Entrance Requirements and New Standards Explained

Students Receive Explanation of Entrance Requirements and New Standards

Dr. Armstrong made three Chapel addresses to the students at the opening of the College year.

In the first address he took up the Entrance Requirements and the Required Standards of College Work and spoke in part as follows:

"There has been much said about the admission requirements for Pennsylvania State Teachers Colleges. I think you are all familiar with the requirements. This year it is necessary for a new applicant to have ranked in the upper-half of his high school class at graduation. It was possible for some who did not rank in the upper-half to take certain tests here and, if passed successfully, in that way be admitted to the College. It was pleasing to us to learn as we went along that nearly all the applicants we had this year for admission to the College were in the upper-half of their high school classes. We have enrolled this year many students who ranked first in their classes at high school and that promises a lot for the grade of work which they will be able to do here and the quality of teacher that we shall be able to send out from here. Then there was another limitation on this enrollment, that we could not admit more students to the College than would make our enrollment class at registration to less than 80% was last year. This cut our Freshman enrollment down severely. That regulation was then changed by the State Superintendent to read that we

TIMES STAFF ANNOUNCES ITS NEW REGULATIONS

The College Times will be published monthly instead of weekly as in previous years. The paper will be released from the press on the fifteenth of each month with this issue. In former years the paper has been published weekly but on account of reduction of state appropriation only a limited number of publications can be issued. The organization of the staff, however, remains practically the same as last year, with the exception that changes in arrangement of the staff will take place only twice in the year instead of four times as in previous years.

The board of control consists of members of last year's staff: Editor in Chief, Kermit Stover; Copy Editor, Marian Francisco; Managing Editor, Harold Sykes; Make-up Editor, Alma Crawford; Business Manager, Molly Hammon.

Many new members of the staff this year have had considerable experience in journalism at other colleges and schools.

ARMISTICE DAY PROGRAM WAS WELL PRESENTED

Reverence, beauty and solemnity were the outstanding features of L. H. S. T. C.'s Armistice Day program, in which talks, music and poetry were pleasingly mingled.

At ten forty-five the students assembled in the auditorium, where Mr. Ira Fleming, who is an ex-service man, opened the service by reading the Scripture. At two minutes before eleven o'clock everyone stood, and observed a two-minute period of silence in respect to those who gave their lives in the World War.

In a group of selected poems, including "Road Refugees," "Counter Attack," "Does it Matter" and "A Challenge from the Dead," Miss Mabel-Louise Arey gave a vivid picture of the horrors of war. Each poem made everyone present realize a little more fully the hardships and the price our boys paid "Over There."

Stirring patriotic days of 1914 were again relived when Mr. George Lehman sang "The Americans Come."

In conclusion, Mr. Samuel Smith, another of our ex-service men, spoke on the World War, showing that unemployment, prohibition and widespread graft are the aftermath of the War.

PRAECO DANCE WILL BE DECEMBER FEATURE

The Praeco dance, an informal affair sponsored by the members of the Senior Class, will be held December 10 at 8.30 in the college gymnasium.

The Lock Haven Lyric Orchestra will furnish the music for dancing.

The decoration committee, Ellen Reighard and H. L. Sykes, have conceived a unique idea of having the dance in keeping with the Christmas season. In the center of the floor will be a huge red candle standing within an imitation white candle holder surrounded by pine trees. Silver tinsel will extend from the top of the candle to the trees. The combination of white, red, green and silver will be most effectively arranged about the hall. Trees clad in snow will be scattered about the corners. The winter scenes will add much gaiety to the season.

A large number of alumni as well as friends of the students are expected to attend. Any person entertaining a guest on that evening must notify Miss Holaway or Dr. Weber on or before December 2.

Invitations may be obtained from Florence Daye, Julia Silagyi, Mary Jane Nichols, Mary Simon, Isadore Ziff, Madeline Anderson, or Lynn Norman.

"Orange Blossoms," a three-act musical comedy, was presented October 17 under the supervision of Miss Larabee and the direction of James Harlan.

