PUB administrator pact approval delayed

SCC Accountant James Armstrong gives his report on the fiscal year of July 1, 1982 to June 1983.

The Student Cooperative Council (SCC) Senate went into two, half-hour closed sessions at Wednesday's SCC meeting. The meeting was closed to all people other than the executive committee members and senators. The campus media: the Eagle Eye, WLHC radio and television stations protested these private sessions.

The discussion, after the closed session, revealed that the senate discussed waiting two days before approving the contract of the newly hired student union administrator. According to John McNamara, president of the SCC, the two day grace period was granted after Dr. Craig D. Willis, president of Lock Haven University (LHU) asked the senate to wait until he and George Marshall, vice-president for the administration could review the administrators contract.

Willis said, "We just got the contract and we needed time to review it."

He added that the hiring of the new administrator "is really the SCC's business."

The senate voted to give the two day extension period and will be meeting on Friday night to vote on the contract.

Joe Skarbowski, Parsons Union Building (PUB) administrator said in his report, "It's my opinion the senate made a fine choice."

The SCC's Public Accountant James Armstrong gave his report on the fiscal year of July 1, 1982 to June 1983. Armstrong said the Eagle Wing Snack Bar lost $3000 (before and after leasing to Macke in April). The SCC bookstore made a profit of 20,000 dollars during the last fiscal year.

Armstrong also reminded the senate that the total loss of the Reynold's lawsuit was $53,791. He said that figures on the Hughes lawsuit were unavailable because the case has not come to court yet. Only $6,000 has been expended for lawyers fees in the Hughes case.

He said that the hiring of a student union administrator was a strong point for the SCC and he should help to profitably run the SCC business.

In other business, Gary Interdonato, SCC vice-president, presented new vehicle and election policies. Both were passed by the senate.

Interdonato explained an accident that occurred with an SCC van. He said that Dan Leech, social committee co-chairman, and Gary Titus used the van to pick up costumes for the Homecoming parade. Titus drove the van to Gross Hall and while trying to turn the van around, the van was driven into the handrail on the staircase between Gross and High Halls. Interdonato said that the gear indicator is not clear as to what gear it is in, because it is broken. He said there was about $200 damage done to the front end of the van.

McNamara informed the senate of the re-establishment of the board of state universities' presidents. He said he hopes the presidents will be able to establish some kind of rapport with the Board of Governors.

Liz Rafferty and Stacy Radd were appointed to the Student Personal Services Committee.

Other appointments were made to the Curriculum Committee. Kevin Choate was appointed for Education, Bob Cochran for Arts and Science and Pam Kirkwood for Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

The movies that are being shown in McEntire Hall were also discussed. Steve Hess, social committee chairman, said he does not want LHU to be charged with video piracy. He said the movies in residence halls are competing with the SCC sponsored movies shown in Price Auditorium. "There's no way I can compete with them."

The SCC voted to send a formal letter to Wallace Smith to ask him to change his showing times.

The SCC also announced plans to begin its own newsletter. No formal plans were discussed.

X-Rated movie opinions aired at forum

By Holly Williams

At least one mind was changed as a result of Tuesday's Open Forum on X-rated movies sponsored by the History, Political Science and Economics Club. Student Cooperative Council (SCC) Parliamentarian Matt Huber, originally against the showing of X-rated movies on campus, said that the discussion changed his mind and that he realized he had no right to impose his opinion on anyone else. Huber said that although he no longer opposed campus showing of X-rated movies, his personal feelings remained the same.

The question of showing X-rated films has been a matter of controversy since the SCC senate decided against showing the movies at the September 28 meeting.

Huber said that X-rated movies demean women and make sex seem to be an animalistic act. "They (the movies) portray the domination of the male versus the female. They cheapen sex, which is something that is beautiful," he said.

Huber said that X-rated movies are not compatible with the philosophy of the university concerning spiritual, emotional and intellectual growth. "We're not talking about censorship here, we're talking about taste," he said.

Movies of more social value should be shown instead of X-rated movies, according to Huber. "Why in God's name should X-rated movies be shown when we could have a 'Streetcar Named Desire' and some of the best movies of all time," he said.

Steve Hess, SCC Social Committee Co-Chairman, argued for the showing of X-rated films. He said that no person has the right to tell another person what to think or say.

The decision of what constitutes obscenity is the only subject that the Supreme Court has left to the individual states and communities, and Hess said that this should also apply to Lock Haven University (LHU). Hess said that movies are included in the freedom of speech section of the first amendment of the United States Constitution.

A poll was conducted by Hess to answer the question of whether LHU students really want to see X-rated movies. Two hundred and eighteen students voted in the poll, or just under 10 percent of the LHU population. Hess said that this number constitutes a representative sampling.

Seventy-eight percent of the sample voted in favor of X-rated movies being shown, while 22 percent voted against. "Clearly the vast majority of the students on this campus believe that no one has the right to tell them what they can and can not do," said Hess.

Most members of the audience felt that if people wanted to see X-rated movies they should be shown.

Senator Brian Aumiller was against the showing of the movies. He said that even though a majority of students are in favor of the movies, it does not make showing them right. He said that a standard has to be set and the majority of students might not have their priorities in order.

