As part of its reccommendation to cut state college costs, the governor's review team of business leaders has suggested that Lock Haven close Glennon Infirmary.

The suggestion was announced earlier in the week when a state appointed advisory committee presented Gov. Shapp with their reccommendations for lowering state government expenses. Vice-President for Administration Russell Milliken attended the discussion meeting Harrisbur

According to Dr. Milliken, the review team is calling for a more centralized operation of the state college system. Their report suggests that an Executive Deputy Secretary of Education be hired to supervise the state colleges, and that regional facilities be developed rather than duplicating services at each college.

The report suggests that $50,000 could be saved annually if LHS contracted their health services through the Lock Haven Hospital rather than staffing an infirmary. Additionally the review team reccommended that several other state colleges either close their infirmary or charge a health fee.

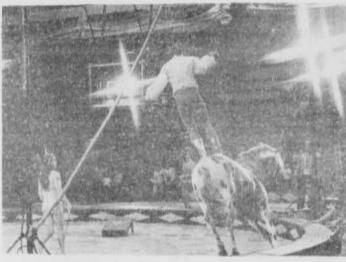

On Wednesday Dr. Milliken pointed out that these reccommendations were intentionally made without investigating whether the suggestions were feasible or conttradicted existing policies. The review team was told simply to make reccommendations wherever they felt money could be saved. Later someone will be hired to determine which applications are appli-

I feel that "Greek Speaks" columnist McComas has slighted some of his greek brothers in his noteworthy column. While he mentions Joe Nawrocki of Phi Mu Delta fraternity, he has either inadvertantly or perhaps intentionally failed to mention other greeks that are running for S.C.C. executive offices.

I wish to express my deepest appreciation to the staff of the Eagle Eye for the excellent series of articles published about the recent international affairs symposium on "As Others See Us: The American Image Abroad." You publicized and reported the event in a helpful and thoroughly com petent manner. I also wish to thank publicly the SCC's Cultural Affairs Committee, chaired by David Heverly, for providing a significant portion of the funds required to hold the conference and an grateful for the generally supportive attitudes of Mr. Heverly, Joe Euculano and other student leaders. Jane Murray, Susan Craig, Darlene Sweigart, Joe Euculano, and Maurice O'Carroll chaired symposium sessions and Sue Kisner headed a committee of students from the International Club who sct up a superb display in Sloan Lobby and assisted me in a variety of other ways. I hope that the students named above and all others who attended and participated in the symposium found it enlightening and worth their dedicated time and effort. Lastly, my apologies to everyone who attended for the delays in starting the sessions. A "socked in" Lock Haven

The Department of History, Political Science and Economics plans to conduct symposiums on international affairs on a regular basis in the future. We welcome suggestions related to enhancing their format and general appeal.

Genuine Texans make protest

To The Editor:

While we, genuine resident Texans at LHSC, appreciate President Hamblin's good taste in clothes, having observed his handsome hat and his sturdy boots, we must object to his having been mistakenly called a "resident Texan" in the Eagle Eye for October 22.

As far as we can determine, President Hamblin is a New Englander who resided for a time in Arizona, which is, indeed, in the Southwest. If he does, indeed, wish to identify himself as a Southwesterner. we are happy to welcome him into that fold of happy, friendly, and fun-loving peoples.

'Texan,' The term however, is, in Robert Frost's terms, a "praise word," and we must insist that its use be limited to those who have some certifiable claim to it.

Yours, in the memory of Alamo and Goliad.

"Fool For the City" by Foghat: It's the new Foghat. They have dropped their old bassist, Tony Stevens, and picked up Nick Jameson who plays bass, Keyboards, guitar and sings.

