DR. LEE DRIVER TALKS IN CHAPEL

Reads Selections of James Whitcomb Riley's Poetry

The applause in chapel on Tuesday, November 13, was applause that meant something. The unusual enthusiasm was entirely warranted when Dr. Lee Driver, director of the Bureau of Rural Service of the State Department of Public Instruction, spoke in that pleasing, informal manner all his own, on a subject which was so interesting that everyone forgot that lessons were not quite prepared and that there were papers which ought to be finished.

Dr. Driver evidently realized that methods and plans were lengthily discussed hour after hour in the classroom and so he gave a very different sort of presentation that will not be easily forgotten. The work of James Whitcomb Riley is familiar to many, but the poems as given by one who loves and understands them had a new beauty and value. Dr. Driver, whose home is among the people of whom Riley wrote, is one who can truly show the picture of these people and their life as it has been put into the poems. He made "Little Orphan Annie" seem more real than ever before, and "An Old Sweetheart" touched a spot of memories for more than one of his audience.

The sincere appreciation of Dr. Driver's talk was shown very emphatically by the enthusiastic response to Dr. Armstrong's suggestion that perhaps Dr. Driver would come back the following morning to speak again. And there were murmurs of disappointment when chapel began Wednesday and Dr. Driver did not appear.

New Teacher

Miss Mabel Louise Arey, formerly the Supervisor of Dramatics in Southampton, Long Island, and a graduate of Emerson College of Oratory in Boston is now taking Miss Alber's place in the faculty, both in her classes and in the Dramatic Club.

While we regret losing Miss Alber, we cordially welcome Miss Arey to our school. Let us show her that she really is welcome.

"What did she say when she found she was expelled?"

"She congratulated the college on turning out such a fine woman."

Thanksgiving Recess Begins on November 23rd

The Thanksgiving recess extends from 10.30 A. M. Friday, November 23, to 8.00 A. M. Tuesday, December 4. The lengthened recess is due to a conference of Instructors of State Teachers Colleges of Pennsylvania being held at West Chester from November 26 to 28, inclusive.

Armistice Program is Given in Chapel

"LEST WE FORGET"

A very touching Armistice Day program was given in chapel, November 11, 1928. After all the students had sung "The Star Spangled Banner," Miss Arey gave a reading about Armistice Day and World Peace.

Miss Whitwell sang very beautifully, the following selection, which is "America's Answer" to "In Flanders Field," written by R. W. Lillard, music by Frank La Forge.

"Rest ye in peace, ye Flanders dead!
The fight that ye so bravely led
We've taken up!
And we shall keep
True faith with you who lie asleep.
With each a cross to mark his bed,
And poppies blowing overhead
Where once his own life blood ran red.

So let your rest be sweet and deep
In Flanders Fields.
Fear not that ye have died for naught
The torch ye threw to us we caught!
Ten million hands will hold it high and
Freedom's light shall never die!
Freedom's light shall never die!
We've learned the lesson that ye taught,
In Flanders Fields."

The program was concluded with the singing of America after the scripture and silent prayer. The main theme of the program was to promote deep thought in regard to Armistice Day.

Hockey Tournament

You have heard more or less about a hockey tournament that is deciding which is the strongest of twelve hockey teams. This is what has actually happened down on the field:

First game: Baumgarner vs. Edwards, Baumgarner team won.

Second game: Peters vs. Straley, Peters team won.

Third game: Purkiss vs. Albaugh, kiss team won.

Fourth game: Roche vs. Cummings, Cummings team won.

Fifth game: Baumgarner vs. Purkiss, Purkiss team won.

Sixth game: High vs. Mahaffey, Mahaffey team won.

Seventh game: Rohrbaugh vs. Noll, tie 1-1.

Eighth game: Cummings vs. Mahaffey, Mahaffey team forfeited to Cummings.

Ninth game: Rohrbaugh vs. Noll, tie 0-0.

Tenth game: Cummings vs. Purkiss, Purkiss team won.

NOVELTY PROGRAM GIVEN AT DANCE

Faculty Members Offer Diversion

The usual Saturday night dance was delightfully diversified by the addition of some new and fascinating numbers of the program.

Miss Edgerton was mistress of ceremonies with Miss Daniel as her assistant. This was the first appearance of these new faculty members at a social function, and we hope it will not be the last. They deserve all the credit for showing us how to have a really good time even if the occasion wasn't a regularly scheduled dance.

The purpose of the affair was to cause a more general mixing of the group. This is not an accusation that we are snobbish, but we have some shy females, and more than a few very bashful males.

The mixing process was accomplished by the entire group joining hands and forming two circles. Then the music was started and the circles moved in opposite directions, ladies to the right, gentlemen to the left. At a signal from Miss Edgerton, the circles stopped and the couples closest each other proceeded to dance. Judging from the way some of the fellows stopped, they must have heard that signal before—it was a police whistle.

Four girls from the Interpretative Dancing Class rendered an almost classical number by way of a feature. Their interpretations were very clearly and skilfully presented. They received unanimous applause and were recalled for an encore.

