LOCK HAVEN STATE COLLEGE

Fri., Oct. 24, 1969

Gov. 'Coming for Students' Plans of Day Finalized

"Gov. Shafer is definitely coming here for the students," said Mike McLaughlin, president of the Student Cooperative Council, concerning Governor Raymond P. Shafer's visit to Lock Haven State this afternoon.

McLaughlin pointed out that the Pennsylvania chief executive has announced his plans to make the trip to LHS primarily so that he can meet with students and not with the college administration.

The following itinerary was finalized yesterday by Jay Haskell, one of the governor's secretaries:

11:15 am — Gov. Shafer and his party will arrive at the Lock Haven airport. McLaughlin and Michele Taddeo, SCC recording secretary, will greet him and will ride back to campus in Shafer's car.

11:30 am — The governor will arrive at President Richard T. Parsons' office on campus.

11:30 - noon — Shafer will meet privately with Dr. Parsons and several area trustees in his office.

noon - 12:45 pm — The governor will have lunch in Bentley Hall; seated with him will be the SCC executive board.

12:45 - 1:15 pm — Gov. Shafer will hold a press conference for Eagle Eye, The Lock Haven Express, and WBPZ radio in conference room 212 in the union.

1:15 - 1:45 pm — The governor will make a brief tour of the campus. He will be escorted by McLaughlin; James Crampton, SCC first vice president; Mike Martin, second vice president; Tim Eck, treasurer; Miss Taddeo; Susan Sullivan, corresponding secretary; Marianne Waters and Al Smith, Eagle Eye co-editors; and Rom Smith, EE student adviser.

McLaughlin said yesterday that the governor's tour will begin in the union and will proceed to Ulmer, the new library, Thomas Field House, Akeley Lab School, Raub Hall, North Hall, McEntire Hall, Price Auditorium, perhaps Smith and Woolridge Halls, and will end at Bentley Hall. The governor may also view some new construction, McLaughlin said.

1:45 - 2:45 pm — A general session, open to all members of the student body, will be held in Bentley Hall Lounge. McLaughlin will serve as master of ceremonies and will introduce the governor. Shafer will make an address at this time to the students.

2:45 - 3:30 pm — The governor will participate in a closed seminar in Raub-106. The seminar, which will be taped for future playback, will be moderated by Dr. Werner Barth, chairman of social sciences.

Dr. Barth last evening said that the seminar was originally to be for social science majors only. However, he said, the plans now call for about 35 students (some chosen by McLaughlin and others named by him) and several social science faculty and SCC advisers, to meet in a question-answer session with the governor.

The topic of the seminar will be "The Role of Lock Haven State College as a State Institution and the Present (Shafer) Administration's Endeavors to Improve Education in Pennsylvania."

Dr. Barth said the seminar was originally intended to discuss topics in political science and state, national, and international policies.

Approximately 3:30 pm — The governor will leave Lock Haven.

Political Biography

Shafer 'Still Very Much Alive Politically'

"If there is one thing Ray Shafer has an abundance of, it's courage," said one of the state political leaders last year when the Pennsylvania governor committed his administration to modernize the commonwealth's 100-year-old constitution.

"He's making his first big fight for good government on an issue that is full of political problems for him. It's against our advice and if he loses, he's politically dead in this state."

But Shafer is still very much alive politically; and Pennsylvania has the modern constitution it needs.

In 1947, he was elected district attorney of Crawford County on both tickets, a feat he repeated in 1951. Seven years later, he was elected to the state senate, representing Mercer and Crawford Counties.

Shafer was elected Lieutenant governor of the commonwealth in 1962, and two years later he served as acting chairman of the state delegation to the 1964 Republican National Convention in San Francisco.

In November, 1966, he was elected governor of Pennsylvania marking the first time in the commonwealth's history that a lieutenant governor successfully ran for the highest office.