The first song of side one is "Fool for the City", which is a good rock n' roller. It has a series of good guitar licks by Lonesome Dave. "My Babe" is next which sounds just like the Humble Pie song, "Rolling Stone," but it is listed on the LP that Foghat wrote it. This is another quick-twmpo number. The last song is "Slow Ride" which by far is no slow ride. Foghat sounds alot like

The second side starts off with "Turraplane Blues' which sounds to me more like a filler song. It has a general beat and rhythm. The next song is "Save Your Love for Me" which is better than the last song. "Drive Me Home" is another fast pacer but this side sounds a lot alike with the first three songs runnings together. Fri. Oct. 24, 1975 EAGLE EY ictory keeps playoff hopes alive KDR retains

By GARY BRUBAKER Staff Reporter

Keeping alive their hopes for a post-season playoff bid, the Bald Eagle booters of Coach Karl Herrmann scored an easy 4-0 whitewash over a less-than-impressive Lycoming eleven Wednesday afternoon on McCollum field.

With hopes of a Western Division title and a possible Conference championship going by the wayside following last Friday's heartbreaking 1-0 loss to Slippery Rock State College, the Bald Eagles, now 9-1-1, still have hopes for an ECAC or NCAA Div. III bid as they pounded out 46 shots to just eight for their opponents and were never really challenged during the contest.

While holding the Warrior offense to just two shots the entire first half, the Eagles struck early, a Mike McCartney "header" off an Al Rice "throw-in" just 9:37 into the contest giving "the Haven" a quick 1-0 lead.

Jon Conner and Roger Berneacker combined for the Eagle's next score at 22:37 of the first stanz The duo, having given opposing teams fits all season, made it 2-0 LHS as Bernecker hit Conner with a pass from the left side, the Eagle junior slipping between two defenders and slamming a four yard shot into the right corner of the net.

The Eagles, obviously flat following their 1-0 loss to Slippery Rock, needed to be little more than that against an outcoached, under-conditioned and outclassed Warrior squad.

"We weren't up for this game,"Herrmann commented, "which is somewhat understandable following our loss last week. I t was obvious at the beginning however that they weren't going to be much of a threat."

This proved to hold true in the second half as well; Herrmann got an almost flawless job from his back four of Al Rice, Mike McCartney Sandy Bush, and Mark Sildve. A few clutch saves from outstanding Eagle goalie Steve Tanner held the Warriors scoreless in the game.

Dean Wilson scored on a "hustle" goal at 6:36 of the second period to get Lock Haven rolling, gathering in a loose ball off a Mike Seigfried shot. The ball skipped loose in front of the Warrior goal with Wilson slamming home a 10 yard shot for a 3-0 Bald Eagle lead.

Eaglettes break record with recent win

By MARY FEUSNER Women's Sports Editor

By chalking up their ninth victory with a win over Elizabethtown, the Eaglettes broke the previous school record of eight wins in a season.

For the second time this season, Monday's contests at Slippery Rock turned out to be victories for the Haven squads.

The initial playing period of the varsity game was marked by the aggressive play of both squads. The Haven attack threatened the Rock's goalie with 19 shots on goal. Cathy

Jim Doran On football

When the gun sounds on the final day of the college football season the number one team in the nation will not be decided by the top two teams battling on a football field, but by ratings that appear in newspapers. To critics the present poll system is unfair and political. They claim that it is unfair to top notch football teams who may be as good or better than the team picked as number one, and political because many coaches tend to build up the opposing teams so that a victory will improve their own teams rating.

For the past few years, the N.C.A.A. has been urged to institute a playoff system that will leave no doubt as to who is the national champion. This new system would use polls to a minor extent but the final judge would be who came out on the winning side of a championship game.

What better way to settle the Ohio St.-Oklahoma claims to the throne then to have them face off against one another and ultimately prove who deserves the national crown.

This weeks predictions:

- Penn State over Army by 38. No problem for the Lions this week. Michigan over Indiana by 35. Michigan is rolling and Indiana is not good enough to slow them down. - Pitt over Navy by 15. Dorset will sink the Middies defense.

- Southern Cal. over N.D. by 3. The Irish luck will run out against a tough Trojan team.

Sherman missed out on a lot of action due to the defensive hustle of halfbacks Lawson, Keller and Bowers and full back Jo Ernst who has been playing consistantly all season. At the half, neither team was in the lead.

A super psyched Slippery Rock squad took the field for the second half. Lock Haven appeared confident and proved their capabilities as Rudy slammed the ball into the cage for the only goal of the contest. Rudy's goal came when only three minutes had elapsed. With a 1-0 lead, the Haven could not afford to relax against the enthusiastic and skilled SRSC team.

