

The Eagle Eye

Issue 6 Volume 56

Lock Haven University's Student Newspaper

Friday, October 18, 2002

Project Coffeehouse parts ways with YMCA

Reopening yet to be announced

Anastasia Bannikova
Staff Reporter

Project Coffeehouse Gets Ready for a Reopening.

Project Coffeehouse, a youth-oriented non-profit local organization, is currently relocating to its new home on Bellefonte Avenue. After receiving numerous grants from Clinton County Community Foundation, Pennsylvania Partners in the Arts and others, the Project Coffeehouse is ready for everyone, age 14 to 24, with new programs and workshops, including painting, guitar lessons, and providing coffee, refreshments and Internet surfing.

All workshops are free of charge and are open to all students in the community.

What started as a weekend entertainment for a couple of young people grew into a five-night-a-week program that offers creative projects and a "hangout" space for local kids who wanted to express themselves through art, poetry, music and community service. Currently the Project Coffeehouse hosts more than 20 people a day.

According to the LHU alumnus Jason Huber, Project Coffeehouse helped "kids with different backgrounds and viewpoints to share ideas and cultures."

The official opening date is yet to be determined.

Project Coffeehouse also would like to thank YMCA for renting a space for three years, WalMart for sponsorship, and Communities That Care and Betty Forester for supporting the concept of the Project.

Project Coffeehouse is also looking for a variety of supplies including a microwave oven, painting easel, supplies and more.

All donations are welcome at any time. All questions should be directed to Lu Ann Rumbalski, Project's Director at 570-726-6476.

The new hours for projects and events are:

Monday-Wednesday 7 p.m. - 10 p.m.;

Thursday - 7 p.m. - 11 p.m. (open mic concert);

Friday - 8 a.m. - 12 a.m.

SCC approves mission-vision statement

Nick Malawskey
Staff Reporter

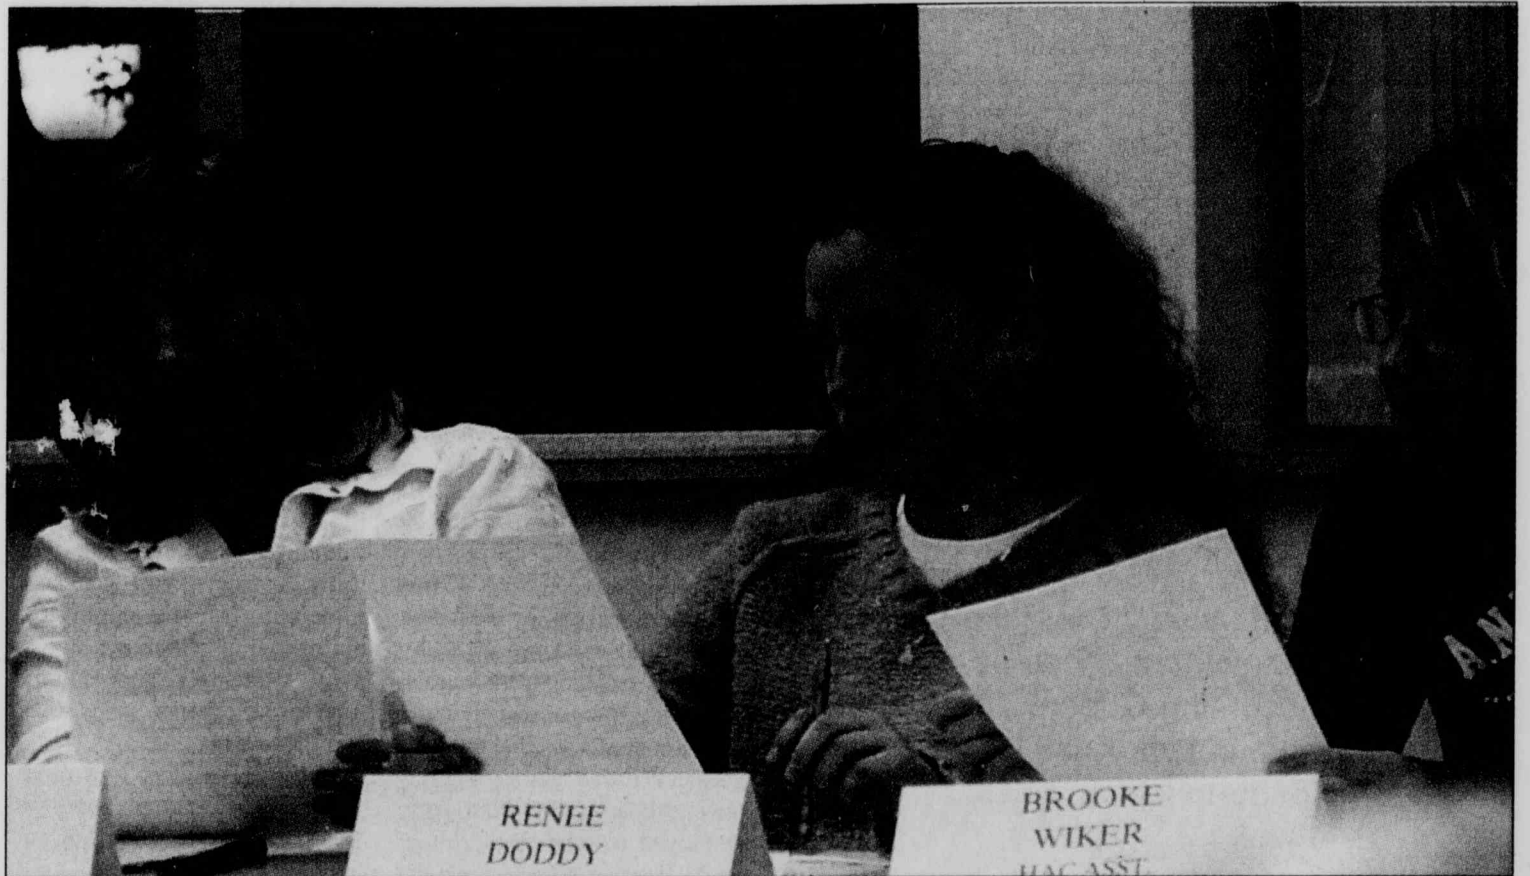

At the Student Cooperative Council meeting this past Wednesday, several resolutions were put before the council. These included the new Mission Vision Statement for the SCC, the Barbell Club's constitution, and the Forensic Team of Lock Haven's constitution.

Both constitutions met opposition upon their review by the Council. The majority of the problems that were found with both constitutions were grammatical in nature, which resulted in the Barbell Club's constitution being passed "contingent to changes". However, the Forensic Team's constitution was mired in both grammatical and other issues and was returned to the Ways and Means committee for revision.

The New Mission Vision Statement was unanimously passed with no opposition.

Also, following up on the decision to amend the SCC's Constitution, a committee was formed which hopes to have the changes made and in place by the end of the semester.

The Haven Activities Council also announced its intention to revise their constitution as well.

Stephanie Brown/The Eagle Eye

Beth Bollinger, Renee Doddy and Brooke Wiker survey the meeting agenda at Wednesday's Student Cooperative Council meeting.

Also announced by the Haven Activities Council was that the spring concert search to find which bands the students wish to bring to the University will commence November 1. HAC hopes to receive 1,000 responses to the surveys, so that they will have a representative sample of a quarter of the student population here at Lock Haven.

Also, the Second Mile children's support program is calling for student/campus organizations that would volunteer to help out with a Halloween program to be held at the University on October 27th at 2 p.m.. Any clubs or organizations that are interested should contact Derek Harr.

Student Cooperative Council Meetings are held every other Wednesday at 7 p.m. in the PUB

Meeting Room 2. Any student interested in voicing their opinions on matters concerning the University or who wish to raise something to the attention of the student government are invited to attend.

New franchise troubles area restaurants

But will provide the community with 150 new jobs

David Kubarek
News Editor

Ruby Tuesdays, a bar and grill, will provide over 150 jobs to an area devastated by the closing of International Paper, Champion and Autoline plants but could come at a cost to competing family-owned restaurants.

In addition to employment opportunities, Ruby Tuesdays will provide Lock Haven with a cozy dining area for families, couples and business meetings, serving great food in a smoke free environment, said Jeff Hunt, a managing partner at the new restaurant.

Although the franchise will probably not be able to meet the benefit packages included in closing union shops such as International Paper, the company will offer all employees with health insurance, paid vacations and 401K options. Employees will also have the option to work their way up in the company as Ruby Tuesdays prides themselves in promoting at least 80 percent of its hourly workforce into managing partners.

The new restaurant is also an attraction to students looking for some extra cash because the jobs offer compet-

David Kubarek/The Eagle Eye

The Mill Hall Ruby Tuesday's is the area's newest addition to the restaurant community. The Franchise will open to the public October 29 at 4 p.m.

itive pay and require minimum experience and training.

Franchised restaurants seem to be the beginning of an area trend with the opening of the Down Under Steakhouse and recently Perkins both located in Lamar.

But competitors fear that they will not be able to compete with companies like Ruby Tuesdays Inc, which owns 575 restaurants nationwide, employs 30,000 persons and boasted a 19 percent margin of growth in the last quarter.

"When Perkins opened in Lamar there was a noticeable drop in business," said Sumer Buttorff, employee at the Dutch Haven.

See Tuesdays page 2

INDEX

News.....1-3 Comics.....8
Opinions.....4-5 Classifieds.....9
Features.....6-7 Sports.....10-12

The Eagle Eye

Parson's Union Building
Lock Haven University
Lock Haven, PA 17745

Newsroom: (570) 893-2334
Fax: (570) 893-2644

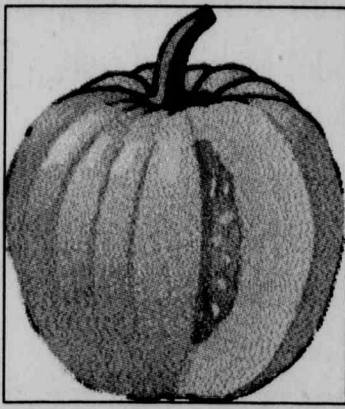

Email:
LHUeagleeye@hotmail.com

What's Inside

Trivia Contest

Answer six Halloween trivia questions and win FREE tickets to the Mystery Masquerade on October 26. sponsored by Campus Ministries.

Page 6

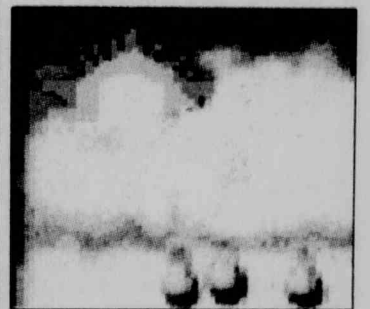

Field Hockey tastes victory

Field hockey team remains number two in nation after wins over Bucknell and Slippery Rock

Back page

Today's Weather

High- 51
Low -39

See weekend weather
Page 2

Grant to help students "Gear Up" for college

HARRISBURG--The U.S. Dept. of Education has awarded the Pennsylvania State System of Higher Education a $12.5 million grant to help as many as 14,000 students in the Philadelphia and Harrisburg school districts prepare for college, and to help the students and their families pay their tuition once they get there.

The five-year grant was awarded under the department's GEAR UP Program - Gaining Early Awareness and Readiness for Undergraduate Programs - and will be administered through the Pennsylvania Academy for the Profession of Teaching and Learning of the State System.

Students who participate in the program - beginning in the seventh grade - will be provided a variety of services, including an individual assessment of their academic, financial, motinational and personal needs; career exploration; and the development of their own Educational Action Plan. Parents of the students also will be encouraged to participate in programs that will help them aid their children get ready for college.

Half of the federal funding will be used to provide scholarships to students who complete the program. The 14 Pennsylvania State System of Higher Education universities have committed an additional $2.7 million in special scholarship funds toward the effort.

Five State System universities will work directly with administrators, teachers and staff in the two urban districts to help them improve their curricula, upgrade their teaching methods and "transform the school culture to one of high expectations" for all students. The universities that will be involved in the program are Cheyney, East Stroudsburg, Kutztown, Shippensburg and West Chester Universities of Pennsylvania.

"This is a tremendous opportunity for our universities to work with students and teachers in the Philadelphia and Harrisburg school districts," said State System Chancellor Judy G. Hamble. "This program not only will benefit those who participate, but also will help strengthen Pennsylvania's future."

"GEAR UP is potentially the most significant initiative to be undertaken in the modern era to assure access to higher education in urban centers," said Harrisburg Mayor Stephen R. Reed, whose office oversees the Harrisburg School District.

"It provides focused and comprehensive financial and academic support for our youth, and gives them all the necessary ingredients they will need to go to college and succeed later in life.

Approximately 2,700 seventh-grade students from the two urban school districts will participate in the GEAR UP program in the first year. Students will be selected from each of Harrisburg's K-7 elementary schools and from the eight middle schools that feed into Bartram, Gratz, King and Lincoln high schools in Philadelphia. Those students will continue in the program as they progress through middle school into high school and a new group of seventh-grade students will be selected each year.

Once the federal funds are exhausted, efforts will be made to seek additional state funding to keep the program going.

Local restaurants optimistic

From Tuesdays page 1

Buttorff added that a few employees already expressed an interest in working at Ruby Tuesdays enhancing the burden of staffing to local restaurants.

Hunt confesses that some of the interviewees during the hiring process are currently employed at other area restaurants, but that Career Link has sent many applicants, unemployed or laid off, from recently closed plants.

"I'm not trying to put the 'mom and pop' restaurants out of business," said Hunt. "Ruby Tuesdays is a different caliber of restaurant that what the area already has."

Others are optimistic regarding the threat of Ruby Tuesdays.

Brenda Shaffer, owner of the Blue Chimney said that she would be naive to think that Ruby Tuesdays will not take some business, and employees, but the Blue Chimney has a loyal workforce and quality food at a cheaper price than Ruby Tuesdays.

"Ruby Tuesdays is a more upper class restaurant than the Blue Chimney in price, but not in quality," said Shaffer.