Today, according to a Harrisburg spokesman, Governor Shafer has accomplished almost 90 per cent of his campaign pledges, in addition to other major programs which he found needed upon office. As a result, Pennsylvania has:

- A new constitution
- Judicial reform
- The first legislative code of ethics in the state's history; —An expanded industrial development program that is producing an average of 4,000 new jobs a month, and a record low unemployment rate;

—The broadest civil right legislative package in the modern history of the commonwealth;

—A transportation development program geared to high speed, modern concepts;

—Consumer protection and insurance reforms that are leading the nation;

—A ten-year environmental conservation plan that is anchored by a voter approved $500 million fund to eliminate mining blight, air, land, and water pollution;

—The first tax incentive program in the nation to entice business and industry into the ghetto with programs to help solve urban problems. It's called the Pennsylvania Neighborhood Assistance Program;

—Governor's branch office in ghetto neighborhoods to give the disadvantaged citizens immediate contact with government, especially to get information about where they can get help. Some 25,000 citizens have been helped so far.

Named Phi Beta Kappa

Gov. Shafer was born in 1917 in New Castle. A graduate of Meadville public schools, he holds a degree from Allegheny College (where as a political science major he made Phi Beta Kappa, won nine varsity letters in basketball, soccer, and track, was class president each year, and was the student body president in his senior year.)

Youth Group Offers Shafer 10-Point Plan

Gov. Shafer's special youth commission, appointed shortly after he took office in 1966, last summer developed a 10-point program which it presented to the governor. The program includes the following points:

1. All laws, customs, and practices should be changed so that a person reaches full legal age at 18;
2. The general assembly should petition Congress to affect an overhaul of the Selective Service System;
3. Youth should be placed on policy and advisory committees on both the state and local levels;
4. Basic changes should be made throughout the educational establishment, including but not limited to an expansion of pre-school programs; the modernization of the teaching of reading skills; the extension of guidance to include students in the lower grades, the non-academic students, and students with emotional and behavioral problems; the utilization of regional approaches to integration; the addition of black history and black culture into the school's curriculums; the review of texts to insure the validity for students; the expansion and upgrading of vocational education; and the inclusion of family life education at all levels of the educational system.
5. More activities should be available in the area of recreation; occupational leisure time should also be considered.
6. The state should request Congress to reexamine the pros and cons of the use of non-addictive drugs;
7. The most productive and affluent nation in the history of the world must commit itself to the provision of decent housing, sufficient incomes, meaningful employment, adequate health service, and equality under the law;

Gov. Raymond P. Shafer

8. The war in Vietnam should be ended as soon as possible;
9. Efforts and headways should be made to eliminate racial inequality;
10. The relevance of religious instructions should be increased.

The governor gave a recent speech in which he referred specifically to six of the points in the commission's report.

"I shall appoint, and very soon, young people to policy and advisory committees," he said.

Shafer also vowed to continue to push for lowering the voting age and to continue his efforts to effect better housing and the other subjects in point seven of the report.

Educational improvements (especially in the college system), elimination of racial problems, and assistance to President Nixon to achieve an early and respectable end to the Vietnam war were also subjects the governor promised to press for.

Booters Entertain Rockets Tomorrow

Coach Karl Herrmann is expecting a "good, tough game" tomorrow as LHS booters face Slippery Rock State College on McCollum Field. The varsity game will be preceded by a junior varsity game. The probable varsity line-up has Galen Hess, Jim Sleicher, Mike Minchoff, or Don Fay, and John Garmon as forwards; Steve Steffen, Tom DeFrancesco, and Jack Infield as halfbacks. Fullbacks will be George Magliaro, Tom Ellis, and Curt Wolf. Bruce Parkhill will tend the goal.

"We're slow starters," claims Coach Herrmann. "I still feel we can beat anyone if we could play good hard soccer for four periods. We start slow then get stronger as the game progresses." Coach Herrmann has been putting the team through five extra minutes of warmup with defensive players instead of the usual kicking and dribbling drills. He hopes this will help them get off to a faster start.

Slippery Rock always provides strong competition. The game is always played hard, tough, and clean. "Slippery Rock has a well conditioned team with players much the same as ours. They play hard and and want to win and want to win but they're very clean. They are a good rivalry; we like to play them," said Coach Herrmann. "They have a good coach. He likes to win but keeps it clean."

Slippery Rock and LHS are trying to make NAIA playoffs again this year. Both teams are very much in contention for the honor of playing. This game could mean quite a lot on who goes to the playoffs. Out of twenty-five teams in District Six, our district, four teams are chosen to play in NAIA playoffs and the winner goes to nationals. District Six champions Davis-Elkins College won the national championship last year.

