New Plan is Announced For Yearbook Publication

The Praeco, the college yearbook formerly published by the Senior Class, will be edited this year under an entirely new system. The long felt need of having the Praeco a school project became an actual necessity last year when the former two-year seniors were transferred to the Sophomore Class. In the class meetings last year the idea of making the publication of the Praeco a school project was presented to the several classes and each class voted to take its share of the responsibility.

It was unanimously decided last spring by the present Senior, Junior and Sophomore classes that a fee of $2.50 should be collected from each student this year by the class treasurers as part of the class dues and that in return for this assessment each student should receive a Praeco. If the present Freshman Class, when asked to vote upon the plan, decides in its favor, the Praeco will be published.

Under the old plan each Praeco cost $5.00, a price much too high for wide sale. The new plan gives every student the Praeco at half the former price.

The reduction in price is made possible by the increased number of purchases. As is well known, the first few copies of any publication are vastly more expensive than additional copies. Five hundred copies will cost only a relatively small amount more than three hundred, the number previously bought by senior classes. This is because there is a minimum expense attached to the set-up, including engraving, printing, etc., before any printing is done, while the expense of running off additional copies is limited to extra paper and labor.

The cost of the Praeco last year

MISS ULLEMEYER IS NEW MEMBER OF FACULTY

Miss Grace Ullemeyer, a graduate of Northwestern University, has taken the place of Miss Lottie Larabee as a music instructor in the college. Miss Ullemeyer has a Bachelor's degree in music education and a Master's degree in science. She has taught in the Cedar Falls State Teachers College, Iowa, the Mayville State Teachers College, North Dakota, the Grinnell College, Iowa, and has supervised music instruction in the public schools of Waterloo, Iowa.

Mr. Wynn Fredericks, of Lock Haven, has been chosen a member of the Health Education Department of the college. Mr. Fredericks is a graduate of Yale and received his Master's degree in physical education from Penn State. He taught in the Hill School, Pottstown, for two years, and was supervisor of physical education at the college in 1924-26.

National "Y" Worker Visits At College for Week End

On September 28, 29 and 30, the students of the college had the privilege of being helped with their problems by A. J. Elliot, associate national secretary, representing the student division of the National Council of the Young Men's Christian Association of the United States. Mr. Elliot, who is nationally known as "Dad," was assisted by his daughter, Miss Eleanor Elliot.

During his visit on the campus, "Dad" gave a series of lectures in chapel and in evening meetings. Throughout his lectures he emphasized the necessity of the development of a Christian personality. "Dad's" lectures are based on forty years of experience with American undergraduate students.

In addition to the series of lectures, Mr. Elliot talked with various groups on the campus and also gave personal interviews. Miss Elliot worked with the girls' groups and gave them interviews with her concerning their individual problems.

"Dad" Elliot was graduated from Grand Prairie Seminary, Orarga, Illinois, and Northwestern University. While in college he was the captain of the track team, president of the Y. M. C. A., and a member of the Northwestern varsity football team. During the World War, Mr. Elliot was the general director of the Student Army Training Corps.

SHAKESPEARE CLUB

The Shakespeare Club is planning to have several interesting speakers this year. There will also be discussions by members of the club, as well as a study of correct parliamentary law. It is quite probable that the meeting nights when speakers come will be "open meetings."

PROMINENT STUDENTS GIVE OPINIONS ON MUCH-DISCUSSED PRAECO PLAN

"It's the most logical way of financing a school publication."—John Marshall, Senior Class President.

"After hearing the very inspiring talk in chapel by Rabbi Rickel, we can readily see that the new Praeco Plan is a good one. 'What we need in the American College today are more youth movements!'"—Elwood Rohrbaugh, Junior Class President.

