MANY LEADING EDUCATORS SPEAK AT CENTRAL P. S. E. A. CONVENTION

Teachers Hear Three College Presidents, Dr. Paul Voelker, Dr. Ralph Hetzel, Dr. H. C. Minnich, and Dr. E. C. Hartwell, Superintendent of Buffalo, N. Y., Schools

The annual convention of the central district, Pennsylvania State Education Association, was held at this college on Thursday and Friday, October 2 and 3, in conjunction with the Clinton County Institute. The theme this year was "Improvement in Instruction." The educators, whose lectures proved both a help and an inspiration to those teachers who had the privilege of attending the conference sessions.

At 10 o'clock Thursday morning the first lecture was given by Dr. H. C. Minnich, president of Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, on the subject, "How to Convert Social Objectives into Social Traits." He spoke of the incidental development of social traits, of the development of these traits in the school, and of the small contribution school subjects have made to the development of such traits.

Mr. W. Lee Gilmore, of Oakmont, Pennsylvania, president of the Pennsylvania State Education Association, then addressed the assembly on the subject of "The Relief Objectives of the Pennsylvania State Education Association."

The Thursday evening session of the convention had as its speakers, Dr. Paul Voelker, President of Battle Creek College, Battle Creek, Mich., and Dr. R. D. Hetzel, President of the Pennsylvania State College. Dr. Voelker delivered his address on "Failure and Success as Educational Factors." Dr. Hetzel spoke on "Character Building."

Dr. Voelker developed the theme that while there must be failure in life it is more important that there be successes. It is the duty of the teacher to know the failures in the pupils but he should not crush success out of them. So often this is done and boys and girls fail simply because the teacher does not take the right kind of interest.

Dr. Hetzel delighted his audience with his address on "Character Building." A highly individual type of humor lightened his speech at many points. In our colleges, he said, are found three factors which make difficult the training of the students for the highest standards of citizenship. These factors, carried to the college campus from the elementary schools, are self-conceit, group hysteria, and satisfaction with mediocrity. Mere changes in the school curriculum cannot change those attitudes. The missing quality, like the missing quality in Mrs. Shelley's "Frankenstein," is the breath of divinity.

An interesting musical program, furnished by the State Teachers College, supplemented the lectures of the evening. Miss Jean Swayne, accompanied by Lillian Rohde, sang two numbers, "Love's a Merchant," and "Top o' the Morning." Miss Warrane Scott sang "Indian Lullaby." She was accompanied by Miss Rohde. As a second selection both Miss Scott and Miss Rohde sang "Lullaby Moon." Both are members of last year's graduating class and are now teaching at Woolrich. Miss Swayne is at present a student in the College.

Dr. E. C. Hartwell, superintendent of schools at Buffalo, N. Y., in his address on "The Fixed Factors of the Problem," said that the factors necessary for education were relatively fixed. The elements are, first, time in compulsory education; second, the financial limits set by the community and third, the intellectual limits set by the class.

Dr. Milo B. Hillegas, educator at Columbia Teachers College, and noted for his language scale, lectured on "The Elements of Good Teaching." He sketched the elements which were included under this heading up to this time, and enlarged on his suggestions for improved teaching.

Using an illustration from Russell Conwell's lecture, "Acres of Diamonds," Dr. Hillegas said that we should look in our own back yards for good teaching. "This," he said, "is not rare. Good teaching is never difficult; learning is something boys and girls must do for themselves; and teachers must arrange proper inducements for study. Expression, exercise, and the reason which children can recognize, are the elements of good teaching."

Dr. Hillegas and Dr. Hartwell spoke also at the closing program of the convention. In his talk "The School and the Public," Dr. Hillegas urged the teachers to endeavor to win understanding and sympathy for their work by explaining it to the public as completely as possible. Dr.

Kermit Stover Represents the College at Y Meeting

Kermit Stover represented the State Teachers College at the regular fall meeting of the Middle Atlantic Field Council of the Y. M. C. A., which was held over the week end of October 3 in the Y cabin a few miles from the campus of the Pennsylvania State College.

