MRS. DALLAS W. ARMSTRONG CALLED TO GREAT BEYOND

MRS. D. W. ARMSTRONG PASSES AWAY SUDDENLY

Succumbs at Home After Day's Illness Following Heart Attack.

WAS SEVERE SHOCK TO ALL

Mrs. Mary Griffin Armstrong, wife of the President of our College, Dr. Dallas W. Armstrong, died very suddenly on Saturday evening, October 5, at her home, 410 North Fairview Street, Lock Haven. Mrs. Armstrong had never been very strong since the death of her son, Angus Armstrong, who was killed during the World War while he was serving as a lieutenant in a United States Motor Transport Company, but her health seemed to be quite as usual until Saturday morning when a heart attack caused a day's illness which proved fatal.

Mrs. Armstrong was born in Mercer County, Pennsylvania. She has lived here in Lock Haven since the time that Dr. Armstrong became President of the College, about four years. She was a member of the Eastern Star, the Trinity Methodist Church, and of the Trinity Methodist Sunday School where she taught a class of adults.

She is survived by her husband, a son, Frank, and three daughters, Elizabeth, Margaret and Katherine, of whom Margaret is at present a student of the College; also by three brothers and four sisters: Alfred, of California; Frank, residing in Florida; Edward and Mrs. John Stump, of Akron, Ohio; Mrs. Rena Baker, living in Colorado; Mrs. Alton Kennedy, of Stonesboro, Penna., and Miss Katherine Griffin, who makes her home at the Armstrong residence.

Mrs. Armstrong's death came as a severe shock to everyone. She was well known as a warm friend of the faculty and the students of the College—a delightful hostess in her home, and a charming patroness and guest at College functions. She always took a great interest in College activities, ever ready to do her part to make them successful. Her death brought a very personal sorrow to the students who have had so many pleasant contacts with her, as the wife of the President of the College and as a genuine woman of fine intelligence and beautiful character.

A MESSAGE TO DR. ARMSTRONG AND FAMILY

The members of the Faculty of the State Teachers College have united in this expression of their own sorrow and their sympathy to you in your bereavement:

In the death of Mrs. Armstrong we experience a deep personal grief; and we shall cherish always the most fragrant memories of the charm and unselfishness, the thoughtful provision for our comfort, and the loving interest in our welfare which made our relationship with her so unending a delight.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD AT HOME TUES. OCT. 8

Respect to Deceased.

BURIED AT HENDERSONVILLE

The funeral services for Mrs. Dallas W. Armstrong were held at the Armstrong home on Fairview Street, on Tuesday afternoon, October 8, at 3:00 o'clock. Reverend J. Merrill Williams officiated at the simple but very impressive rites. The services opened with the quoting of the hymn, "How Firm a Foundation," followed by a prayer. The only music was a beautifully appropriate solo sung by Miss Whitwell, "The City Four-square." In the short sermon following this, Reverend Williams applied to the Armstrong family those characteristics which the family pastor of the Coolidges attributed to them at the time of the death of their son—sincerity, bravery, unselfishness, putting the first things first, the spiritual before the material, and faithfulness. He continued with a brief review of the life of Mrs. Armstrong, her fine character and ideals. He spoke of her role as wife and mother, of the beautiful home life which centered around her personality. Mentioning her church work, he told of her Christian ideals, of her interest in the Sunday School work and in the activities of the ladies' societies in the church, in which she took a very active part. Mrs. Armstrong always showed a genuine interest in educational work, particularly in the activities of the college of which her husband is the president. Her life was one of unselfish service and worthwhile interests from beginning to end.

The floral tributes with which the casket was banked, gave, by their beauty and profusion, striking evidence of the numberless friendships and great respect which the character of Mrs. Armstrong inspired in all who came in contact with her.

Among those present at these touching services were several trus-

Papa Dear,

So much has been happening that I don't hardly know where to start to commence to write. I won't never have time to tell you all before half past seven, and that's the time you said for me to go to bed.

These last few days I have learned a great deal, in fact, I really think I will soon be asked to join the faculty.

A fellow doesn't have to know very much to be a professor. About all they do is look wise and tell you how to write your name on a card to join their classes. Then there are those they call advisors.

Of course, I didn't associate with advisors for I want to take advice from no one but you, papa. But here I am getting ahead of my story; I must back-up to registration day.

