Students to register by computer for spring

By Bill Hunter
Editor-in-Chief

Hearing the word "registration" brings a shiver to the spine of most students, but with a new system being installed this fall students can breath a sigh of relief.

The system, developed by Vice President of Academic Affairs Ronald Woodbury and Associate Dean of Academic Administration James Smalley, is expected to process students' schedules before Christmas.

Vice President of Academic Affairs Ronald Woodbury

"The new system is a trade-off. There are some good points and some bad points," said Woodbury.

One good point is that students will be using a familiar document to select courses for the spring - the drop/add sheet.

Using the add section, students will choose courses and list them by priority from left to right on the form.

In the lower half (drop area) students will list an alternate course below the one chosen. An alternate course cannot be a duplication of any already listed. Courses identified by students as alternatives may be scheduled by the computer if a priority course is not available.

This selection process is to be planned by students and their advisors between Oct. 19 and Nov. 3.

Step two is the production of a master schedule. To be completed by the department chairpersons, the master schedule will make every attempt to match student requests as closely as possible.

Priority for classes, as in the past, will be given in a descending order beginning with the seniors. Upon completion of the master schedule, copies will be available at the bookstore and from department chairs and deans at no expense.

Step three of the new registration is the mailing or picking up of schedules before Christmas break, provided the student's account has been cleared by the Revenue and SCC offices.

"We hope to get nearly 1000 students with an acceptable pre-schedule. I'll consider that successful," said Woodbury.

There will be a drop/add period before the beginning of next semester, but only a few students will be permitted to make changes.

Students not receiving a full schedule of classes and second semester seniors (110 or more credits earned), as well as students with highly unusual circumstances (a change in major, failed courses, etc.) may be permitted to make limited schedule changes.

Changes for the sake of convenience or personal preference, however, will be difficult, if not impossible to accomplish according to Woodbury.

"The student who needs to change an 8 a.m. class because he can't get up that early is out of luck," said Woodbury. "Also, the choice of professors may now be impossible."

According to Smalley, "A small number of students (even seniors) will not get all the choices they want. We know we will not create a perfect system."

When asked what will happen if the new system fails, Woodbury said, "It is a process of change. It may take time to get it to work."

Students and professors, however, don't appear to be as enthusiastic.

"I like registration ahead of time, but I don't like them choosing my professors for me. Either by reputation or advice from upperclassmen, there are just some professors that I would not like to have," said junior Keith Wetherhold.

According to junior Sue Turner, "I have to work, and if I can't schedule my classes when I want, it may be a problem."

Professor Larry Lebin summed up the teachers' opinion by saying, "Anything will improve the mess that registration is. But, we need to hire more general education teachers or there will be classes of 50, 75 or 100 students."

Lifestyle and people of Japan to be focus of lecture series

By Heidi Weaver
Staff Reporter

"If you really want to know your own society, you must know others," said Dr. Edward Greb, a sociologist from Washington and Jefferson College, who will be presenting a discussion on "Japan '87" tonight.

The lecture and slide presentation on contemporary Japan will be held at 7:30 p.m. in Ulmer Planetarium.

Greb said that in his lecture he wants "to show the tie between the past and present in general terms and to show that change in Japan must take into account the tenacity of tradition."

He also said he hopes to clear up some misconceptions Americans hold about the Japanese. Although Americans seem to believe that a cultural revolution has occurred in Japan, Greb said, "I don't think there is as much change as we might think."

"Students who are interested in participating in the Japanese exchange program are especially encouraged to attend," said Dr. Judy Brink, professor of sociology and anthropology at LHU.

A scholar on contemporary Japan, Greb is being hosted by the sociology department and is visiting the University from Oct. 12-14. He has been giving a series of lectures and slide show presentations.

On Monday evening, students were invited to meet Greb at a coffeehouse in Parson's Union Building where he showed

Child abuse forum to be presented

By Penny Englert
Staff Reporter

Child abuse is a big problem in America, and people, especially future teachers, need to know how to deal with an abused child, according to Elizabeth Heilman, president of Kappa Delta Pi, the honorary education fraternity.

The education fraternity is sponsoring a forum on child abuse tonight at 7 p.m. in the Hall of Flags.

"Child abuse is a great concern in America and future educators need to become aware," said Heilman.

The group will present four speakers addressing issues related to child abuse in America.

The speakers include Margaret Harpster, an instructor from the Williamsport Area, who will discuss "Coping Emotionally" with child abuse.

Jeanne Monoski, the acting case work supervisor of Children and Youth Services Agency in Clinton County, will talk about how community agencies can help the abused.

