained the members of the Shakespeare Literary Society at their home on Church Street, Monday evening, January 27. Instead of a formal program, extemporaneous speeches were given by each of the members which furnished a good means for entertainment. These speeches clearly showed the ability of the members along this line which shows that "Shake" is still great.

A short business meeting was held in which the buying of club pins was discussed. It was decided to change the meeting night from Monday to Tuesday at 7:50 in order to make it more convenient for the members to attend the meetings regularly.

After the business meeting, games were played. Miss Pollock and Betty Koehler helped very much in this part of the program because of their unlimited source of new games to be played.

Elaborate refreshments, consisting of fruit salad, sandwiches, coffee, ice cream and cake were served by the host and hostess, Dr. and Mrs. Rude, which added very much to the enjoyment of the meeting.

This meeting was a huge success, and the members of Shakespeare Literary Society appreciate very much the kind hospitality of Dr. and Mrs. Rude.

TALK GIVEN SUNDAY BY DR. STEIN INTERESTING

"Purpose" was the theme of a very helpful talk given by Dr. Stein Sunday evening in Vesper services. He used as his text these words of Jesus, spoken in connection with His healing of the blind man: "I must work the works of him that sent me, while it is day."

Following is a brief summary of the chief points which Dr. Stein brought out concerning "Purpose." "Steinmetz, in the course of a conversation with a friend of his, was asked what field of research would undoubtedly see the greatest advancement during the next fifty years. His answer was, 'I think it will be in the realm of spiritual forces.' Thus far, scientists have spent their time searching in the realm of more concrete things. In years to come they will turn to things pertaining to God.

Quotes David Starr Jordan.

"Jesus clearly states His purpose in the text. It was the force of this great purpose which made Jesus the great personality He was. David Starr Jordan once said, 'The world will get out of the way of a man with a purpose.' Jesus realized His purpose even at the age of twelve, when He answered His parents upon one occasion, 'Wist ye not that I must be about my Father's business?' Grant's rise to the generalship of the Union armies was a result of his high purpose to save the Union.

Importance of Purpose.

"Purpose centralizes our faculties. When we have a definite purpose, we draw on all our resources and direct them toward our central aim. A set purpose also helps to promote power. Helen Keller, although deaf and blind, felt a great desire for an education, and with this purpose in view, she finally accomplished it after many years of diligent study.

"We might profitably add the word 'Christian' to the word 'purpose.' A high Christian Purpose is the highest aim which we might strive to fulfill. Everyone, in his own calling, should be conscious of this purpose."

Knows His Chuds.

A lady was entertaining the small son of her married friend. "Are you quite sure you can cut your meat, Willy?" she asked after watching a minute.

"Oh, yessum," he replied, without looking up. "We often have it as thick as this at home."

The Lyre.

TWENTY-ONE STUDENTS GRADUATED ON FRIDAY

Dr. Sweeney Speaks on the Attitudes That Make a Successful Life.

On Friday morning, January 24, the last chapel services of the first semester were featured by the graduation exercises of twenty-one students completing their college work with the end of this semester. Definite mid-year graduation exercises are not held at L. H. T. C., except for the presentation of diplomas and certificates, since all the graduates are urged to return in May to participate in the program held by their class at that time.

Dr. J. W. Sweeney, a member of the board of trustees of this college, as special speaker on Friday morning, gave a fine address to the graduates. In introducing him Dr. Armstrong disclosed the fact that Dr. Sweeney has been a member of our board of trustees for over twenty-five years; he also stated that Dr. Sweeney was now president of the Central District of P. S. E. A., has had longer service as a county superintendent in Elk County than any other man in the state. The students whom he addressed felt that it was an honor to have a man so prominent in the educational work of the state with them.

Dr. Sweeney first congratulated the graduates on the fact that they had shown the initiative to prepare themselves for the service they are about to enter; he spoke of the teaching body as the greatest of the many public service clubs known today, whose opportunity for shaping future communities outranks those of all the rest and which therefore, has the greatest chance for success in their work of service.

He went on to state that this success can only come as a result of right attitudes toward life and those who share that life. First he mentioned the attitude toward the work the teacher takes up—work which much scientific investigation and systematic organization has turned into a true profession, and in which there comes a very definite code of ethics. Dr. Sweeney stated that new teachers are entering the profession at a most

Heart Throb Bureau

Probably the busiest man on our campus is Dr. D. I. Agnosone, who has been engaged by the Times Staff to advise and to the bereaved, forlorn, forsaken, discouraged, heart-racked, lonely lovers of Lock Haven.