LOCK HAVEN WINS LAST GAME OF SEASON

Students who missed the victory of Lock Haven State Teachers College over Slippery Rock by a score of 6-0 on Saturday afternoon missed a good show. Those who saw it got the thrill of their life in football. Truly it was the mud-battle of a century, with water to the right of them and water to the left of them, a splash here and a splash there, they made the yards appear like inches with their successful passing and punting. Gains as high as 40 yards were made by kicking. It was very difficult to gain by carrying the ball so both teams took the line of least resistance and used their feet.

The game was opened by Slippery Rock when Focker kicked off to Lock Haven's 20 yard line. The second play was an incomplete pass, which gave Lock Haven a first down and the ball on their own 35 yard line. The remainder of the first half was a series of punts. Only once did the teams fumble the ball. Three passes were tried by Lock Haven, only one being good.

The thrill of the game came in the last quarter when Lock Haven forced Slippery Rock to their goal and then, by blocking their kick, they received the ball on downs. Hart carried the ball around right end for a touchdown. The extra point failed through an incomplete pass.

"MERCHANT OF VENICE" GIVEN BY DRAMATIC CLUB

One of the most outstanding performances ever attempted by the College Dramatic Club was the successful presentation of Shakespeare's drama, "The Merchant of Venice," on November 14 and 15 in the college auditorium under the direction of Miss Mabel-Louise Arey.

The theme of the play centers about companionship as the main thing in life, which Shakespeare, although not distinguishing in word between the two forms of it—love and friendship—portrays in Antonio's friendship for Bassanio, and Bassanio's love for Portia.

Harold Sykes, as Shylock, the Jewish money-lender, gave an unsurpassable impersonation, rising to the height of his dramatic ability in the court scene. Dean Shroat well portrayed Bassanio, the young friend of Antonio, and lover of Portia. Because there were but three feminine roles, the girl characters were changed at each performance. Florence Hunt, Hazel Singer and Mary Eleanor Evans made charming Portias; and the lovely role of Jessica, daughter of Shylock, was played by Sylvia M. Sykes, Ann Crist, and Ellen Reighard. Nerissa, waiting maid to Portia, was

College Campus is Improved And Buildings are Renovated

Many changes and improvements are being made at the College this year.

On September 6, 1932, the City Council of Lock Haven Pennsylvania, passed an ordinance vacating that part of Water Street extending through the College Campus. On October 26, 1932, by order of the Court, Lusk Run Road, extending from the City limits to where it connects onto the newly located Lusk Run Road, was permanently closed. The College for many years has been trying to close this street and road and this accomplishment will bring many very desirable results, among them a relief from the danger to the pupils of the Training School and the students of the College in having a public road run directly through the College Campus. It will also permit the completing of the new Athletic Field and the carrying out of other building projects.

At this time those parts of Susquehanna Avenue and Water Street extending through the College Campus are being paved with a concrete street thirty-six feet in width. Also there is a concrete road under construction from the Glen Road back of the Boy's Dormitory to the kitchen. This road back of the dormitory is a great improvement to the College grounds on account of the road itself and also for the fact that it will make it possible to take away the old cinder road extending across the front Campus from Fairview Street back of the dormitories.

Also there is under construction a new bakery and a reconstruction of the dining room and kitchen. This, of course, will greatly improve our dining room-kitchen facilities and it is an improvement that has been needed for many years. The project is costing $55,000, and it to be completed by April 1, 1933. Also since last Commencement the exterior of all College buildings have been painted, making a great improvement in the appearance of the College Campus.

EDITORIAL

The Times Staff wants to announce the fact that only a limited number of issues of the College Times will be published this year. The reduction in State appropriations makes impossible the publication of a weekly newspaper on the former basis.

The newspaper serves several distinct functions in the school; namely, the development of school spirit, the building of a permanent record of policies, activities, events and facts, and most important, the interpretation of education to the taxpayers.