"I believe that the plan of putting the publication of the Praeco in the hands of every class in school will be beneficial to every student in the school and take much of an unnecessary burden from future senior classes."—Calvin Cooke, formerly President of Junior Class, president of

Staff Plans to Publish the College Paper Semi-Monthly

According to tentative plans of the College Times staff, the college paper, published last year only once each month because of curtailed finances, will be published twice each month during the ensuing year, with a special number at graduation. The success of these plans depends upon the decision of the Student Activities Council.

As heretofore, the staff will be changed several times during the school term, permitting its members to pursue the various duties entailed in the publication of a school newspaper. Beginning with the issue of Monday, October 30, the following Board of Control, selected by the present board and the staff adviser, will assume the publication: Isabel Welch, Editor-in-Chief; Florence Hunt and Mary Sharp, copy editors; Naomi Wentz, make-up editor; William Anderson, business manager; and William Murphy, circulation manager. David Smith, a member of the freshman class, will have charge of the typing. This board in turn will select a group of able students to act as sub-editors, one in charge of each of the departments of the paper. Under them are placed the reporters, who are responsible to their sub-editors for their assignments. The staff operates on a progressive basis, each member beginning as a reporter, and becoming successively a sub-editor and a member of the board of control. This system of organization has proved successful in the past two years.

Training School Enrollment

The enrollment of the Training School is the largest it has ever been. The total number enrolled is 410. Of this number 120 are students in the Junior High School.

Men's Tribunal.

"I believe this will be the best plan of publishing a Praeco that has ever worked out in L. H. S. T. C."—Ernest Gililand, last year's Junior Class representative at Praeco discussion.

"It is my belief that the adoption of the new plan of having all classes participate in the publication of the Praeco is going to be a decided aid to all concerned."—William Statler, Sophomore Class President.

"With a new plan, less cost, more books and the individuality of every class for a basis, the Praeco will be worthy of its name, 'Herald of the School.'"—Don Francisco, Editor-in-Chief of College Times.

Dr. Armstrong Explains Student Activities Plan

Dr. Armstrong, in the first chapel of the year, in addition to welcoming the new students and explaining some of the purposes of College life and plans of the College for the year, made two very important announcements in regard to extra-curricular activities and the College Book Store.

Heretofore, the State has been appropriating money for both these projects and has been controlling each of them directly. Now the State desires to withdraw from both of these activities or projects for two reasons; first, because it desires to save money for itself, and, second, because of administrative difficulties met with in administering these activities. Under these conditions the Board of Trustees of the College at a recent meeting authorized the President of the College to effect such cooperative organizations as would meet with its approval and the approval of the State.

The Activity Fee of five dollars which the students have paid at the time of registering is to care for all athletics, lectures and entertainments, and student publications. The Committee to carry out the purpose of the College in these fields will consist of the Class Advisers of the four College Classes and a student elected from each of the Classes. The Book Store will be managed through this same Committee, at least for the present.

The purpose of the Book Store is

New Flag Presented in Patriotic Chapel Program

The Chapel Program on Wednesday morning, October 4, was in the nature of a patriotic one. The flag which the students with the help of Dr. and Mrs. Armstrong had bought for the auditorium was formally presented.

While the students were singing the "Star Spangled Banner" the President of the Senior Class, Mr. John F. Marshall, and the President of the Junior Class, Mr. Elwood Rohrbaugh, brought the flag into the auditorium and placed it on the platform. Miss Arey, the Director of Dramatics in the Faculty, read several most appropriate selections concerning the flag. Then a brief address was made by Dr. Armstrong explaining what the purpose of the flag is and those things which the flag represents both in our National life and in our personal life. He related some stories of the flag during the World War; how it had protected helpless groups the world over; and how it stands for freedom not only in our own land but in every land.