The Council is composed of representative students, faculty members, and student secretaries from colleges in Pennsylvania, New York, Maryland, and West Virginia. Prominent members of the Council who were present are L. C. Wilson, the Executive Secretary; David R. Porter, the Executive Secretary of the Student Division of the National Council of the Y. M. C. A.; Frank T. Wilson, formerly a missionary in India, now giving his time to inter-racial relationships in Y. M. C. A. work; and Ray Sweetman, formerly a missionary in China.

The council made plans for holding their annual winter and spring conferences. The winter conference is to be held at Buckhill Falls in February and the Spring Conference at Forrest Park in June.

Mr. Stover, the S. T. C. representative, arrived at the conference Friday evening, remaining for all the sessions. Dr. Weber, Mr. Ulmer, and Mr. Williams, all of the faculty, arrived on Sunday morning and attended the closing sessions of the meeting.

At the meeting Dr. Weber was elected to the Executive Committee of the Middle Atlantic Field Council of the Y. M. C. A.

The Flemington Borough schools have three Teachers College alumni on the staff: Bessie Stevens, fifth and sixth grades, Lena Stevens, second grade, and Georgia Hursh, first grade.

Ushering in the 1930 football season with a bang, Coach Morgan's Raiders rode rough-shod over the Susquehanna University Jayvees by the one-sided score of 73-0 on the new college gridiron last Saturday afternoon. A large crowd, both of students and of townspeople, were on hand to watch the results of the past month's practice. In spite of the one-sided score the locals did not show their best form due largely to the hot weather and also to the fact that the field was comparatively new to them, having had the opportunity of working out only once or twice before the day of the game.

The local American Legion Post sent its standard-bearers and guards, who, with the addition of a Lock Ha-

Hartwell, in his talk "The Artist Teacher," said that the real objectives of education are attitudes of mind, capacities, ideals, and habits, and that the important thing in a teacher is the ability to stimulate pupils in the proper direction.

Preceding these two addresses, an enjoyable program was presented by members of the Teachers College faculty. Miss Whitwell sang a group of three songs, Miss Arey gave two amusing readings, and Miss Larabee played several piano numbers.

The afternoon session of the convention was devoted to group meetings. Superintendent Robert E. Laramy, of Altoona, and Associate Superintendent Guy, of Pittsburgh, spoke in the meeting of District Superintendents. George Zerfoss, of Clearfield, was elected president for the coming year. In the Senior High School group Mr. Guy gave a talk. Mr. Reagan I. Hoch, of Lock Haven, is the president elect. Emory M. Ferris, of Cornell University, and Superintendent C. W. Lillibridge, of McKean County, addressed the County Superintendents. The president-elect is J. C. Marsh, Superintendent of the Tioga County Schools.

"Guidance" was the topic for discussion of the Junior High School meeting. Madalyn Wright, of Williamsport, and Harold Holbrook, of Harrisburg, spoke. John Beck, of Lock Haven, was elected president.

Miss Jessie Scott Himes, of S. T. C., spoke at the meeting of the Graded Schools on "The Primary Child." Miss Berthe Daniel, also of the college, gave an interesting talk on "Social Consciousness and English Teaching." Miss Clara Poorman, of Renovo is the president for next year.

Mrs. Edna Nevel Bailey, of Lock Haven, spoke at the Rural School program. W. A. Snyder, of Salona, was re-elected president. Miss Sara Duncan, of Altoona, was chosen president of the Commercial Teachers for next year. Miss Helen Geer, of Boalsburg, will be president of the Home Economics Division. Mr. Homer Gage, of this college, and Mr. Leo L. Rockwell, of Bucknell University, addressed the Language Teachers. Miss Ivah Whitwell is succeeded by Mrs. Jean Anderson, of Lock Haven, as president of the Music Teachers. Frank Boyer, of Mifflinburg, was re-elected head of the Forensic League and R. S. MacDougall, of Lock Haven, was re-elected director of demonstrations. Dr. Armstrong, president of Lock Haven State Teachers College, was re-elected a member of the executive committee which is made up of the heads of the dozen different departments of public school work.

Dr. W. M. Pierce, of Ridgway, on Friday evening presented the Convention Resolutions, signed by the committee composed of Superintendent J. F. Puderbaugh, of Lock Haven, Dr. Weaver, of Williamsport, Mr.

CAMPUS CHATTER

Hager was busily engaged in knocking the balls into the net in a tennis game the other day. A timid Frosh murmured after watching this for a while. "I believe, Hager, that the object of the game is to knock the balls over the net."