Following that, the assembly was divided into four groups in respective corners of the gym. Each group thought of a word and then acted it in pantomime. For the most part they were very catchy, but now and then there was a scholarly soul trying to demonstrate his ability.

During the program, there was also the privilege of dancing with the girl or boy of your dreams—it would have been a little too harsh to have separated them all evening.

Last but not least, we were prompted to commend our impromptu orchestra . . . Clara Miller, Ellis Boyer, and John Varner, under the direction of Miss Whitwell, who gave us some real Paul Whiteman Jazz.

Sally: "What can I do to keep the tears from my eyes when I sing?"

Fay: "Stuff cotton in your ears."

KLUB KORNER

Price Literary Society had their regular meeting on Friday, November 2, at 7.30 o'clock. A committee was appointed to decide on the work of the society for the rest of the year.

The editorial staff of College Times met at 6.00 on Monday, November 12, and adjourned early so that the members could see the Armistice parade at 7 o'clock.

The Rho Omega Lambda Sorority met on Monday and made the final plans for rushing parties.

The Alpha Sigma Tau Fraternity held their regular meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 13, instead of Monday.

Girls' Glee Club met Tuesday at 7.30. From the sounds that came from their direction, they seemed to be hard at work. Officers will be elected at the next meeting.

At 7.15 Wednesday, Nov. 14, Mrs. Gage spoke at Y. W. The girls are very glad to have her address them, and hope she will visit them more often.

The regular meeting of the Dramatic Club was held on Wednesday, Nov. 14, with a formal initiation of their new members, Sara Wilson and Sylvia Sykes. After initiation, the club discussed various plays as possibilities for production. At this meeting, the club members had their introduction to Miss Arey, the new advisor.

W. A. A. Aid Under-nourished Children

The W. A. A. as an active organization of this school has felt the need of getting back of some progressive movement. At the last meeting the girls decided to contribute to the milk bill for the undernourished children of the training school.

It has been found that many of the children of the training school are undernourished. Some of the parents are unable to buy the necessary food to remedy the condition.

The W. A. A. would like to see all these little kiddies in good physical condition and ready to take their places in the athletics of their schools when their time for that comes.

Letters have been sent out to the parents of the undernourished children, but as yet no estimate can be made of the amount of this bill. Regardless of its size, however, the W. A. A. feels this is such a worth while project that it is their aim, if possible, to pay the entire bill for this.

The girls are working with this in mind and when you are asked to help, be ready to do your bit.

The Three Brothers, by Eden Phillips.
 Forever Free, by Honore Willis Morrow.

EDITORIALS

As Thanksgiving season comes around again we cannot help but look back at the Pilgrims and their hardships and then compare them with our life and its comforts. It makes us realize our freedom which we owe to their courage. It makes us think of the host of things we have to be thankful for. And so with this thought in mind the "College Times" extends its greetings to you and your friends for a thankful Thanksgiving.

Football season is over and Team we want to tell you that you have done a fine piece of work. Even if scores do not declare you victorious we want to say that you have put up a fine fight.

Mrs. Gage Speaks at Y. W.

Mrs. H. H. Gage, who is engaged in welfare work in Clinton County, spoke to the students at Y. W. C. A. Wednesday evening, November 14, concerning the Children's Home in Lock Haven.

She spoke of the type of children that are cared for in the Home—orphans, those who are neglected, and those who are found living under deplorable home conditions. Many of the children, Mrs. Gage pointed out, are placed in private homes. The Home, however, offers some advantages which the children in private homes do not have, but the fact that it is not a real home, is kept in mind, and every endeavor to make the sit-

Alumni Notes

Florence Laubacher has been a real teacher and ambitious student since her graduation from Normal in '16. She has been studying in various institutions of learning including Bucknell, Penn State, and Columbia University. At present she is teaching in the Williamsport High School, English Department.

Laura E. Weymouth, class of '27, now Mrs. Charles Newton, has given up school teaching for what she considers a better position, that of house-keeping.

Helen Mizner '25 is at North Central College, Naperville, Ill., working for her degree in Dramatics. We hear that Helen's engagement has been announced at college.

Christine Edler, '28, is beginning her teaching career in a rural school at Farragut, Pa., not far from her home town, Williamsport. "Teen" says, "Gee, it makes it nice." In what way—we wonder!?!?

One of our Beta Sigma Chi's, Catherine Ranch '26 is on her "third round" as "school ma'am." She's making progress, too. This year she landed a position in the Andrew G. Curtin Junior High School, Williamsport.

Mrs. J. H. Fleckenstine, a loyal member of the 1916 class says, "Lock Haven's a pretty good place" and "teachers fit in most any place." She is an Evangelical minister's wife, and a housekeeper, but still uses her teaching methods in Sunday School, once a week.

It takes a man to change a lady's name. That's how Ina Kelmer, class of '24 became Mrs. Bruce Henry. The "Henry's" still stick to "Billtown" and Ina likes teaching so well that she's still hangin' on.