Robin Belitsky, a LHU student, said that students pay and activity fee and that the fee should provide for the various interests of all students.

Hess said that there is no way that an X-rated film could be shown this semester. Even if the showing of such a movie was approved by the senate, a special allocation would have to be made to pay for a movie not already scheduled. Hess said that he has been informed that such an allocation would not be appropriated.

SCC Executive Board elections coming Nov. 8

By Kelly Peluso

Student Cooperative Council (SCC) Executive Committee elections will be held on Tuesday November 8, 1983 from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m.

According to Gary Interdonato, SCC vice-president, all petitions are due by 4 p.m. today in his office in the lower level of the Parsons Union Building (PUB). He said that so far, the only petition in is his own.

Anyone in good academic standing can qualify for a position if all fees are paid, including any parking violations. He said, "The candidate must be able to fulfill the entire term of office which is one year."

"An important quality that an executive should possess is the willingness to spend time in the office without letting study habits deteriorate," said Interdonato. Another important quality is to be able to communicate well with students. "Being honest and open-minded is a necessity in this office because one has to be able to accept the fact that a movement they wanted was refused," said Interdonato.

Interdonato said that the position and function of being president is the supervising of employees and corporations. The president also chairs the senate.

The vice-president maintains vehicles and makes sure they are serviced. Interdonato said that vehicle policies are taken care of, as well as elections and referendums. "Sometimes as a special assignment from the president, the vice-president heads a committee," said Gary Interdonato. The vice-president chairs the election committee.

The PUB Administrator chairs the Parsons Community Center Executive Board (PCCEB). Interdonato said that the PUB administrator works with the Administrator. "He keeps up the PUB filling vending machines, taking care of the recreation room and the canoes."

Interdonato said the treasurer's job is to oversee finances, prepare the budget and chair the finance committee.

"It's the job of the recording secretary to be responsible for the minutes of the executive and senate meeting," said Interdonato. He said this secretary is the caretaker of all SCC documents.

One more position is the corresponding secretary. He said that this job requires the handling of all correspondence of the corporation.

"Kiss" rock-n-rolls to top in Air Band Contest

By Kim Wilkinson

The excellent turnout at Tuesday's All-Greek Council Air Band Contest illustrated Lock Haven University's (LHU) students enthusiasm for any kind of live, rock music entertainment.

Eight groups participated in the contest. The groups were judged on a scale of one to 10 in four categories: pantomiming costume/dress, portrayal of group and audience reaction.

First place and $50 was awarded to the group who portrayed Kiss. The costumes were fantastically created, allowing the spectators to actually feel they were viewing the "real" group. Kiss was pantomimed by Laurie Gurney, Linda Hepler, Liz Rafferty and Stacy Radd. They performed "Dr. Love" and "I Wanna Rock-n-Roll All Night."

Second place was awarded to the Sigma Pi brothers who portrayed the Rolling Stones. The look-alike award should have been presented to Dennis Harris for his portrayal of Mick Jagger. His jerky motions and struts made the audience cheer with anpreciation. "Satisfaction" was one of the Stones song performed.

In third place was Quarterflash. Again the lead "singer", portrayed by Sheree Deen, received enthusiastic responses from the viewers for her performance.

Another noteworthy group was the Talking Heads. The Phi Mu Delta brothers, completely garbed in white, mimed the group to the tune of "Burnin' Down the House" and "No Foolin' Around." The lead singer, portrayed by Greg Gainer, added much amusement to the group's performance as he danced around the stage with convulsive movements.

Other bands who appeared were the Clash, Golden Earring, Iron Maiden, and Quiet Riot. The various "guitarists" used such things as hockey sticks, lacrosse sticks, brooms and swords as their instruments.

Mike Babbit, president of All-Greek Council, said the group made approximately $150 which will be used for other Greek sponsored events.

"I thought the turnout was pretty good. I hope we can have more bands participating next semester," he said.

"Live-in" programs offered

Graduating college seniors, new graduates, and graduate students are invited to apply for the "live-in" Preprofessional Resident Advisor Counselor Traineeships offered at The Devereux Foundation in Suburban Philadelphia. The Devereux Foundation is a group of multidisciplinary residential and day care treatment and rehabilitation centers. The Devereux Branch is approved by the American Psychological Association for Predoctoral Internships in Clinical and Counseling Psychology. The E. L. French Vocational Rehabilitation Center is approved by the Commission on Accreditation of Rehabilitation Facilities.

Several twelve-month Mental Health Resident Advisor/Counselor Traineeships are available at Career House, an innovative, transitional, coed, residential treatment/therapeutic education facility for post-high school youth with learning and adjustment problems. The Career House collaborates with local colleges, career training schools and work placements, and also at the Center for Head Trauma, which provides an opportunity for an integrated learning experience with traumatically head-injured adolescents and young adults with concurrent learning and emotional adjustment problems.

Trainees "live-in" and receive training and supervised experience in supportive counseling and milieu therapy, crisis intervention, residential treatment, cognitive remediation, social rehabilitation and recreation therapy, and report writing. They participate in case conferences and attend clinical seminars. Experience may also be offered in selective job placements, educational therapy, and report writing. They participate in case conferences and attend clinical seminars. Experience may also be offered in selective job placements, educational therapy and academic tutoring. Applicants with prior experience in expressive media may be assigned to the Ad-junctive Therapies Program encompassing art and photography.