Ronnie Lawson performed exceptionally well in the second half. The "Rockettes" were often times seen running in circles in pursuit of the Lawson dribble and dodge.

When the final whistle blew, the Eaglettes had chalked up their eighth victory. It was the third loss of the season for the Rockettes, two of which were handed to them by LHS.

Sharon Grissinger, the leading j.v. scorer, and Cheryl Wagner were responsible for the goals that kept the Haven in the lead during the j.v. contest. Grissinger took advantage of the young SRSC goalie twice in the first half.

Second half play continued back and forth for 15 minutes until the stage was set for the Wagner goal. Shortly thereafter the Slippery Rock forward line scored on a ball that crossed the striking circle catching Pam Whittaker offguard. The contest ended 3-1, another victory for the Haven second team.

The final hockey contest of the week was with Elizabethtown on the host's turf.

Ronnie Lawson was the first to get her stick on a ball that crossed in front of the E-town cage. Lawson's goal came after eight minutes of play.

Colleen Hacker was the next Haven player to take advantage of the E-town goalie. Hacker's score was a result of a rush against the defense. She stole the ball from the stick of the opposing halfback who was trying to save a previous shot.

Freshman Mary Feig was responsible for intercepting passes and sending them downfield, setting the stage for the offensive plays. At the half, the Haven had a convincing 2-0 lead.

Gina Graham and Sharon Murray pressured the E-town goalie with numerous shots on goal in the opening minutes of the second period.

score. Four minutes later with an assist from Lawson, Colleen Hacker lofted another goal into the E-town cage.

The 4-0 lead did not satisfy the Haven Attack. Gina Graham and Sharon Murray combined for a goal, two minutes after Hacker's last goal. Play continued in the Haven striking circle until Sharon Murray slammed a shot into the cage from the right wing position. The 6-0 final score was a typical indication of the Haven's game play this season.

Junior varsity competition was dominated by Lock Haven. Captain Heidi Weber led the Haven attack with numerous shots on goal and crosses. At the half, the second squad was ahead by one goal scored by Merry Hopkins midway through the plaving period.

Second half play was characterizzed by the offensive work of the Haven squad. Midway through the half, the offensive forced the E-town goalie to foul. Luann Shelley was selected to execute the penalty stroke. Her shot mised, however; the goalie fouled again and the goal Wagner Cheryl stood. concluded the scoring with a goal before time ran out. The Haven won 3-0.

the score was KDR 6, TKE 0. This six point lead stood until the final moments of play when TKE finally scored on a KDR mistake, when the KDR center John Bushic snapped the ball past the quarterback and out of the end zone for a two point safety.

The safety was too late to turn the tide and so KDR won the game with the final score showing a six to two margin of victory over TKE. at Warrior netminder Jeff Swenson and a season high 46 in the game, the Bald Eagles, despite many scoring opportunities, could only make it 4-0 LHS as the horn sounded.

"We moved the ball better in the second half," stated the Eagle head mentor. "It's not the shots or the scores that indicate how well you play we've had better days."

Herrmann added, "We dominated both periods, but obviously played better in the second stanza. But for both teams it's tough to control the ball on that kind of ground."

Herrmann, in referring to the almostrock-like surface of McCollum field in Wednesday's game added, "From a swamp in last Friday's contest to a field as hard as a rock - it (McCollum field) hurts you when you're trying to play skilled soccer."

Among its other reccommendations, the advisory report suggests that $10 million could be saved annually by increasing faculty workloads. Dr. Milliken feels that state contracts would prohibit this, however.

The advisory report reccommends that the present flat tuition fee be changed to a credit hour charge. The committee reccommends raising tuition to a $33 per hour charge for in-state students, and $60 per hour for out- ofstate students. Whenever dorm expenses exceed their revenue, the committee suggests raising dorm fees.

One aspect of the committee's report which has already been rejected is the proposal to make state college fees comparable to those of private institutions. At the meeting in Harrisburg Mr. Jack Engle read a letter suggesting this be done to place the private institutions on a more competitive level. The governor rejected this, however, citing an obligation to low tuition education