Dr. Van Igou, a licensed psychologist who practices in Clearfield, Howard, and Lock Haven, will present "Effects on the Child," to the group.

The legal responsibilities of the teacher and other related issues will be addressed by speaker Lewis Steinberg, a solicitor for the Clinton County Children and Youth Social Services Agency.

June Almes, an associate professor in the department of foundation studies, will serve as moderator for the evening.

The program is free and open to the public.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

"LHU professors keep putting us down"

Dear Editor:

Have you ever had a professor tell you that you are having an exam on a specific date which happens to be right between the days that two unit plans are due, plus another exam in methods on that same day?

Well maybe that doesn't seem so bad for you, but it would if 14 of you were discriminated for being a Health and Physical Education major.

One student having a Cell Biology test was offered to take the exam early, but when the professor was aware that our groups' test was in Techniques and Strategies of Teaching Physical Education, his comment was, "Oh, we don't count Phys. Ed."

The question is, why not? Our field of study has carried this University for years. Without HPER, what would this University be? How many students would stick around to watch the deterioration of this whole town?

Our stance is that we are every bit as professional as any other group on this campus. If you aren't aware of the work involved in an HPE Professional Semester, just ask anyone. It is well known by the students, but for some reason LHU professors keep putting "us" down. Could it be a lack of intelligence on their part for appearing so ignorant?

Whatever the reason, future HPER majors be prepared to take your stance also. And, to all of the LHU professors who get their kicks out of chauvinising Health and Physical educators, do you realize how much you are belittling your own intelligence?

Stolen banner disgraces LHU

The story is sad, but unfortunately familiar. A few vandals have successfully turned a banner -- a symbol for the thousands of alumni -- into a sorry representation of the students of Lock Haven University.

I'm sure the story probably goes something like this: It was late Homecoming night and the parties were going strong. Someone got a great idea. He remembered the large "Welcome Alumni" banner he had seen earlier on the press box at the football game, and he thought it would look great in his room (or at the fraternity or sorority house for next year's homecoming.) It must have been a "spur of the moment" idea since no obvious care was taken to remove the large staples that held the banner to the press box -- the vandals just pulled it off.

The welcome banner was purchased several years ago by LHU's Alumni Association as a tribute to past Haven students. James C. Reeser, director of Alumni/External Affairs, is rightfully upset about the incident. He said that the 10-foot sign was $350 when originally purchased several Homecomings ago. Reeser said that the Alumni Association simply cannot afford to replace the banner.

I'm sure the incident was never really meant to be destructive, just an adventure to get that banner. So, to the person or persons who took the banner . . . why don't you really think about it and reconsider? Is having an added decoration to your room really worth all the embarrassment that it is going to bring the Alumni next year? Besides, you really can't hide a 10-foot red and white banner -- especially next fall at Homecoming time. Come on, why don't you give it back . . . there will be no questions asked. Both you and the Alumni Association will feel a lot better.

Swisher and Stopper lead tennis team by Slippery Rock 5-4 on Sunday

By Sheri Styer
Sports Reporter

Autumn Swisher and Lisa Stopper breezed through both singles and doubles as the Lady Eagles edged Slippery Rock 5-4 yesterday.

Lock Haven got their first point when Swisher beat the Rocket's Lisa Ostergarrd 6-1,7-5.

Number two player Lisa Stopper increased the lead to 2-0 with a 6-4, 6-1 victory over Lisa Howe. LHU's Becky Boyce held on to win against Slippery Rock's Amy Tocco 7-6,7-5.

Rebecca Chase accounted for the other Haven singles victory with a 6-2,6-0 win over Deborah Bond.

Angie Wolfe and Peggy Buckmaster lost in singles.

After Lock Haven took singles 4-2,

Swisher and Stopper won their doubles match 6-1,6-1 to assure a victory.

Slippery Rock took the second team doubles victory as Amy Tocco and Stacey Mosely defeated Angie Wolfe and Johanna Culver 7-6,6-4,6-4.

The doubles team of Buckmaster and Chase fell to The Rocket's number three doubles team 6-3,6-4.

Lock Haven "outplayed" Slippery Rock, according to Slippery Rock Head Coach Jennifer Lindsay.

"I was disappointed with the quality of play the girls put on the courts," said Lindsay.

Despite the victory Head Coach Carol Lugg was also disappointed.

"We should have been sharper," said Lugg.

The tennis team takes on Bucknell University at home tomorrow at 3 p.m.