The Times Staff feels that a monthly issue fails to fulfill the purpose of a school publication in an institution of this type. The four page monthly issue does not have room to include everything a college newspaper calls for.

A college newspaper should be able to feature every department in the school, to relate how the graduates are meeting the tests of life, to give accounts of all athletic events, musical programs, dramatic plays, art exhibitions and outstanding chapel programs, to reflect important traditions, ideals and standards of conduct of the schools, to give proper recognition to outstanding student leaders, to reflect the student life of the college, to reflect policies of the administration, to reflect the objectives and aims of education.

The student body of this college should on their own initiative organize and finance a weekly newspaper in the coming year if the State appropriations are insufficient to provide one.

With the new entrance requirements, the standards of our College have been still further raised, insuring this school and the State of Pennsylvania the graduation of an individual as a prospective teacher who has the ability to be a leader in the community.

This new step carries still further the effect of the introduction, two years ago, of quality points necessary for graduation and continuance in schools. Standards of work expected from students have thus been raised so as to insure better prepared teachers for the schools of the Commonwealth.

We congratulate the freshmen on being admitted to this College and extend a hearty welcome to them.

MUCH INTEREST IS SHOWN IN GIRLS' ATHLETICS

Much interest is being shown in girls' athletics this fall. The preliminary tournament in volleyball finds Vida Goodman's team in first place at present. There are seventy participants in the games, which are held each Friday at 4.20 on the court behind the gymnasium. The Primary Captains are: Emily Williams and Emma Herbs. Vida Goodman and Geraldine Jones are captains of the intermediate groups.

The fall tournament in tennis is now being played. Out of the one hundred and five students participating, sixty-four occupy the highest place, and will be eligible to compete for the spring tournament for W. A. A. or class credit.

The inter-class hockey tournament has started. The captains of the second year teams have been elected as follows: Primary captains: Elizabeth Johnson, Sydney Sauter; Intermediate captains: Cora Beck, Geraldine Jones; first year captains are: Mary Jane Thiel, Pearl McCloskey, Mary Ulmer, Stella Kasinsky, Nancy Kiser and Lorraine Burnell. When the tournament is completed an all star team will be chosen from each class group.

The basketball season for second, third, and fourth year students will get under way this week.

Tryouts in natural dancing, clogging and folk dancing for the first year girls were held Monday, November 21, at 4.00 P. M. The schedule for natural dancing and clogging classes beginning the week after Thanksgiving vacation is as follows: Elementary—Monday 3.30, Wednesday 8.00; Advanced Clogging—Thursday 7.30; Elementary clog and folk dance—Monday 4.15; Intermediate natural dancing—Thursday 8.15.

GIRLS' HOCKEY GAME IS FEATURE OF HOMECOMING DAY

The Homecoming Day hockey game, played between the alumnae "High Hats" and a mixed college team, took place Saturday morning, October 29, on the old athletic field. The game was played throughout with a spirit of fun and enthusiasm. It brought thrills once more to the hearts of both players and spectators to see "Skinny" Russell, "Shusty" High, "Peg" Reed, Sylvia Sykes, "Kate" Stiffler, Emma Jane Lohr, Ann Thomas, "Marty" Zeigler, "Smitty" Smith, Loretta Divinney, Ruth Grier and Anna Sigmund taking that ball down the field once more in old time form. Due to the lack of "wind," the quarters were shortened to four minutes. The game, a huge success, ended with a score of 1-0 in favor of the college girls.

KLUB KORNER

ALPHA SIGMA TAU

The members of the A. S. T. gave a tea, under the chairmanship of Ruth Savage, to which the faculty and members of other sororities were invited. Sally Hoffman poured. It was enjoyed very much by all who attended. Another event held by the A. S. T. was a feed at the old reservoir. Needless to say it was a success. Interesting plans are made for the year.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The W. A. A.'s, after a very successful membership campaign and a get-together party and initiation in the gym, are endeavoring to earn as many points in women's athletics as possible, and they are working hard to get up a swimming expedition.