The sincerity of the Doctor is genuine, as is evidenced by the fact that he has devo'd his entire life to this great work. He spent seven years in the hottest part of Africa. While there, he studied the lives of a tribe of uncivilized mulatto women. These women are almost the same as the modern American women. He learned many secrets from them that can be applied to your particular problem.

One thing puzzles him: "How can the American Plummer get along with less clothing in January than the women of hottest Africa requires in June?"

These Mulatto women use the same system that the Amazons found so successful and have nothing to do with the men, while the present day college girl resorts to the principle of "Seek and Ye shall find, even though he isn't much."

Many are the experiences of this great Doctor; many are the words of wisdom that he can impart to you. Why not write him a letter? Address it to Dr. Agnosone and in care of Times Staff. The quicker the sooner.

From the thousands of letters already received, the great Doctor has selected the following for publication this week.

*****

Johnstown, Penna.
Immediately, if not Sooner.

Dearest Doctor:—

I am a care worn old lady, the mother of one of the Lock Haven Co-Eds. This is my problem.

I have been losing sleep over my daughter's Love affair. It seems she is going, occasionally, with a fellow named "Down Town" in Lock Haven. He is twenty-eight years of age and has lived in Lock Haven all his life. She has a "Real" boy friend at home who is anxiously awaiting her return, but she thinks the fellow from Lock Haven will propose to her soon and refuses to even write to her friend at home.

What shall I do?

Ells.

Dear Ella:—

The old idea of "Spare the rod and modern theorists," but I still think it spoils the brat, has been discarded by can be applied in some cases.

This local fellow has had the opportunity of meeting girls from the Teachers College since he was knee high to a grass hopper. If in this time he has not found a girl who will do with his own daughter, he probably getting hooked. I suggest that you buy her a ticket to Johnstown right away.

Lay it on freely, Ella.

KLUB KORNER

Dramatic Club.

On Wednesday, January 22, the Dramatics Club met for a short business meeting to discuss plans for Stunt Night and to select a pin for the club. After the business meeting Miss Aroy's Dramatic English Class gave three one-act plays for the club. The plays, which were "Suppressed Desires," "Joint Owners in Spain" and "The Clash," were presented in a very interesting manner.

Alpha Chi Delta.

Friday noon, January 24, the Alpha Chi Delta's met to discuss their stunt for W. A. A. Stunt Night and to arrange for a dinner which is to be held at Roster's next Wednesday evening, February 5.

Teachers College.

Dear Doctor:—
I am a teacher in this college. You do the fellows, in their cars, make so many trips to and from the Teachers College on Sunday afternoon?

It seems to me that if they were looking for something, five trips should convince them that it isn't there. I counted one car until it made its sixty-fifth trip and then I quit. What do you think is the matter?

Mrs. Hardmaker.

Mrs. Hardmaker:—

Perhaps they are suffering from loss of memory; it may be that they have had too much psychology, or maybe they are breaking in used cars for the chain stores in town.

I suggest that you place about two pounds of cyanide nabiscos in the nearest drug store. That will get most of them. These drug store cow boys get to be a nuisance after they graduate from high school.

Dr. Agnosone.

Our idea of a man truly going down in defeat is one with falling arches.

Beta Sigma Chi.

At their business meeting on Monday evening, January 27, the Beta Sigma Tau's made plans for their initiation which is to begin soon.

The club decided to enter "The College Times" in the contest, but nothing definite was decided about the delegates.

ed to put new energy and fight into the team which carried over into the extra period, Coach Morgan's boys winning out by a final score of 38-34.

Excellent Substitutes.

Renninger and Malone, entering the game as substitutes, showed the same fight and aggressiveness that marked the play of the rest of the team and both fitted into the team work very smoothly.

Coach Morgan deserves a world of credit for taking a squad of men altogether new to each other and moulding together a combination of fighting and aggressive players good enough to conquer, through sheer grit, aggressiveness and a quietest that has just defeated Bloomsburg Teachers College, last year's champions, by a score of 39-29. The boys seem to have caught Coach Morgan's never-say-die spirit and certainly are to be congratulated on the way they fought against Shippensburg. A tough schedule still remains before them but, showing the fight and confidence in themselves that they showed last Saturday, a surprise seems to be in store for their future opponents during the present season.

First Quarter.

The game opened with neither team able to score for several minutes because of the close guarding on both sides. Finally, Post got loose and tossed a short double-decker under the basket. A minute later Bardo got free for a short toss making the score 4-1. Shippensburg having scored a free throw. Shippensburg called time out and when play was resumed Plummer scored a short twin-pointer, making the score 6-1. Shortly after, Robb was fouled in an attempt to field goal and counted one of two free throws. Plummer caught a long double-decker from the side center and the crowd went wild. Shippensburg scored their first field goal of the game as the quarter ended with the score 9-3 in favor of the locals.