In the first place I seemed to have a free ticket to the Gym. That place should be J-i-m. I haven't told the instructors yet for it might embarrass them to know they are of the menagerie of ignoramouses. Everyone but me spells it G-y-m, and if I'm not careful I'll misspell it too.

Then after I waited for an indefinite length of time, they let me in the Jim. Now the Jim person what owns this mansion like, has a last name of Nasium. I guess Jim wasn't home or he wouldn't have allowed everyone in his parlor.

After they fined me for entering this institution, whatever that kind of "tuition" may be, they wished an advisor on me. When he tried to boss me I told him that I knew better than he what I should take and when I should take it, for you, dear papa, are my advisor.

Then he said there are certain requirements for the degree. I don't know what degree is unless it be longitude and latitude.

This is where I tried to display my knowledge. I told him that many of these requirements he mentioned were listed in the Sears-Roebuck, Chicago Mail Order or National Bellas Hess Catalogues and if not they weren't worth being in any catalogue.

Then what did he do but pull out a little dinky book about the size of Montgomery Ward Midsummer Sale Book and read a lot of other big words.

Finally I got registered and they gave me another free ticket—this one to my classes.

It's twenty-nine and three-fourths minutes after seven so I'll have to stop and go to bed like you have taught me to.

Your son,
PERCIVAL.

P. S. Last week I wrote you another letter but I thought you might not get it because I forgot to put your name and address on it.

KLUB KÖRNER

There was a special meeting of the I. K. U. on Friday, October 4, at 4:10. The meeting was for the purpose of deciding about sending out pamphlets to inform the people in the State about our college kindergarten work.

On Wednesday evening, October 2, the Art pledges were initiated into the club. After the ordeal was over and the formal pledge had been taken by the new members, a regular business meeting ensued. Miss Dubois welcomed the new members, and asked for more cooperation and more self-government on the part of the members. A committee had a dainty lunchcon prepared for the social hour after the meeting.

Price Literary Society enjoyed an outing on Friday afternoon, October 4. Mr. Ulmer's yard was the scene of the picnic, and it was evident that everyone spent an enjoyable afternoon there.

The regular weekly meeting of the Alpha Sigma Tau Sorority was held Monday afternoon, September 30, at 4:30.

The Rho Omega Lambda Sorority met Monday afternoon at 5:30.

Coach Morgan continued his chapel talks on football fundamentals with a talk Wednesday morning on Penalties. He spoke of various penalties and explained them to the students. He brought out the fact that both the offensive and the defensive teams are liable to penalties for such offenses as off-sides, holdings, unnecessary roughness and others.

On Thursday morning Mr. Morgan spoke on Passes, Fumbles and Punts. He explained that the passer must stand a distance of five yards behind the line of scrimmage before passing the ball to an eligible player on his side. The two end men, not necessarily those designated as ends, on the line of scrimmage, together with the other backfield men are eligible to receive a pass while any player on the opposing side may intercept a pass. The coach also defined an incomplete pass and stated the rules covering the penalty for two incomplete passes in the same four downs. He also brought out the fact that the player who first touches the ball on a formal pass must complete the pass, illustrating this with a very simple pass play. The new rule concerning fumbles was then quoted by the coach. This rule states that a fumbled ball may not be recovered and run with by the opposing side; as soon as it is fumbled the ball is dead and is put into play at the point where it is fumbled. Punts were then discussed by the coach, while he explained what a punt is, and under what conditions a team punts.

These talks by Coach Morgan have been very interesting and instructive to the students, and should enable them to better understand the game, as well as appreciate the efforts of the team.

tees of the college: Mr. William Keiner, Dr. J. W. Sweeney, Mr. I. T. Parsons, Mrs. George H. Diack, Dr. D. W. Thomas, and Superintendent A. P. Akeley. As the official representative of the State Department of Public Instruction, Dr. Robert C. Shaw, Deputy Superintendent, was present. Other representatives of the State Department were Dr. Charles D. Koch, also Deputy Superintendent Mr. W. H. Taft and Mr. U. G. Fry, both Assistant Directors. Other prominent persons at the services were Superintendent and Mrs. Guy C. Brosius, of Clinton County; Superintendent and Mrs. Lloyd H. Hinkle, of Bedford County; Dr. and Mrs. Francis B. Haas, President of Bloomsburg State Teachers College. Although not able to attend the funeral services on Tuesday, Dr. John A. H. Keith, State Superintendent, and Mrs. Keith, and Dr. and Mrs. James N. Rule, also of the State Department called at the Armstrong residence on Sunday to pay their respects.