If we know anything at all about sports, Saturday's football game was an advance practice for the cross country runners for the Spring track meet.

Ev. Bosworth wants to know why the fellows deliberately push each other around in a football game, just to get a horrid old football that's all dirty anyway.

Isn't our new athletic field a pretty place, against its chiseled wall of rock, set off by wooded mountains just beginning to show patches of brilliant autumn colors? Not to be sentimental, or anything like that, but really, isn't it a nice site?

Some people will insist on hanging over fences, even when the fences are on top of cliffs.

The coach has been keeping something from us. We knew that we had a good team, but we really didn't expect them to make a showing such as they did on Saturday. Do you have any more little secrets, Coach?

And the band helped out mightily. All that was needed was a good rousing field stunt by the student body.

The impromptu football game

Zerfoss, of Clearfield, Arthur Sloop, of Bellefonte, C. W. Lillibridge, of Smethport, T. S. Davis, of Altoona, Miss E. Marie Lentz, of Emporium, and Miss Stella Doane, of Clearfield. The resolutions included an expression of sorrow at the death of two former members: Dr. Nelson Benson, of Lock Haven, and Dr. George Robb, of Altoona. Dr. Robb was a founder of the district organization and one of its former presidents.

MEMBERS OF A. C. E. HOLD CLEVER AUTUMN MEETING

The program committee of the A. C. E. planned a clever "autumn meeting" for October 1. Upon entering the kindergarten, everyone was given an autumn leaf with an appropriate verse printed on it. Two of the girls wore dresses decorated with colored leaves and wreaths. The bazaar was informally discussed. Frannie Stoker sang a solo and Edythe Sharpe gave a reading. Miss Hatcher talked about pre-school clinics. At the end of the meetings the girls sang two songs which were written for the group by Rose Schwer.

staged by the freshmen boys was as good as a circus. The "basket catch" has its points.

And then there was the embryo teacher on the third floor west who received the following assertion from her boy friend in a letter: "If I can't win you no one else will;" and who answered it with "Trite expression, Woolley 14."

Peg's trying to keep up on the latest athletic dope. "Yes girls, we're having a baseball pond at our table."

Mike intends to hang out his sign in the near future as Professor of Neckiology. The only drawback, Mike, is that you'll have to attend faculty meetings.

What's this crack about the Beta Rho's confiscating Belvie's tooth brush? Too bad the faculty happened along.

We didn't know that there was a bread line in this institution. It seems that some Armenians get away with five pieces.

Third floor west has been converted into a zoo this year. Tom, Mick, Charlie, and Leona are the outstanding attractions.

We'd like to know just what it was that Sal took home last week-end.

Leave the Big Pond alone, little girl. The football season is too strenuous a time for two diversions.

Echoes from Here and There

By "EASY"

Russ Burd, staging a come-back, flashed old-time form and looked great on the play in which he plunged over for the score. Besides his offensive play Russ put up a whale of a defensive game.

Bob Smith and Speed Hatter showed to advantage in the backfield, as did Kachick, Cooke, Imdorf and Gunderman.

The center trio, Hank Smith, Poole and Achenbach, discouraged any attempts by the Jayvees to gain through the line.

Baker and Shively, at the wings, were a revelation, throwing the opposing backs for losses repeatedly.

"Doc" Shaffer revealed his old-time speed and ball-carrying ability in the freshman struggle, much to the delight of the fans.

Robb, Weipsic and Sundberg were towers of strength on the line for the second of Coach Morgan's twin-var-

Us And Others

Mr. Einar Eliason was a business (??) visitor in Renovo over the week-end.

John, the Duke of Snowshoe, reports that his trip to the home town was fruitless; even the water supply is exhausted.

John Hudson was exploring in the region of his home town Saturday evening.

Frank Kitko reports that the schools in Ramey are functioning so well that he will be able to remain with us for a time.

Floyd Bloom was in Clearfield to advise the mayor on a building project.

Mary Wilkey was home to Lewis-town for the week-end.

Altoona always gets lots of news from S. T. C. each week-end. Elizabeth Dalby, Lena Abrams, Agnes Unverdorben, Hildegard Baer, Kay Hardy, Mabel Creighton and Helen Greaser were all home.