Other area bar owners also noted that Ruby Tuesday's 'no smoking' facility will be hard pressed to steal business from the Lock Haven area bar crowd.

Ruby Tuesdays is located in the Wal-Mart Plaza in Mill Hall and will open Oct. 29 with a ribbon cutting ceremony at 3 p.m. The restaurant will begin serving customers at 4 p.m.

Correction:

Due to an error at last week's homecoming football game, Brooke Wiker was mistakenly announced as runner-up for Homecoming Queen. The runner-up was, in fact, Kristi Ward. Congratulations, Kristi!

Think before you drink

Every year, 708,000 persons are injured in alcohol related crashes; 74,000 of those people suffer serious injuries. About 2,000 people are hurt each day in alcohol related accidents. Two million alcohol impaired driving collisions occur each year. Of every 200 to 2,000 alcohol impaired drivers on the road, only one is arrested. Therefore, the probability of getting caught is slim. Of those who are caught, very few receive a serious penalty. The average alcohol impaired driver arrested on the highway has a blood alcohol concentration (BAC) of .20%, double the level for presumed intoxication in most states; that is 14 drinks of 86% proof liquor (or 14 beers) in 4 hours for a 180 lb. man. Between 7 pm and 3 am on weekends, 10% of all drivers are legally impaired, in some parts of the country. Most Americans drink alcohol. Over 80% admit to driving after drinking.

Statistics from the US Department of Transportation

This week in history

October 19, 1979

Two fire calls to the Lock Haven Fire Dept. from Lock Haven State College late Tuesday night proved to be a smoking electrical unit and a false alarm, according to a spokesman for Citizen's Hose Co.

"Morgan" says come visit the "Captain" on Saturday night. Uncle Alberts

Live Music Tonight
At:
Uncle Alberts

POLICE BEAT

Campus Law Enforcement -- 893-2278

October 11

Crystal Anderson of 318 Preston Road Wernerville, PA 19565 was cited for minor drinking.

October 12

David Evans of 2850 Euclid Avenue Duboistown, PA 17702 was cited for minor drinking.

information in Police Beat is publishable by the Pennsylvania State Open Records Law.

HAC & SCC BRING YOU THE FIRST EVER...

SPOOKFEST

HAVE NOTHING TO DO ON HALLOWEEN??? COME TO A HALLOWEEN-THEMED CARNIVAL!!!

FOR A GUARANTEED HAUNTING GOOD TIME CHECK IT OUT!!!

INTERESTED??? STAY TUNED TO THE EAGLE EYE NEXT WEEK FOR MORE INFORMATION!!!

PUR MPR OCT. 31 8.11 PM

Weather brought to you by AT&T

Saturday

Sunday

High - 55
Low - 39

High - 53
Low - 37

See full forecast and up to date news at:
www.LHueagle.com

INTRODUCING

EAGLE Ford SERVICE CENTER

The Eagle Ford Service Center understands being on the "College Budget"... Check out these specials!

FREE WINTER INSPECTION WITH OIL & FILTER CHANGE! $15.95 Only

FREE EXTERIOR CAR WASH WITH ANY SERVICE!

UP TO 5 QUARTS OF OIL, PLUS TAX. SOME MODELS HIGHER COUPON EXPIRES 11/30/02. MUST PRESENT COUPON AT TIME OF WRITE UP.

FREE Shuttle Service

910 Bellefonte Ave.
570 748 6783
800 488 9711
www.eagleford.com

10% College Student Discount with proof of student ID

What could you buy with $281?

28 pizzas

18 CDs

13 months of Internet access

224 gallons of gas

Most Pennsylvanians pay an average of $281 a year in checking account fees.* How can you avoid all those fees? Switch to PSECU, the state's largest credit union. Our checking has no minimum balance requirement, no per-check fee, free custom-style checks and free overdraft transfer service. Plus, your money earns dividends! Make the switch and save.

www.psecu.com
717.234.8484 in Harrisburg
800.237.7328 nationwide

*According to the 2001 PennPIRG National Bank Fee Survey. PennPIRG's methodology includes one NSF per year and one deposit item returned per year. In an "apples to apples" comparison, PSECU's fee would be $26.

PSECU
the financial link™

Federally insured by the NCUA. Equal Opportunity Lender

University to hold blood drive

WILKES BARRE—The American Red Cross issued an emergency appeal on Tues., Oct. 8 for people to give blood to boost a dangerously low blood supply. Students are encouraged to participate in a blood drive on Thurs., Oct. 31 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the PUB to help raise blood supply levels.

American Red Cross Blood Services, Northeastern Pennsylvania (NEPA) Region, reported the blood supply has dwindled to the point where there is a danger of not meeting hospital needs.

"There is less than a two-day supply of blood on our shelves today," said Molly Groody, Red Cross spokesperson. "There is less than a day's supply of some blood types. Our Region is in danger of not being able to meet hospital needs."

The NEPA Region furnishes blood products to 40 hospitals throughout 21 counties in Pennsylvania and three in New York, including Clinton County.

Red Cross fought to boost the low blood supply throughout the summer with special media appeals and mailings to donors, but the situation has not improved. "Since July 1, our collections are down 2,040 units of blood," Groody reported. "At least three blood products can be made from each donated unit. That's over 6,000 blood products which have not been available for area hospital patients because not enough people in this area are giving blood."

Since July 1, NEPA has brought in almost 1,300 blood products from other Red Cross Regions to supplement what is not being donated locally. "This situation is critical," Groody commented. "Hospital patients need blood to survive. The only way to ensure blood is available for these patients is for people to respond and give blood now."

Anyone who is at least 17 years old, weighs at least 105 pounds and is healthy is able to give blood. For more information, or to locate the nearest blood drive, please call the Red Cross at 1-800-GIVE LIFE.

Friend Program offered locally

CLINTON COUNTY—The Clinton County Chapter of The Second Mile will sponsor a Friend Program event for school children in the Keystone Central and Jersey Shore Area school districts on Sun., Oct. 20. The Program offers students of elementary age an opportunity to build their self-esteem as well as an environment in which they learn to interact with other children and adults. The heart of the Friend Program is the hundreds of student volunteers from Lock Haven University campus, including members of sports teams, fraternities, sororities and interest houses. These volunteers spend an afternoon befriending a Young Friend through organized activities. For many of the College Friends, the Friend Program offers a tremendous buffer against homesickness. For the Young Friends, all of whom are referred by their school guidance counselor, the Program provides a supportive, caring role model, as well as an afternoon of fun!

The first of nine such events to be held this school year, a Swimming Party, will be held on October 20, 2002 from 12:00 Noon to 2:00 PM in the Zimmerli Gym at Lock Haven University.

The Second Mile was founded in 1977 and began operations in 1982. Its founder is Mr. Jerry Sandusky, former Penn State Football Defensive Coordinator. The Second Mile provides a network of ten prevention, early intervention and community-based programs free of charge to school-aged children across the state of Pennsylvania. The Second Mile receives no federal, state or local government funding, and relies on private sector donations and special events.

The Second Mile has established a Clinton County Chapter, which was officially chartered on September 28, 2001. Additional information is available by calling The Second Mile office at (814) 237-1719 or contacting Mrs. Danielle Vilello-Rogers, Clinton County/Second Mile Liaison at 570-748-0115.

Choir Concert to 'lighten up' University

LOCK HAVEN—"Hey Lighten Up" is the theme for the upcoming choir concert that will be on Sunday, Oct. 20 at 3:00 p.m. in Price Performance Center at Lock Haven University of Pennsylvania. The lighthearted concert is free and open to the public.

Ronald Miller, assistant professor of music at the University, will conduct the university choir as they perform their light and humorous selections.

ROTC Brief

By Eric Hatch

Every Thursday, the Lock Haven University ROTC program holds various types of leadership labs. These labs are designed to teach the older, contracted cadets how to be leaders, by giving them a chance to teach the younger, non-contracted cadets about basic military operations. Some of these labs include; drill and ceremony, first aid, water survival skills, and paintball.

Last week, the ROTC program conducted a rappel lab. The purpose of the lab was to teach the non-contracted cadets the basics of rappelling, and to instill self-confidence. At the conclusion of their instruction, cadets were given the opportunity to rappel down a 40-foot cliff, located next to the soccer field near Zimmerli Gymnasium.

Freshmen and sophomore level cadets learned how to tie a rappel seat, as well as basic rappelling procedure, as instructed by the junior and senior level cadets. For those cadets who had never rappelled before, a "bunny slope" was available to better prepare them for the actual cliff, as well as to make them more comfortable with the activity.

"Not being much of one for heights, the rappel lab helped me to become more comfortable in such situations," said Cadet Justin Spano, a sophomore in the program. Spano said that the instructors were very patient and helpful in teaching the younger cadets, and the "bunny slope" really helped his form before going down the actual cliff.

Cadets really seemed to have a good time at the lab, and some even went back to try it a second time.

Don't see your club, organization, event or happening here? Submit news releases to lhueagle@hotmail.com

Study reveals 'the pill' does not cause weight gain

Michael Leupold
Daily Collegian

A long-term study done at the Milton S. Hershey Medical Center has shown that using oral contraceptives do not cause weight gain or increased body fat in young women, dispelling one misperception about the use of the pill.

"Women are deterred from using oral contraceptives because they fear it will cause weight gain," said Joanna Moyer, director of women's health at University Health Services.

"Weight gain is the No. 1 most verbalized concern I hear from students about taking birth control pills."

The study, "Oral Contraceptive Use by Teenage Women does not Affect Body Composition" was part of the Young Women's Health Study begun in 1990. The study was published in the August 2002 issue of Obstetrics and Gynecology.

The study involved 66 female subjects, 39 of whom used oral contraceptives.

They were on birth control pills for an average of 28 months and a minimum of six months.

All 39 users were still on oral contraceptives at age 21, and the other 27 participants did not make use of birth control pills.

Participants also filled out questionnaires about their levels of physical activity so the results would be more accurate.

The results of the study revealed that height, weight, body mass index and body fat were similar for women who used oral contraceptives and women who did not, which supports previous studies.

Since there is no scientific evidence to support an increase in weight from using oral contraceptives, researchers and doctors say women perceive a weight gain that has not actually occurred, or if they have gained weight, it might actually be due to other, outside contributing factors.

"The No. 1 reason women discontinue using OCs is the perception that they are gaining weight," said Tom Lloyd, professor of obstetrics and gynecology and director of the Young Women's Health Study.

Lloyd said there were two reasons women might perceive a gain in weight from taking oral contraceptives.

First, he said OCs can cause an increase in breast size, which could make women think they may have gained weight.

He said an increase in breast size does not cause any significant increase in weight.

Second, women often feel more bloated just before their period when taking OCs, which also may contribute to their perception of increased weight, Lloyd said.

The study was done with a wide variety of OCs, he said, meaning none of the different hormonal formulations will contribute to weight gain.

Moyer said many women hear false information about OCs from their friends and family.

"The young women hear it through the grapevine that they will gain weight, but it's just anecdotal information," she said.

Moyer said women should talk with their health care providers to get accurate information.

For the small percentage of women who end up gaining weight, Moyer said it is usually a temporary two or three pound increase of water.

The weight disappears after the first cycle or two, she said.

OVER 1,200 HAVE

REGISTERED

Eagle Eye mail edition

Have you?

Donate blood to help raise local blood supply levels

October 31

11 am - 5 pm

PUB

Haven Activities Council

FAMILY DAY

Saturday, October 19th

1:00-5:00

Balloon Man in the PUB
Make a Bird House in the PUB

2:00-5:00

Kid Carnival in the PUB
Commuter Lounge
RHA Casino in the PUB
Meeting Room #2
Meet the LHU Bald Eagle Mascot in the PUB

3:00

Longenburger Basket Bingo in the PUB
Eagle Wing Snack Bar

8:00-10:00

Open Swim at Zimmerli

Big Screen

Movie:

Scooby Doo

October 19th: 3pm

October 20th: 7pm

October 21st:

7pm and 9pm

PUB TV Lounge

Global Rhythm

Tour: Drumming

Workshop

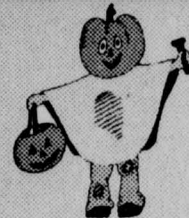

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 24TH

8PM

THOMAS FIELD HOUSE

Eagle Wing Snack Bar

Open Monday-Friday 8 am-4 pm

Come dressed in a costume and receive a surprise!

Happy Halloween

OPINION

Are the media promoting random killings?

The Eagle Eye

LHU's student newspaper

ISSUE 7, VOLUME 56

Parsons Union Building
Lock Haven University
Lock Haven, PA 17745
Phone: (570) 893-2334
Fax: (570) 893-2644
LHUeagleeye@hotmail.com

www.LHUeagleeye.com

Faculty Advisor
Dr. Douglas S. Campbell

Editors in Chief
Sean Dooley
Suzanne McCombie

News
David Kubarek
Lindsay Johnson

Features
Jessica Savrock
Sumer Buttorff

Sports
Scott Evans
Jaralai Powell

Opinion
Michael Porczenaluk

Classifieds
Kristy Hepak

Copy Editor
Lauren Bowlby

Photographer
Stephanie Brown

Online Editor
Wade Owlett

Advertising
Tracy Jackson
Rob DeGeorge
Kimberly Hill

Circulation Manager
Katie Taylor

Business Manager
Ryan Van Rossum

Reporters
Jared Guest
Anastasia Bannikova
JoEllen Chesnut
Kanchan Mahara
Nick Malawskey
Krista Rompolski
Michael Kiser

Archivist
Jessy Garcia

THE EAGLE EYE, THE OFFICIAL STUDENT NEWSPAPER OF LOCK HAVEN UNIVERSITY, IS PUBLISHED WEEKLY IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE UNIVERSITY CALENDAR. THE ARTICLES, OPINIONS, PICTURES AND LAYOUT OF THE EAGLE EYE ARE THE RESPONSIBILITY OF THE STAFF AND DO NOT REFLECT THE VIEWS OF THE STUDENTS, THE FACULTY OR ADMINISTRATION, UNLESS SPECIFIED. THE EAGLE EYE IS FUNDED BY THE STUDENT ACTIVITY FEE AND PRINTED BY THE LOCK HAVEN EXPRESS.