The body was taken on Wednesday to Hendersonville, Mercer County, where funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Hendersonville Methodist Church. Burial was made in the family plot of the Hendersonville cemetery, beside their son Angus, who died in France while in the service.

THE A. C. D.'s RUSH UNDER-GRADUATES OF DAY ROOM

The A. C. D.'s formerly the T. H. R.'s, rushed the subterranean dwellers of S. T. C. in the form of a picnic at the old reservoir. Miss Atherton represented the faculty. Hilarity reigned supreme. The outstanding comedians were—Foley, of course, and Carstater. "Pass the mustard"—'nuff sed about the eats.

LOCAL SEASON OPENS WITH CLOSELY CONTESTED BATTLE

In a battle that was stubbornly contested by Teachers College and Dickinson Seminary, the locals lost when their defense fell apart during the final quarter. During this quarter Dickinson Seminary hammered the Maroon and Gray line, skirted the ends, and finally pushed over a touch down when Givens, who was a shining light all through the game for Dickinson, went around his left end for twenty yards for the score. The extra point was missed by the same player. Soon after Dickinson kicked off, and here occurred the break that ruined the locals' chances for a score and a possible win. The kick-off was poor but what hurt most was that Dickinson recovered the ball after it had been fumbled by one of the Maroon and Gray players. Dickinson began another offensive drive that ended when McClintock skirted his right end for the score. The extra point was added a moment later when Givens booted the ball squarely between the uprights.

Dickinson again kicked off and this time the Maroon and Gray began an aerial attack that featured Renninger at the throwing end and Poust and Hatter at the receiving end. The ball was brought to the Dickinson twenty yard line and there the offensive was broken, when, on the next play, a pass was intercepted. The game ended soon after, the final score being 13-0 in favor of Dickinson Seminary.

The game opened with the locals receiving the kickoff. They immediately began an offensive with Cowfer and Hart doing the most effective ball carrying. The ball was brought to Dickinson's fifteen yard line only to be lost on downs. After Givens punted out of danger, the locals again began to march up the field only to be stopped again. Later in the same quarter another march was started by the locals which ended when Dickinson took the ball near their twenty yard line. During the second quarter the locals more than held their own and clearly outfought Dickinson. The first half ended without a score for either side.

The first part of the third quarter was a punting duel with Givens out-punting Bardo by a good margin. Bardo seemed to be handicapped greatly in his punting by a bad leg which seemed to lack the power he had shown in the daily practices. During the latter part of the third quarter the locals seemed to tire rapidly and could do little with the powerful moving Dickinson attack. It gathered momentum and by the time the fourth quarter began, was in full swing. What happened during the fourth quarter has already been related, Dickinson coming out on top by a 13-0 score. The locals fought hard but lacked the staying power to match the powerful offensive launched by Dickinson.

The locals travel to Mansfield next Saturday for a game with Mansfield Teachers' College. Mistakes made during the first game will be moved out and a vastly improved team will

The death of Mrs. Armstrong on Saturday evening, October 5, brought very clearly to the students of this college the realization of what it means to lose a true friend. Although not all of our large number of students could know her personally, many hold pleasant memories of meeting her at various college activities, and all have felt her deep interest in our welfare. Her presence at our social and educational functions was always considered a great honor, not just because she was the wife of our president, but because of her personal character and charm. The high ideals which she held, the personal services she so willingly rendered at home and in community life as well, made her one whom we could look up to—whose character exemplified so many of those things that we are striving to attain for ourselves. The fine Christian personality of Mrs. Armstrong has left its indelibly mark upon those of us who had the privilege of knowing her.

REGULAR VESPER SERVICES HELD IN THE AUDITORIUM

Vesper service was held in the Auditorium Sunday evening, October 6, at 6:05. Warren Scott, who was in charge of the service, led the singing. Jenice Sharp, one of the talented Juniors, sang a solo. The Scripture was read by Helene Gehron. It is hoped that the students will become more and more interested in Sunday evening vespers, and that they will want to attend the programs that have been planned.

ATHLETICS

The second hockey game of the season was a duplicate of the first except that it was a trifle worse. 4:30 P. M. Friday, October 4, arrived and only one mixed college player was present to do battle with thirteen College Juniors.

The Juniors who wear tall green hats on the backs of their outfits go under the name of "The High Hats." They were quite disappointed when their opponents did not appear and finally decided to invite Miss Dixon and Martha Zeigler, the sole representative of the Mixed College team to play a practice game with them. Every player of the "High Hats" was at her best, while Miss Dixon and Martha Zeigler were the outstanding players for the opposing team.

