NEWS BRIEFS

by CHERYL
"TORCH" WAGNER

As an aftermath of President Anwar el-Sadat's visit to Jerusalem, Sadat invited all the parties in the Middle East conflict, including Israel, to a "Cairo Conference". This conference is supposed to pave the way for Geneva peace talks. Sadat said the Cairo meeting could begin as early as next Saturday. Last night Israel accepted the invitation, but noted that sharp differences remained between the two countries on such major issues as the creation of a Palestinian state and Israeli withdrawal from the Arab territories it captured in 1967 war.

A new warmth exists now between the United States and Canada, due to Ottawa's recent severe internal political and economic strains. This is quite a contrast to the coolness and tension of two years ago.

Packages of saccharin and all foods containing the artificial sweetener will bear labels beginning February 23rd, warning that the product could cause cancer, the Food and Drug Administration said Monday.

Crowds of marijuana smokers recently enjoyed public "smoke-ins" in San Francisco and Cleveland and there was not a single arrest. Explanations offered for the trend are lighter penalties, laissez-faire policing, reluctant prosecution and mounting public acceptance.

Fourteen medical schools have forfeited $11 million in Federal funds in a dispute over a new law that requires them to accept as transfer students, Americans who began their medical studies in other countries. The law says that the American schools must enroll these students or forfeit subsidies provided as incentives for increasing enrollment. The issue will go to a House-Senate Conference soon.

ROTC Program Nearing Approval

by TINA BROOKS

An ROTC program proposed for Lock Haven State College, which has received a considerable amount of attention on campus, has been approved by the Curriculum Committee.

The proposed ROTC program will now be reviewed by the full ABSCUF membership.

Students enrolled under the ROTC program approved by the Curriculum Committee would be taking 12 credits of military sciences. Out of the 12 credits, three would be taken as general electives, three would satisfy physical education requirements and the remaining six would be taken as an overload (exceeding the 128 semester hours required to graduate).

The ROTC program is being planned in cooperation with Pennsylvania State University.

Details of the program have not yet been fully worked out. Once the program has been approved and it is known how many students will be interested in the program more specific plans will be made.

One thing that has to be decided is where the military science courses for Lock Haven State ROTC students will be held. A representative of the Penn State ROTC program reported that if less than 25 students enroll in the program, arrangements could be made to transport the students to Penn State to take their military science courses. If more than 25 students enroll in the ROTC program, however, officers from Penn State will come to Lock Haven to teach the military science courses.

Provisions will have to be made for the ROTC students to hold their weekend drills. One possibility discussed was holding drills at the nearby National Guard facility, located across the Susquehanna River in Woodward Township.

The ROTC program has been proposed and supported by Dr. John Zaharis, vice president for academic affairs. The SCC has appointed a committee to study the program and student interest to decide whether they will support the program or not.

Summer Study of Opera in Salsburg, Austria offered for 1978

A summer study of opera in the world opera capital, Salzburg, Austria, will be offered by Lock Haven State College as part of the 1978 summer program of study provided through the Pennsylvania Consortium on International Education.

Taught by Dr. Peter Podol of the LHSC Foreign Language Department, "Introduction to Opera" will not only provide the student with a basic knowledge of opera but will also prepare the student of the class for understanding those operas to be performed during the 1978 Salzburg Summer Opera Festival.

Dr. Podol has been an opera devotee for some 20 years. He owns a large collection on tape of live opera performances from around the world, dating from the 1930's to the present and numbering some 700 performances. He has previously taught several continuing education courses in opera appreciation, given public lectures and made radio programs on opera.

The course being offered in Salzburg does not require any technical knowledge of music or previous exposure to opera, and is open to all college-level students including incoming freshmen, according to Podol.

The program cost of $1,120 includes air trans-

Internships are now Available

Lock Haven State College has been accepted for membership in the Federal Cooperative Education Program which provides internships in various academic areas for 13 weeks of federal employment at a GS-3 pay level. Interns have an opportunity to complete a second 13-week work experience during the summer or academic year.

This spring six intern positions will be considered in the National Archives in Washington, D.C. Applications are available in Akeley 112 and Raub 203. The program coordinator is Dr. Harvey N. Sterns, Akeley 112, who will receive completed applications through December 9, 1977.

Concert this Thursday

On Thursday evening, the music department will present a Small Instrumental Ensemble Concert. It will be the year's first ensemble concert and will take place in Sloan Theatre at 8:00 pm.

Featured will be the Brass Quintet and the Recorder Ensemble. The Brass Quintet will vary their program with selections ranging from the classical to a Scott Joplin rag. Meanwhile, the Recorders, under the direction of Dr. Swartz, will present five numbers including Handel's "Sinfonia".

Bloodmobile coming to LHS

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be at Woolridge Hall from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Tuesday, December 6, to accept donations from students, faculty, and staff.