ADVERTISING
ADVERTISING INFORMATION AVAILABLE UPON REQUEST. DEADLINE FOR AS SALES IS THE FRIDAY ONE WEEK BEFORE THE FRIDAY OF PUBLICATION. PRE-MADE OR CAMERA READY ADS ARE ACCEPTED. HOWEVER OUR ADVERTISING DESIGN STAFF IS WELL EQUIPPED AND CAN DESIGN ADS AT NO EXTRA COST. PRICES FOR ADS ARE SUBJECT TO CHANGE UPON SPECIFIC REQUESTS.

CLASSIFIEDS
CLASSIFIED ADS FOLLOW THE SAME REGULATIONS, HOWEVER PERSONAL AND ANNOUNCEMENTS ARE FREE OF CHARGE AND MUST BE SUBMITTED NO LATER THAN TUESDAY BY 3PM.

LETTERS
LETTERS TO THE EDITOR ARE WELCOME. THEY MUST BE TYPE-WRITTEN AND INCLUDE THE AUTHOR'S NAME, SIGNATURE AND TELEPHONE NUMBER. LETTERS RECEIVED WITHOUT THIS INFORMATION WILL NOT BE PUBLISHED. DEADLINE FOR SUBMISSIONS IS TUESDAY BY 3 PM. THE EDITOR RESERVES THE RIGHT TO EDIT ANY COPY.

CORRECTIONS
THE EAGLE EYE STRIVES TO INFORM ITS READERS WITH PRECISE AND ACCURATE INFORMATION. HOWEVER, IF YOU ARE AWARE OF ANYTHING FALSE AND INACCURATE WHICH APPEARED IN THE NEWSPAPER, PLEASE CALL (570) 893-2334 AND LET US KNOW.

Opposing Viewpoints

Sean Dooley
Editor in Chief

A lot of people are probably fed up by now with the attention that has been given to the Maryland/Washington, D.C./Virginia sniper or snipers. A few days ago, I heard someone on the news saying that the media was giving the shootings too much attention and it is exactly what the killer(s) want.

While I would agree that whoever is responsible for the murders might want attention, I don't think the media is going overboard. At first I did. But then on Monday night, I found myself watching two straight hours of coverage on the killings. That's when I realized a number of reasons why the media hasn't done anything wrong with the amount of attention they have given these events.

First off, the people in the Maryland and surrounding areas are more or less terrified of being shot. They need to be informed where, when, and who the sniper(s) is/are attacking.

The people want to know if the police have any leads. They want to know if they're going to be able to let their children outside again. With nine people being killed and another two wounded, the general public has to open their eyes and realize this is serious stuff and it needs to be reported no matter how sick you are of hearing it.

Sure, whoever is behind these attacks is scaring the living hell out of kids down there. So much in fact that all outdoor activities in the area were canceled last weekend (not much to do outside except watch the Redskins get clobbered by the Saints) but would it be better to make the children feel safe?

Would it be better to tell them all is well in the suburbs and let them play as usual out on the streets? Then when a little kid gets shot and killed everyone will blame the media for not informing them of the shootings.

Yeah, yeah. I know I'm kind of biased because I'm planning on being part of the media to make a living. But I have to stick up for them this time.

And you know, whatever gets people to pick up your paper or get the ratings up on your television station is what you're going to do.

As I said, I was engrossed for two straight hours on reports about the murders on Monday and I rarely watch anything but football on Monday nights. I was suckered into the programs on CBS and ABC, so they did their job.

The purpose of the media is to inform the public, and with these particular incidents, the media has done a great job. I can only hope they keep it up.

Mike Porczenaluk
Opinion Editor

With as much controversy surrounding the media and their portrayal of tragic events; why do they continue in their current track? Television news broadcasts are constantly being condemned for hyping, verbally repeating and re-showing graphic events.

I understand that by relating the events over and over, they are hoping to inform everyone. If you cannot witness a gruesome event first hand, don't worry, the media will try and make it seem that you did.

So what happens if they don't have a huge story right away? They show the same one from different angles all day long. They poke and prod because what they are seeing is obviously not all there is to a story. Or is it? Sometimes there is no reason for an act of violence. Humans are sick beings, especially those within the media industry.

They repeat over and over the obituaries of those who were killed. They do not describe the people as being shot, but rather "gunned down" or "executed" or "eliminated." Why do they do this? Because it has a more theatrical ring to it.

How relevant is it that the victims were immigrants? How important is it that we know their racial background if they are obviously random victims?

The media is constantly evaluating, looking for a reason. They want to find something to blame this on. Why don't we accuse them of being racial for bringing that fact up in their obituaries? It has no bearing on the fact that they are dead.

They also show the contributors of the reward for the criminal. They don't do this to simply relate the news that money has been put up, but to also give that contributor their moments of fame.

They are turning an act of good Samaritanism into a business endeavor. If the donor simply wanted to help out, he would not concern himself with making himself known. He would anonymously give a contribution, with an attached note describing where the funds should be used.

Now, at the same time, this would never happen. Because if someone did give an anonymous contribution to be used as a reward, the media would immerse themselves in the task of finding out whom it was. They would get friends and neighbors to give interviews about their rich acquaintance who might have had a connection to the nameless money. They would hire bank consultants and private investigators to get the inside look at who might have gotten rid of $50,000 recently.

You see; the media cannot simply take something for what it is worth. They look for explanations and reasons for the violence. They must constantly be looking for that deeper meaning, that earth-shattering turnover, that deep and dark conspiracy. They are always looking for that big story.

I want to know what is so wrong about reading about an event the next day in the newspaper. It is still news. You can still read it over and over again. Is it not as effective because newspapers are still objective? Is it because we cannot see relentless replays of the blood-

I believe that these replays are exactly what the killer was looking for. What motivation does someone have to go shoot random, unrelated people? They did it for the recognition. The same shooting or "gunning down" as the reporters would say, will be shown for weeks on end...until some new development comes along, or a worse event occurs that makes us forget the last one.

If the coverage of these events was secluded to the daily papers of the local areas where the killings are taking place, the perpetrator would not get instant, worldwide coverage. He would not be able to relive his awful actions again and again through the media.

It would get written about once, and then the world would move on. They would print new information as it came along, and would not print anything else about it until that new information did turn up. The investigation would continue, but they would not run the same article every day for a week straight in order to relive the tragedy.

With this huge coverage come the copycat crimes. Other psycho's in the area of the shooting can take advantage of the information they gather about the crime scenes, techniques, and evidence. They can learn from the other killer's mistakes in order to let off some of their own steam and have it blamed on their predecessor. With this in mind, it almost seems as if the media are actually the ones inciting the crimes. Too bad they don't investigate themselves; they could provide each other with at least a year's worth of re-run interviews and updates on the issue.

*note: these articles were written on the afternoons of Tuesday, October 15, 2002 and Friday, October, 11, 2002, respectively- any information that has changed since then is not attributed.

BAD CREDIT IS LIKE A BAD NICKNAME. IT WILL STICK WITH YOU FOR YEARS.

WHERE SMART STUDENTS GO.

Default on your student loan and suddenly you'll be called a "bad investment." Find out how to manage debt, plus lots of other smart real world tips at the online source for smart students.

youcangetwithit.com

youcangetwithit.com is brought to you as a public service by American Education Services and Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Agency.

AES
American Education Services

PHEAA
Creating Access to Education

Ed Rendell is best candidate for Governor

Robert Benton
Eagle Eye

This November an important choice is coming up on the ballot. Who will be the next governor of Pennsylvania? The candidates are Ed Rendell (Democrat), Mike Fisher (Republican), Ken Krawchuk (Libertarian), and Mike Morrill (Green).

Currently, PA is dealing with an aging population, weak economic growth, and a public school that in many locations is seriously deficient. These issues are paramount to all Pennsylvanians. The future of the commonwealth rests with the hard and necessary decisions that need to be made today. Only one candidate has the experience, dedication, leadership and vision, to guide Pennsylvania in to the success and wealth of the 21st century.

Ed Rendell is the only candidate that has a plan to fix the serious and grave woes that threaten the future prosperity of all Pennsylvanians. I hereby fully endorse Ed Rendell for Governor.

Ed Rendell started his drive for excellence as a District Attorney in Philadelphia as an aggressive crime fighter. Next, Ed Rendell was elected to be Mayor of Philadelphia. When Ed took over in 1992, Philadelphia was on the verge of bankruptcy. During his tenure in Philadelphia: he cut taxes, raised community college funding, helped reduce the crime rate, and most importantly eliminated the tremendous budget deficit of $250 million. In fact in his administration, Philadelphia experienced a balanced budget and 5 consecutive budget surpluses.

Another example of Rendell's record of success in Philadelphia is his reforms that led to Philadelphia being picked as the host city for 2000 Republican National Convention. It is this dedicated leadership that Ed Rendell has provided for Philadelphia, that has led the city's turn around.

What does Mike Fisher offer in terms of experience and leadership? Six years of being a State Attorney General and twenty-four years as a State Representative. His main success is a large number of drug arrests. Other accomplishments are service to several state legislature committees and writing the state recycling bill.

Solid, but middling experience in a state that needs dramatic and dynamic leadership; he simply does not have the drive or mettle to frankly deserve to be Governor of Pennsylvania. In fact, he reminds me of being the next Herbert Hoover of Pennsylvania: offering too little, too late, to help the cause for Pennsylvania to move out of the drying rust belt and into the information age.

Ed Rendell has many plans for Pennsylvania. I will briefly describe his plan for education. First, he recognizes the over reliance of school via the property tax. The school districts must provide nearly seventy percent of their own funding. The state picks up the rest. This has led to great disparities in school district funding since some areas are much better off than others.

In fact, many poorer districts have had to make some hard choices, therefore cutting important programs due to lack of resources to pay for them. Ed Rendell proposes the state should increase its support of the school systems, by raising cigarette taxes, cutting wasting in government and legalizing gambling in Pennsylvania. These funds will pay for the Rendell education plan.

His plan includes: first, a statewide full day kindergarten second, smaller class sizes for students grade k-3, a state system of public preschools open to all 4-years-olds. His reasoning for this plan is we need to give our students a good start in school, so they have a better chance at becoming productive citizens of the future.

What is spent in education today will save us money down the road in reducing social spending. For each $1 spent on early education today saves the state $2-7 in public spending for special education, welfare and criminal expenses, (Rendell Education Plan.)

Ed Rendell really does see the need revitalize Pennsylvania, something Mike Fischer can't quite grasp. So November 5 vote for Edward G. Rendell for Governor.

He is the only real choice for a better Pennsylvania.

♂ He said

Sean Dooley
Editor in Chief

Just to let you know: I have no idea what time or what day "The Osbournes" is aired. All I know is that if I'm flipping through channels and it's on, I'll watch it. I know that it's on MTV, which I still say is a horrible channel. But the diamond in the rough has to be "The Osbournes."

If the show is ever canceled for something like, oh, I don't know, music, that would be fine by me. But for now, it stands as the only "reality" show that I can tolerate.

I know you can't understand a damn thing Ozzy Osbourne says, but that's what makes it funny. Somehow I doubt that you're missing anything too profound. And yeah, I know that the censors in the show get repetitive, but again, that's what I like about it. I think it would take a lot away from the show if we actually heard Jack and Kelly telling Ozzy and Sharon to "F off."

Speaking of which, I have to doubt the true reality of "The Osbournes," as I do with any reality show. Why? Well, I somehow doubt that there are parents out there who allow their children to talk to them like that.

One thing that goes completely unrecognized about the show is that Ozzy and Sharon, while they supposedly let their kids talk to them in tones no one else would, are not bad parents. Ozzy tells his kids not to take drugs. He tells them to go to school. He warned Kelly about the dangers to her body if a tattoo were to become infected. Then again, they can't control everything their children do. So sometimes Kelly and Jack end up doing things that teenagers shouldn't like drinking or smoking. The difference is that they're being shown on television and most kids are not. From what I recall about some of the people I went to high school with, if all Kelly and Jack are doing is drinking an occasional beer and getting small tattoos, they're more well-behaved than the average teenager.

Of course, Ozzy and Sharon set some bad examples for the kids. Hell, Ozzy was one of the biggest drug addicts in rock back in his heyday and some people would consider him a hypocrite telling his kids not to do the same things he did. But Ozzy changed his ways and is probably doing a lot better than some parents out there. I've never seen him raise a hand to any of his children and he tries his best to let them be themselves.

But that's not what "The Osbournes" is about. It's about entertainment. And it's working. It's working so much that Anna Nicole Smith tried hopping on the bandwagon with her own sorry excuse for reality programming. The ratings are through the roof and it's funny. So what's wrong with the show? Nothing. It's (bleepin') hilarious.

Is "The Osbournes" worthwhile?

Jessica Savrock
Features Editor

As Jay Leno once put it, if you cut all the bleeps out of MTV's reality series, "The Osbournes", the 30-minute show would only be 30 seconds long.

And I totally agree.

Not only is Ozzy Osbourne hard enough to understand as it is (I think all those years of hard-core drugs have finally taken their toll on his speaking abilities, and mixed with his British accent, you can hardly understand a word the guy is saying), but having that mixed in with "bleep" this and "bleep" that, the show gets annoying before the opening credits even roll.

His kids are just plain annoying. They're two preteen spoiled little brats who bitch and moan when they don't get what they want. But the thing is, they CAN get anything they want, and usually they do. No kid in America can have everything they wish. The Osbourne kids live in a beautiful house, and have more money in a week than I will ever have in my lifetime.

They also don't attend school. Jack gets two hours of home schooling

They are also allowed to do whatever they want. Kelly Osbourne is allowed out at all hours of the night, even though she is only 17 years old. Jack is quoted on MTV.com as saying "sometimes we'll (my friends and I) just go out and get wasted. And he's only 16 years old. If I were to publish how wasted I got every weekend, I'm sure the cops would find me and arrest me for underage drinking. But it's OK for him because he's famous.