Vivian Benson and Virginia Bengston seem to be attracted by Mt. Jewett almost every week-end.

Barbara Russell and Mabelle Winkelblech can't even be separated week-ends. Last week-end Barbara entertained Mabelle at her home in Milton.

Sara Jane Mangus, Romayne Croyle and Frannie Stokes all went back to see how the folks were in Johnstown.

Grace Harpster won a baseball bet. Consequently she was able to go home to Phillipsburg for the week-end.

Evelyn Bosworth was visited by her family over the week-end.

Mary Harvey's parents visited her this week-end.

Caroline Shultz entertained Dorothea Stitt at her home in Williamsport.

Dorothy Bly had Gwen Radebaugh as her guest at her home in Watson-town.

Julia Ellenberger visited her aunt at Millheim over the week-end.

Cora Beck was called to her home in Renovo on Friday, due to the sudden death of her brother, Reed Beck, who was killed in an automobile crash which occurred at Memorial bridge in Renovo and which seriously injured two other men, one fatally.

sity to enter the game, Robb standing out in particular by intercepting two of the visitors' passes.

The only detracting features of the game from the local standpoint were the yards lost from penalties (85) and the fumbles, here and there, by the backfield. However, these errors will probably be corrected by the time Mansfield comes next Saturday and a much better game can be expected.

For some unknown reason this year the halls are much more quiet than at previous times. This pertains principally to the time around ten o'clock at night. No more is there that continual hustle and bustle between ten and eleven o'clock. Really, it is remarkable, but we don't know who should have the credit.

It is quite obvious to some that the student council is on duty this year. They are enforcing rules. They need to do this as there is always someone ready to overstep the bounds.

The hall chairmen play the part of sentinels every night and work in partnership with the student council.

Another group also helps, and that is the girls, particularly the upper-classmen who want to set a standard for the freshmen. It would be a hard assignment to tell which one helps the most as one can readily see that all three have to cooperate. So far this year the halls have been reasonably peaceful. Let's continue it.

The College Times is trying out this week a change in the method of distribution that is designed to give the students better service by cutting down the time between the delivery of the papers by the printer and their receipt by the student body. Formerly a great deal of work has been necessary after the arrival of the papers at the building. The mere folding of the papers in order to prepare them for the mail boxes is a heavy task, and wastes a great deal of time that the student readers might take advantage of.

On the campuses of large universities, where thousands of papers are distributed each day, the papers are simply put at convenient places about the campus and each student is trusted to take his own paper. This privilege is not abused. There is no reason why the same plan should not work here.

There are 533 students. That exact number of papers will be placed in the main hall as soon as the papers reach the building. Each student, whether a dormitory student or a day student, is asked to take his own paper. Since there will be only one paper for each student, we must develop the habit of considering other people.

This is a simple and direct plan, devised to eliminate wasted time and thus give better service to the students. It is a plan that will receive the support of all honest students, and we believe that the entire student body is covered by that classification.

Large Crowd Visits the Art Exhibition Held Last Week

Arrangements had been made with the Brown-Robertson Company, Educational Art Publishers of New York, for an Art Exhibition at the College during the two days of the P. S. E. A. convention.

The exhibition consisted of more than one hundred fifty facsimile color reproductions of the world's famous painting masterpieces. They were hung side by side in the Lecture Room of the New Training School.

Many students of the College, together with the crowds from the Convention, viewed these excellent reproductions with great admiration.

Probably the best known among these masterpieces were:

- "Madonna of the Chair"—Raphael.
- "Can't You Talk"—Holmes.
- "Joan of Arc"—Le Page.
- "Feeding Her Birds."—Millet.
- "Song of the Lark"—Breton.
- "The Jester"—Hals.
- "The Gleaners"—Millet.
- "The Angelus"—Millet.
- "Icebound"—Metcalf.
- "Autumn Winds"—Damnitz.
- "Signing the Declaration of Independence"—Trumbull.

DAY ROOM GIRLS ORGANIZE FOR IMPROVEMENTS TUESDAY

A meeting was held last Tuesday for the purpose of forming a definite organization of the day room girls. Dr. Armstrong was present at the meeting and talked to the girls of improvements to be made in the day room in the near future.