A stipend of $458 per month, housing and meals are offered to qualified applicants who are U.S. citizens, unmarried and at least 21 years of age. Group hospitalization and Major Medical Insurance coverage is also provided. Trainees must have the use of a fully insured personal automobile, and should be able to do their own typing. They should have a broad academic base of training and some degree of practical experience in outlined duties. Ridiculous rumors return

Tuesday's Eagle Eye, as some people seem to believe, will read: "Extra-Mass Murderer Strikes Lock Haven University."

The rumors are nearly a year old, but they're kicking up stronger than ever. It all started last year when psychic Jeanne Dixon supposedly foresaw a mass killing take place at a small state college surrounded by three cemeteries.

As time passed, though, the talk quieted--until recently. Yep, the new rumor circulating is that the murder will take place of all times, this weekend--Halloween weekend. Not only that, but many seem to have limited it to taking place on a certain floor in a certain dormitory.

This is ridiculous! We've all undoubtedly heard about the early days of radio when, in one fictional broadcast program entitled "War of the Worlds," Orson Welles created a disaster because people listening actually thought that the Earth was under alien attack.

While this situation may not be nearly on the scale of "War of the Worlds," people seem to be reacting in a similar way. Many are leaving Lock Haven for the weekend, fearing the inevitable. Other, in a more Halloween spirited manner, are laughing it off and making rather corny jokes about it.

Isn't it ironic that this weekend is the date randomly picked for the mass murder to take place. John Carpenter may have done more than he ever thought possible when he created his movie "Halloween." It would do him proud, I'm sure. Could it be, though, that witches, ghouls, and goblins will come and have their greatest day ever. Or will it be Carpenter's boogey-man.

Sorry to ruin some of your Halloween's folks, but it will be no one. Not only are there many state colleges surrounded by cemeteries, but Jeanne Dixon has never before made any prediction like this. She deals with stars and political predictions, not deaths.

The power of suggestion has won again. Why is it that we consistently believe the worst and disregard the best?

Food service abilities questioned

Dear Editor:

This letter has to deal with our dining hall food service here on campus, and its so called "ability" to prepare the food that we eat.

Earlier this week while eating dinner at the facility, a friend of mine commented on the potatoes he was attempting to eat. The group I was eating with joked about the food that night and one of them told me I should take a potato to one of the managers and ask him if he would eat it. Well, I did, and after asking him if he would eat it, he squeezed the hard, wrinkled, dried-up vegetable that looked like a WW II leftover and simply replied, "No, I would not."

I then told him, "Well that's what you're serving us." He then wanted to know if they were all like the one I showed him. I said, "No, but there are others that are like it," and left.

I feel this story is necessary to bring up my point. I realize it is hard to prepare food to please a college community, but enough is enough. This is my third semester here at Lock Haven, and the food is considerably worse than last year. I find it very hard to maintain a balanced diet when someone has to eat meat that is 30% fat, green vegetables that are 60% cold, and potatoes that are 100% terrible.

I'm sure that these are not only my views. I continually hear the student population (and even faculty members) complaining about the food. I'm sure most people feel that if he/she is paying good money for room and board, then only the best should be returned.

In closing, I would like to make a suggestion to the administration of the school. If our present food service company is not able to keep up the standards of American food consumption (i.e. something worth eating), consider hiring a new company whose policies and actions will please our university students.

Sincerely,
Michael Bender

Getting back to basics

By Dr. Michael Brady

"Back to Basics" is a current educational term for a return to an emphasis in the more traditional courses, namely the 3Rs, by our public school systems.

Here at Lock Haven University we have been experiencing the effects of straying from the principle. We have to offer too many courses at the college level whose content should be found in a basic high school program. This, however, is necessary to make up for deficiencies. One might think that with the electronic calculator and the introduction of computers into the classroom, mathematical skills have become obsolete. The truth of the matter is that mathematics is a great deal more than arithmetic computation. Logical reasoning is a basic underlying principle in any problem solving situation. The figures must be gleaned from the problem and then the decision as to what to do with them must be made. Only then does calculation come into play and tools usable to produce an arithmetic result.

One thing that can be done to take us back to basics is to require more mathematics for graduation from high school. Another is to attract more qualified mathematics teachers to the secondary schools. Maybe this means more mathematics and less pedagogy at the college level or a salary competitive with business and industry. For students at the University who may question their mathematics preparation, there is help. The Mathematics Service Division in Akeley 104 provides placement testing and tutoring, so stop in and find out the details.

Wellness is 1983-84 theme

By George F. Rhodes

Dean of Students

I am very pleased to have been asked to be a guest columnist. There have been some changes in the Student Personnel Division this year. Dr. Mary Pursell is temporarily filling the position as Associate Dean of Students. She will be working especially with student services such as career development, undeclared majors, faculty relations, tutoring and other programs.

Most of the temporary housing problems have been resolved.