Jack says he's not really bothered by his curfew, because his curfew is 2:30 a.m., and "there's really nothing to do in L.A. after 2 anyway." But how do they get into these clubs that they claim to go to every weekend? I thought that you had to be at least 18, if not 21, to get into most clubs.

Special privileges for special people, I guess.

It's also pretty sad that the Osbourne's other daughter, Aimee, refused to do the show because she couldn't handle being around the "lunatics" she calls a family.

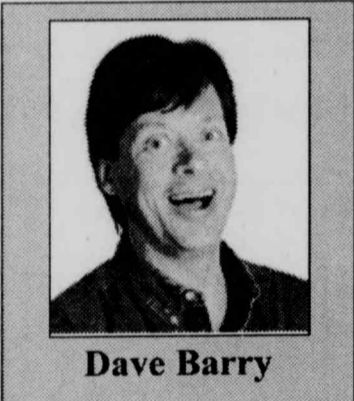

The show is pretty much the same every week. While the concept of the show is good (to let fans get an inside look of the everyday life of a celebrity), they couldn't have picked a worse family to portray. While they're filthy rich and throw their money away right and left, they act pretty much like a below-average family. Ozzy walks around in his underwear. Sharon flashes her kids' friends, and asks them if she looks sexy. Every other word out of every family member's mouth must be bleeped out.

The Osbournes is a waste of time and perfectly good TV airtime. The show is a bleeping pain in my bleep.

♀ She said

Stating your case for the stupidest state

Dave Barry
Knight Ridder Newspapers

Dave Barry

An outfit calling itself "Morgan Quitno Press" recently ranked the 50 United States in order of intelligence, and I am TICKED OFF. My state, Florida, came in 47th. Can you believe that? Forty-seventh! How dare they? How dare they suggest that Florida is more intelligent than three other states? No way!

The three states ranked as stupider than Florida were Mississippi, Louisiana, and New Mexico. Granted, these are not gifted states. But stupider than Florida? Stupider than the state that STILL does not really know who it voted for in the 2000 presidential election? Stupider than the state that will issue a driver's license to ANYBODY, including people who steer by leaning out the car window and tapping their canes on the roadway? Don't make me laugh.

So I did a little research into this "Morgan Quitno Press," which as you may know can be rearranged to spell "Squirts on a Porn Gem." It seems that this outfit has made a reputation for itself by ranking states according to Livability, Safety, Average Butt Size, etc.

Some of the rankings are shaky, if you ask me. For example, for six years in a row, "Morgan Quitno Press" declared that the Most Livable State is Minnesota. My question is: Most livable for what species? Caribou? Has "Morgan Quitno Press" ever actually BEEN in Minnesota during the winter months (September-June) when you begin your day by putting in 30 minutes with an ice scraper? And that's just to clear your bathroom mirror?

"Morgan Quitno Press" declared that the Safest State _ also for six years in a row _ was North Dakota. This makes more sense. You're not going to have a lot of crime in an area with essentially the same population density as Jupiter. Even if you TRY to commit a robbery in North Dakota, the victim will be so happy to have human companionship that he or she will invite you home for traditional North Dakota cuisine (Pork 'n' Marshmallow Jell-O Casserole Surprise).

But "Morgan Quitno Press" is way off base with its state intelligence rankings. The problem is that the ranking system is based on each state's public-education system _ class size, test scores, etc. This does NOT determine state intelligence. It only determines STUDENT intelligence, and there are certain states (you know who you are) where the first thing that the intelligent students say when they graduate is: "I'm getting OUT of this armpit!"

No, to scientifically determine which states truly belong at the top _ and, more important, the bottom _ of the national intelligence scale, we need to consider the Five Key Indicators of State Stupidity:

1. STATE NICKNAME: For nickname stupidity, no state challenges Indiana, which proudly calls itself "The Hoosier State," even though nobody has a clue what "Hoosier" means. It could be a Native American word meaning "Has sex with caribou."

2. STATE MOTTO: The winner here is Washington, whose motto is _ get ready to be inspired _ "By and by."

3. STATE SONG: The state song of Idaho is "Here We Have Idaho."

4. OFFICIAL STATE THINGS: Here the competition gets tougher. Alabama, Missouri and Oregon have all declared an Official State Nut. Massachusetts and New Mexico both have an Official State Cookie. Utah has an Official State Cooking Pot. Texas has an Official State Flying Mammal (the Mexican Freetailed Bat). But the winner in this category is a five-way tie among Maine, Michigan, Nebraska, South Dakota, and Wisconsin, all of which have taken time out of their busy schedules, to declare an Official State Soil.

5. PRESENCE IN THE STATE OF AN ENORMOUS TWINE BALL _ This indicator applies to states where a resident, seeking to set a world's record for largest ball of twine, spent literally years of his life wrapping twine into an enormous ball that wound up weighing more than eight tons; and THEN, when the individual died, the community, instead of quietly transporting the ball to a landfill and leaving it there, not only built a public gazebo to display the ball as a tourist attraction, but also created an annual festival to celebrate it. According to the Internet site <http://www.roadsideamerica.com/>

there are _ believe it or not _ TWO such states: Minnesota, where the residents of Darwin celebrate "Twine Ball Days"; and Kansas, where the residents of Cawker City hold a "Twine-a-Thon."

So which state, when we weigh all these factors, is the stupidest? This question has no easy answer. No, wait, it does: Kansas. I say this not so much because of the twine ball, but because Lawrence, Kansas, is the home of "Morgan Quitno Press." Consequently it gets a LOT of votes. At least the way we count them here in Florida.

Party Town Creations
 115 E. Main Street
 Lock Haven, Pa 17745
 570-893-1456

Party Town Creations is not just a party store, it is now also a coffee shop with flavored coffee and cappuccino.
 Baked goods from Moyer's Country

Party Town Creations also has Adult Costume Rentals starting at only $20.00 and up.

Don't forget to get your party supplies and Halloween decorations for the spooky party.

Party Town also has Hand Crafted Sterling Silver Jewelry

Come Join Us!

New Contemporary Service
Victory Feast
 Sundays at 11:15 a.m.
 Starting on Oct. 20th

United Lutheran Church
 First & Church Sts.
 Lock Haven

Everyone Very Welcome!

Do you have issues?!
 Write us a letter.

All letters are due no later than 3 p.m. Tuesday. Send them to lhueagle@hotmail.com or bring them to The Eagle Eye office in the PUB. Must include name and telephone number.

Fraternities ~ Sororities Clubs ~ Student Groups

Earn $1,000-$2,000 this semester with a proven CampusFundraiser 3 hour fundraising event. Our Programs make fundraising easy with no risks. Fundraising dates are filing quickly, so get with the program! It works.

Contact CampusFundraiser at (888)-923-3238, or visit www.campusfundraiser.com

EAGLE EYE arts and entertainment

Features

Let Us Now Praise Fallen Stones

MUSIC REVIEW

"Forty Licks," by The Rolling Stones

★ ★

Two stars (out of four)

Edward Savoy
The Eagle Eye

On their newest compendium, "Forty Licks," The Rolling Stones exemplify the adage that anything worth doing is worth doing half wrong.

Of course, half wrong does assume that somewhere, sometime, there is a half right lurking and waiting to spring and the Stones succeed valiantly at the half right portion. It's just that they succeed stupendously at the half wrong portion as well.

No sane person can complain about the first disc of "Forty Licks." All of the songs that should be there are there. From "Gimme Shelter" to "Sympathy for the Devil" to "Jumping Jack Flash" to "Satisfaction" to etc., every single one of the nastiest, dirtiest rock riffs ever conceived by the mind of man are present. In the first disc, you have your very own soundtrack for your party to end the world by.

On half of the second disc, the situation is much the same with songs like "Brown Sugar," "Shattered," "Tumbling Dice," and "Start Me Up" blasting out of your stereo, making your inner eardrum rock and do other things that you never dreamed it could do.

However, after listening to the other half of the second disc, your inner eardrum that had been rocking will either rebel or cry in pity and shame.

With all the songs that are missing from this collection ("Let It Bleed," "Time is On My Side," "She's So Cold," "Heartbreaker," "Waiting on a Friend," to name a few) the songs that did make it in there place ("Fool to Cry," "Anybody Seen My Baby," "Love is Strong") is positively disgusting. And the less said about the four new, barely competent songs on the album, the better. Let's just say that the only slightly bearable song of the new songs is sung by Keith Richards who only barely approaches the vocal styling of Bob Dylan, forget about those of Mick Jagger.

The Rolling Stones that I am familiar with have, for the past forty years and on the first disc of "Forty Licks," produced the snidest, wildest, grimmest songs that have ever exited the strictures of the stereo or the headphones.

The Rolling Stones that I heard on the second half of "Forty Licks" sounded like either cut-rate versions of the Bee Gees, the Backstreet Boys trying to play the blues, or AC/DC after they had their hearts cut out.

If you can deal with a generous dose of curdled milk to go with your cream, get "Forty Licks." Otherwise, listen to the radio and hope that they play the real Rolling Stones.

Mystery Masquerade

Murder mystery to be held weekend before Halloween

Tim Pratt
Staff Reporter

The multi-millionaire Edwin M. Cartwright cordially invites the students of Lock Haven University to his Halloween masquerade in Rogers gymnasium on the 26th of October for music, mystery, murder, mayhem, and more.

A wealthy socialite, Mr. Cartwright has been involved in a shady scandal for the past year and urges guests to arrive dressed in costume and prepared for a night of music, dancing, and refreshments.

Last year at this same party, a murder took place that remains unsolved to this day. With this in mind, visitors are asked to come prepared to solve this mystery while receiving clues and hints and attempting to win a special prize for their efforts.

With proceeds benefiting the Clinton County United Way, Protestant Campus Ministries is giving the students of Lock Haven a chance to have an exciting, fun-filled evening while contributing to the greater good of the community.

Rogers Gymnasium will be transformed into the home of Edwin M. Cartwright from 9:30pm- 1:30am on Saturday, October 26th. Tickets will be on sale Monday October 21st and Friday October 25th in Bentley for $3.00, a small price to pay for an event designed by Bill Donges, Student Opportunities Coordinator for PCM and accomplished producer of several mainstage productions and plays.

Chuck Yorks of Protestant Campus Ministries explains, "Even if you don't like dancing, you can still walk out of there with a 13-inch TV/ VCR compliments of Sears of Lock Haven." The first person to guess the murderer and suspect correctly wins the TV and bragging rights as well.

This promises to be an exciting event for a good cause. Even if you aren't intrigued by the murder/ mystery portion of the night, there will still be crazy costumes and dancing to keep the party going.

I will definitely be at this masquerade, and the only question is, how many more will die before the mystery is solved?

For a chance to win tickets to the event, play the Halloween Trivia Quiz below.

Halloween Trivia Quiz

The winner of this Halloween quiz will win two tickets to the Mystery Masquerade on October 26, sponsored by Protestant Campus Ministries. See above article for more information about the event.

- Which 2 buildings on campus are said to be haunted?

- What was the name of the killer in the "Halloween" movies?

- What Christian holy day is celebrated the day after Halloween?

- You have bad luck if what crosses your path?

- What is Halloween called in Mexico?

- The custom of carving Jack-O-Lanterns came from the folklore of the Irish carving what vegetable?

Name: _____

Phone number: _____

Please drop off your entries outside the Eagle Eye office in the lower level of the PUB by 4 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 22. In the event of a tie, winners will be chosen at random.

Stumbling is not the same as falling.

-Portuguese Proverb

Names in the News

BORED RICH

Rosie O'Donnell doesn't want you to think she is ungrateful for all that her defunct talk show has given her. But she had to give it up because she was just so bored. Appearing on "The Isaac Mizrahi Show" in her new short do, the sheared one said she left her talk show because "the thrill of doing it was gone." She could have stayed for the money but, she said, "You know what, Isaac? I've got enough money."

Oh, that we could all say that.

ZOWIE!

Actor Nicholas Cage has sold his comic-book collection for more than $1.6 million. The 400 items included Action Comics No. 1, the 1938 comic that featured the first appearance of Superman and sold for - holy cow! - $86,250.

In other auction news, the estate of late advice columnist Ann Landers will go on the block Nov. 24 on the Internet at www.butterfields.com. Among the items up for bid: letters to her from ex-Presidents Carter and Ronald Reagan.

ACTING DEBUT

She slams, she drives, she acts! Tennis star Serena Williams will make her TV acting debut Oct. 30 as a guest star on ABC's "My Wife and Kids." Williams will play a kindergarten

Wise Chiropractic and Rehabilitation Center

748-7462

Serving the Community for Over 40 Years

5 West Main Street
Lock Haven
(Across from Subway)

Take the Fast Track to Physical Therapy

Eileen Lyons '99
Physical Therapist
Springfield Hospital

You could be a full year closer to a Doctor of Physical Therapy (DPT) degree than you think. With Widener University's three-plus-three physical therapy program, you can start doctoral study upon completion of your junior year.

For more information, call 610-499-4272

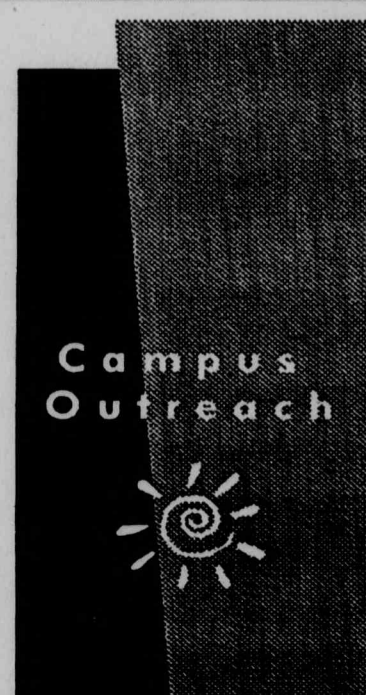

Sophomores and juniors are encouraged to participate in Widener's "Student for a Day" program.

Institute for Physical Therapy Education
WIDENER UNIVERSITY
School of Human Service Professions
One University Place, Chester, PA 19013
1-888-WIDENER • www.widener.edu PTCN910

Does your club or organization have an event going on?