In a former issue we said that Tim Ferguson was teaching in the Cochran Building at Williamsport. This is incorrect. We were misinformed. Tim is teaching at the Curtin Junior High School, Williamsport.

Mrs. H. B. Otway, nee Emily Leitzell, class of 1908, elocution and music department, will move with her husband and her daughter, Dorothy, a pupil at the Training School, to 250 Pine Street, Lockport, New York, in the near future.

B. F. Geary, classes of 1879 and 1881, and Miss Louise M. Alber, formerly head of the Oral Expression Department of State Teachers College, were married at Binghamton, N. Y., November 10. After December 1, Mr. and Mrs. Geary will be at home to their many friends at 317 W. Main Street, Lock Haven, Pa.

uation like that of a real home is being made. The girls of the College are doing much to help along this line.

Us and Others

Mamie Griffith, of Bellefonte, was visited by her father and mother on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Moore, of Curwensville, were the guests of Helen Wenker.

Mary Eleanor Emery was at her home in Williamsport.

Lib Bressler was a visitor at the school.

Peg Ferguson attended her uncle's funeral Thursday.

Bernadine McClarine's father was a guest here over the week-end.

Mrs. Fred Maneval has been visiting Mrs. Cresswell.

Miss Rowe left Sunday night to attend the funeral of her mother.

Ethel Cripe and Lee Hoffman were guests of Mary Beale.

Gerry Jones, of Williamsport, was here for the Bittersweet dinner on Friday evening.

Sally Wilson visited at her home in Altoona over the week-end.

Reba Franklin spent the week-end in Williamsport.

A. S. T. Rushing Season Takes Place

The initial affairs of the Sorority rushing season took place Friday morning, November 2, with the Alpha Sigma Tau Fraternity, and their rushees breakfasting at Herlocker's Tea Room. At six o'clock the same evening the same group dined at the New Fallon Hotel. After the dinner all enjoyed a short program in the reception room and later danced in the private dining room.

On Saturday afternoon following, the guests of the Alpha Sigma Tau Fraternity were invited to the football game and a football party in the Sorority rooms afterwards.

To start the next week of rushing the Fraternity held a Jack Frost Revel in 201 East. The decorations surely were a foretaste of the winter weather we had in the past week.

On Friday evening after the concert the rushees were invited to a P. J. Party in the Y. W. rooms.

On Monday afternoon Miss Himes entertained the Fraternity and rushees at a Rainbow Party at her lovely little home. The decorations carried out the theme the name implies as there were plenty of rainbows for the dreary day that it was.

Going to Chinatown, a progressive party, was the social event of the past Tuesday evening. This party was a visit to four streets in Chinatown. At each stopping place refreshments were served or favors were given. At

Rho Omega Lambda Rush Season Ended

Within the past two weeks Rho Omega Lambda has been prominent in the social life of S. T. C. Original invitations of all shapes and sizes have been tucked under the doors of the lucky Juniors. In turn these invitations have invited them to a colorful Bohemian artists' studio in the sorority room; a formal afternoon tea in the Y. W. room; an old fashioned taffy pull as a "Grandmother's surprise" at Clara Miller's home; a "sandwich shop" in the sorority room after the Mardi Gras; a gay night club and characteristic bowery ball with the usual confetti and serpentine, Apache dances, with refreshments served by "Bowery Pete" and "Slippery Sal." Rushing season closed with a good night slumber party in the sorority room.

To be sure of getting everything in, the "big day" started Thursday morning at six o'clock with a "follow the arrow" treasure hunt. In spite of the rain the merry treasure hunters found the arrows posted or chalked on the sidewalks until they reached the much desired ham and eggs at Rosters. Tiny blue Rho Omega Lambda spoons as place cards were the permanent loot.

Enthusiasm was still high when the guests and hostesses left at 6.15 P. M. for the dinner dance at the New Fallon Hotel. The long U-shaped table in the private dining room was decorated with dainty lantern place cards, nut cups and several low baskets of pink roses, baby chrysanthemums and ferns. At the signal of Mrs. Gage and Miss Alber, the sorority advisors, everyone sat down to a savory New Fallon Thanksgiving dinner three weeks ahead of time. Orthophonic music gave a low musical tone to the conversation. Near the end of the dinner the guests were entertained by favorite interpretations of popular songs by Evelyn Bosworth and Betty Cowher with Clara Miller as accompanist. Miss Alber gave a humorous reading and another short poem especially fitting the occasion. The guests then went to the reception parlor while the tables were being removed for dancing. Several special dances were given by "Vieve" Kennedy, "Betty" Cowher, "Dot" Blair and other talented guests. "Dody" Arnold gave an excellent interpretation of "Then came the dawn." And so ended the Rho Omega Lambda day as it had begun with merry heart for everyone.

the last place the guests were served with a Chinese meal.

The last party of the rushing season for the Alpha Sigma Tau Fraternity was a Sea Going Party. Two rooms were decorated to represent the various portions of a ship: "B" deck, "C" deck and the dining saloon, where the party ended with an appropriate Sailor's Luncheon.

Piper: "Why do you wear spats?"
Clint: "In memory of my old girl."