The visit is being sponsored by the Interfraternity Council, the Panhellenic Council, and the College Dames. Last December, the college donated 239 pints of blood.

COPING

by CHRISTOPHER FLYNN

The semester is drawing to a close. The students who attend LHS are all beginning to get that worried nervous look. Term papers are due, exams are just around the bend, and unfortunately days are only 24 hours long.

Many of the people who've been here for a while are becoming quite accustomed to the effects of three gallons of coffee and a few hits of whatever in order to remain conscious for extended periods of time, but as is always the case in this type of collegiate rambling I am of course picking on freshmen.

Now you don't have to remind me I realize it's old hat, but I couldn't help myself. People who are in the freshmen class are traditionally picked on by stuck-up people like myself, who have forgotten in the brief period of two and a half years, that they too were once freshmen. Actually I'm quite proud of all of you. Those of you who have stuck it out this far.

Listen closely my dear freshmen. This semester we're all in for a big treat. They've changed the whole goddamn system, they don't give exams the way they did in the past. As in matter of fact the new rules are so secret that even with all the underhanded resources at my disposal I have not been able to find out anything about the new system. As one professor informed me, "The new exam system is just as much a test for us as it is for you students."

Now that you've read this far several things have probably begun to cross your mind. If you're an upperclassman you may get a mild chuckle out of it. If you're a freshman you're probably saying, "That kid's a jerk, and if I ever find out who he is I'm going to kick him in the goods (or balls if you prefer)."

This written matter if you have bothered to finish reading it, is an attempt at humor.

Ha! Ha! and all that. At this time of the year when I'm writing papers on everything from the Indian of Brazil to the poetry of Allen Ginsberg (a modern american poet) I too begin to lose what remnants of sanity I may have once had. So a word to the wise, perhaps especially you freshmen, if sanity means anything to you forget it. Chances are that by now you too have become hopelessly neurotic.

OPENING NIGHT

by CECILIA BELMONT

★ ★ REVIEW ★ ★

There's an old song which says, "catch a falling star, put it in your pocket, and save it for a rainy day." Well, I haven't seen many falling stars lately, but last week, if you caught "...a Rising Star" in Price Auditorium, your pockets should be filled with enough starlight to last many a Lock Haven rain.

"Catch a Rising Star" was a slice of the action to be found at New York nightclub of the same name. These four talented young performers showed it like it is in the Big Apple and let us see for ourselves what it takes to make it these days in show biz. What I happened to see was a lot of discipline, hard work, and a great deal of love all mixed together into a delightfully funny evening.

The show began when pianist Rod Hausen came out and sat down at the piano. He started out playing quietly, a little blues, a little mood music, as if he were trying to wake us up gently and get inside to ready us for what was to come. Once he had us, as was evidenced by a spontaneous burst of applause during a slight pause, he took us by the heels, so to speak, and broke into a score full of high energy, with hints of the excitement and surprises yet to come.

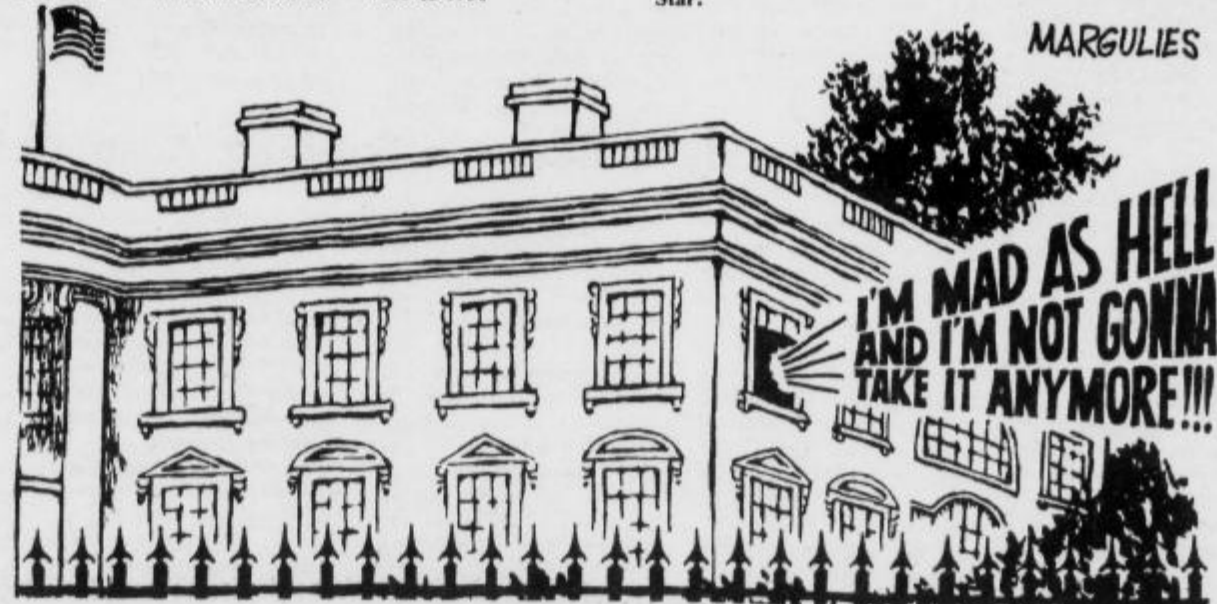

Then we met our host for the night, Bob Shaw, while he met us, asking who studies what or who studies at all, getting into the drug scene complete with FBI surveillance, meeting our Polish professor which produced a novel encounter that was almost embarrassing, and asking that one question which many of us here so often ponder, "Where is Lock Haven?"