Want it covered in the Eagle Eye?

If so, call our office at x2334, or email us at lhueagleye@hotmail.com

Career Services Campus Outreach

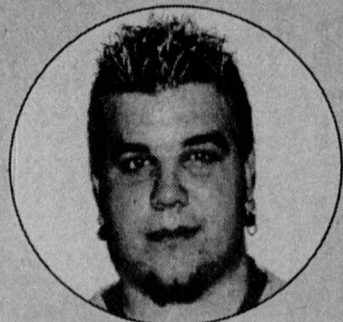

October 24, 2002
Bentley Lobby: 11:00-1:00
Ivy Lane: 1:00-4:00

Visit our tables & register to win door prizes.

GRAND PRIZE OF $50.00!!!

Just For Fun

Say What? What do you do to relieve stress?

Chris Miller, Freshman
 "When I need to relieve my frustration from school, I sit down to play music like guitar and drums."

Leslie Smith, Junior
 "I exercise to relieve stress. I like to do outdoor activities like hiking."

Jamie Hoy, Sophomore
 "I sit down and relax. I wonder and people watch. I also meditate, even in class."

Amanda Nedzinski, Junior
 "I like to take long walks to clear my mind. Talking to friends also helps."

Media Madness

FIRST, MAKE SURE THE COAST IS CLEAR

An undercover policeman in Chicago was sitting in the back of an unmarked minivan conducting surveillance on a commuter rail parking lot where many cars had been broken into.

To his astonishment, two men walked up and broke into his vehicle. As soon as they opened the van's sliding door, the cop, gun in hand, jumped out and arrested them.

The police chief told reporters, "They were really surprised to see each other."

OH MEIN LIEBCHEN, VAS IS DAS?!

A baby fell out a first-floor apartment window in Korschbroich, Germany, but was uninjured because he landed on his rear end and his diaper which was badly in need of changing acted as an airbag and absorbed the shock.

It did, however, burst on impact.

IS HE HERE? NO, BUT WE'LL GET HIM

A man robbed a woman at gunpoint in Orem, Utah, and accidentally left his cell phone at the scene of the crime. He was inadvertently identified by his girlfriend who called and asked for him by name when the cops answered the phone.

"A life of crime is pretty tough," one policeman said. "It's even tougher when you're stupid."

YOUR PUBLIC SERVANTS AT WORK

The Rotary Club in the remote mining town of Kalgoorlie, Australia, held a charity auction in which the prize was the services of a member of parliament for a day. The winning bid of $540 was made by the madam of Langtree's brothel.

She had him clean the premises while wearing a frilly apron.

OH YEAH, I REMEMBER NOW

A judge with a severe drinking problem reported his Mercedes stolen in Pittsburgh, but the police discovered that he had been so drunk that he had actually given the $60,000 car to a parking lot attendant who had admired it.

THANKS FOR THE LIFT, I ... OH, RATS!

A man being held on weapons charges escaped from the police station in Belo Horizonte, Brazil, and later flagged down the first bus he saw.

It was full of policemen who were hunting him down.

DON'T WORRY, IT'S NOT LOADED, KA-BANG!

A scrap metal worker in the Ukrainian city of Berdychiv was cutting up a 1940s howitzer with his blowtorch, when the heat set off the shell he was unaware was lodged inside.

The shell flew about 800 yards and destroyed two roofs.

FASHION POLICE! FREEZE!

A man walking along a highway in Ludington, Mich., was wearing clothes so outlandishly conspicuous — a blue shirt and blue pants with orange stripes down the side that passing police thought that he was an escaped prisoner.

They held him until they determined that he was merely a bad dresser.

MENDOZA, HERE; MARTINEZ, HERE

Police officers in Peru, who are paid less than $200 per month, boosted their income by regularly cashing the paychecks of 415 of their dead comrades.

Senior commanders facilitated the scam by failing to report deaths of policemen to the bookkeeping department.

(Mike Pingree is a columnist for the Boston Herald. Read a second "Looking Glass" column on the Internet at www.pingreeslooking-glass.com.)

This week's horoscopes

Oct. 21, 2002-Oct. 27, 2002

Aries (March 21-April 20). Old memories and decisions may captivate your attention. Before next week, outdated romantic ideals may trigger open discussions with loved ones. At present, yesterday's social needs and values will strongly influence the outlook of others. Expect friends and lovers to be socially nostalgic and regretful. Remain patient. By early next week, key relationships will progress. Wait for improved attitudes and an obvious change of outlook.

Taurus (April 21-May 20). Late Monday, an old friend or lover may reappear and ask for emotional guidance. Key issues may involve lost self-esteem, career expectations or social identity. For the most part, inner reflection will not directly affect your life. However, emotions will be high. Expect past friends to be mildly critical or melodramatic. Don't be drawn in. Over the next eight days, your energy is best used for business improvement and short-term social planning.

Gemini (May 21-June 21). Business and social wisdom are high. After Tuesday, watch for sudden insights into power dynamics or the private motivations of loved ones. Many Geminis will begin a fresh wave of business ambition, financial planning and social renewal. Although security is increasing in many areas, emotions are still high. Expect friends and work mates to present scattered ideas and unrealistic plans. Remain dedicated to new beginnings and all will be well.

Cancer (June 22-July 22). This week, your romantic insight is strong. Watch for newly arriving intuitions concerning the motives or long-term feelings of loved ones. Recently begun relationships will be quickly decided. Expect subtle signs or gestures from new romantic partners. Over the next eight days, long-term relationships will deepen. Trust your instincts and react accordingly. After Friday, rest and gain perspective. A demanding and emotional week. Stay alert and respond honestly.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22). Romantic and business ideals will merge. Long-term commitments in love relationships and workplace partnerships may be quickly decided. Over the next eight days, expect private and public information to be openly discussed. Work plans, home arrangements or romantic goals may all be on the agenda. Early Saturday, listen to the ideas or criticisms of a close friend. A fresh perspective is valuable and will soon lead to improved social understanding.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Late Monday, minor discussions with romantic partners may quickly become emotional. Over the next few days, expect loved ones to explain recent social changes or defend the behavior of a friend. Don't challenge delicate emotions. At present, others will state strong opinions and rely heavily on fractured social information. After midweek, rest and gather new business information. Income potential and daily duties will soon expand. Watch for fresh openings.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Workplace triangles or business power struggles may intensify. Early Tuesday, an eight-day period of increased passion arrives. Expect career and romantic relationships to deepen. Some Librans, especially those born late in September, may also encounter an emotional stand-off with a close relative. If so, ignore past information and opt to follow your own rules.

Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Key romantic decisions may soon be necessary. Early this week watch for loved ones or close friends to request meaningful changes to intimate relationships. Some of this may be subtle. Over the next eight days, be prepared for loved ones to express strong emotions but find it difficult to communicate their needs. Be supportive but assume nothing. Friends and loved ones need to confidently arrive at their own conclusions. Stay balanced.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Cozy romantic feelings and social comfort are returning to key relationships. Over the next few days, expect recently distant or self-absorbed loved ones to steadily change their outlook. Many Sagittarians will decide to make their deeper feelings known to loved ones. This is a positive time for shared intimacy and renewed social commitments. Don't hold back. After Thursday, avoid new financial debts or excess spending. Resources may be low.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 20). Social messages and subtle gestures from loved ones will be difficult to ignore. Beginning Tuesday, and lasting over the next eight days, long-term friends and lovers will steadily reveal their innermost thoughts, goals and aspirations. Life decisions and romantic planning are involved. Expect obvious statements of intention. Early Thursday, a business proposal or revised educational project will need extra planning. Schedule more time for study and evaluation.

Aquarius (Jan. 21-Feb. 19). This week, a new friend or work mate may reveal unusual behavior or social values. Key areas may involve home arrangements, family relations or romantic ideals. All is well, so not to worry. Do, however, make your own feelings known. This is not a good time to remain hidden with your opinions or needs. Late Tuesday, also marks the start of eight days of social and romantic growth. In the coming weeks, expect key relationships to steadily expand and improve.

Pisces (Feb. 20-March 20). Monday through Wednesday, watch for a friend or lover to present unusual ideas or social proposals. Over the next few days, restless feelings may emerge in key relationships. Pay attention to subtle comments or moods. Some Pisceans will begin an eight-day period of deep romantic wisdom and social change. If so, expect unproductive relationships to soon become obvious. Emotional consequences may be high. Remain honest and stay strong.

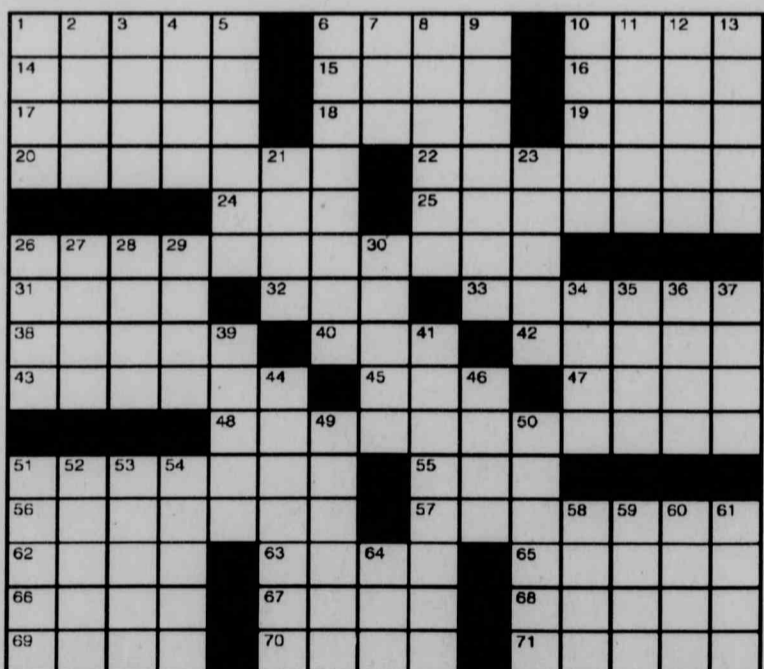

If your birthday is this week ... Long-term romantic commitments may soon experience a brief but intense period of decision. Areas most strongly affected are family traditions, home planning and public celebrations. Over the next 14 weeks, expect key relationships to either become more firmly established or begin to fade. Stay focused and ask probing questions. After mid-February, watch also for a sudden series of job promotions or new workplace assignments to arrive. In the coming months, public reputation and group presentations may be ongoing themes.

Distributed by Knight Ridder/Tribune Information Services.

Crossword

ACROSS

- 1 Former Turkish title
- 6 Sidling crustacean
- 10 Male swine
- 14 Hearth debris
- 15 Kind of model
- 16 Car shaft
- 17 Baby bird?
- 18 Holler
- 19 Cover with a layer of gold
- 20 Forewarnings
- 22 Eventually
- 24 Not in the running
- 25 Visual spell
- 26 Director of church singers
- 31 Shopping reminder
- 32 Wapiti
- 33 Keep under restraint
- 38 Impertinent observer
- 40 Tree fluid
- 42 Metaphysical poet
- 43 Biblical doubter
- 45 Bar bill
- 47 Director
- 48 Preminger
- 49 ___ of duty
- 51 Anne Rice character
- 55 Links standard
- 56 Floors
- 57 Germfree
- 62 ___ Royale, MI
- 63 Desensitized
- 65 Island off Venezuela
- 66 Styling products
- 67 Zatopek or Jannings
- 68 Nonviolent protest
- 69 Thumbs-down votes
- 70 Count (on)
- 71 Ooze out

© 2002 Tribune Media Services, Inc. All rights reserved.

10/18/02

Solutions

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14					15				16
17					18				19
20					21			22	23
24								25
26	27	28	29					30
31					32			33	34	35	36	37
38				39	40		41	42
43					44		45	46	47
				48		49			50
51	52	53	54					55
56								57		58	59	60
61								62
								63		64
								65
								66
								67
								68
								69
								70 71

DOWN

- 1 Time gone by
- 2 Spumante
- 3 Compare prices
- 4 Submarine

- 5 sandwich
- 6 Request
- 7 Glass objects
- 8 Caviar
- 9 Prepared
- 10 Toni Morrison novel
- 11 Roll with a hole
- 12 Binary compound
- 13 Assuage
- 14 Tint again
- 15 Seethe
- 16 Bugged down
- 17 Coagulate
- 18 Lofty
- 19 Norwegian capital
- 20 Gossip tidbit
- 21 Ray
- 22 Tugboat sound
- 23 Not for
- 24 Hooked on
- 25 Las Vegas light
- 26 Wheel spokes
- 27 Tangibly
- 28 More tranquil
- 29 Prejudice
- 30 Work experience

- 31 summary
- 32 Make pleats
- 33 Churchill's gesture
- 34 Confused
- 35 Unsinkable Mrs. Brown
- 36 Squeeze
- 37 fixe (table d'hote)
- 38 Ballet skirt
- 39 Footnote ditto
- 40 Sugar source
- 41 Wire measure

Did you know? fun facts

- There are more than 600 million telephone lines today, yet almost half the world's population has never made a phone call.
- The people killed most often during bank robberies are the robbers.
- Alexander Graham Bell never phoned his wife or mother because they were deaf.
- Leonardo da Vinci could write with the one hand and draw with the other simultaneously.
- Until he was 18, Woody Allen read virtually nothing but comic books but did show his writing skills. He sold one-liners for ten cents each to gossip columnists.
- Burt Reynold's father was the chief of police in West Palm Beach, Florida.

For more interesting facts and fun info visit www.didyounow.cd created by the Knight James Group. Ltd

classifieds

Classifieds

Great deals on:
 New/Used CD's,
 New/Used Books,
 Movies/DVD's.
 New/Used Games for :
 Nintendo, N64, XBOX,
 Game Boy, PS2,
 Gamecube, Dreamcast,
 Coffeshop, Burnstation
 and more.