The officers elected for the year were as follows:

- Betty Baird . . . . . President
- Ruth Bechdol . . . . . Vice President
- Martha Zeigler . . . . . Secretary
- Miss Holaway took charge of the meeting.

The Time is Out of Joint

By TODO TORO

Our Campus Refrain for this week is "Hitting a Poor Little Kid." The football game may have inspired the composer, at least it added sentiment to his masterpiece.

Someone said that the Lock Haven boys have no sense of propriety, using their opponents as a lavish spread for a sort of anatomy social. All the extra appendages that were found on the field after the game have been returned, except a slightly warped knee-cap which has not yet been identified.

There was such a severe frost in the vicinity of Snowshoe on Tuesday morning that the children skipped school and went skiing. We should send an expedition up to that section of no man's land and get the dope on the phenomenon.

Another Tip

Many girls in our college are making the grave error of mistaking some of our men for high hats. They should learn to distinguish between a twenty-one year old inferiority complex and a snob.

Notice is hereby given that students are not to throw the snowballs from the shrubbery along the east dormitory, into the boys rooms. One of the scientists who was attending the convention discovered that they are nothing more or less than whiffle-sniffle eggs.

Faculty Entertains Convention Visitors at Reception

As a part of the regular program of the P. S. E. A. convention, following a usual custom, the faculty of the college entertained the convention delegates at a reception held in the gymnasium immediately after the evening lecture program on Thursday, October 2. Along with the convention delegates, the faculty invite as their guests the graduating class of this year, the limitation being necessary on account of the lack of room in the college gym.

The reception was not strictly formal, being for the purpose of bringing the guests and hosts together under informal conditions, where they might enjoy the social, personal contact that would otherwise be more or less impossible during the convention.

Music furnished by the Lyric Orchestra, of Lock Haven, gave an irresistible stimulation which caused the dance floor to be well occupied from the opening strains to the very end of the evening. Refreshments, incidental and informally served throughout the program, put the finishing touch to a very pleasant social occasion.

Anna Forse entertained Verna McGarrey and Alyce Ankeny at her home in Williamsport. Anna is a former student of S. T. C.

The Monologues of a Moron

The football game on Saturday was a wow and surely demonstrated some of the advantages of the new stadium. (We used to think a stadium was a grandstand but now we discover that the ten-cent word comes from Greek and means a course for foot races. Well there surely were plenty of foot races at our stadium on Saturday.) But to continue with the fine points of the new field. The first one is the flight of steps which leads up to the pasture. These steps are painted green, as they should be, since this is their first year at our college; and it has been pointed out that they have excellent possibilities for being converted into an artificial reducing machine. For the obese (heavyweight) person who wishes to avoid an eighty day diet and still remain slim, sleek, and slender, the following schedule has been devised: Rise promptly at 3.30, don fur coat and run around building ten times singing "The Battle Hymn of the Republic;" then dash over to the aforementioned steps and run up and down 250 times to the tune of "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles." After five weeks of this we guarantee that you'll be slender or dead.

The second advantage the field demonstrates is its evident effort to fight for its Alma Mater. Did you notice at the game, every time our team got the ball the field threw up a smoke screen and the other squad couldn't see what was going on. Now we call that loyalty.

In addition to these noteworthy things the field presents unusual attractions in scenic beauty. Those who sit on the top layer of the hill have a gorgeous bird's-eye-view (gorgeous view, not gorgeous bird) of the whole game. And then these people can also revel in an opportunity to look down on others. Some people don't get this chance often.

All things considered the new stadium is pretty swank and has had a fine inauguration. Let's hope that the future continues as bright as the present.

ven band, enlivened the proceedings by marching around the field just before game time. The band played several selections in wonderful style, the opening number being the well-known Maine University "Stein Song."

Following this demonstration Referee Puderbaugh called Capt. R. Smith, of the Raiders, and Carl, of the visitors, to toss for the goal they wished to defend. These having been selected, with the locals defending the goal to the north, both teams lined up, ready to play. The referee's whistle blew and the opening game of L. H. S. T. C.'s critical season was on.