The undefeated junior varsity team faces a team much like the varsity team. Coach Herrmann anticipates much the same type of game. The probable starting line-up is Bill Lingle, Keith Harmon, John Carpenter, and Jerry Zeisloff as forwards. Halfbacks will be Mike Burkhart, John Mingos, and Dan Crutenden. Jeff Cultrigter, Ziggy Tauginas, and Lee Westenberger will be fullbacks and Don Taylor or Craig Dawson will tend the goal. Many of the junior varsity players will see action through substitution.

"Both the junior varsity and varsity games will be typical Lock Haven-Slippery Rock games," stated Coach Herrmann.

Time-Out

by Al Smith

Last week the fearless prognosticator came up with his weakest showing of the season, missing on three of eight predictions. The 5-3 record last week brought the season record to 23-8 and a .767 pct.

The big upset last week was Mansfield's stunning 36-9 victory over East Stroudsburg leaving them tied with West Chester for the top spot in the East. The Mounties overcame a 9-0 deficit to roll over the Warriors before a large homecoming crowd at East Stroudsburg.

Shippensburg, winless in four previous encounters, pulled the other major upset when they tripped California, 34-21.

Clarion was dropped from the ranks of the unbeaten, absorbing a 38-14 lacing at the hands of Indiana University of Pa.

This weekend finds the Bald Eagles idle after an exciting come from behind victory over Edinboro, 41-33. LHS will be in action next week when they travel to Slippery Rock.

In hopes of reaching the .800 pct. mark we will now proceed to pick this week's winner.

CLARION over California -- The Vulcans have internal problems and have lost three in a row. After last week's lacing to Indiana the Golden Eagles will take out their frustrations on the Vulcans.

SHIPPENSBURG over Edinboro -- a tossup. The Raiders get the edge after last week's win over California. The Scots have too many key players injured, but could come through if tailback Al Rains can effectively run the sweep.

INDIANA over Slippery Rock -- Last week's lacing of Clarion proves the Big Indians are one of the top small college teams in the nation. The Rockets shouldn't provide too much opposition unless the Indians are down after last week.

MANSFIELD over Brockport -- The Mounties have won five in a row and might have the momentum to carry them into the conference championship game. Quarterback Stu Casterline should have a field day in preparing for next week's showdown with West Chester.

BLOOMSBURG over Cheyney -- The Huskies won their first game last week and should easily capture number two tomorrow. The Wolves are winless and their defense is too vulnerable.

WEST CHESTER over Kutztown -- Should be a tune-up for the Rams in preparation for next week's showdown with Mansfield for the division title. The Bears threw a scare into East Stroudsburg before losing in the final minute and could catch the Rams looking ahead to Mansfield.

EAST STROUDSBURG over Millersville -- The Warriors get back on the winning track against the winless Marauders. After their stunning upset to Mansfield last week the Warriors are up for a slaughter.

Last weekend's homecoming game reminded me of the exhibitions the early New York Mets put on. The only difference is that LHS won the game whereas the Mets almost always lost.

"We may not go undefeated, but we're going to surprise a few people," an early season statement by head mentor Bob Weller could be changed to, "we're going to excite a few people."

The game was so unpredictable that even a few people cheered and not everyone left at halftime when the Eagles were down 27-6. Some people became so excited when the Eagles went ahead in the fourth quarter that they even got out of their seats and jumped up and down while cheering.

Met fans used to go crazy even when their team was being clobbered and playing the sloppiest baseball ever seen. LHS fans can also be compared to the Met fans, they sit and watch the game as if they were watching a dull game of gin rummy and the only time they jump to their feet is to beat the halftime rush to the concession stand.

This season marks the first time in four years that the Eagles can finish .500 or better. There is one home game remaining so fans when you go to the game, remember to act as if you are going to a funeral.

Action during early season intramural football season.

Intramural Scene Busy

The fall intramural scene was busy last week on the LHS campus. The action included results in the basketball tournament, Faculty Tennis Tournament, and the gold Individual Tournament. The ties in the American and National Football leagues were also broken.