Greatest Hits Music
 101 E. Main Street
 748-7388

#1 Spring Break
 Vacations Cancun,
 Jamacia, Acapulco,
 Bahamas, Mazatlan,
 Florida, St. Padre. 110%
 Best Prices! Book now and get free parties and meals. Group discounts.
 Now hiring campus reps.
 1-800-234-7007

www.endlesssummertours.com

USA SPRING BREAK
 PRESENTS
 SPRING BREAK 2003
 CAMPUS REPS WANTED
 Earn 2 free trips for 15 people
 Cancun, Bahamas, Mazatlan, Jamacia, Acapulco, South
 Padre and Florida.
 Florida and Philadelphia Based Corporate Office
Call Toll Free
 1-877-460-6077
 Ext. 14 Ask for Craig
 www.usaspringbreak.com

SELL SPRING BREAK TRIPS
ALL THE FUN & ALL THE PROTECTIONS AMERI-CAN EXPRESS WORLD-WIDE GUARANTEED BEST BUY
 1 FREE TRIP FOR EVERY 10 PAID OR CASH START-ING WITH FIRST BOOK-
 ING YOU SELL WE COL-LECT PAYMENTS WORLD
 CLASS VACATIONS
 1-800-222-4432

Personals

Abby-
 Hope you feel better!
 Love,
 Brooke K.

George-
 Congratulations! I have pictures for you.
 Brooke K.

Don't make me find a roommate off the street
 Lisa!!! You WILL live with me next year!
 Luv,
 Marcie

Eat at Darlllaas!!!
 I'm talkin lights, camera, action....Players trip this week girls!!
 Love,
 Jen

I think I need another mall trip Casey!
 Kate

George Sigle-Congratulations on receiving homecoming
 king! Brooke K

HOMECOMING COURT
 (Anita, Angela, Brooke
 W, Kristi, Jay Kline, Jay
 Willis, Marc, Schumam, George) I had a lot of fun with you guys last week.
 We all better still hang out. You guys promised!!!
 Love, Brooke K

Tonya, Katie, Abby, Nikki, Meghan, Tiffany-
 You girls are the best thanks for all your support!
 Love, Brooke

HAC-
 Thank you again for everything we had so much fun! Love, The Homecoming Court

Tulip-Hugs and Kisses!
 Love,
 Pumpkin

KDR Pledges-
 Hang in there you guy's are doing great!

Marc Raymon-
 Since you're a sweet guy what color hat do you want? Brooke

Good luck LHU Football!

That SIMS game has just got to go!! My Floor is obsessed!
GET A LIFE!
 -Fletcher

I love my boss Dooley!!
 yum, yum.
 Your secret lover

52 S. Firth St.- Get the party started!!
 muwah,
 Tina

Tracey, Jeff, Rob and Sue-
 Thanks for coming home to D town this weekend.
 You guys are the best friend a girl could ever ask for Love,
 Stephanie

Walter is my hero!
 Love,
 Stephanie

What is your hair color this week Melissa?? You are one crazy girl!
 Beth

LHU Field Hockey!!
 Ranked Number 2!!!
 Nobody can stop us!!

Jennie Fisk is a wonderful choice!

Luv,
Sam

Can't wait for our Halloween Party! You know what I will be dressed as. Carrie- you better be there too, or I will have to regulate!
 Love,
 Miller

Give me a 1, 2, 3, and your out!! Sandlot baseball is on, and the Tigers are going to win.
 See you on Sunday.
 Mark and Ray

Mike-
 You really did play ball in high school?? I don't think soo.
 Ray

It's party central up in hurr!!!
 The Fourth North Crew

Laura-
 No more kicking walls!!
 Try not to loose your ID anymore. Just lookin out for ya girlie.
 Luv,
 your roomie

Hope you had a wonderful 20th Birthday
 Zach.....you nice thing!!
 Luv,
 you know who

Sean is 21....Sus will stay sober for ya!

Friends night again in my room-Stacy

Let's go possum punting again!!!
 Signed,
 Icabod

I am glad we made it through our psych project.
 I thought we were all going to die. Good job,
 Scott, Paul, Josh,
 Amanda, and Sean
 Love,
 Jess

Amanda-
 Joe-Joe wants us to come visit him next week.
 Remember to watch the road next time if we go.
 Love,
 Jess

Happy Anniversary Dan!
 You are the best!
 Love,
 Rachel

I saw the sign, and it opened up my eyes I saw the sign.
 Thats for you Amanda!!
 Love,
 Jess

Good Luck Stephanie and Walter next semester at MU.
 Love,
 Jennie

I know you are watching me Steve. Leave me alone!
 Paul

Open Late!
Sunday-Thursday
 10 am-2 am
Friday & Saturday
 10 am-3 am

308 High St.
 Lock Haven

(570) 893-1772

with Student ID, order any large one topping pizza and add breadsticks or cheesesticks for $1.99 more

LATE NIGHT SPECIAL
1 Large One Topping Pizza
$6.99
 Carry out or delivery - 9 pm-close

Not valid with any other offer. Valid only at participating locations. Customer pays all applicable sales tax. Additional toppings extra.

1 Large One Topping Pizza
$8.99
 Only

Not valid with any other offer. Valid only at participating locations. Customer pays all applicable sales tax. Additional toppings extra.

2 Large One Topping Pizzas
$14.99
 Only

Not valid with any other offer. Valid only at participating locations. Customer pays all applicable sales tax. Additional toppings extra.

Carry-Out Special

1 Large One Topping Pizza Only $7.99

Not valid with any other offer. Valid only at participating locations. Customer pays all applicable sales tax. Additional toppings extra.

1 Large One Topping Pizza Plus Order of Cheesesticks & Breadsticks
$15.99
 Only

Not valid with any other offer. Valid only at participating locations. Customer pays all applicable sales tax. Additional toppings extra.

1 X-Large One Topping Pizza
$9.99
 Only

Not valid with any other offer. Valid only at participating locations. Customer pays all applicable sales tax. Additional toppings extra.

We Now Have Chickenstrips with honey mustard, barbeque, or buffalo sauces

LHU Bookstore

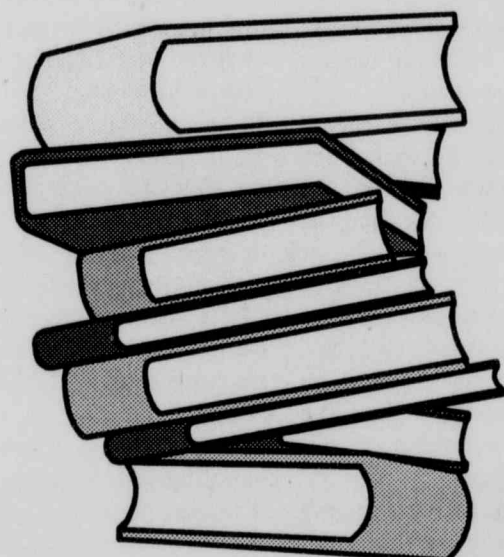

Saturday, October 19th
Campus Visitation and Family Day

Bookstore will be open from 10:00 am - 4:30 pm

Bring your family into the Bookstore to register for prizes!

Friday, October 25th

Russell Day:
Buy a Russell Jacket or Russell Sweatshirt and receive a free
Russell Tee shirt

New York Times,
USA Today
and Lock Haven Express are available in the bookstore

Hallmark and Re-cycled
Greeting Cards available in the bookstore

BOOK BUY BACKS

Thursday, October 31st
9:00 - 3:00

Calling Cards are also available in the bookstore

LHUeagleye.com

Online polls

What would you like to do?

Daily horoscopes

Hot or not college edition rate a pic

Movie listings

FREE

- ◆ registration
- ◆ newsletter
- ◆ contests for Eagle Eye online readers only

GradZone

Your Guide to Graduation and Beyond.

are you a broke scholar?

- visit our - scholarships channel

600,000 scholarships

Football prepares to sink Shipp

LOCK HAVEN - The Bald Eagle gridders (3-3, 0-1 PSAC West) host PSAC Western Division rival Shippensburg University (4-2, 2-0 PSAC West) on Saturday, October 19, in a game under the lights at Hubert Jack Stadium. Kickoff is slated for 7 p.m.

The game can be heard locally on WBPZ-1230 AM and online at <http://www.redzonemedia.com>. THE SERIES This year's match-up is the 60th between Lock Haven and Shippensburg, the Red Raiders holding a 39-17-2 advantage since the first game between the programs in 1926.

Shippensburg has won the past seven games and the last three in Hubert Jack Stadium including last year's 31-10 victory.

The last time the Bald Eagles defeated Shippensburg was 1994, when LHU rallied for the 35-21 win in Jack Stadium.

Shippensburg University defeated Lock Haven, 31-10, in conference action under the lights at Hubert Jack Stadium in the fifth week of the 2001 season.

Shippensburg utilized a balanced offensive attack and two rushing touchdowns from Matt Phillips to help garner Head Coach Rocky Rees his 100th collegiate coaching victory.

Shippensburg scored on its first two possessions of the ball game to earn the 14-point advantage.

Halfback Dave Brown shook free of the LHU defense to cap off a 5-play, 74 yard drive on the first SU possession.

Fullback Matt Phillips crossed into the endzone on a one-yard scamper for the second.

Lock Haven's Jonathan Miller hit a 28-yard field goal at the open of the second quarter to put the Bald Eagles on the board, 14-3.

Shippensburg answered with a kick of their own before the intermission, moving the Raiders' edge back up to 14, 17-3.

The Bald Eagles climbed closer after the third period, cutting the Shippensburg lead to 17-10 with a 42-yard drive culminating in a 27-yard touchdown in the air from Johnathan Stahl to John Caldwell.

The Red Raiders would push ahead the fourth quarter, however, silencing LHU comeback hopes with two touchdowns, one on a return for touchdown following a blocked field goal and the other on Phillips' second score of the game.

The Bald Eagle offense will be looking to bounce back from a drab performance of 92 total yards versus California (Pa.) last weekend.

Lock Haven netted 51 yards via the pass while utilizing two quarterbacks, Rob Kristiniak and Bill Witmer.

Witmer earned the start last weekend, building his year-to-date totals to 127 yards on 12-for-37 passing with one touchdown.

Kristiniak is penciled in as

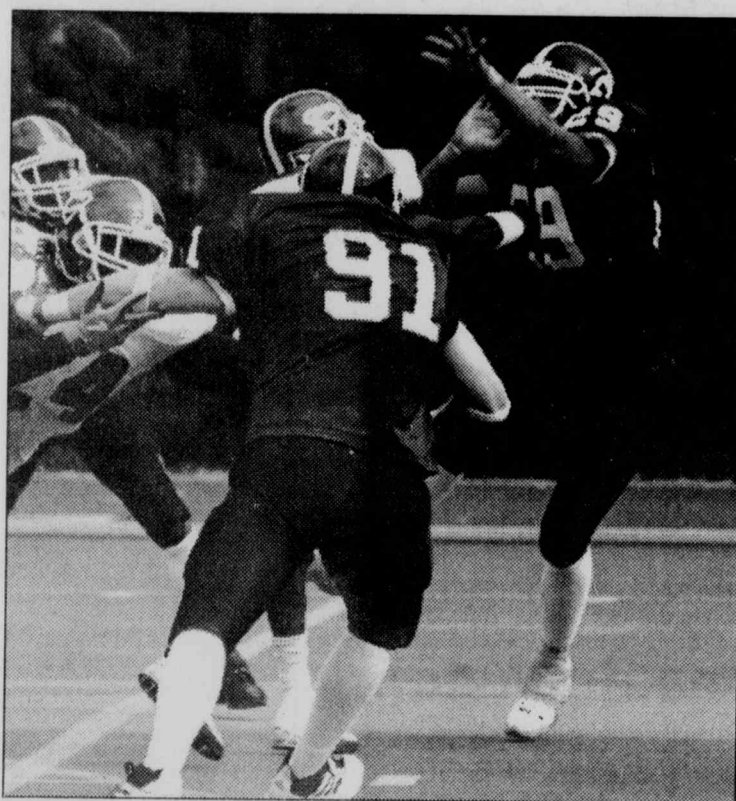

Photo courtesy of Sports Information
LHU defenders Justin Shaffer (91) and Nathan Eck (29) break up a pass play earlier this year.

this Saturday's starter and currently totals 89 yards on seven completions with three touchdowns.

On the receiving end, Marcus Burkley continues to lead Haven receivers with 287 yards and three scores on 16 catches.

Scott Anderson has yet to snag a pass in the endzone, but has accumulated 73 yards on eight receptions including two for 22 yards against California last Saturday.

Starting tight end Ryan Lightner is also a key player in the passing game with 99 yards off of seven catches with one touchdown.

The LHU quarterbacks have also had two more consistent receiving options in rotation in John Caldwell (11.7 ypg/1 TD) and Adam Angelici (8.0 ypg/2 TDs).

The trio of Maurice Walker, Melvin Kirby and Justin Marshall accounts for 97-percent of The Haven's ground yardage.

Walker had six carries for 24 yards and a touchdown against the Vulcans, and leads LHU with 43.0 yards per game along with three touchdowns.

Kirby is right behind Walker with 35.3 yards per contest, while Marshall averages 16.8 yards each game with one touchdown. LHU has also utilized fullbacks Dave Mottin and Josh Stadulis when needed.

Down in the trenches are freshman center Jason Scott, junior guard Bill Cook, sophomore guard Kris Kishbaugh, sophomore tackle Vinnie Kishbaugh and junior tackle Keith Boyer.

The Haven defense was working overtime last Saturday, but still managed some big plays to help keep the Bald Eagles in the game including a fumble recovery and run-back for touchdown along with an interception and return for score.

A pair of linebackers top the Haven's statistical column, Derrik Metz and Charles Cannon.

Metz is second in the conference in total tackles, checking in with 66 total tackles including 43 solo stops.

He also leads The Haven with three sacks and three interceptions along with 7.5 tackles behind the line of scrimmage.

Cannon has 47 tackles along with 3.5 tackles for loss. Jon Nalewak is the third linebacker slated for the start on Saturday, entering into the game with 34 tackles including five for loss.