Dr. Armstrong also explained what the flag meant to him personally. He

PAUL VARGAS

Private Paul Vargas was a full-blooded Indian of the Blackfoot tribe and was born in Wyoming. When he was an infant his parents moved to Porto Rica and during the Spanish American War his mother, father, and brother were slain by the Spaniards. Paul was saved and cared for by a Spanish woman for several years. Later, Mr. H. K. Rockey, of Tyersville, Clinton County, Pennsylvania, a prominent American educator in Porto Rica, assumed guardianship of Paul, brought him to the States, and entered him as a student in the Central State Normal School from which he graduated six years later, 1916. On his Commencement day Mr. Rockey died in California. Paul, after his graduation, became physical director in a boys' school in Freeport, Illinois, being well qualified as an athlete and a fine swimmer.

When the United States entered the great World War Paul enlisted and trained at Chickamauga Park, Georgia, later at Camp MacArthur, Texas, and finally at Fort Slocum, New York. Here he formed a friendship with Charles Quay, of Meadville, and their mutual attachment grew so strong that Dr. W. H. Quay, Townville, Pennsylvania, Charles' father, legally adopted Paul as his son.

At Camp Merritt, New Jersey, when about to sail for France in August, Paul was taken ill with pneumonia, from which he recovered. On returning he contracted Spanish influenza four days later and died October 22. His body was taken to Townville, Pennsylvania, and interred in Dr. Quay's family plot. His age was twenty-one years.

His name is found on the marker in Memorial Park, Lock Haven, Pennsylvania. On the Normal Service Flag was displayed our first gold star in memory of Private Paul Vargas. This flag was displayed in the World Peace

Parade in Lock Haven on November 11, 1918.

Paul Vargas worked several summers during his vacations for the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and affiliated himself with a beneficiary organization of the company. At his death his beneficiary received a small amount of money, a part of which was used for the purchase of the silk flag on our rostrum at the present time.

NEW PRAECO PLAN

Lock Haven State Teachers College will publish no yearbook! What would you say to an edict like this? What would you say if that were the message carried by the headlines of this paper? Yet that would have been the case had a new plan for publication not been devised.

When the two-year teachers' course was discontinued last spring, it appeared that the Praeco, also, would become a thing of the past, since four-year Seniors alone could not raise funds to support it. However, a committee chosen from all the classes devised this new plan which is expected to prove a greater success than the old one.

The most outstanding difference between the new and old plans is that the new makes the Praeco a school yearbook to be supported and edited by all the classes, while the old was supported by Seniors only. This change is significant in more ways than one. It cuts the price of each Praeco in half or from $5.00 to $2.50; it guarantees a larger sum in subscription in spite of the reduction in price, and, finally, it gives each class an equal proportion of the book for class items.

It would seem at a glance that the student would pay $10.00 for his Praecos under the new plan, whereas he would pay only $5.00 under the old. However, the average student purchased two Praecos in the course of four years under the old plan. Now he will receive four Praecos for the money he would have spent for two.

Although present conditions indicate success, the plan may still be defeated by failure of the Freshman Class to accept the idea, which has already been approved by the three upper classes. Within the next two weeks it will be necessary for the freshmen to vote on this proposed plan; and if the plan is approved by the group, the Praeco Staff, elected by the Praeco committee, will take immediate action for the publication of the college year book.

DAYROOM HANDBOOK IS PUBLISHED FOR GIRLS

The Women's Dayroom Student Government Association has published a student's handbook which acquaints the new students with the rules and customs of dayroom life. It includes the first four articles of the constitution of the Women's Dayroom Student Government Association, aids to new students, announcements from the dean of women, regulations for students living off campus, and other necessary information. It is an attractive little volume decorated with the college colors, maroon and gray.

Y. W. Activities Are of Much Interest on Campus

The Y. W. C. A. went into action on freshman registration day, and now has a great part of its semester's activities successfully completed.

The majority of the Y. W. cabinet was back on registration day to assist freshmen to register and become situated. On the evening of the same day the cabinet members and officers of the Women's Student Government Association entertained the freshman girls in the "Y" room.

September 14 was the day of the annual Y. W. tea. The rain made it necessary to serve the tea in the gymnasium instead of on the west campus. The center of the gymnasium was transformed into an attractive garden with flower-covered lattice as a back ground. The freshman girls, who were the honored guests, were introduced to the women of the faculty and to the upper classmen by their "big sisters."