The Open Basketball Tournament was won by Beach House in a 64-41 victory over North Hall. Al Ruginis was high for the winners with 28 points, while Lean Drecker tossed in 14 points for the losers. The Beach House consists of: Tom Baker, Kevin McNamara, Al Flickburgh, Chris Horn, John Poldiak, Bill Erickson, John Marzlak, and Al Ruginis.

The Faculty Tennis Tournament was won by the team of Don Markley and Ed McCloskey. They defeated Karl Herrmann and Bob Chu 6-3, 7-5, 6-3.

The first golf tournament was held at LHS this year. The tournament was won by TKE's Jim Black who shot an 88. Gary Kotecki finished second with an 91 and TKE's Scott McLean was third with a 98.

The intramural football leagues each have an undefeated team after last week's action. In the American League Phi Mu Delta took over first place and has a perfect 3-0-0 record. Likewise, TKE, in the National League also moved into first place and own a perfect 3-0-0 record.

Intramural sports director Donald Keener has also announced that there will be an intramural track meet. This meet will be held on October 28.

JV's Travel to Bloom

The LHS JV football team travels to Bloomsburg this afternoon for a three o'clock encounter with the Huskie JV's. The Bald Eagles will be going into the game with and 0-1-1 record. Last week they tied Mansfield 7-7. Their defeat was at the hands of Susquehanna by a score of 48-19.

JV Coach Smalley commented on the Susquehanna game by saying that the score was no indication of the type of game that the boys played. He said that the offense was able to move the ball and several times in the game they were stopped within the opponent's ten yard line. "The basic trouble was with our defensive secondary." Commenting on the Mansfield game, Coach Smalley said that we outplayed them. "Five or six times we were inside their 15 but we were just unable to get the ball into the end zone."

Some of the players that have been doing great work for the JV's are: Bob Butz, quarterback from Nazareth, Pa., an extremely good leader, sets up plays excellently, Bob Shuey, halfback, showed great potential in the game with Mansfield, Ed Dwyer, offensive tight end and defensive end, Paul Simco, free safety, consistent player on team, Doog Conlon, defensive halfback, Brian Jones, offensive center, Skip Haley, split end, gives 100 per cent effort, has caught a couple or circus catches, and Frank Costanzo, defensive linebacker, hard nose player.

Coach Smalley went on to say that one of the main purposes of the JV team is to assist or help the varsity to prepare for an upcoming game, and by doing this we run the risk of not getting ready for our own games, and he further added that since Lock Haven has an enrollment of less than 1400 men, freshman are allowed to play on the varsity team and this hurts by taking the potentially good freshman players away from the JV team.

Smalley finally commented by saying "The spirit of the team is high and they have an excellent attitude. I am proud to associate with the guys because of their great attitude."

Simulation Weekends

A special program, a series of simulation weekends, designed for college seniors interested in careers in professional management will be sponsored by the American Management Association. The program will be held at the Management Center at Saranac Lake, New York, from November until May during the 1969-70 academic year.

Thirty-two students will be accepted for each program. Each group will be composed of two seniors from each of 16 colleges and universities in the Northeast. The special program is a portion of the AMA Management internship program. The Simulation Weekends will consist of lectures, group discussions, simulations, and interaction with professional managers and the present MIP interns.

Students must provide their own transportation to and from Saranac Lake, but AMA will provide complete accommodations at no cost to the students. Seniors who have majored in any academic discipline may apply. For a program description and application blank, write: Director, Simulation Weekends, AMA Management Center, Saranac Lake, New York, 12983.

Drugs: Overplayed and Overcondemned

first of four

Drugs, like sex, have been overplayed and overcondemned. They have become forbidden fruits, and forbidden fruits are always tempting. Movies, magazines, and newspapers have by condemning them and constantly writing about them, made them sound so exciting and so appealing. Everyone wants to try them.

At present the most popular illicit drug encountered on the campus is marihuana. It is also the drug about which most misinformation exists.

People who are not informed usually associate the smoking of marihuana with people who have long hair and sit around in dimly lit rooms and pass a marihuana cigarette, or 'joint,' around a circle. This is as far from the truth as the misbelief that connects marihuana smoking and the use of heroin.