Second Quarter.

After several minutes of play, featured by the aggressiveness and close guarding of the locals, Shippensburg finally tossed a long twin-pointer, making the score 9-5. Soon after Bardo got loose for a short toss under the basket and immediately after this Plummer tossed another double-decker, making the score 13-5. The visitors finally got going and caged two successive two-pointers, making the score 13-9. Post was fouled and made good the attempt. As the quarter ended Plummer eluded his man to make a field goal, making the score at the end of the half 15-10, the visitors having tossed a successful free throw just before Plummer's last double-decker.

Third Quarter.

When play was resumed at the end of the half several minutes elapsed before any scoring took place. The locals continued to outplay the visitors in the same convincing manner that marked their play during the first half. Finally, Bardo, getting the ball in the middle of the court, flashed a dribbling exhibition that had the crowd on its feet, yelling like mad. Dribbling past the defense, Shippensburg defense, Bardo caged a short twin-pointer making the score 18-10. The visiting offensive got going long enough to toss two field goals through the cords, making the score 18-14. Bardo, flashing the same offensive that marked his other scoring attempts, scored a swift, accurate pass from Cowfer to score his fourth double-decker. Shortly after, Post was fouled and was successful in the free throw, making the score 21-14. Plummer received a hard hand from the crowd as he was removed via the personal foul route and replaced by Renninger at forward. The visitors were successful in two free tosses, one by Cowfer while attempting a field goal, tossed one out of two free throws, making the score 22-16. Plummer loose for a twin-pointer on a fine pass from Robb. Cowfer scored an offensive thrust by the visitors when he intercepted a pass. Robb, getting the ball near the side center, caged a long field goal that secured roars of approval from the crowd. The

EDITORIALS

The Y. W. C. A. wants the girls to feel free to use their room on first floor west dormitory, and they want their room to be home-like. There are magazines kept on the table which the girls like to read, and there is the piano and victrola which they like to play. Now the Y. W. girls have decided to get games and cards for the girls to enjoy. There are some who do not go to the dances and they can play cards for their recreation. There will be both games and cards so that everyone should find something for his interest. If this plan works well, and the girls benefit by the new games and cards, and show their appreciation, the Y. W. C. A. may enlarge upon their plan.

AN ANCIENT LEGEND

Was Joan of Arc burned at the stake? There are some who believe that she was pardoned upon her promise to go home, stop wearing mail garb and never fight again. Three centuries ago a French priest discovered in musty archives a record of a visit paid to Metz by Joan of Arc in 1436, five years after the date of the famous execution of heretics in Rouen. There are also documents relating to her marriage and recording a good deed, which she did to the

EXCHANGE NOTES

Four high school publications have recently been sent to our Exchange Department. We've read them and enjoyed them and hope to hear from them again. "The Hi-Hat" from Westfield High School is as interesting a little paper as we have read in a long while. The One Year Ago column in the "Bellefontain" is new and clever. And there are lots of other nice things we'd like to say about our college magazines and we would not have room enough in our paper.

The Big Shot.

A hunter was showing off his collection of trophies to a group of visitors. He was rapturously explaining how he acquired the various exhibits. "See that elephant," he said. "I shot it in my pajamas."
"And tell me?" murmured the flapper, "how did it get there?"

city in the time of the siege. This happened in 1439, eight years after Joan's ashes were supposed to have been scattered on the Seine. Those who do not approve of shattering myths contend that these reports are not true. There will always be ancient archives being unearthed to shatter these legends.

US AND OTHERS

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my deep appreciation for the beautiful flowers and the many messages of sympathy sent to me at the time of my mother's death.

Marguerite Stickles.

LIFE

Life is a gift to be used every day, Not to be smothered and hidden away, It isn't a thing to be stored in the chest.

Where you gather your keepsakes and treasures your best; It isn't a joy to be sipped now and then And promptly put back in a dark place again.

Life is a gift that the humblest may boast of And one that the humblest may well make the most of.

Get out and live it each hour of the day.

Wear it and use it as much as you may; Don't keep it in niches and corners and dark groves, You'll find that in service its beauty improves.

Edgar A. Guest.

OPINIONS DIFFER

"Marriage—that which either makes or breaks you in life, whether you are to be broken or to be made depends entirely upon you and your ability to choose a help-mate." So expounds an enthusiastic Senator who refused to give his name. Many people have such entirely different ideas of marriage that it is quite interesting to collect a few and compare them. For example, Mr. Fleming declares that marriage is a true test of men's digestive abilities. Mr. Fleming seems to be getting along just fine. Even if he is rather small, he must have good digestive abilities. Dr. Rude, however, has entirely different views on the subject. He says, "Marriage is the only life sentence that is suspended by bad behavior. The trouble with the present day marriage crops is that they are too divorced."