The annual get-acquainted dance, another Y. W. activity, and always the most enjoyable means of getting acquainted with one's fellow Lock Havenites, was held on Saturday evening, September 16. From eight to nine everyone was kept busy playing games and doing the Paul Jones, with Calvin Cooke in charge. Guests lost no time in getting acquainted and from then on the party was a great success. At nine o'clock, dancing began and continued until eleven-thirty. The Lyric orchestra furnished the music. The gym was decorated with large baskets of flowers with black and gold dragon screens as a back-ground. Decorations were in charge of Art Club members.

The Y. W. membership drive is now in full force, and the ships on the membership poster are sailing under a favorable wind.

STUDENTS PARTICIPATE IN CENTENNIAL PAGEANT

The new college athletic field served as a beautiful background for the pageant presented this July celebrating the centennial of the founding of Lock Haven. Two actors shared the honor of playing Jerry Church, founder of Lock Haven. Bill Bowes, a sophomore, announced the episodes in the character of Jerry Church, and Stanley Eckert, a student at the college last year, impersonated him in one of the episodes. Other students who took part in the centennial include: Joseph Harvey, Charles Thomas, Ralph Opper, William Griffith, Joe Freedman, Fred McEntire, Melvin Hoy, Allen Heydrich, Maude Brungard, Isabel Welch, Olga Bader, Ann Peterson, Betty Parsons, Mary Simon, Ernest Gilliland, Helen Myers, Lucetta McKibben, Katherine Harris, Gretchen Dickey, Ruth Moon, and Agnes Parisi.

Mr. George F. Lehman and Mr. Patterson were members of a quartet which appeared in two of the episodes. Miss Mabel-Louise Arey directed an episode.

AMONG the ALUMNI

Vivian Rinehuls, '33, and James Boggs, Schenectady, N. Y., were married at Emporium, Penna., on June 19. Mr. Boggs, who was graduated from Purdue University, is a radio engineer at Schenectady. Mr. and Mrs. Boggs are living in Schenectady.

Jane Rinehuls, a former member of the class of 1934, and a sister of Vivian, was an attendant at the wedding. This summer Jane's marriage to Weldon O'Donnell, a former student, was announced. The wedding ceremony was performed at Buffalo in April, 1933.

The marriage of Edith Hoy, '28, and Max Bossert, '32, was announced this summer. The marriage took place in 1931. Mr. and Mrs. Bossert are living at Reynoldsville, where Max teaches and coaches football.

Ann Gingery, '26, and Richard Barnhart, of State College, were married at Tyrone in the early summer. Mrs. Barnhart taught for seven years in the public schools of Tyrone. The Barnharts are living at State College, where Mr. Barnhart is the manager of the American Store.

Blanche Swope, '27, and Robert D. Smink, of Williamsport, were married at Lock Haven on June 21. Mr. Smink was graduated from Bucknell University, and now teaches mathematics at the Williamsport High School. Mr. and Mrs. Smink lived this summer at Daniel Beard's Boy Scout Camp at Hawley, where Mr. Smink is an instructor. The Sminks are living at 708 Second Ave., Williamsport.

Harriet Rohrbaugh, '29, and Henry Bluhm, of Scotch Plains, N. J., were married at Beech Creek on July 4. Mr. Bluhm teaches at Scotch Plains, where the couple are residing.

NEW LIBRARY SYSTEM PROVES MORE EFFICIENT

How many times this year have you tried to use the old entrance to the library? During vacation Miss Irene MacDonald planned a more efficient system of obtaining books. The entrance has been changed from the reading room to the circulation room. This change has eliminated confusion from the reading room, and has added convenience in obtaining books as one enters the library. The encyclopedias and the Readers' Guide, and many of the bound volumes of magazines are on the shelves outside the desk, and may be obtained without the librarian's assistance.