There are many programs of educational and vocational nature planned for the school year and even though they are presented in the residence halls, they are open to all students. Our theme for this year is WELLNESS. We have planned presentations, lectures, and films stressing this concept. This year we have expanded our scope on leadership training and will present workshops to all groups and interested individuals. We wish to accommodate most interest groups in our planning but at times a program will be planned and very few will attend. We all need to strive to improve communications. The Division of Student Personnel is maintained for the student. If we can be of any help to you please feel free to contact us. The only stupid question is one that isn't asked. Lock Haven University is great because it is small and this smallness gives us the opportunity to be of service to more students. We will do just as we hope you will do; the best we have with what we have.

My best wishes for the rest of the school year.

Phi Mu Delta serves community

Kim Wilkinson
News Editor

The Phi Mu Delta (PMD) fraternity, started in the 1960's, is a fraternity that is dedicated to serving the college and community, according to John Newcomer, president of PMD.

Its recent dance marathon is but one example. The fraternity also donates funds and time to the Infant Development Center, the Headstart Program and Susqueview.

At present, PMD has 25 active brothers and three pledges. Newcomer said, "The fraternity looks for a future brother who is a hard worker and who thinks he has something to offer the fraternity. Chuck Levengood, vice-president of PMD added, "You only get what you put into the fraternity."

There are 11 little sisters in the fraternity. The organization does not accept pledges in the fall. Newcomer said, "The little sister organization is an auxiliary group to the fraternity." He added that the little sister program is very beneficial to the fraternity. He said that they help the fraternity through their projects. "They are just like sisters."

"The alumni of the fraternity endeavors to help us out whenever we need them," said Newcomer. He said that the alumni has recently put a new roof on the house and is now working on a new bathroom.

Annual coin-athon to benefit aging program

The annual Penny-athon traditionally held by the Sigma Kappa Sorority, will take place Saturday, from 10 am until 2 pm. Once again, a ribbon will be stretched from J.C. Penny's to the State Store. The only difference this year will be the name. It will now be known as the Coin-athon. All coins will be accepted as donations instead of only pennies. The purpose of this event is to raise money for the Sigma Kappa gerontology program. The federal government will match one dollar to every cent raised. All money raised goes to the Bicounty Office of the Aging. This year's goal is to get coins lined up from one end of the ribbon to the other.

Associate program unique

Kim Wilkinson
News Editor

The largest fraternity on campus, Lambda Chi Alpha (LCA), is unique on Lock Haven University's (LHU) campus due to its associate program, according to Steve Hellgren, LCA president.

There are 44 active brothers and 11 associates. According to Hellgren, associates have the same rights as the brothers, except that the associates have not gone through their ritual. The fraternity does not believe in hazing.

Glen Ardis, LCA public relations director said, "We feel that hazing does not benefit us in any way, shape or form."

Hellgren said, "The brothers look for people who will put forth an effort that will benefit campus life, the community and the brotherhood."

LCA has 30 little sisters. They do not take prospective sisters in the fall. Hellgren said the little sisters help to support the brothers' projects.

Mark Robbins, LCA brother said, "We integrate them into our programs." LCA has a number of annual sponsored, charity events. Every semester it sponsors an international party. Hellgren described this event as a chance to meet the exchange students and to help integrate them into college activities.

Another event is Operation Kidnap. This is a mock kidnapping of such people as the mayor or president of LHU for a ransom of canned goods for the Salvation Army. This event will be taking place during the week of November 10.

Annual spring events include LCA's 24 hour Volleyball Marathon and the 48 hour Bounce-athon.

Scholarship hotline to begin ringing tomorrow

LENOX - Mass. A 24-hour national scholarship hotline will begin a two-day operation this Saturday starting at 5 a.m. eastern daylight time, its operator said today.

George C. Jordan III, president of Scholarship Research of America, said that there are too many students who do not know where to find the answers to financing next year's college education and students are frustrated by the dilemma especially this time of year with graduation and future plans not in place.

Jordan said his high speed computer data-bank contains millions of dollars in free scholarship aid. There is even a money-back guarantee that SRA will deliver at least five sources of scholarships or the fee will be returned. And, according to Jordan, if the computer generates only four sources the student or his or her parents will get their money back along with the four sources.

Computer fees reduced

Last month Jordan announced that he had reduced his computer search fees from $60 down to $39.95—a saving of nearly 50%.

THE SCHOLARSHIP HOT LINE NUMBER IS 413-637-1734.

The caller should be prepared to give his or her name and address including zip code. An informational packet will be forwarded within two weeks.

Overnight service

For those who wish overnight service, they should mail $1 to Box 421, Lenox, MA 01240. Along with the packet of information, a one-page outline on "Education: The Tiddlywinks Scholarship" which tells one how to get free scholarship is included.

Jordan said the reason for opening up the telephone lines at such an early hour was to give those people on the west coast a chance to call. Remember, telephone rates on Saturday and Sunday are reduced for out-of-state calls.

Jordan said he wishes to help students who desire to go to college but that lack the financial resources.

Businessmen must volunteer

As President Reagan said, businessmen have to volunteer their services from time to time. "If I can help one student go to the college of his choice, then I shall feel that this alternative service of finding financial funding will all have been worthwhile.

"We have not done our job as a service oriented business if we deliver only four. Some of the students who have filled out the student data form and paid the processing fee have received between 10 and 12 sources of financial aid," Jordan said.