EDUCATION CLUB

At a social gathering of the Education Club held several weeks ago at the home of Mr. Patterson, the topic of mental hygiene formed the basis for very interesting discussion.

AMERICAN CHILDHOOD EDUCATION

A. C. E. members are studying the movies from the standpoint of beneficial and non-beneficial pictures for children. They are planning to bring to Lock Haven a picture which will be particularly appropriate for children.

ART CLUB

The Art Club members are devoting their time this fall to work on projects. Some are making leather desk sets, and others are designing Christmas cards. In addition to this they have decided to keep the bulletin boards in Social Square and West Dorm well arranged. Male members are to be admitted this year.

did not need to limit our Freshman Class at registration to less than 80% of what it was last year. That has allowed us to take in a few more Freshmen.

"Those who have come in for the first year have noticed that they have been asked to take a physical examination. It was necessary for them to be examined by their family physician and then after registering here this examination was checked by our College physician. This requirement will emphasize to you as it does to the Faculty and everybody in the State that the State is more interested in the quality of teachers that are sent out into the public schools of the State than it is in the quantity that is sent out. By these admission requirements the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is determined to obtain the highest possible quality in the teachers for their public schools.

"In addition to the high standards required for your admission here there will be required high standards of work from you if you are to remain in this College. The State has a

Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. members have completed a successful membership campaign and are accomplishing worthwhile aims in their weekly meetings. The Y room has been re-papered and hung with new curtains, and the boys have bought for it a new rug and a radio.

Y. W. C. A.

Big plans are being formulated by the cabinet of the Y. W. for this year. The organization is deeply interested in the Student Industrial Movement. They are going to study various problems along with the Industrial Girls' Association.

A circuit of speakers has been arranged under the auspices of the National Council of the Y. W. C. A. The "Y" members are expecting to hear worthwhile speeches from such personages as Reinhold Niebuhr, Bruce Curry and Sherwood Eddy.

In addition to their weekly discussions, which, during the past month centered on "Great Religions of the World," the day-room Y. W. has held an enjoyable hamburger fry (even though it did have to be held in the student kitchen on account of the rain) and a successful get-together lunch of the entire day-room, at which Ruth Tyson played several selections on her accordion. Edith Sharpe gave a reading, and Miss Russell, Miss Rowe and Nora Holmes, the presidents, gave short addresses.

The Naturalist Club members have been enjoying several hikes, by which they have been trying out applicants for membership. They are not only having a good time and enjoyable feeds, but they are getting the Club trail cleared.

DR. ARMSTRONG WEDS

MISS KATHERINE GRIFFIN

Dr. Dallas W. Armstrong, President of the Lock Haven Teachers College, and Miss Katherine E. Griffin, Director of Dramatics at the Upper Darby High School, Philadelphia, were united in marriage by Rev. William M. Taylor at the Trinity Methodist Church at Lock Haven.

Mrs. Armstrong is a graduate of the State Teachers College at Edinboro and of the Emerson College of Oratory at Boston, and has attended the Columbia College of Expression at Chicago and Columbia University at New York. She has been teacher of oral expression at Edinboro College and was the head of the department of public speaking and dramatics at Grove City College for some time. She also taught at Roanoke College in Virginia for several summer sessions, and has been a member of the Lock Haven College faculty during three summer sessions.

Mrs. Armstrong has had wide experience as a reader and as a public speaker before church organizations, service clubs, colleges and high schools, and in teacher institute work in this and other states, and has had a wide experience in lyceum work.