Nalewak posted his second fumble recovery of the year against California, this time running it back 45 yards for the touchdown.

Cornerback Ngoyi Mukusa (36 TT) snared his first career interception then ran it back 35 yards for the touchdown versus the Vulcans.

Fellow cornerback Rob Carey is third on the squad with 38 tackles including three for loss.

Lock Haven will go with two young players at free and strong safety, scheduling true-freshman Winston Alspaugh (7 TT) and red-shirt frosh John Scullin (17 TT, 1 INT) for the start this weekend.

Defensive end Nathan Eck has been a strong link in the LHU defense, posting 12 tackles against California including two for loss, while also forcing the fumble that led directly to one of the Bald Eagles' touchdowns.

Eck has 24 total stops and leads the team with nine behind the line of scrimmage.

The rest of the defensive line is manned by end Dustin Shaffer (10 TT) and tackles Jarrod Hendricks (18 TT, 1.5 TFL) and Jason Kasheta (6 TT, 1.5 TFL).

Rob Carey is second in the conference in punt return average, covering 19.9 yards per return on 11 attempts.

He also remains one of the conference's top kick returners, covering 22.7 yards per return.

Greg Knauss is capable of handling all kicking duties including punting. Knauss was 1-for-2 on extra point attempts last week and is 7-for-8 on the season. He has also connected on 3-of-4 field goal attempts with a long of 37 yards.

Clarke wins PSAC Player of the Week

LOCK HAVEN - Junior midfielder Naomi Clarke of the women's soccer team was selected as the PSAC Player of the Week for games from October 7-14.

Clarke assisted on both game-winning goals last week as the Lady Eagles defeated Shippensburg University, 1-0, and East Stroudsburg University, 2-0.

She played a role in every goal scored by LHU over the two-game stretch, assisting on the lone goal in the Shippensburg game while posting both a goal and assist against East Stroudsburg.

Clarke is currently Lock Haven's second-leading scorer with nine goals and added five assists for 23 points.

A two-time All-American midfielder, this is her first conference Player of the Week selection this season.

The Bald Eagle soccer team (12-1-1, 8-0-0 PSAC) is ranked eighth in the nation and will next host Adelphi University on Saturday, Oct. 19, on McCollum Field at 2 p.m.

Naomi Clarke

Women's soccer climbing in rankings

LOCK HAVEN - The women's soccer team is back among the nation's top ten, ranked eighth in the latest edition of the NSCAA/adidas Division II Women's Top 25 rankings released this week.

The Bald Eagles, seated in a tie for first in the Northeast Region, were ranked 11th nationally in last week's poll.

Northern Kentucky University (13-0-1) holds down the top spot, while Christian Brothers University (11-1-0) moves up to the second slot. Ranked third is the University of Nebraska, Omaha (13-0-0). Franklin Pierce College (9-0-2) and Barry University (13-0-0) complete the top five, respectively.

The Lock Haven women's soccer team is 11-1-1 overall and undefeated at 7-0-0 in the Pennsylvania State Athletic Conference (PSAC). Last week the Lady Eagles scored an important regional and conference victory over Shippensburg University, 1-0, before a 2-0 victory over East Stroudsburg University. This week Lock Haven defeated PSAC opponent Clarion University 3-0 and will face-off against region rival No. 7-ranked Adelphi University (10-0-2).

LHU and Adelphi are currently tied for first place in the Northeast Region rankings.

LHU boxing coach named USA Boxing team manager

Jon Parrish
The Eagle Eye

Eric Parthen, Executive Director of USA Boxing (USAB), Colorado Springs, CO, announced that Dr. Ken Cox, Mill Hall, PA, veteran LHU boxing coach has been selected to serve as team manager and team leader of the USA senior team for the upcoming 23rd Copenhagen Boxing Cup Championship.

It will be held from November 26 through December 2, in Copenhagen, Denmark.

USAB is the governing body of the amateur (Olympic Style) boxing in the USA.

Cox has served USAB on numerous occasions including team manager of the USA versus Russia dual in 1996; IX Junior World Championships, Havana, Cuba, 1996; in addition to being the alternate team manager at the 1996 Atlanta Olympic Games.

Along with coaching the nationally (NCBA) ranked LHU Boxing team, Cox travels the world serving as chief clinician for the IOC Solidarity Coaches' Boxing Certification Program.

Former Pan-American Games coach Anthony Bradley will serve as head coach and Dr. Barry Jordan the team physician.

The entire ten-man USA team is composed of 2002 USAB national champions (gold medalist) and silver medalists (runner-ups).

The team will be led by 2002 USAB national champions, Raul Martinez, 112; Aaron Garcia, 119; and Johnny Vasquez Jr., 125.

All have had previous experience in the international arena.

Boxers from over 20 nations including Cuba, Germany and Russia will compete.

The Copenhagen Cup is considered one of the most prestigious international ranking tournaments in the world.

Prefer Computers?

Visit our website at:

www.LHUEagleEye.com

ONLY SUPERSTAR ATHLETES SHOULD COME OUT OF RETIREMENT.

There's nothing romantic about lacing up the wingtips for your big comeback. An SRA is an economical, tax-deferred way to ensure you don't run out of retirement savings. Contact us before you decide to hang it up.

TIAA-CREF.org or call (800) 842-2776

Managing money for people with other things to think about.

RETIREMENT | INSURANCE | MUTUAL FUNDS | COLLEGE SAVINGS | TRUSTS | INVESTMENT MANAGEMENT

TIAA-CREF Individual and Institutional Services, Inc. and Teachers Personal Investors Services, Inc. distribute securities products. For more information, call (800) 842-2773, ext. 5509, for prospectuses. Read them carefully before investing. © 2002 Teachers Insurance and Annuity Association-College Retirement Equities Fund (TIAA-CREF), 730 Third Avenue, New York, NY 10017 02-0004

Soccer to face Adlephi

SOCCKER from back page

"The team is peaking at the right time in the season," Champ said.

Star senior midfielder Kristi Ward, who suffered a knee injury against Millersville earlier this year decided to sit out the remainder of the season and be the team's official cheerleader.

Saturday's match between the Bald Eagles and Adelphi will determine the top spot in the Northeast Region.

The game is set for 2 p.m. on McCollum Field.

Men's Soccer falls to Stroudsburg

Jared Guest
Staff Reporter

A conference win has been hard to come by for the Bald Eagles in the 2002 season.

The Haven lost 6-1 to defending PSAC champs East Stroudsburg last Sunday.

The Bald Eagles (6-8-1, 0-4-1) would have suffered the shutout loss if it was not for a Bill Dovas goal in the winding minutes of the contest.

LHU trailed 1-0 at halftime, after an ESU goal 19 minutes into the game.

The Warriors (10-1-1, 3-1-1) knocked in three goals in the following 20 minutes of the second half. ESU's Jorge Chopoy had two goals and four others had one each.

The Haven's Paul Maguire had six saves.

LHU hosts PSAC rival Bloomsburg on Wednesday for a 1 p.m. start.

The past two meetings have seen double overtime games, including a Huskies win, 3-2 last season.

Ruggers end season with loss to 'Nova

LOCK HAVEN - The men's rugby team ventured into their last league match with high emotions and expectations. The players knew it was a must-win game to continue into the playoffs, but they had to go through the undefeated Villanova Wildcats and fell, 22-19.

Off of a 15 meter line-out, Shaun "Superman" Koren scored on a run off the signature play, "Bam-Bam." Hiller "Gary" Olsen converted the kick and LHU led the match, 7-0.

Villanova didn't take it lying down. They drove down the field and kicked for points making the score, 7-3.

Matt "Swivel Hips" Gilligan then broke through four would-be tacklers on a 40 meter run for a score, making the score 14-3, then Haven had a conversion by Olsen.

Villanova came back again putting one in the try zone but missed the conversion, making the score 14-8 at halftime.

About 20 minutes into the second half, 'Nova made the score 15-14. The Haven got a 5-meter line-out by James "Big Gun" Roush who helped drive the pack in the try zone for a score bringing the score to 19-15. Towards the end of the game, 'Nova drove the ball down and scored their last try and converted the kick to make the score 22-19 with eight minutes left.

The Haven, drove down field and had an offensive drive ending with Randy "Shark-eye" Helsman in the try zone, but the referee called back the score and LHU was n't able to punch the ball back in before time expired. Lock Haven ended their season 22-19.

Bookstore Giveaway

The Bookstore will be giving away old edition text books on Monday, Oct. 21 Books can be good for reference libraries.

Promotional Giveaways
Wednesday, October 23rd
Uncle Alberts

Bonnie's
Hair, Nail & Tanning Salon and Spa
131 East Main St. 748-3055

Ricker Bros., Florist
12 Roses for $9.95
"Cash and Carry"
24 E. Main Street
Lock Haven, Pa 17745
570-748-8028
800-850-8028

Scoreboard

Women's Soccer

PSAC Standings

League	Overall
Lock Haven	8-0
Millersville	5-1
Bloomsburg	4-1-1
Shippensburg	4-1
E. Stroudsburg	3-3-1
Slippery Rock	3-3-1
Kutztown	3-5
West Chester	2-3-2
Edinboro	2-3-2
California	2-5
IUP	0-5-1
Clarion	0-6
Mansfield*

Saturday
Bloomsburg at IUP
Millersville at Edinboro
Slippery Rock at West Chester
E. Stroudsburg at Clarion
Adelphi at Lock Haven
Nyack at Kutztown
Caldwell at Mansfield

Sunday
Caldwell at Bloomsburg

Football

PSAC Standings

West		East
League	Overall	League	Overall
IUP	2-0	E. Stroudsburg	3-0
Shippensburg	2-0	West Chester	1-0
California	1-1	Bloomsburg	1-1
Slippery Rock	1-1	Kutztown	1-1
Clarion	0-1	Mansfield	1-2
Lock Haven	0-1	Cheyney	0-1
Edinboro	0-2	Millersville	0-2

Saturday
Clarion at Edinboro
California at IUP
Millersville at Slippery Rock
West Chester at Cheyney
Bloomsburg at Kutztown
Shippensburg at Lock Haven

Field Hockey

PSAC Standings

League	Overall
Bloomsburg	6-0
Lock Haven	6-1
E. Stroudsburg	5-1
Shippensburg	3-3
Mansfield	3-3
Millersville	2-5
IUP	2-6
Slippery Rock	1-5
Kutztown	1-5

Saturday
Slippery Rock at Bloomsburg
Bryant at Kutztown
Mercyhurst at Millersville
Merrimack at Mansfield
Lock Haven at Philadelphia

Sunday
Bryant at E. Stroudsburg
Merrimack at IUP
Mercyhurst at Bloomsburg
Lock Haven at Longwood

Men's Soccer

PSAC Standings

League	Overall
West Chester	4-1-1
Millersville	3-1-2
E. Stroudsburg	3-1-1
Bloomsburg	2-1-1
Kutztown	2-2-1
Slippery Rock	1-3
California	1-4
Lock Haven	0-4-1

Saturday
Slippery Rock at West Chester
California at Shippensburg
Nyack at Kutztown
NY Tech at Millersville

Sunday
Bloomsburg at Holy Family

Volleyball

PSAC Standings

West		East
League	Overall	League	Overall
Edinboro	5-1	Kutztown	5-1
IUP	5-1	West Chester	5-1
Clarion	4-2	Millersville	4-2
Slippery Rock	2-4	E. Stroudsburg	3-3
Lock Haven	2-4	Shippensburg	1-5
California	0-5	Cheyney	0-6

Friday & Saturday
Edinboro at Lees-McRae Tournament
Clarion at Kutztown Invitational

Saturday
C.W. Post at E. Stroudsburg
Philadelphia at E. Stroudsburg
West Chester at Wilmington
Goldey-Beacom at Millersville

Cross Country

East Region

Men's		Women's
1. Edinboro	15-6	1. IUP	0-14
2. Millersville	25-3	2. Edinboro
3. Shippensburg	22-3	3. Clarion
4. Wheeling Jesuit	14-12	4. Kutztown
5. Kutztown	9-13	5. Shippensburg
6. Slippery Rock	11-8	6. Slippery Rock
7. Lock Haven		7. Millersville
8. IUP		8. Bloomsburg
9. Alderson-Broadus		9. Wheeling Jesuit
10. Bloomsburg		10. W. Virginia Wesleyan

He said...

Scott Evans
Sports Editor

I don't agree that high school athletes should blow off college altogether, but there are circumstances that warrant other decisions.

An example of this is Minnesota Timberwolves center Kevin Garnett, who left Farragut Academy in Chicago for the NBA to support his family in rural South Carolina.

As a senior at Farragut, he won the national high school player of the year by USA Today and was selected to the Parade Magazine All-America First Team. His achievements enabled him to become a first round lottery pick in the 1995 NBA draft.

The 26-year old all-star is entering his seventh season in the league and has a lucrative contract with the AND 1 basketball apparel company.

Although he didn't blaze the traditional path to NBA stardom, he did what he thought was the most important thing...help his family. I'm sure if you asked him, he might say, 'Yeah, I should've gone to college', but now he has the resources to do so without jeopardizing his family's well-being.

His courage to take a chance in the NBA, without going to college, resulted in the 1997 Newsweek honor as one of the 100 most influential people of the decade.

Let's put it in a nice easy comparison for you. Let's say Duke University's basketball recruiter knocks on your door with a free basketball scholarship. Nice, right? A free four-year education and four years of top of the line

Should student-athletes go straight to the pros after high school?

Division 1A ball.

The next day, the general manager of the Philadelphia 76ers knocks on the door with a two-year contract worth four million dollars, and a three million dollar signing bonus. Just when you thought a free ride to Duke was great, a professional team is throwing money at you do the same thing you would do at the university for nothing! Take the money.

Just think of your mom and dad who work so hard to make ends meet, won't have to lift a finger ever. I know if I had the opportunity, I'd be sinking jump shots for the Timberwolves.

I am a firm believer in a quality college education, but I'm also a firm believer in doing what you want to do with your life, not conforming to the norm of society.

If school isn't someone's forte, suffering through four years of college only to get a piece of paper where all you want is to get paid for your hard work and practice doesn't sound too appealing.