This service is complete. The student will receive a printout of the source of the scholarship with an address, the deadline date for applying, value, eligibility facts and other pertinent information.

"Students should continually plan their future. At SRA, we attempt to help pave the way in an effort to reduce the financial burden on students and their families," he said.

Millions of dollars granted

In 1981, nearly $131 million in scholarships were awarded 320,085 students while service grant-in-aid of some $32 million was given to 67,934. Some 400,000 students earned nearly $145 million in part-time work while colleges and universities loaned nearly $24 million to 61,819 students, according to the U.S. Office of Education.

Yet, students and parents do not always know where to seek financial aid. Perhaps the new scholarship hot-line service will help to resolve the problem as noted. The number is 413-637-1734.

Maetozo appointed to committee

Dr. Matthew G. Maetozo, dean of the college of Health, Physical Education, Recreation, and Athletics (HPER&A) at Lock Haven University (LHU), was recently appointed to the organizing committee of the Olympic Scientific Congress which will take place the week before the Summer Olympic Games (July 19-26, 1984) at the University of Oregon.

During the week long event, experts and interested people from all over the world will attend different programs and presentations dealing with many aspects of sports. Administrators and coaches from throughout the world will attend to gain knowledge of new happenings in their fields of concentration and the whole scope of sports.

Maetozo will be responsible for program presentations in the area of Sport and Aging. He will present some programs and will also coordinate others. Maetozo said he is now looking into research that is going on world-wide. He will invite different researchers to join him in the presentations of programs on Sport and Aging. Maetozo will also be a member of the editorial committee responsible for writing the proceedings which will be published.

Maetozo said, "It's terrific because it's a world push in the area of Sports and Aging." He said the research is needed because with the general better medical care people are receiving, populations consist of more older people. These people are active, he said, making knowledge of Sports and Aging necessary.

Maetozo is the author, contributor or editor of more than 100 articles and 10 books and booklets published in the United States.

A recent recipient of the Cottrell Memorial Award, the highest state award of the Pennsylvania Association for HPER & A, Maetozo also became the 35th person honored with the Distinguished Alumnus Award by Springfield College for contributors to physical education and

New service to benefit post-graduate students

A major new service for students who are thinking ahead to decisions about post-graduate and professional degrees and future careers has been announced by the Law School Admission Council and the Law School Admission Services. Developed by the organizations that administer the Law School Admission Test (LSAT), the new service is called The Law Package.

A four-part program of publications, services and self-evaluation materials, The Law Package will help students explore and evaluate their interest in law school. Students can take a "tryout LSAT" and request that the Law School Admission Services score it for their eyes only. They can use the results to evaluate their strong points and weak points.

The Law Package will also help students explore questions about the admission process and law school, the aims of legal education, and the range of careers available with a law degree. To assist those who decide to apply to law school, The Law Package provides a guide to the admission process.

The Law Package will help students make important decisions about professional training and careers. It is designed to acquaint students with the analytical thinking and problem-solving abilities they will develop in law school, and help them decide whether they really want a career in law.

Freshmen and sophomores who are indecisive about their career paths will benefit from this introduction to legal education and legal careers.

Available from the Law School Admission Services for just ten dollars, The Law Package includes:

You, the Law and Law School, a book that describes legal career options and what to expect in law school; key facts about U.S. and Canadian law schools; a bibliography of prelaw readings; preparation materials for the LSAT, including details about the nature of LSAT questions; and a sample LSAT with an answer key for self-scoring.

The Test, a tryout LSAT that students can take and return to LSAC for a confidential analysis of their test results.

Information on Five Law Schools that students designate on The Law Package data form.

The Admission Process: A Guide, a booklet that describes major factors that law schools consider in reviewing applicants; financial aid information; and additional sources of information relative to legal education and the admission process.

Students who desire more information can request "The Law Package Brochure" by writing to: Law School Admission Services, Box 500, Newtown, PA 18940.

Collegiate choral festival to be held at WCU

The 1983 Pennsylvania Collegiate Choral Association Festival is scheduled for November 3, 4, and 5 at West Chester University. Host, Lois Williams, has invited Dr. Donald Neuen to be this year's guest conductor. He is Professor of Conducting and Director of Choral Activities at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, New York.

The program for the Festival Concert will include the music of Bach, Handel, Haydn, Mendelssohn, a Puccini "Gloria," Casals' "O Vos Omnes" and Youmans' "Great Day." The three-day Festival will culminate with a Concert on Saturday afternoon at 3:30 in Philips Auditorium on the West Chester University campus. The Concert is open to the public, admission $3.00 per person.

Mr. Gary Renzelman, head of Choral and Vocal Activities at Lock Haven University, will accompany twelve LHU students to West Chester for the Festival: Joy Anderson, Butler; Brian Arndt, Spring Mills; Perry Bartlett, Williamsport; Laura Bickel, Lewistown; James Blachek, Montrose; Sue Funt, Montoursville; Linette Rimmey, Centre Hall; Mark Smith, Mountville; Michael Sundberg, Jersey Shore; Kevin Thompson, Northport, N.Y.; Wanda Yearick, Mill Hall; and Mary Hurst, Lock Haven.