NEW STANDARDS EXPLAINED

right to demand these things of its teachers the same as the country had the right to demand the highest quality in the soldiers that entered its Army. The United States Army is no place for weaklings. The same can be said about the teachers of the Public Schools of this State. The Commonwealth is demanding that you have the intellectual strength needed to become efficient teachers and just as important as this is that the teachers that go out from this place must have also the moral and spiritual strength that they will need to teach properly the boys and girls of this Commonwealth. The State has a right to demand these things. The State has the right to require these things before they will go to any expense to train you for public school teachers. If it is found that you do not have the physical, moral, intellectual and spiritual strength to be real men and women, real teachers, in the schools of this State, the Commonwealth will feel perfectly free in asking any such students to withdraw from this institution. It has taken high standards of work for you to be admitted to this College, not only this year but other years. It is going to take the same high standards and quality of work for you to remain here. As you start in here you are in reality making application for a commission from your State to become one of its public officials. The public school teacher in Pennsylvania is a public official and you are not greatly different from the public officials who are elected for a two or four year term of office; but when the State commissions you as a teacher it commissions you not for two or three years but for life. For this reason the State needs to take more care because of the longer term of service. You can, therefore, see why the Commonwealth is anxious to have only those people who are fit physically, intellectually, morally and spiritually for public school teachers. This is a subject that is very near to the hearts of everyone of our Faculty and I must say to every other citizen of Pennsylvania who loves Pennsylvania and his country because we all believe that upon the public schools of this State depends the future of the State more than upon any other factor. The founders of our Government and our State knew that no free government could exist without the public schools and no free government can exist unless the teachers of the public schools are physically, intellectually, morally and spiritually fit to teach its boys and girls.

"In the beginning of the year in the name of the Trustees and Faculty I want to welcome back to the school those old students who have worked here before. We are glad to see you returning. We also want to welcome those new students who are coming here for the first time and are coming here to make this College their College. Furthermore, we want to congratulate you upon being admitted here. We think that you are fortunate, indeed, because there are in Pennsylvania hundreds of young men and young women who have been refused admission to State Teachers

P. S. E. A. CONVENTION HAS LARGE ATTENDANCE

On Thursday and Friday, October 6 and 7, Lock Haven State Teachers College was the scene of the annual meeting of the Central District of the Pennsylvania State Education Association and the Clinton County Institute. It is estimated that three thousand school administrators and teachers assembled to discuss problems in American education.

The general theme of the convention was the changes that are being made and have been made in the curriculum. Discussions by James N. Rule, Thomas H. Briggs, Jesse H. Newlon, W. E. Wenner, Francis Haas, and Albert W. Beaven at the general programs centered about possibilities of reorganization of the curriculum according to criteria other than the traditional subject matter molds, qualities teachers must possess to initiate such a reorganization, and the probabilities of more tangible and far-reaching outcomes in character education.

Briefly summarized, the main points brought out in the addresses given are as follows:

Briggs, as a representative speaker from the Teachers College of Columbia University, spoke on the subject, "A Larger View of Education." The speaker maintained that education not only involved the thinking process but the emotions as well. He emphasized the importance of having teachers trained to be capable of understanding the emotions, since the individual's ability to retain depends greatly on emotions.

Dr. Newlon, director of the Lincoln Experimental School Teachers College at Columbia University in New York City, discussed the curriculum as a whole. He defined the curriculum as everything that goes on in school or around school which affects the behaviour and thinking of all concerned. He contrasted the old school with the new school, explaining that the chief differences lie in the courses of study emphasized, the conceptions of school life as integrated with communal life, the differences in the possessive qualities of an educated man, and the manners of measuring abilities. The American schools of today are not static, but are constantly reaching out to see visualized new created desires.

Dr. Rule, Superintendent of Public Instruction, spoke on "A Program of Constructive Economy for the Administration of the Public Schools of Pennsylvania." He talked briefly of attractively portrayed by Marion Francisco, Lauvon Basinger and Helen Myers. John Haberstroh, merchant of Venice, played the part of Antonio with telling effect. Isadore Ziff added much humor to the action as Launcelot Goble, servant to Shylock.

The climax of the play, as well as the height of the dramatic ability of the players, was reached in the court scene, with James Harlan enthroned as the Duke of Venice. Portia and Nerissa impersonated the learned doctor and his clerk with unusual talent.