Booters draw with Kutztown 0-0

By Harold Wells
Sports Reporter

The cold at Kutztown University had a chilling affect on the fans, and the final score didn't help either as the Bald Eagles came away with a 0-0 tie against the Bears on Sunday.

In this very physical game, Lock Haven had 16 shots on goal versus Kutztown's six and led in corner kicks 9-1. The Haven, however, just couldn't put the ball in the net.

"I think we're trying to do too much, and I think we're trying to be too pretty," said a very frustrated Head Coach Lenny Long.

Ironically, despite the team's current record, Long said, "This year's team has more talent than last year's team."

Long explained that the young team just needs to learn to work better as a unit.

The Bald Eagles need to find that missing winning element soon, as the very crucial conference games are just one week away.

The Haven's next game is tomorrow at New York Tech at 3 p.m.

Eagle harriers overpower B B

By Merritt La Porta
Sports Reporter

Muddy conditions were no problem for the men's cross country team as it mauled Baptist Bible College 19-42 on Saturday. The harriers took four of the top five places in the five-mile race.

Greg MacGowan broke the tape first for the Haven with a time of 28:57. MacGowan has taken over for top LHU runner Peter Fleming, who is still suffering from a knee injury.

"Greg has been the biggest surprise this year," said Coach Kurt Smith. "He's done admirably well since taking over for Pete."

John Widl captured second, following MacGowan to the line in 29:43. Baptist

Bible slipped in a third place finisher before LHU's Brad Seth grabbed fourth with a time of 30:17.

"We had a very good day, as was shown by the margin of defeat," said Smith. "Our record (3-2) shows that we're on track according to my expectations."

"The only question mark so far has been the race against Clarion. Overall, I'm quite pleased with the team's performance this year," said Smith, referring to the Bald Eagle's close 26-30 loss to Clarion on September 12.

The men and women take on Slippery Rock next week in their last home meet of the season. "They're a tough team," said Smith. "We should give them quite a battle."

Offense compiles only 148 total yards ...

Bald Eagles blasted by Rockets 34-0

By Bill Alexander
Sports Editor

For the second time in two weeks the Bald Eagle offense couldn't get on track and got shut out, this time to the Slippery Rock Rockets, 34-0 on Saturday.

"That was the first day all year that we honestly, as a team, did not play at all," said Head Coach Tom Jones. "There was just a total lack of execution on both sides of the ball."

The Rock's Greg Pattera capped the opening drive with a four yard TD run. Craig Mahek's PAT gave Slippery Rock a 7-0 lead.

Steve Statnick extended the Rock's lead on an eight yard run. Mahek's extra point gave the Rockets a 14-0 lead at the half.

"We weren't mentally sharp and ready to play on Saturday," said Jones. "If you're not mentally into it, then you're not going to be physically into it."

Slippery Rock boosted their lead to 27-0 on a one yard touchdown run by Pattera and a nine yard scamper by Jim Carr. Mahek made one-of-two PAT's in the 13 point burst.

The final points of the game came on an 80 yard interception return by Donovan Wright. Ron West added the PAT for the final score of 34-0.

Tailback Stacy Noble was the leading rusher for the Bald Eagles, as he picked up 40 yards on 11 carries while QB Rich Hunter completed 8-of-23 passes for 73 yards, no touchdowns and two interceptions.

Although he would like more wins than losses halfway through the season, Jones is pleased with the performance of his young players.

"We have seen great things out of our young kids. Our young players are good football players," said Jones. "When you are going up against a senior, the maturity shows. What we are basically doing right now is playing a j.v. (junior varsity) team against everyone else's varsity on offense."

The loss dropped the Eagle's record to 1-5 overall and 0-3 in the PSAC West.

The Indians of IUP come to Hubert Jack Stadium on Saturday for a 1:30 p.m. showdown with the Bald Eagles.

Yesterday and today, Greb spoke to several sociology classes on a variety of topics including Japanese attitudes on death, the family and social change. He also spoke to the Lock Haven Rotary Club.

At Washington and Jefferson College in Washington, Pa., Greb teaches courses on Japanese society, economy, business and industry. Presently, he is planning for his students a three week trip to Japan.

In 1986, he was the recipient of the Presidential Discretionary Fund for Faculty Development. With this sponsorship, he travelled to Japan where he conducted research and served as a guide for American businessmen.

Greb received his B.A. and M.S. from Duquesne University, and went on to obtain his Ph.D. from the University of Pittsburgh where he studied Japanese language. He also studied at Sohia University in Tokyo.