The students, too, have views on the sacred subject. A few of the girls and most of the boys felt reluctant to explain them to anyone else. Some believe that marriage is far too serious and dangerous to be toyed with while in college and still others declared their intentions of dodging it forever for the sake of a successful career.

Peg Spooner says, with a far away look in her eyes, that marriage is a profession. What you get out of it depends upon what you put into it. Alice Batchford declares, in a careless way but with bad behavior. The trouble with marriage is largely a matter of luck—one person is just as unexpected as the other. Edward Speck thinks that marriage is far too serious for him to consider at present and Esther heartily agrees with him. Alice Read seems just a trifle pessimistic about the matter, she says "Marriage will mark the end of our worries over adding one more to the number of the 'old maid school teachers' with whom we are supposedly casting our lots."

So they give and so they differ, it's an institution and a sacrament, a curse and a joy, a prison and a freedom, just as you choose to see it. To the most of us, however, marriage is what we need and at present we are happy without it.

score was now 26-16 in favor of Coach Morgan's Raiders. Shortly after this a visiting player was fouled as he tossed a short two-pointer. The two free throws were successful, making the score 26-20. Just as the whistle blew, ending the quarter, the visitors tossed a long field goal, leaving the score at 26-22 in favor of the locals.

Fourth Quarter.

Shippensburg began the fourth quarter just where they had left off at the end of the third quarter by caging three successive double-deckers before Captain Robb called time out. The visitors then scored a long two-pointer successfully tossed a free throw, making the score 29-26 in their favor. I was the first time during the entire game that the locals were behind. Mn promising opportune time but that the responsibilities are correspondingly great.

Showing that success is in the state of mind, he explained the importance of the right attitude toward the daily work and routine; the opportunity of helping the children to form proper attitudes for themselves, from which attitudes are true ideals.

Dr. Sweeney illustrated by cases within his own experiences how important it is that a teacher have proper attitudes towards the spiritual things and religious phase of life; he stated that creed mattered little, but that if a teacher would have the best influence over his pupils and those about him, he should be a regular attendant of some church.

Lastly, Dr. Sweeney spoke of the necessity of right attitudes toward law enforcement, if the young people the teacher is training are to become real citizens of a successful community. Summing all these points up, Dr. Sweeney closed with the message that right attitudes will bring success and a finer, better State will be the ultimate result.

Presentation of Diplomas and Certificates.

WINTRY SPORTS

Of all the winter sports it's hard to choose the best; There's hiking, with the snowflakes Falling on your cheeks Or lighting on your sleeve And the wind whipping against your heavy coat.

Coasting down a slope Your barred scarf Is flying in the breeze. And the ringlet of your hair, That peeps out from your tam, Is starved by downy flakes.

While you ski You glide down the slope Like a flying nymph.

But after you've been out exercising And have felt the stinging air Bring color to your cheeks It's good to come in doors again— To sip hot soup and munch a crispy roll—lone was substituted for Renninger at forward. Showing the fight and aggressiveness that characterized their play throughout, Coach Morgan's Raiders surged ahead when Robb passed to Bardo who caged the field goal. Bardo was fouled on the play and successfully tossed both free throws, putting the locals ahead by a score of 30-29. The lead changed hands again when the visitors swished the cords for a double-decker but their lead was short lived. Cowfer, coming up with the ball in the center of the floor, arched a long toss that banked into the loop, putting the locals into the lead by a score of 32-31 and sending the crowd into a fit of wild enthusiasm. Foust was fouled in attempting a shot and was successful in the free throw. With only a few seconds to play the locals attempted to freeze the ball but the visitors broke it up and a long toss at the whistle ended the game at 33 all.

And hear the wind rattle 'round the house.

Foust, following up a toss by Bardo, had the honor of scoring the winning margin for the locals. He followed this a short time later by tossing a free throw, putting the locals ahead by a score of 36-34. After a bitter scrimmage near the end of the period, Malone secured the ball and tossed a long pass to Bardo, on the other end of the court, who scored the final double-decker of the game. Several seconds later, with the locals freezing the ball, the game ended with Coach Morgan and his Raiders earning the verdict over the conquerors of Bloomsburg, last year's champions, by a score of 38-34.

The next game on the local schedule is with Dickinson Seminary's powerful quietest from Williamsport and which will be played at a place Saturday, February 1, on the Seminary court. It is hoped that a large crowd of local followers will be on deck to help the boys come through.