TRAINING SCHOOL WILL PRESENT A FESTIVAL

On Tuesday, the 22nd of November, at 3.15 the Training School Department of Physical Education will present a Thanksgiving Festival in the college gymnasium. Admission will be ten cents. The proceeds will be used for the Training School milk fund. All who find it impossible to attend the Tuesday performance may use their tickets for the dress rehearsal at 2.15 on Monday, November 21. The program will include tumbling by the first grade, singing games by the second grade, an Indian War Dance by the third grade, the story of the Peace Pipe Ceremony by the fourth grade, an English Country Dance by the fifth grade, an Indian Maiden's Dance by the sixth grade, and an Irish Clog by the Junior High School. This program promises to be very interesting. Save ten cents and come.

HOMECOMING IS VERY SUCCESSFUL DAY

The homecoming on October 29 was the most successful one on record, both in the number of returning graduates and the quality of entertainment, which was furnished by the faculty and the student body represented by the Student Activities Club headed by Thomas Blyler.

Alumni were registered in the Blue Room in the morning. At 11 o'clock alumnae and third and fourth year girls played a hockey game which was won by the latter. The two day-room sororities—the Lambda Alpha Lambda, of which Helen Myers is president, and the Alpha Chi Delta, of which Eileen Perry is the executive—were hostesses at a luncheon held in honor of the alumnae members of these two organizations in the annex of the day-room. The faculty advisers of these sororities are Miss Daniel, Miss Edgerton, and Miss Fox.

After luncheon, alumni had the opportunity to greet old friends in class reunions. The feature of the afternoon was the football game between Bloomsburg and Lock Haven, the outcome of which was entirely favorable to Lock Haven, 7-0. Between the halves the freshman boys, clad in feminine garb, staged a clever parody of a football game. This part of the program was in charge of Sebastian Grieco, head of the Boys' Tribunal.

In the evening the faculty members, represented by a committee composed of Miss Holaway, Dr. Weber, Mr. Patterson and Miss Arey were hosts and hostesses at a Hallowe'en dance for both alumni and students in the gymnasium. The gym was attractively decorated with Indian blankets, autumn leaves, and Indian masks made by the art classes under the direction of Miss Lyndall Fox.

DEAN OF MEN WEDS MISS JEANETTE UNDERWOOD

Miss C. Jeanette Underwood, of Lock Haven, and Dr. Harry F. Weber, Dean of Men at Lock Haven State Teachers College were married in Philadelphia on September 2, 1932. They continued to Atlantic City and New York for their wedding trip.

Mrs. Weber, who has been a member of the faculty of the Lock Haven High School, is a graduate of Indiana State Teachers College.

FOOTBALL TEAM CLOSSES SUCCESSFUL SEASON

Perhaps the most thrilling game of the season was played here on Saturday afternoon, November 5, Lock Haven State Teachers College losing 13-0 to its strong opponent, West Chester Teachers College. The visitors kicked off, the first half of the game going with a scoreless tie. Lock Haven led by 382 to 262 yards in scrimmage and punts. Only once did Lock Haven have the ball within five yards of the goal, then losing the ball on the last down.

The third quarter was a tough struggle on both sides. The scoring started in the last quarter when Sasso made a complete pass to Robinson, scoring a touchdown. Another seven points were added to the foes' list when they carried the ball through the line. In this half West Chester led in scrimmage 210 yards to Lock Haven's 96.

West Chester's punting and successful passing won their game and cost Lock Haven the State Championship.

The lineup:

RESUME OF THE FOOTBALL GAMES

Lock Haven State Teachers College started the football season off by losing to Indiana State Teachers College 12 to 0, much to the surprise of everyone. The game was played on the Indiana field. Indiana made both scores in the second half, the first score the result of a blocked kick, the second the result of a long run.

The boys retaliated at Millersville two weeks later when they came out on the big end of an 18-0 count. In this game Wepsic returned the first kick-off 75 yards to place the ball in a scoring position. He scored the first touchdown shortly after. Hart and Burd made the other scores later in the game. In this game Hammaker was changed from his guard position to a nice showing at the fullback post.