Here, as in any other place around the country, the people who smoke marihuana cannot be determined by means of appearance, social background, mental stability or other misused classification. The fact is that so many people are using this drug that if any attempt of classification would be made, then it would have to be said that marihuana users would be clean cut, con-

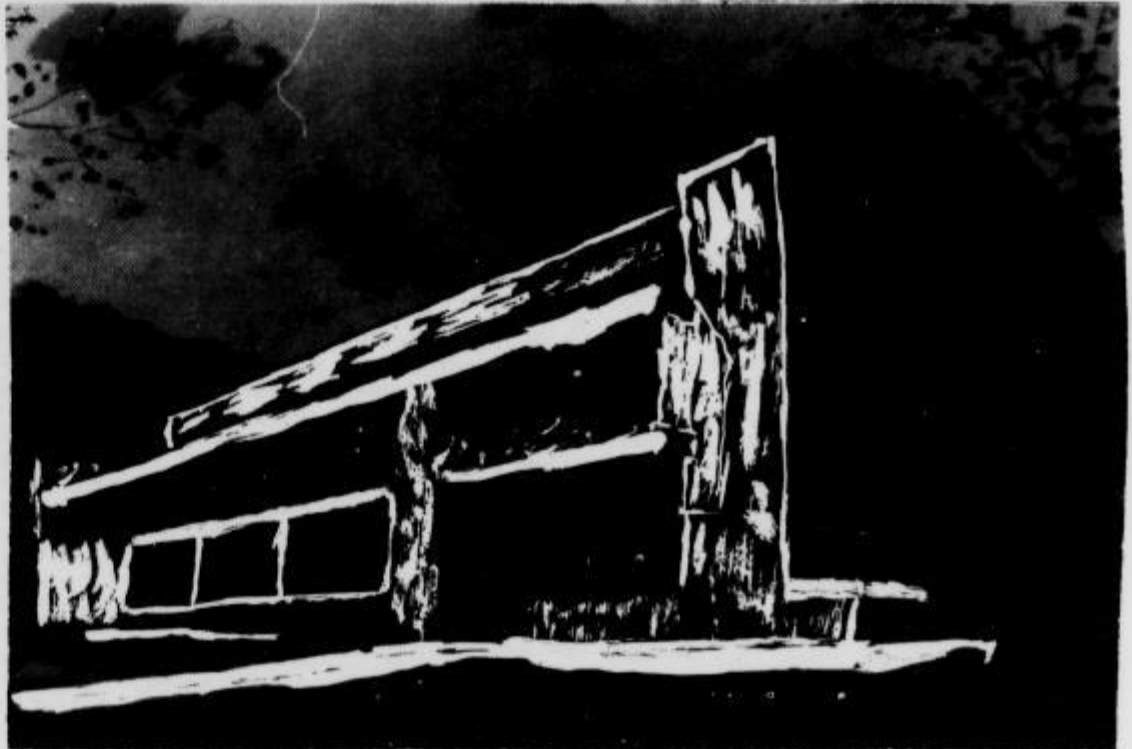

Hockey Intramurals

Hockey intramurals ended on October 22 with the sophomores and juniors playing to a 0-0 deadlock. In the preliminary class games, the sophomores defeated the freshmen 1-0, and the juniors beat the fighting seniors in a hard-fought 5-0 game.

The juniors seemed to be in control of the game, as they had numerous chances to score on corners. The sophomores' defense held tight, and with only minutes left in the game the sophomores' offense missed a shot at the goal by inches. Because of the tie, the points for the game will be divided between the sophomores and the juniors in the compiling of points for the plaques awarded at the end of the year.

Beware of the fury of a patient man.

College Presidents Appeal for Viet. Step-up

College Press Service

WASHINGTON — (CPS) — The presidents of some 75 private colleges and universities have appealed for a "step-up timetable for withdrawal from Vietnam."

The appeal came in the form of a joint statement issued by the presidents, speaking as "individuals who work with young men and women." Their statement concluded, "We urge upon the President of the United States and upon Congress a stepped-up timetable for withdrawal from Vietnam. We believe this to be in our country's highest interest, at home and abroad."

"The accumulated costs of the Vietnam war are not in men and material alone. There are costs too in the effects on young people's hopes and beliefs. Like ourselves, the vast majority of the students with whom we work still want to believe in a just, honest, and sensitive America. But our military engagement in Vietnam now stands as a denial of so much that is best in our society...An end to the war will not solve our problems on or off campus. It will however permit us to work more effectively in support of more peaceful priorities."