Charley Baker, right end, kicked off for the home team to the visitors' 10 yard line, the ball being returned to the 20 yard line. The Jayvees were unable to gain and were forced to punt, the Raiders taking the ball at midfield. Burd reeled off 10 yards through the line, Hart clipped off 15 more yards, Burd took the ball again for a nice gain, Bob Smith carried the ball to the visitors' 14-yard line from which point Burd took it over for the first touchdown of the game, three minutes after play had begun. The extra point was gained by a pass from Bob Smith to Hart, making the score 7-0. Baker again kicked off, the ball going this time to the visitors' 30 yard line. The Raiders' line held like a stone wall and again the Jayvees were forced to punt, Hatter receiving the ball at midfield. After Bob Smith gained 6 yards off tackle the locals were penalized 5 yards for being off-side. On the next play, Bob Smith, continuing his great ball-carrying, raced 20 yards around end. Again he toted the ball, this time for 10 yards. Hart split the line for 4 yards, Burd smacked the center of the line for another 4 yards, putting the ball on the visitors' 11 yard line, from which point Bob Smith took it over. The extra point failing, the score now stood at 13-0. Baker again kicked off, the ball being returned by the visitors to their 35 yard line. The Jayvees tried a pass that failed and after two attempts at the line with no gains, they were forced to punt to Robb on our 40 yard line, Robb returning the ball to the visitors' 35 yard line. On the next play, Hart, flashing mid-season, eluded several tacklers and raced the remaining distance of 35 yards for a touchdown. The extra point failed, leaving the score at 19-0. Following this, Coach Morgan substituted the other division of his twin-varsity, the quarter ending with the ball in Susquehanna's possession on their own 30 yard line, following Baker's kick-off just before the substitutions were made.

Unable to gain through the Raiders' line, which held like the well-known "immovable object," the Jayvees tried a pass which Imdorf intercepted and raced 35 yards for a touchdown almost before the echo of the referee's whistle, calling play, had died away. The extra point was made good by Gunderman, on a cut through the line, making the score 26-0. On the next kickoff the visitors tried a return punt which Johnny Kachick caught on the run, returning it 15 yards to his own 45 yard line. Gunderman then caught a pass for a 2 yard gain, after which Kachick raced around the end for 35 yards and another touchdown. Kachick also made good the extra point, the score now being 33-0. Following the kick-off the visitors tried a pass which Gunderman intercepted and carried 20 yards to the Jayvee's 10 yard line. Kachick, on a lateral pass from Cooke, sprinted the remaining distance for his second successive touchdown. Cooke made good the extra point making the score 40-0. Weipsic kicked off to the visitors' 35 yard line, the ball being carried to the 40 yard line where the runner was downed. On the second play, the first being crushed by our line play, Weipsic recovered a fumble, giving the Raiders possession of the ball. Kachick raced 20 yards to the Jayvee's 20 yard line. Imdorf split the line for 8 yards, Plummer for 6 yards to the 2 yard line. From there, he took it over on the next play. The extra point failed, leaving the score at 45-0. At this point Coach Morgan made several other replacements, Poust, Reynolds, Biddle, Rohrbaugh and Renninger being sent into the fray.

Bible made a beautiful tackle on the kickoff, getting the runner almost in his tracks. The Jayvees, getting nowhere, were forced to punt, Plummer returning the ball to about midfield. The local were penalized on the first play, the line being offside, putting the ball on our 45 yard line. The third play of the quarter saw Bob Smith toss a 10 yard pass to Hart, who raced along the side-lines for 45 yards to another touchdown. The score stood at 52-0 when the extra point was thrown out as a result of the backfield being in motion before the ball was snapped from center. Weipsic sent a pretty kick off to the Jayvees' 15 yard line where it was run back to the 20 yard line, being put into play at that point. After a short gain through the line, the visitors attempted a long forward pass which was intercepted by Ted Robb, playing the best game of his college career, who raced 25 yards to the opposing 10 yard line before he was downed. He received beautiful interference on this excursion, the line forming a stone wall in front of him. Immediately following this the locals suffered a series of penalties for off-side, holding, and other infractions of the football rules which brought the ball back to the visitors' 35 yard line. The Jayvees obtained possession of the ball through a fumble and attempted another forward pass which Robb picked out of the air and carried to the visitors' 35 yard line. The home eleven again suffered penalties this time the ball being placed on the 50 yard line. On a beautifully executed triple-pass, Hart carried the ball around end for 50 yards and another touchdown. No one can get near this boy Hart when he once gets loose around the ends. A beautiful play and perfectly executed, revealing the results of the hard work that Coaches Morgan, Griffin and Fredericks have spent on the boys. The extra point failed, leaving the score at 58-0. On the next kick-off, a beautiful boot by Weipsic to the Jayvee's 15 yard line, the ball was returned to the 20 yard line. Before a play could be made the quarter ended. Score: L. H. T. C. 58—Susquehanna Jayvees 0.