The following Saturday saw the Lock Haven team win a hard-fought battle at Kutztown 14-6. The Maroons made touchdowns in the first and third quarters. Kutztown's score came in the last period. Wepsic and Hammaker made the touchdowns. Lock Haven made twenty-three first downs to the three of Kutztown.

The third straight victory of the season was won on the local field from our friendly rival, Bloomsburg, by a score of 7-0. Despite the un-

Colleges in Pennsylvania. We have a waiting list of quite considerable length here of young men and young women who want to come to this State Teachers College but cannot because our quota is full or because they do not measure up to the high standards I have been talking about. For that reason I want to say again that I congratulate you for getting into this College and urge you to do your best so that you will be able to keep your place in this College.

"We want to ask your cooperation in making this the most profitable year you have ever had in your life and help make it a most successful year for the College. Next Chapel morning I want to suggest to our new friends and new students how they can help in this cooperation and maybe remind some of the older ones who may have forgotten through the summer vacation some ways in which they can cooperate in making this one of the most successful years of the College."

The subject discussed by Dr. Armstrong in his second chapel address was "How the Students Could Cooperate in Making this College Year a Most Successful One."

The points stressed were that since the appropriations for State Teachers Colleges have been so severely cut and our College having $72,000 less money for this year than had been originally allocated it would be necessary for the students and Faculty to cooperate in every way to save on the light, heat and supplies; to take more than usual care of all College buildings and to see to it that no damage came to them; to save everybody's time by being prompt in meeting all classes and other appointments; and to cooperate with the College and its various organizations in promptly and cheerfully observing all rules and regulations. If all the students and Faculty will cooperate in these things, we can have one of the most successful years in the history of the College. We can all receive much discipline and help in getting along without some of the things we have been used to; for, after all, the benefits we get are measured by the effort we have to make in getting them and generally successful persons have attributed their success to the fact that they have had to do their work under severe handicaps.

The subject of Dr. Armstrong's third chapel address was "Study Hours and Budgeting of Students' Time." He furnished blanks to each student to budget his or her time for each day's work. He stated that the conditions under which the students did their College work were much different than the conditions under which they did their high school work and for that reason it would be necessary for every student to have his or her own plans for their class work, their Library work, their study hours and their recreation hours. "If you are to have a successful year it will be necessary for you to budget your time. Have a time to do your work and do your work in that time. Your success in College will depend upon how you budget your time just the same as your success in life will depend upon how you budget your time. If you have difficulty in making a the financial situations in various schools in cities and states of our nation, informing the audience that as a whole the schools of Pennsylvania are quite economically administered.

In his lecture, "A New Mind for a New Day," Dr. Wenner, instructor at the Clinton County Institute, stated that the Americans are tending to destroy democracy by forgetting youth and consequently the broad meaning of citizenship.

Rev. Beaven, President of the Colgate Rochester Divinity School, at Rochester, New York, in his address entitled "Builders of Tomorrow," described the teachers of today as the builders of tomorrow.

Demonstration lessons were conducted in the Campus Training Schools, followed by conferences led by the subject supervisors.

Interesting programs were presented by members of the college faculty before the evening addresses began. Thursday evening musical numbers were offered by Miss Lottie Larabee and Mr. George Lehman, of the music department. On Friday evening Miss Mabel-Louise Arey entertained the audience by telling different types of stories. The reception given by Dr. Armstrong and the faculty to the members of the convention and the college seniors occasioned many happy reunions.

Why does Bill Statler have a red nose? I wonder if it could be the result of his famous election bet. I also wonder what the peanut looks like.

We feel sorry for the true Republicans that will be treating friends to a show.

Don't you think the big locomotive and the little locomotive need some repairs?

Does Bob Denshaw still think Disraeli's pet name is Garibaldi?

Politics show up in the dayroom. The Republican girls are already preparing for the next war. Knitting has become the fashionable pastime.

Mr. Sullivan: "Why do we pasteurize milk?"

Ronnie Aldrich: "To keep the babies alive."