Helen LeBaron, '33, is assisting Miss Irene K. McDonald in supervising the library. The student librarians are: Beatrice Berg, Marion Francisco, Myrna Lundy, and Alice Marie Hackett.

Ed Dettrey wants to know if Gymnastic Feat is the plural of Athlete's Foot.

Campus Improvements Are Nearing Completion

One of the outstanding improvements on the college campus, which is now nearing completion, is the constructing and equipping of a modern kitchen and the renovating of the dining room. This work began last spring and has been in progress all summer.

The main building was extended so that the dining room and the kitchen could be enlarged. Tile has been inlaid in both the walls and the floors of the various rooms which go to make up the modern kitchen.

Much modern equipment is to be installed, but it is not completely finished at the present time, and the electrical appliances are only on temporary current, which necessitates the use of only half the supplies.

One advancement of great importance was made in the bakery. The new bread mixer, cake mixer, and baking ovens will improve the quality of the baking done.

The main kitchen is equipped with new electric stoves, and stainless steel sinks. The vegetable sinks, and the dish washing machine, both stainless steel, are also new.

The establishing of the electrical refrigeration system will greatly increase the efficiency of the kitchen. An ice-cream freezer, a packer, and four refrigeration rooms are being installed. Each refrigeration room is larger than the entire former system of cold storage.

The improvements in the dining room include its extension to do away with the crowded condition of the tables, and the laying of the Armstrong linoleum. New drapes are hung and at Christmas time the walls will be painted.

The students, led by Christopher Hammaker, purchased a loud speaker for the Y. M. C. A. radio, to be used in the dining room. This was connected by two day-room students, Bill Knapp and Bill Griffith.

Miss Deborah Bentley expressed her desire to have the students come in groups to inspect the new kitchen in about a month, when it will be completed.

MEMBERS ARE CHOSEN FOR ACTIVITY COUNCIL

In accordance with the plan explained by Dr. Armstrong in his opening chapel address, the Student Activities Council has been organized. It is the Council's duty to care for and apportion the student activity fees to the various student organizations. The personnel of the group includes the class presidents, the four class advisers, and Mr. Patterson. They are: John Marshall, Senior class president, and Mr. Smith, class adviser; Elwood Rohrbaugh, Junior president, and Mr. Williams, adviser; William Statler, Sophomore president, and Mr. Lehman, adviser; and Mr. Ulmer, Freshman adviser. Mr. Ulmer has been elected president of the council, John Marshall, vice president, and Mr. Patterson, secretary-treasurer.

FOOTBALL SEASON OPENS WITH 6-0 DEFEAT OF THE STRONG CALIFORNIA T. C. ELEVEN

Lock Haven S. T. C. inaugurated its 1933 football season Saturday, September 30, by the squad slashing its way to a 6-0 victory over the Californians on the home gridiron.

Charles Wepsic, varsity fullback, started the game with a soaring kick-off enabling California to demonstrate their one offensive play of the whole game by returning the ball to the 25 yard line, only to lose it on downs.

The Varsity squad, consisting of those men who have held our football team on the ways for the last four years, played a fast, hot game for the first quarter which easily wore down the resistance of the opponents. The varsity squad are all seniors except Kipp, a freshman, and Shevock and Lingenfelter, sophomores. The senior personnel is Dettrey, Poole, Shively, Hammaker, Baker, Burd, Hart, and Wepsic.

Coach Kaiser's team "B," composed of freshmen, moved out onto the field during the second quarter, under the leadership of Lucas. Forty flashy passes were executed by this team and carried by Hodrick.

Beginning the third quarter the varsity started a hard grilling game. Gaining the ball on their own 40 yard line they fought up the field leaving a 60 yard trail. This fight gained the touchdown of the game, Wepsic carrying the ball over the line. The placement kick went wild and our varsity lined up for another fast drive. In the last quarter the Lock Haven S. T. C. squad advanced to the California goal line several times but failed to score a touchdown. The game ended with Lock Haven in possession of the ball on the opponents' 2 yard line.