SCC sponsoring trip to dance theatre

The SCC Cultural Affairs Committee is sponsoring a "Pilot Run" trip to the Alvin Ailey American Dance Theatre at Penn State University. This program is an entirely new horizon being explored by the committee. PSU has an elaborate artist series that Lock Haven University is unable to offer due to enrollment and funding. Their series consists of some of the top production companies in the country.

The committee has decided to offer the students a 50% reduction in ticket price, and free transportation to and from PSU.

Hopefully, this will lure interested students to take advantage of an opportunity of a lifetime.

Students are always saying that they don't get their "monies worth" (concerning activities fees), and this is an attempt to prove to them that the SCC is dedicated to offering them numerous activities in which they can "cash-in" on.

If enough interest is generated, this pilot run may very well turn into a permanent service offered through the SCC Cultural Affairs Committee.

Ferguson, Heiges key hockey win

By Dave Prusak

Two players scored their first goal in over a month, and another scored her twentieth of the year, to help the Lock Haven University (LHU) women's field hockey team defeat host Bucknell 4-1 on Monday.

The victory gave the Division II number one ranked Lady Eagles a perfect 14-0 record entering this weekend's PSAC championship tournament.

On Monday, LHU's Wendy Heiges picked up an errant Bucknell pass just fifty-five seconds into the game and fired a shot past goalie Cindy Barbosa. The goal was the first for Heiges in over a month.

At the 3:18 mark, Lori Ferguson took a Heiges pass, dodged a Bucknell defender, and scored to give LHU a 2-0 lead. The goal was number three for Ferguson this year, her first in over a month.

Just when LHU looked like they would have a comfortable 2-0 advantage at half, Bucknell scored. Bucknell's Cindy Freistat converted a penalty stroke at 33:19 to cut the LHU lead in half.

Second half action went back and forth until Heiges scored at 15:17 to give the Lady Eagles a 3-1 lead. The goal was number eight for Heiges this year.

With three minutes left in the game, LHU's Sherry Derr deflected a Donna

Graupp shot into the cage. The goal was number twenty for Derr this year. The assist was the first for freshman Graupp.

LHU accumulated an astounding 45 shots on goal to 15 for Bucknell. LHU had 15 penalty corners, while Bucknell had only four. Bucknell's Barbosa stopped 26 shots, while LHU's Kate Murphy saved 14.

Following the win, LHU captain Ann Grim said, "In the beginning of the game we weren't very aggressive. We were much better positioned in the last twenty minutes of the game."

"Our first two goals were scored quickly, and we caught Bucknell off guard. The 4-1 final wasn't indicative of the good game," she added.

LHU's Murphy said, "Bucknell surprised me. They (Bucknell) have a good team. Our defense consisting of Joan Laird, Bonnie Lassen, and Patti Gillespie did a lot of good marking."

LHU coach Sharon Taylor said, "We played our best hockey of the year during the final twenty minutes of the game. At that point we were very aggressive, and on the ball at all times."

Coach Taylor added, "Tracy Coates had another good game. Wendy Heiges played her best game since early in the season. Donna Graupp played very well."

The top seeded Lady Eagles (14-0) will host fourth seeded West Chester (7-8) in the first game of the PSAC championship tournament today at 1 p.m. Kutztown (11-0) will play Bloomsburg (12-2-1) in the second game at 3 p.m. today. The winners will meet for the championship tomorrow.

LHU defeated West Chester 4-1 earlier this year. West Chester is the only Division I team in the tourney, accounting for their 7-8 record. Kutztown defeated Bloomsburg 2-1 in overtime during the regular season.

Of West Chester, LHU coach Taylor said, "We beat them earlier, and I know they will be gunning for us." Grim said, "West Chester will give us a good game. All of the teams in the championship tourna-

Eagles prepped to invade Indians

By Mark Mahoney

The LHU football team will be trying to end a three game losing skid this Saturday, with the obstacle in the way of that goal being the Indiana University Indians.

The Indians were very much in contention for the PSAC West Division crown up until last week, when they lost to Clarion 35-24. In that game, IUP ran up 503 yards in total offense, with a school record 31 first downs, and intercepted three Clarion passes. The Indians still ended up on the short end of the score.

The loss dropped the Indians to 2-2 in the conference and 3-4 overall.

The Indians beat California 35-21, and Edinboro, 23-21, while losing to Slippery Rock, 15-14 and Clarion in conference play.

The Indians have a potent running and passing attack. Fullback Bill Thompson has rushed for 485 yards on 98 carries and 5 TD's. Dave Seidel, who splits his time between fullback and tailback, has 451 yards on 103 carries and 2 TD's.

Quarterback Rich Ingold has six receivers who have caught 15 or more passes. Ingold has completed 129 of 225 passes for 1652 yards, 9 TD's and 10 interceptions.

The Indians' leading pass catcher is wide receiver Gregg Brenner who has 31 receptions for 425 yards and two TD's. Split End Jim Spence has caught 20 for 309 yards and a touchdown.

Thompson has also caught 20 passes for 241 yards and 2 TD's.

The Indian offense can move the ball up and down the field fairly well, but they sometimes have trouble putting points on the board.

The offensive line averages around 270 lbs per player, so they can take control of the line of scrimmage.