The statement was mailed to President Nixon and Congressional leaders October 11. The statement did not specify a time limit on withdrawal, but called for a "stepped-up timetable."

Among those signing were the presidents of Brandeis, Oberlin, Columbia, Cornell, Antioch, Swarthmore, Princeton, Tufts, New York University, Boston College, University of Chicago, Amherst, Drexel Institute of Technology, MIT, Fordham, Villanova, and Vassar.

of it. Up to one-half of college students belong to either a fraternity or sorority, while a great majority have interests in music, poetry, art, and philosophy.

Motivations for using marihuana are many and sometimes complex. To be sure, there is use simply for 'kicks.' But for some individuals marihuana use may also be symbolic of their separation from parental or authoritarian control. For many, use is a way to belong to a special group. For those who are emotionally unstable, the drug may seem to provide whatever it takes to cope with college pressures. And also it is the 1969 version of the forbidden fruit in the Garden of Eden.

Harriers Capture 8th Win By Downing Millersville

A fine team effort by the Bald Eagles of Lock Haven State offset a superb individual effort on the part of Millersville's Bob Brown as the LHS harriers picked up their eighth win by a 23-32 score Saturday in Millersville.

The Eagles' Dave Mosebrook and Steve Podgajny ran neck and neck with Brown for 2.7 miles, but Brown's superiority on the hills allowed him to take over the lead. Mosebrook and Podgajny finished in the second and third spots. Brown broke the course record by 19 seconds and Mosebrook and Podgajny also ran faster than anyone had before on the hilly 4.7 mile course.

Mike Borowski jumped out right behind the front three runners, and held that position through the race finishing fourth for LHS. Nibs Gordon was the next finisher for the Bald Eagles placing fifth.

A ninth place finish by Harry Smeltz iced the cake for LHS. Running on badly blistered feet, Smeltz held his position throughout the race.

The Eagles were without the services of injured captain Keith Rider and Carl Klingaman, stopped by sickness.

Coach Jim Dolan was enthusiastic about his team's performance. In commenting, he said: "Great meet! This was our toughest dual meet of the season and our men really came through. At the one and two mile marks our team was behind, but then Nibs moved up into fifth place and that put us in front to stay. Millersville has a strong team and will be a definite contender for the conference title."

"Dave and Steve looked great today as they usually do. Mike looked better today than ever — moving out fast and holding his position. With two more weeks of training we will be ready for states. It will be a real contest!"

The Eagle harriers next meet is Saturday, at Juniata College.

Open Letter to Sophomores

Sophomores! Show your interest; share your ideas and give your support at the sophomore class meeting, which as President Joe Castagnola announced, will be held on Wednesday night, 8:30 pm in North Hall lounge. Vice-president Tom Olson stated that the purpose of the meeting will be the creation of a new, organized sophomore class that emphasizes more student participation.

The main idea that will be presented is the organization of executive, social, fiscal and election committees. These committees will be designed to promote more student interest and participation.

However, this and many other ideas will remain intangible and unattainable dreams without your co-operation and concern. Everyone's help and participation are needed.

It's easy to be indifferent, unconcerned and completely detached from what's going on about you. But isn't this being overly self-centered and selfish? If you think it is, bag that indifferent attitude! Get involved! Care a lot! Give more than a damn! Give of yourself! Everyone come to the meeting and help improve YOUR class!

Eagle Eye feature staff meeting today at 1:00 in the PUB.

which has Paul singing to a beautiful melody that will quickly become a favorite. Possibly the most gorgeous piece of music in the album is "Golden Slumbers," a string thing with Paul singing like he did on "Yesterday." Wish that was longer.

"Carry That Weight"

"Carry that Weight" is just a bridge between "Slumbers" and a reprise of "You Never Give Me Your Money" and between "Money" and "The End." "Weight" is only one line repeated and you can picture the Roman legions marching into the sunset with it playing in the background. At last we're at "The End" with Paul singing "And in the end, the love you take is equal to the love you make." Never thought about it that way before, but there's a lot to think about on "Abbey Road" if you're so inclined. Enjoy the sights along the way; getting there is half the fun.