THE S. T. C. ROLLER COASTER

I'm a freshman. Some people laugh at me and some call me stupid, but can I help it if I'm different? Just because I can't understand those white tags and because I bought my chapel seat ahead of others, I believe everyone is jealous.

The other day I walked down town and I could tell everyone was laughing at me, but I did everything the girls told me. I walked with one foot in front of the other, my eyes ahead, neither looking left or right, and I certainly did not speak to anyone. So I can't understand why they treat me so.

Yesterday I walked up to the front door and did I get a "dirty" look.

If they'd only explain things to we (freshman colloquialism) freshmen, we wouldn't be so awkward.

I wish mother could see the dust on that curtain in the chapel. I know she'd get hay fever.

I was wondering if the people would mind my practicing my music lessons on the piano in the auditorium. Mother said that if I get through the blue book she'll get me a new dress.

The seniors don't understand us; they seem to think we're acting nervy, but you can't expect us to take everything.

This certainly is a strange place. The freshman girls furnish the candy on Fridays for all the girls. That's nice because last week I was so hungry for candy and all I did was ask a freshman girl for a taste of hers.

I always wanted to know who the head of this green ribbon movement was and at last I found out it was a girl in the day room who wore a green feather in her hair. Quaint, isn't it?

I woke up this morning and I felt so strange because I noticed that the green ribbon movement must be ended. I certainly did like to wear a bow on my head.

Well, I guess I'll have to stop be-

Rabbi Rickel Addresses The Students and Faculty

"Each man living for himself alone has no right to live." So stated Rabbi H. S. Rickel, graduate of the Theological Seminary of New York and of Columbia University, in addressing the students and faculty of the college on Wednesday morning, Sept. 20. Cooperation must be the keynote of all our actions. People who take all and give nothing are no asset to any society. A world outlook must be activated which will make cooperators of us all.

According to Rabbi Rickel, the ancient Hebrew rabbis could solve today's depression. The same trouble exists today which existed in the older days; the same rash philosophy is used. "What is mine is mine and what is thine is thine," has become the attitude of the world. Until we can cast off this individualism and substitute for it true altruism no advance against conditions can be made.

More youth movements must be organized so that the mistakes of today will not be repeated. The young people of today should be taught to evaluate, to discriminate between truth and falsehood.

Repeating the story of Edward Bok's grandfather, who transformed a barren, deserted island into a place of loveliness, Rabbi Rickel advised his listeners to follow this excellent example. "The purpose of life is to make the world better. Live so that the world is made better for your having lived."

Rabbi Rickel, who resides in Cleveland, Ohio, was a guest in the city during the feast of Rosh Hashanah, the Jewish New Year.

Oh, I'm so happy. Since I've decided to be a columnist I've had so many inspirations. Last night while reading a well known local paper I suddenly came upon a title I shall use when I have my first column published. I shall take it from the famous Washington Merry-Go-Round.

explained to the students about the flag that was continually floating over his son's grave located in a little country cemetery in the western part of the State. His son died in France during the World War. He also mentioned the flag which was kept in his son's army trunk and which was the flag that was wrapped about his son's body when it was brought back home from France.

In connection with the presentation of the new flag, Dr. Armstrong read the story connected with the old flag that was still standing on the platform. The story is printed elsewhere in the paper.

The morning chapel service was most impressive and the students felt very proud of their new flag and were almost unanimous in their resolve to respect and love the flag and that for which it stands better in the future than they have done in the past.

was approximately $1600. Of this amount the bulk was raised by the class subscription of $5.00 each. Since there were 200 students, the class subscription furnished $1000. The remainder of the cost was met by the sale of extra books and by sale of pages in the Praeco to organizations.

This year, if all classes support the plan, it will require only $2.50 from each student to furnish somewhat more than the basic $1000.