On defense, the Indians have some talented players. Kenny Moore, the team's leading tackler, is a second team All American, and first team All ECAC Free Safety. Moore has 67 tackles, 27 of which are unassisted.

IUP's best linebacker, Paul Scruppi, is out for the season with a neck injury. The slack is being picked up by sophomore linebacker Kevin Cottrells.

The defensive line, which averages 250 lbs. per player, is anchored by Brett Shugarts, who can play either nose guard or defensive tackle.

Clarion was the first team to score more than 30 points against the Indians, who have given up an average of only 19.4 points per game.

Bald Eagle Coach Jack Fisher says, "We have to look at this game realistically, we know we are underdogs." However, he also says, "We have some things going for us. We are playing at home and the kids want to show that they are capable of playing good football. Also IUP lost last week to take them off the contention."

The Bald Eagles are now 2-5 and 0-4 in the conference, and are now playing for pride.

After IUP, the Bald Eagles face Edinboro and Mansfield. "The team has set a goal to win at least two of our last three ballgames."

The first chance comes on Saturday at Jack Stadium. The game begins at 2:00.

Men, women take 11th, 8th

By Christa Landas

The 1983 men's PSAC cross-country championships were held Saturday at East Stroudsburg University (ESU) with the Bald Eagles finishing in eleventh place.

Indiana University grabbed first place honors by accumulating only 36 points. Millersville finished second with 93 markers, and Slippery Rock captured third place with 101. The Lock Haven squad completed the conference meet with 295 points.

Brian Ferrari of California State University won the PSAC Championship in 25:02.8.

IUP was able to take the meet by placing five runners in the top ten. IUP's runners garnered the fourth, sixth, seventh, ninth, and tenth spots.

Although eleventh place sounds like a disappointing conclusion to a meet, the Eagles had their best one to seven split this season. Only a minute and twenty-nine seconds separated the LHU runners.

Frank Pasaniti took the top place honors for the Bald Eagle men as he finished 52nd in a time of 27:19.4. Dave Perry was 54th; John Cope, 59th; Bud Murphy, 62nd; Ken Toner, 68th; Mike Eidenshink, 76th and Craig Yaksoe, 78th for Lock Haven.

Ninety-seven entrants ran in Saturday's PSAC men's championship meet. Coach Dolan was not displeased with the performances his team turned in, because the Pennsylvania Conference is so competitive. "Frank Pasaniti and Dave Perry ran very well. Our entire team did as well as, or a little better than, in the regular season," he said.

The NCAA Regional meet is next for the Eagles as they travel to Boston, Massachusetts on Saturday.

The top three finishing teams at Regionals will go to the national competition. The top four individuals, not already on one of the three teams, who finish in the top fifteen will also compete.

The women's PSAC cross-country championships were also held at ESU and the Lady Bald Eagles finished in eighth. Coach Leroy Straley said, "We came back to avenge early season losses to Bloomsburg and Millersville."

IUP won the team competition by compiling 52 points. West Chester took second place honors, and Kutztown wound up in third. LHU had a total of 194 points and placed ahead of four teams.

West Chester University's Lisa Young won the individual honors by completing the 3.1 mile course in 18:05.

In first for the Bald Eagles was Dawn Eid, who finished sixteenth in a time of 19:16. LHU's other finishers in the PSAC meet were Pam Noll, 37th; Kathy Staib, 52nd; Jo Kent, 56th and Louise Bashore, 66th.

The Lady Eagles had a good one to five split of 2:30, and ran consistently with their earlier season performances.

Eighty-four women entrants took part in the PSAC race at East Stroudsburg Saturday.

"It would have been great to beat Shippensburg and California. On Saturday at the NCAA Regionals we will have another shot at them," Straley said. The women's meet will, also, be run at Boston.

Soccer teams bounces back with a 4-2 win over Bucknell Bisons

By Rocco Pallotto

The Bald Eagle soccer team finally got back on the winning track Tuesday night as they defeated Bucknell by a 4-2 count.

It took LHU a while to get warmed up, but once they got rolling they didn't let up the entire first half. Robbie Gould, an All-American from Neptune, NJ, got the Eagles started as he scored at the 19:52 mark off an assist by soph Steve Paguia.

Another sophomore figured in the next goal as Pat McKenna scored off a feed from freshman Sean Perry less than two minutes later.

Senior co-captain Alan Dawson put LHU up 3-0 as he picked up an unassisted goal with 28:30 gone in the first half.

Scoring leader John Lucosky closed out the Bald Eagle scoring at the 40:30 mark off Perry's second assist of the evening.

"Two Lock Haven teams turned up last night," commented Eagle coach Mike Parker. "In the first half was the best looking Lock Haven team of the year and in the second half, the worst."

Gould felt the same way. "The first 45 minute half was the best we've played all year, but the second half was the worst we've played."

The other senior co-captain, Dave Lam, was duly impressed with the Eagles first half. "We played like animals the first half."

Parker was somewhat sympathetic of his 10-2-1 Bald Eagle squad. "In a way it's understandable because it was so easy in the first half. It was so easy that we just came out flat in the second half and expected to coast home. But from my point it's unexcusable. It's the old story of one changing the momentum. It's hard to get back."