There is much concern these days about bad spelling by the younger generation. For instance, a certain college senior may well be a most bewildered young man. Finding that he had left his dungarees at home, he wrote: "Dear Mether, Please send me my genes." She replied: "Dear Son, If you don't have them by now, there is nothing I can do about it." Reader's Digest

George's other contribution is a delicate tune with great crashing cymbals and a 12-string guitar riff right out of "Badge" by Cream on which George played.

"Because" — Entire song is sung in close harmony, which is something they haven't done in a long time. If you're a Beatle freak this will remind you of "Yes It Is" from "Beatles VI." "You Never Give Me Your Money" — Typically tender McCartney ballad, but that changes at the bridge to Honky Tonk piano, accompanying Paul's "Lady Madonna" voice. After the bridge it becomes another melody with the line "1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, all good children go to Heaven." Weird.

Side Two Is Medley

The rest of side two is a medley of seven songs that seem to have no cohesive theme, but most of the parts of the whole stand up very well on their individual merits. "Sun King" starts it off in a gentle, romantic mood with soft harmony dominated by John. A nice touch is a chorus sung in Spanish and/or Italian.

"Mean Mr. Mustard" is Lennon at his best, singing of a cheap, mean, dirty old man and his sister Pam who we learn is "Polythene Pam." This short passage has got to be a tribute to The WHO, what with chorded guitar lifted out of "Tommy." Next comes "She Came In Through the Bathroom Window"

Together" as the flip. Generally recognized as George's best song to date, it's a love opus which sounds similar to "Blue Jay Way" but with good atmospheric guitar and some phasing (sounds like a marble rolling through a pipe.)

Rinky-Tink Tale

"Maxwell's Silver Hammer" — Here's one you can play with for awhile. A rinky-tink innocent sounding tale sung by Paul in his good-time "Honey Pie" — "When I'm 64" voice, but it's all an elaborately constructed ironic setting for some real down-home violence. You see, the hammer "came down on his head . . . made sure he was dead." Love the way that one syllable words like "Joan" and "scene" become "Jo-ho-ho-hoan" and "see-he-he-hene" in the style of the late Buddy Holly.

"Oh! Darling" — Paul sings of true love in a straight 1950's rock progression so reminiscent of "In the Still of the Night" and "Earth Angel." There are campy, rave-up sections using some of the same words and intensity as "Don't Let Me Down."

"Octopus's Garden" — Ringo sings of a place he'd like to go (in his yellow submarine?) where "we'll be so happy. . . no one to tell us what to do." The lyrics are rather mediocre but it's such an optimistic song with beautiful Lennon-McCartney harmony that up-and-coming composer Richard Starkey may be forgiven.

Long Monotonous Song

"I Want You (She's so Heavy)" — A very long, monotonous song with not too many words sung by John. It's this album's "Why Don't We Do It in the Road" but it's four or five times as long as "Road" and that's too bad. You might not hate this but then again you won't walk around humming it.

"Here Comes the Sun,"

(CPS) — What the hell do you say about the Beatles at this date? Every new release, single or album, is dissected, inspected, sometimes rejected, usually accepted, but never neglected. Not being one to ignore tradition (unless I feel like it), what follows is an introductory mystery tour of their new album, Abbey Road, the title of which is taken from the street in London's St. John's Woods where the E.M.I. recording studios are located. This has been the birthplace of almost every song the group has ever done since "Love Me Do," their very first single.

"Extremely Biased"

Before we begin, let me say that I have been extremely biased in favor of the Beatles through six years of the best music this side of Alber Hall, so don't expect anything like a unilateral Richard Goldstein rejection on the grounds that I can't see the forest for the trees. The L.P. contains 16 songs of varying length, 13 of which are written by Lennon and McCartney, so we'll all be racking our brains trying to come up with interpretations at least until December, when their next album will be out. I couldn't care less that there's a lot to dig for here, because without trying too hard, there's a lot to dig:

"Come Together"

"Come Together" — Sung by John, this starts out as a take-off on Chuck Berry's "You Can't Catch Me," but you soon realize there's more to it than just that. The lyrics are "Highway 61" vintage and are open to much interpretation, but we know what he's saying just from the title, don't we brothers and sisters? "Something" — Written and sung by George Harrison. This is the A-side of the single taken from the album with "Come