Next Friday a double header will be played between the "High Hats" and Intermediates II; and the Mixed College and the Primaries II. The Beginners' Tournament will begin Tuesday, October 15, with Group I playing against Group II.

DR. D. W. THOMAS GIVES FOOTBALL TALK IN CHAPEL

During the chapel exercises held Friday morning of last week a very interesting talk on football was given by Dr. D. W. Thomas, one of the trustees of the college and President of the Alumni Association. He spoke of the marked changes in the attitude toward football in the last twenty-five or thirty years in which the game has become highly commercialized from a financial standpoint. Speaking from his own experiences, Dr. Thomas said that teams of long ago went into a game to win, regardless of the size of the crowd that came to see them and contrasted this with the present desire for big crowds and spectacular individual playing.

He spoke about the essentials of a winning team: a good coach, promising football material, the winning spirit on the part of the players, and the whole-hearted backing on the part of the student body. Stressing the need of a winning spirit, Dr. Thomas said that no team, no matter how good the coach may be, can be a winner unless it goes into a game feeling that it can't be beaten. He also emphasized the importance of the student body in molding a winning team.

Speaking of the importance of condition of the football player, Dr. Thomas asserted that many of the injuries suffered by the football players were due to the poor physical condition of the player. Stating that a sound body makes a sound mind, he declared that a team in perfect physical condition will defeat a team composed of heavier and bigger opponents who are not in the best of physical condition to withstand the hard knocks of a real football game.

Following the talk by Dr. Thomas the college song was recited by Miss Whitwell and then sung by the student body.

veloping the theme in connection with poetry. He showed by actual examples, how naturally children create in composing simple poetry for their own amusement. He emphasized the fact that children if given a chance will begin early in their school life creating their own nursery rhymes in the kindergarten and primary grades to develop that spirit of original feeling and initiative which will lead them to the accomplishment of greater things in life. Dr. Lytle asserted that children are naturally full of the spirit with which they can create beautiful worthwhile things if they are allowed to develop habits of expression early in life.

Novelty Entertainers.

The entertainment of the evening was given by the Novelty Entertainers: La Vonne Field, cartoonist; Dorothy Ralston, accordionist and Hazel Dawson, violinist and pianist. Miss Field was the feature entertainer of the company, drawing strikingly original cartoons with amazing rapidity to the accompaniment of music. The instrumental numbers ranged from popular to sacred and classical music, thus giving a wide variation in style and type.

The entire program won the applause of the audience through the graciousness of the performers and the pretty harmony of their arrangements.

STUDENTS HEAR ARMY BAND

Many of the students and faculty of the College attended the concert given by the United States Army Band, October 7, in the Lock Haven High School Auditorium. Miss Whitwell, of the College faculty, appeared on the evening program, singing a very beautiful solo for the occasion.

L. A. L.'s HOLD STUDIO TEA IN DAY ROOM THURSDAY

The L. A. L.'s entertained about 30 underclass guests, Miss Edgerton and Miss Daniel at a Studio Tea in the Day Room Thursday afternoon. This was the first of the L. A. L. rushing parties.

Each guest drew a life-sized portrait of himself which was supposed to have recognizable features, and be distinguished by the other "artists." Another outstanding part of the entertainment was a ghost incident cleverly related by Miss Daniel in the darkened room. And Peg Reid is now a famous impersonator—ask Peg for particulars.

Needless to say, and with praise to the committee, the refreshments proved to be a source of enjoyment to all present.

BETA SIGMA CHI GIRLS HOLD AN INTER-SORORITY TEA

On Wednesday evening, October 2, from 4:00 to 6:00 o'clock the Beta Sigma Chi Sorority entertained the Alpha Sigma Tau and the Rho Omega Lambda Sororities at tea in the Blue Room. This inter-sorority event was the first of the sorority functions for the year, and it seemed quite a successful beginning: Katharine Diack and her committee received the members and their advisors. Miss Whitwell, Miss Himes, Mrs. McDougall, Miss Arey, Miss Edgerton and Mrs. Gage were present. Alice Ratchford presided at the serving table, serving the guests with tea and sandwiches, mints and nuts.

The affair made quite an attractive scene with all the girls dressed in semi-formal afternoon costumes. Everyone reports having a delightful afternoon.