According to the new plan, the staff will represent all classes and give equal power to the upper and lower classes. The editors-in-chief have been elected, Leon Barr by the Junior Class, and Tom Smith by the Senior Class. Other members of the staff will be chosen at a meeting of class representatives and the editors-in-chief. The class representatives will consist of three members from each class: the class president, one representative elected by the class, and the other appointed by the class president.

Besides the editors, the staff will consist of: four section editors, one for each class; a business manager from one of the upper classes; and an assistant business manager from one of the lower classes; a chief associate editor from an upper class; an assistant chief associate editor from a lower class; an art editor to be chosen on the basis of ability alone; a chief sports editor, a men's sports editor, and a women's sports editor; a feature editor, who must be an upper classman; an assistant feature editor, who must be an under classman; an organizations editor from either upper class; an assistant organizations editor from either lower class.

In accepting the plan each student pledges himself to buy a yearbook for $2.50. This money is considered class dues and will be collected within the next few weeks by the treasurers of the several classes.

The Freshman class this year will have a vote upon the plan, and if it is adopted, work on the book will begin soon.

A committee representing the various classes of the school met last spring with Mr. Williams and originated the plan which will be put to the test this year for the first time. The committee was composed of Ernest Gilliland, Alice Marie Hackett, and Mary Hill, of last year's Junior class; Elwood Rohrbaugh, Robert Breth, and Maude Brungard, of last year's Sophomore class; and Ruhl Klepper, Anne Wilson, Harold Corter, and Marian Harsh, of last year's Freshman class.

Inter-Sorority Picnic

The Alpha Sigma Tau, Rho Omega Lambda, and Beta Sigma Chi sororities enjoyed a picnic at the reservoir on Friday evening, September 29. After supper "Dad" Elliot, in whose honor the picnic was given, answered questions concerning sorority problems. Other guests included Miss Eleanor Elliot, Miss Bertha Rowe, Miss Belle Hollaway, Mr. and Mrs. Levi Ulmer, and Mr. Leo Cole, Secretary of the state Y. M. C. A.

Miss Daniel lost her lovely disposition.

Ronnie closed his mouth (literally) while dancing.

Mr. Walk ever ran.

No one walked on the grass.

There were no pianos for Bill Murphy to play on.

Here's to the Frosh!

In a senior it's poise, in a sophomore it's sophistication, but in a freshman it's color. What's the proverbial color of frosh on any campus? What's the international hue of the down-trodden, brow-beaten, under-dog freshman? No one needs to consult Webster or overwork one minute portion of the so-called grey matter to work out the answer to that one. It's the color that means "Go," and if you don't think the freshmen know the meaning of "go" it would be advisable to dispose of the Van Winkle complex and commence looking around. After the last lingering tear is dried, their returning, lively, peppy, vivacious spirits are all tuned to boosting the Alma Mater, and they may be placed on the asset side of anybody's ledger. Oh, they make the inevitable freshman mistakes. They gratify seniors by mistaking them for faculty members, make abrupt departures at the midpoint of Ancient History classes when it dawns that this does not seem like their scheduled Art class, lock themselves out of their rooms, open wrong doors, fail to unravel the intricacies of the mail box combinations, and shake at the mention of Tribunal. They just wouldn't be freshmen if they weren't bewildered, and what would college be without the dazed frosh? So here's to them! May the Green shine from coast to coast!

CAMPUS CHATTER

Did we get acquainted Saturday night? We knew everybody on the campus after the first lap of the marathon.

And who said, never the twain . . . for now East is West, and do they like it!

One of the fairer sex of the so-called "Junior Class" was brought to earth the other day by being approached by one of our charming football heroes and asked if she were a "frosh"—can you imagine anything so humiliating?

If wearing "green bands gives a certain 'frosh' the headache, we wonder what effect no make-up has?

Can you imagine anything more appropriate than being summoned to an eight o'clock by "The Call to Arms?" Many thanks to the "frosh."