Bottom line: Do what you want, but understand that your ability to compete won't be there forever, and a college education is a ticket to the world. Go for the pros, but take the time to get an education after you've made your millions.

She said...

Jaralai Powell
Sports Editor

Whatever happened to the value of an education? Lakers' guard Kobe Bryant and Timberwolves' center Kevin Garnett may be the best at what they do, but when their time runs out, what else will they have? Sure, they make absurd amounts of money and live in every regular person's dream house; but when you live like that, the money goes fast when the paychecks stop rolling in.

Everyone is so caught up in money that they don't stop to think about the consequences if something unforeseen would occur. Kobe Bryant could walk out on the court tomorrow, go up for a lay-up, land wrong and never be able to play basketball again.

Then what? He has a nice, big high school education to fall back on when the millions he has made start going dry.

But when people fail to see the importance of a good education, they'll end up giving him a job on ESPN just because he's Kobe Bryant. I know if I had a degree and was an aspiring sportscaster, I'd be pretty peeved when ESPN handed it to someone who had no idea about the job.

What's wrong with going to college? Most people say it is the best time of your life. If you are really that good in high school, I don't think you would have a problem getting drafted after college to play. You'd still make the money and still be the star, but at the same time, you'd have something to pursue when you were through with your sport.

actually putting the time in at school, but bailing halfway through for the NFL. Just stay, get the education and then go get paid.

If an athlete comes from a poor family and wants to go pro to support his family, I can see how that would be very persuasive. But the parents of these athletes need to understand that no one's body lasts forever, and an unexpected injury or car accident could short-change any athlete's dream of living it large with the best of them.

With the WUSA, in order to be eligible to play, you must have completed four years of college. What's so wrong with that? The players get an experience of a lifetime by going to college and at the same time they learn about something other than sports and as a bonus, get to play their sport. Sure women's soccer doesn't have the funding to hand out million dollar contracts, but if sometime in the near future they get the money, there will already be a set standard for athletes.

Maybe they don't realize it, but it is actually doing them a favor. If soccer doesn't work out, they won't be crapping their pants because they don't have the education to go out and get a decent job.

The NFL and the NBA need to stop going to high schools looking for talent because they have enough from colleges and universities.

Let the athletes grow up and gain knowledge about something other than sports. Maybe when they go to college they'll major in coaching or something to do with sports, but at least when they go out to get those jobs, they'll actually be qualified to have them.

Volleyball beats West Chester, The Rock in PSAC play

Jaralai Powell
Sports Editor

The volleyball team came out with a big win versus Slippery Rock, Tuesday in three games. Slippery Rock had previously beaten the Bald Eagles 3-0 earlier in the season.

They also went 2-1 over the weekend beating Shippensburg and West Chester both 3-0.

The Bald Eagles then fell to the Eastern Division's top team, Kutztown, 3-2.

In the victory against Slippery Rock freshman, Kelly Kostelich, led the way with 23 assists.

"Kelly ran a good offense along with Allison (Wade)," said head coach Tom Justice.

Junior, Beth Hackenberg led with eight kills while sophomore Kristi Kauffman and freshman Michelle Deehan each had seven kills. "The win against Slippery Rock gave us a lot of momentum," said Justice.

"We were passing well, we had a lot of pressure from the serving line, and our attacker really didn't make many mistakes."

Sophomores Kristi Kauffman and Patty Oslislo set the tone for the offense versus Shippensburg.

Kauffman led the team with 15 kills and five service aces along with seven digs and Oslislo helped with 11 kills, two aces and five digs.

Hackenberg, had seven kills and two blocks, while Kostelich had 30 assists and nine digs.

Defensively, sophomore Kelly Wengerter led the team with 22 digs.

Against West Chester, Kauffman paced the offense with 16 kills, 19 digs and three service aces.

Deehan also had a double-double with 11 kills and 15 digs, while Hackenberg posted six blocks which consisted of two solo stuffs.

In their only loss of the week, the Bald Eagles fell to Kutztown 2-1.

Kauffman and Deehan were tough on the attack again. Kauffman recorded 16 kills and 21 digs and Deehan had 15 kills and 24 digs.

Hackenberg was solid in the middle tallying 11 kills and four blocks.

"We've come a long way," said Justice. "If we keep fighting hard we can get ourselves in position for a championship run again this year. But it won't be easy."

The Bald Eagles have no scheduled competitions this weekend, but return to the court at Edinboro on Tuesday for another conference match-up at 7 p.m.

Photo courtesy of Sports Information

Beth Hackenberg (left) and Kelly Kostelich block the ball for the Haven defense.

Football falls to California in PSAC West competition

JoEllen Chesnut
Staff Reporter

Despite scoring on a 35-yard interception return and a 45-yard fumble return, Lock Haven was held to 92 offensive yards and fell to California University 34-19 Saturday at California's Adamson Stadium.

"Our defense did a great job helping us stay in the game," said Coach Mark Luther.

"In the end the players have to make plays. Our defense had the opportunity to make points with an intercepted pass and a picked-up fumble.

Our quarterbacks weren't on their game Saturday and we didn't get a big play from our special teams like we have been."

California started the scoring with a one-yard run by Wesley Clemons and a 32-yard field goal by Mike Dalicandro to put the Vulcans up 10-0.

With 1:55 to go in the first quarter, Maurice Walker raced 14 yards for the touchdown to put Lock Haven on the board 6-10.

California fought back with an eight-yard pass from Dustin Strayer to Garvin Graves to make the score 17-6.

At the end of the second quarter, Jon Nalewak's 45-yard fumble return brought Lock Haven to within four points.

California's Clemons had another one-yard run with less than two minutes to go in the third to put the Vulcans back up by 11, California 24-13.

The Haven's Ngoyi Mukusa intercepted the ball with 0:27 to go in the third quarter to make the score Lock Haven 19-24.

California scored in the fourth quarter with a 23-yard run and a 35-yard field goal to leave the final score as California 34-19.

The Haven faces Shippensburg Saturday night in Jacks Stadium.

"We hope with a good week of work we will come out ready to play," said Luther.

"If we can't minimize our mistakes and get the offense moving and the defense working, it could be a long evening."

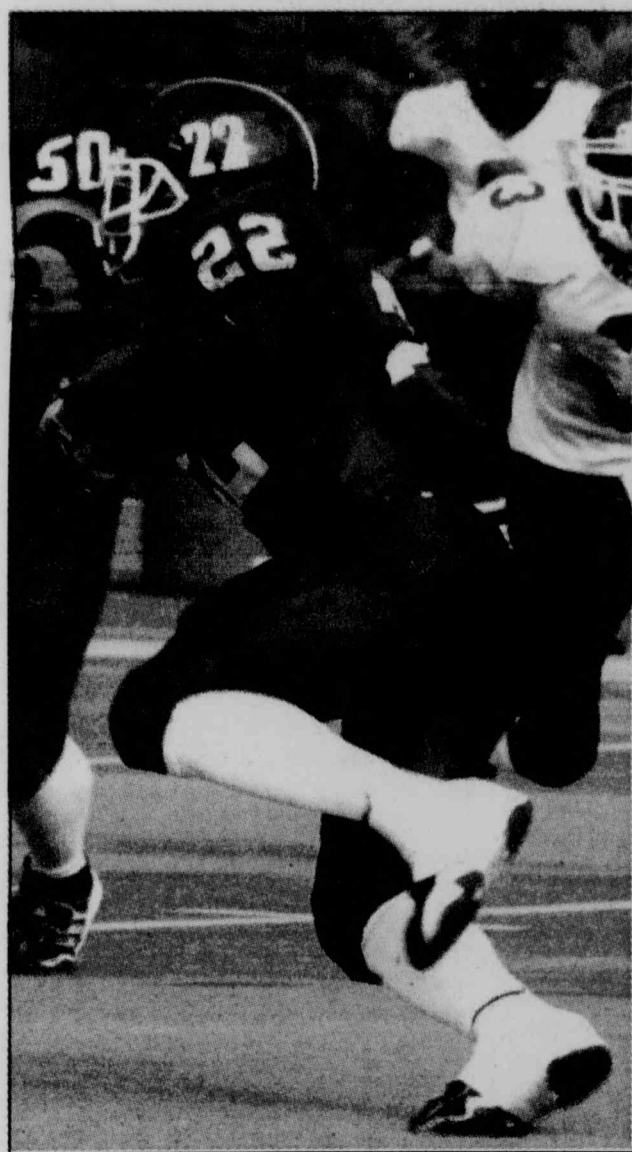

Photo courtesy of Sports Information

LHU running back Melvin Kirby carries the ball for the offense against Cheyney earlier this season.

Field Hockey team rocks The Rock, 9-0

Suzanne McCombie
Editor in Chief

The field hockey team remains at No. 2 in the nation after defeating Division I opponent Bucknell, 3-1, and blanking Slippery Rock, 9-0. They improve their record to 13-2 overall, 6-1 PSAC.

The Bald Eagles dominated over Bucknell, out-shooting them 19-9, connecting on three of the shoots.

Nikki Sweger connected with Janelle Ebaugh to put the first and only goal on the board of the first half after 13 minutes of play.

Bucknell came out in the second with a goal from Meiko Boynton, to tie the score at 1-1. The Haven answered back when Erika Grap connected with Amy Hale, putting the Haven ahead for good.

Jen DeNault scored the final goal to put it away for the Bald Eagles, 3-1. Goalkeeper Melissa Stubblefield recorded five saves with one goal allowed.

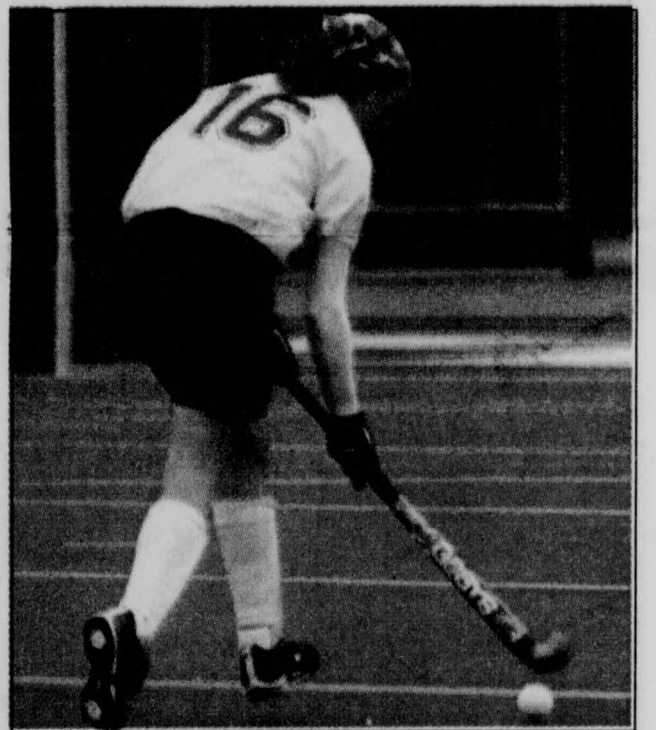

Photo courtesy of Sports Information

LHU's Carrie Witherel controls the ball.

LHU	9
Rock	0

Kellie Kulina both scored two goals in the win.

The Haven held Slippery Rock scoreless and shotless in their PSAC match-up last Saturday, 9-0.

The Haven out-shot the Rock 45-0 in the 70 minutes of play.

Jen DeNault and

Other goals were scored by Janelle Ebaugh, Erika Grap, Courtney Deiner, Lauren Kelchner and Carrie Witherel.

In goal for the Haven were Stubblefield (35:00) and Megan Barclay (35:00).

Women's Soccer goes 2-0 last week; set to face regional rival Adelphi

Scott Evans
Sports Editor

The eighth ranked women's soccer had a productive PSAC week, defeating Clarion at home 3-0 Tuesday and East Stroudsburg 2-0 on the road Sunday.

The wins give the Bald Eagles a 12-1-1 record overall, and an 8-0 record in a PSAC.

The Bald Eagles connected on the first goal against the Warriors in the 14th minute when junior midfielder Naomi Clarke found sophomore midfielder Brooke Rangi for the eventual game-winning goal and the 1-0 lead.

The Clarke-Rangi duo combined for the Bald Eagles' insurance in the 63rd minute except this time, Rangi found Clarke for the goal.

The Bald Eagles set it cruise control after that and sailed to a 2-0 victory.

"We went with a different formation and it worked," said head coach Shannon Champ. "We played aggressively, combined passes and attacked the goal."

Bald Eagle keeper Heather Ireland registered three saves on four Warrior shots, giving her eight shutout victories on the year.

LHU	3
Clarion	0

Tuesday's game at McCollum Field brought Clarion into the Haven for a PSAC West match and the Haven scored in record form.

Again the Clarke-Rangi duo struck pay dirt 19 seconds into the first half when Rangi passed to Clarke for the goal.

It was the quickest goal scored by a Bald Eagle player in the team's nine-year history.

Junior defender Sarah Recher scored an unassisted goal in the 15th minute when she moved up the field and beat the charging Clarion keeper for the 2-0 lead.

"We stuck with the same formation and got a goal early because the team needed rest from the physical game against Stroudsburg, said Champ.

The Bald Eagles scored their third and final goal in the 51st minute when sophomore midfielder Kathleen Custer hooked up with freshman forward for the goal.

See SOCCER page 11

This week in sports

Today	Sat, Oct. 19	Sun, Oct. 20	Mon, Oct. 21	Tues, Oct. 22	Wed., Oct. 23	Thurs, Oct. 24
*FH - Millersville 3 p.m.	*WS - Adelphi 2 p.m. *FB - Shippensburg 7 p.m. FH - @ Philadelphia 11 a.m. CC - @ DeSales 11 a.m. LAX - 9 a.m. W. Branch	FH - @ Longwood 1 p.m.	No Events Scheduled	VB - @ Edinboro 7 p.m.	*WS - Bloomsburg 3 p.m. *MS - Bloomsburg 1 p.m. FH - @ Bloomsburg	No Events Scheduled