In spelling class: "Your presence is desired at the party, and also your presents."

Mr. Ulmer: "So, Mr. Emery, the fishermen get in their little boats and chase after a school of cod?"

With the R. O. L.'s sewing and the day-room girls knitting, there seems to be some possibility of a Home Economics Department being added to the college that excels in kindergarten education.

A great mystery has been solved. We discovered Sam Plummer to be "The Lost Lady."

And then it is not an unusual sight to see Charley Wepsic showing Lillibridge his bumps and bruises after each game.

PRAECO WORK IS PROGRESSING RAPIDLY

The Praeco, our College yearbook, will be edited this year by a very capable staff. John Haberstroh is the editor. With the aid of Julia Silagyi, his assistant, Harold Sykes, art editor, Marion Francisco, associate editor, any many others, the Praeco is certain to be successful. The theme to be used has not yet been decided upon but many unusual features will be introduced. All students have the opportunity of submitting art work, and all are urged to cooperate with the staff.

All organizations, clubs and activities will have their separate pages. Pictures and write-ups will be important features.

If any students have snapshots which they would like to have in the Praeco, please give them to Ellen Reighard or Allen Sekula. Make the yearbook your very own. You'll be glad you have one when your college days are over.

favorable condition of the weather as well as the field, Lock Haven Teachers College gave its large football audience a run for its money. Hart, Wepsic and Burd were the stars for the Maroons, Hart making a thirty yard run, which Wepsic quickly followed with a touchdown. Burd added the extra point with a kick over the goalpost.

BETA SIGMA CHI

The first social function of the B. E. X. Sorority was an alumnae tea at the home of Miss Erickson, which was very successful. Their next get-together, from all we hear, must have been loads of fun; it was a progressive "feed." And last, but by no means least, was their annual tea dance at the Pythian Hall.

RHO OMEGA LAMBDA

The R. O. L.'s, as their contribution to the winter's relief work, have presented to the local Needlework Guild of America forty-eight new handmade or knitted children's garments, which the girls made at their meetings. These articles in turn are given by the Guild to the local relief organizations for distribution among needy families of the city. Now the girls are planning to devote their time to developing skills in craftsmanship, such as all kinds of handwork, knitting, embroidering, sewing, art work, etc.

ALPHA CHI DELTA

The A. C. D.'s have been very active this fall. On October 21, they held a pirate party in the new annex to the girls' day room, and, according to all reports, the activities of the evening were carried out in the pirates' high-handed fashion. Their annual banquet and formal initiation for their fourteen pledges took place at the Fallon Hotel, Friday, November 11, followed by a theater party.

SHAKESPEARE LITERARY SOCIETY

Debating, and studying Shakespeare's plays are occupying most of the time of the Shakespeare Club members. Tuesday night, Nov. 1, they were entertained at the home of their faculty adviser, Dr. Rude. The first part of the evening was devoted to business, at which time new members were admitted; the rest of the evening was a purely social time.

LAMBDA ALPHA LAMBDA

The L. A. L.'s held their first rushing party Friday night, October 28, at the home of Helen Myers. For a week white cotton stockings and green and white ribbons were the rage throughout the dayroom. Initiation took place Monday evening, November 7, and the final banquet for the pledges the following evening.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES CLUB

The members of the Student Activities Club spent all their spare time this fall endeavoring to make Homecoming a success, and we must confess they succeeded. Officers elected for the year are: Pres., Thomas Blyler; Vice Pres., Thomas Smith; Sec., Mary Simon; Treas., Mary Eleanor Evans. Representatives include: Boys' Dormitory, George Shively, Fred Hostetler and Calvin Cooke; Girls' Dormitory, Mary E. Evans, Geraldine Jones and Beatrice Berg; Boys' Dayroom, Thomas Smith, Thomas Blyler and Robert Emery; Girls' Dayroom, Mary Simon, Emily Williams and Betty Stevenson. The faculty adviser again this year is Mr. Sullivan.