HENRIETTA HILL IS VICTIM OF AUTOMOBILE CRASH

The college students who were here last year were saddened this summer to hear of the death of Henrietta Hill, of Morrisdale, in an automobile accident. She was graduated last spring from the two-year intermediate course.

The fatal crash of which she was a victim happened at Groom's Landing, a mile south of Columbia, Penna., on August 26. Henrietta had been visiting in Columbia, and with a group of friends had gone to view the high waters of the Susquehanna River, soon after the heavy storms throughout Pennsylvania. A special Pennsylvania Railway train, carrying railroad officials on an inspection tour of damage done by the recent storms in that section, struck the car as it crossed the tracks and hurled it into the river. It resulted also in the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. John Gilbert and their five-months old son, John, whom Henrietta had been visiting, and Miss Mary Greenawalt, also of Columbia.

Henrietta was a dayroom student during the past two years, taking an active part in the work of the Y. W. C. A. and the W. A. A. She was to have taught the primary grades in Morrisdale this fall.

DR. ARMSTRONG EXPLAINS STUDENT ACTIVITIES PLAN

to furnish an opportunity for the students to buy such supplies as they need in their work and to be able to get exactly what is needed and when it is needed. Without a College Book Store on the Campus the students would sometimes be greatly inconvenienced. The articles sold from the Book Store will be sold at most reasonable prices and any profits accruing from the management of this Co-operative Store will be used for the benefit of the whole student body and the College. Such an arrangement will make it possible for the students to use some of the profits from the store for some of the College necessities and, thereby, reduce the assessments that might otherwise have to be made on the students. Dr. Armstrong announced that it would take some time

VACATION NOTES

WITH THE FACULTY

Miss Helen Leshner spent most of her vacation at Nantucket and from her interesting description of it, Nantucket must be a lovely place to spend a vacation.

Miss Ashton Hatcher's vacation was spent at the Century of Progress and at her home in Chester, Virginia.

Miss Coph'ne Rooke traveled extensively in our Western and Southern states, visiting in Texas, Arizona, Iowa, Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia, and Alabama. She also vacationed at Kataba Island and visited the Great Smokey Mountain National Park and Mammoth Cave.

Miss Mabel Phillips attended the Century of Progress at Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Patterson, accompanied by Rev. and Mrs. William Taylor, of Lock Haven, spent some time at the Century of Progress this summer, taking a short-cut (?) to Chicago by way of Florida, where they spent a week.

Mr. Cornelius Sullivan spent some time in Utica, New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Smith spent the summer in Lock Haven except for a delightful day's trip to Ridgway and Emporium on the Bucktail Trail.

Mr. and Mrs. George B. Lehman and family traveled through the New England states and Canada.

Miss Lyndall Fox spent most of her vacation at her home in Carbondale, Illinois, and visited the Century of Progress in Chicago.

Miss Jessie S. Himes spent some time at the Century of Progress and toured New York state, visiting Oswego, Yonkers, West Point, and other places of interest.

Dr. Frances Coppens visited in Michigan, Vermont, and New York.

Miss Esther Richard spent the summer at her home in Grand Ledge, Michigan.

Dr. and Mrs. Harry F. Weber attended the Century of Progress early in the summer. After summer school they camped for several weeks on Pine Creek.

Mr. Weldon Williams was at his home in Seattle, Washington, during the summer.

Dr. Kenton Vickery visited in Champaign, Illinois.

Miss Belle Hollaway was at her home in Grant, Nebraska, this summer. She and Miss Daniel went by boat from Detroit to Chicago, where they attended the Century of Progress.

for the students to become accustomed to working under these new regulations but he had no doubt that it would be very satisfactory when the Committees were organized and at work. Both these activities, he stressed, are carried on through cooperative organizations designed to give every student representation in their management.

Don't fool yourself. The fellow who said, "every time a man borrows trouble he pays the interest in worry," was right.