Putting the ball into play on the 20 yard line, the visitors attempted a pass which failed, then punted to Plummer at midfield, who returned the ball to the Jayvee's 35 yard line before he was downed. On the next play Susquehanna recovered a fumble on their own 38 yard line. Hank Smith, playing heads-up ball, retaliated by recovering a Jayvee fumble, giving the Raiders possession of the ball on the visitors' 35 yard line. Plummer, on 3 successive attempts, toted the pigskin to the opposing 2 yard line where Imdorf, on a line buck, plunged over for the score. The extra point was made good on a pass, Plummer to Imdorf, running the score to the respectable total of 65-0.

Weipsic kicked off to the visitors' 25 yard line where they, attempting to catch the Raiders off-guard, returned the punt which traveled only 20 yards to their 45 yard line. On the next play Imdorf tossed a 15 yard pass to Weipsic, who raced 30 yards unmolested to the goal line. The extra point was scored by Plummer on a double pass, making the score 73-0. Shortly afterward, the game ended, mercifully concluding the punishment which the Raiders had been dealing out to the Jayvees. The game really revealed little of the actual power of the minions of Coach Morgan as the visitors, though game, were plainly outclassed and outweighed. Mistakes were made that will be ironed out by the coaches during the week following so as to prevent their recurrence against a sturdier foe—Mansfield T. C.—which will oppose the local collegians Saturday, October 11, on the Hanson Field, at the same time as of the opener.

The varsity as a whole deserves a world of credit for the manner in which they went about serving notice to the football world that L. H. T. C. HAS ARRIVED. In spite of the weak opposition the visitors put up they were game and deserve much credit for the splendid courage they revealed in the face of such overwhelming odds.

The crowd, though fairly large, did not do justice to the vows of L. H. T. C. and it is hoped that more students will turn out next Saturday at 2 P. M. to encourage the boys in their attempt to turn back the first of the major opponents that they face this season. They need YOUR support. They've shown you that they DESERVE it. What is your answer? Let's see it on the field next Saturday.

In the meantime, BRING ON MANSFIELD, should be the thought uppermost in the mind of every college student that boasts L. H. T. C. as his or her Alma Mater.

Echoes from Here and There

By "EASY"

Coach Morgan's twin cylinder varsity certainly opened the season in an auspicious manner. The score: L. H. T. C. 73, Susquehanna University Jayvees 0.

The cheering section, in spite of the efforts of Cheer Leader Jimmy Risch, was handicapped by being split up. Isn't there some way in which the student-body can come to an understanding and get together on the field for the cheers?

***

The freshmen certainly revealed a world of strength in their game between halves. The Dorm team took the long end of a 12-0 score, though the Day-Roomers fought every inch of the way.

***

Poust, All-European fullback, playing his first collegiate game in U. S., showed to advantage, being aided materially by his famous "bus bel-bocket" stunt.

***

Royce Johnson, aiding the scorer during the progress of the game, complained that the plays were run off too fast for him. He wants the coach to slow-up the game to the speed of the slow-motion picture.

***

Bob Plummer, the mighty mite, made his presence felt by his brilliant broken field running, making several long gains that enabled his mates to score.

***

But one college eleven in the United States outscored the Raiders last Saturday, Colgate downing Bethany by a 99-0 score.

***

Ken Hart leads the local scorers with 3 touchdowns, followed closely by Imdorf and Kachick, each having crossed the line twice.

***

The line play of the home team was of very high order, not a first down being scored against it in the game last Saturday. Some mark for future teams to shoot at!

***

Max Bossert and Ed Dettrey certainly made themselves conspicuous rushing play after play that was headed their way.

BRING ON MANSFIELD!
Breathes there a student with soul so dead (or mind) who does not have that thought before him as the time for the Raiders' first real test approaches?