Lam noted that there aren't too many teams that will be able to beat the Eagles if they continue to play like they did in the first half. The second half was a different story, however. "To be perfectly honest the game left a question mark about our capabilities."

Said Gould, "If we are going to have a chance to win nationals, we're going to have to play good for 90 minutes."

The Bald Eagles will gear up for their biggest game of the year with a home contest Saturday against Shippensburg. "We're going to have to do better than that (the Bison game) Saturday and, put 90 minutes together on Shippensburg," said Parker.

The Eagles take on pre-season favorite IUP November 1 in a game that could be for a trip to the national finals. A win against IUP and another against Slippery Rock on November 5 would put them in the conference finals.

Robbie Gould, a two-time All American on the nationally ranked Bald Eagle soccer squad, was drafted in the fourth round of yesterday's Major Indoor Soccer League draft. Gould was selected by the St. Louis Steamers. The MISL, according to Lock Haven coach Michael Parker, is the most stable of the three professional soccer leagues. St. Louis is one of the strongest franchises in the league, and Parker feels that Gould will get a fair chance to make the squad. Gould is the fourth Bald Eagle player to be drafted by the professional ranks. The NASL and ASL will be conducting their drafts in the next three weeks, and Parker feels that Gould will have a good shot at being drafted by these leagues as well.

ATHLETES OF THE WEEK

Pat McKenna

Soccer

Pat McKenna has been selected as the male athlete of the week. McKenna, a sophomore on the nationally ranked Bald Eagle soccer squad, scored one of four goals in the Lock Haven victory over Bucknell this week.

McKenna has been an intergraded part of the Bald Eagle squad this year, but will now be forced to sit out this remainder of the 1983 season. The sophomore forward has calcium deposits in the leg, and is not expected to be in playing shape for another month.

The play of McKenna will be missed as the Bald Eagles prepare for a key match-up against Shippensburg tomorrow.

Tracy Coates

Field Hockey

Tracy Coates has been chosen as the female athlete of the week. Coates, a senior on the top ranked Lady Eagle squad, produced the game winning goal against East Stroudsburg last week and two goals against Shippensburg to help the Bald Eagles to victories.

Coates has scored seven goals so far this season, as well as assisting on another goal. Because of her strong shooting ability, the right wing is the Bald Eagle chosen to shoot the penalty shots in game situations.

A special education major, Coates will be one of the keys to the success of the Lady Eagles in this weekends PSAC championship tournament. That tournament begins today at 1:00.

College tuition remission programs being reviewed

House Bill 3525, a Congressional bill that would establish several criteria for determining the tax liability of college tuition remission programs, is currently being reviewed by the House Ways and Means Committee in Washington. The 4500 faculty members represented by the Association of Pennsylvania State College and University Faculties (APSCUF) are monitoring the proceedings with great interest, according to Dr. G. Terry Madonna, APSCUF President.

During the mid-1970's, until 1978, the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) held that tuition remission programs were taxable fringe benefits. There has been a long-standing disagreement between the IRS and a number of national organizations representing faculty and administrators, said Madonna.

College and university teachers and officials argued that under Section 117 of the Internal Revenue Code, fee waiver programs were scholarship programs, and therefore not taxable.

In 1978, Congress established a moratorium prohibiting the IRS from taxing the fee waiver benefits until Congress could review the matter. The moratorium expires December 31, 1983. At the present time, with House Bill 3525 proposed, indications are that the leaders of the House Ways and Means Committee would like to resolve the issue rather than continue the moratorium.

The criteria contained in the Bill are as follows: (1) In order to be free from taxation, the benefit would be available only at the home institution of the employee; (2) The benefit must be available to substantially all employees in the same classification, i.e., for faculty members, and/or maintenance and clerical people, and/or college administrators; (3) The benefit may not also discriminate just in favor of highly compensated employees.

It is important to note that House Bill 3525 would permit fee waivers at home institutions and remain non-taxable. The benefit would be available to spouses and dependent children for undergraduate work only.

Passage of House Bill 3525 would amend section 117 of the IRS Code to make permanent the non-taxable status of home-based fee remission. Tuition exchange is an issue that is very important to APSCUF, which represents the faculty at the 14 state-owned universities in Pennsylvania. Currently these faculty have no provision for tuition exchange. If HB 3525 is passed in its current form, all tuition exchange programs which might be enacted later could be deemed taxable.

Historically, fee waiver programs date back to the beginning of the 20th century. Many ante-date the 16th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, which made possible the Federal Income Tax.

Since the 1950's, both the Treasury Department and the United States Supreme Court have recognized fee waiver programs as scholarships, under Section 117 of the Internal Revenue Code. Before 1977 the IRS even issued a ruling to a university acknowledging that the fee waiver program in effect there would be regarded as a scholarship, and would not be counted in the gross income of the employees. It was only in 1977, after a one-day hearing, that the Commissioner of Internal Revenue changed that position.

President Madonna said he believes tuition remission programs meet the tests for scholarships under Section 117. Those tests require that they not be compensation for services; that the recipient is not performing a substantial service to the institution in return for the scholarship; and that the purpose of the scholarship is not for the benefit of the granting institution.

It should be noted that the reference in the tests is to the spouse or dependent child, not the faculty member.