Larry Ragland was our next performer, and he met us with a song entitled "Today I Thought I Saw a Dummy In the Window. ...But it Was Only You." You guessed it. A crazy, insane ditty which twisted the ordinary just enough to make it hilarious, sung in sweetly deep resonous tones. Afterwards we saw a master of impersonation Larry Ragland gave us Walter Cronkite, Bogey selling mouthwash, Sammy Davis and Johnny Mathias, all in body as well as voice. It was fascinating to watch him turn into the people he wished to impersonate, for his whole body became involved in the process. He also did a clever bit impersonating white actors such as Cagner, Henry Fonda, and Charles Bronson as if they were blacks on the streets of Harlem. A very, very funny man!

We next met Toby Stone, a tall, vivacious young woman with a song in her heart and a strong, rich, beautiful voice with which to share it with all of us. And share it she did, so much so that she managed to draw out the otherwise shy Lock Haven audience into a least a clap-along if not sing-along. In between numbers she took some time to find out who we were and tell us a little about herself. The lady really gave and we loved her for it, as each song found more of us mesmerized by her presence, with large smiles, swaying bodies, and a hand-clapping rhythm being increasingly seen throughout the audience.

When Toby finished, our pianist also left the stage, and we found ourselves alone with Bob Shaw. Unlike the typical talk show host, he had saved his monologue until last. Now he had us smiling with Dial-a-Prayer, the dilemma of satin sheets, and what it's like to work late at night for Baskin Robbins. Master of the double take, with a voice for every occasion, he kept us laughing until the tears started to flow.

When it was over, and the four came back for their final bows, we knew it had all ended too soon. But it will take a long time before all of that starlight will ever fade out of our memories. Who cares about falling stars anymore? If you want to laugh, take my advice, go out and Catch a Rising Star!

New President States Views

by AMY HAMBLIN

Joe Harper, the new Student Co-operative Council President-elect, is a fourth semester veteran of the SCC and has placed his priorities on increasing student involvement in the Council and supporting student activities. He will take office on December 7.

Joe comes from Harrisburg, Pa. and is a sophomore in special education. He has served as SCC treasurer for the past three semesters and as a Senator prior to that.

When asked about his immediate reaction to the SCC election results, he stated; "I expected I would win. My surprise was that my whole slate had won, and by such a large majority."

Joe says he would like to increase student involvement in the SCC by, "Having shorter and more interesting senate meetings, and more committees with more students on them." He encourages Senators to become active in the committees. He said that he will try to "make life happen" in many different areas to encourage student participation in the activities. Joe feels that there is no alternative but to raise the activity fee. "It is something every student has to pay. We couldn't have any activities otherwise."

Says Joe, "I am a little bummed out about the tuition hike. The disadvantage is that fewer students will be coming to college, but it is the taxpayers choice."

Joe supports the Faculty Evaluation program and hopes that the results which were posted in the library accurately reflected the quality of the teachers evaluated. He also feels that it is important to maintain a good line of communication with the Board of Trustees, and that he will personally make sure that they are adequately informed about campus issues and problems.

Concerning the SCC

budget, Joe feels that his experience as treasurer will assist him in relations with the Senate Appropriations Committee. He reports that the budget is going a lot smoother this year; already the athletic portion of the budget has been revised for next year with the athletic director doing most of the decision-making, and the SAC having the final power to accept or reject it. This is the first year that the athletic budget has been done in this manner. He said that because the frisbee club is such a small sports club, they will probably have to wait for funding until the next budget is drawn up, so no funding will be available for them this spring.

Joe says that he doesn't feel any different now that he is to be the next president. Admitting that he used to think of SCC officers as being "above" the rest of the Senators and students, he says he now sees that "If I can do it, anyone can."

"Problems are Opportunities"

by CHERYL "TORCH" WAGNER

Jeff "Smoothie" Caulkins believes he is a hard worker and will accomplish his duties as the SCC's 1st vice-president. Caulkins said, "Problems are only opportunities in work clothes." Students must present their problems directly to the SCC in order for them to be solved, stated the 1st vice-president.

A sophomore, "Smoothie" became interested in student government in high school where he held executive offices of vice-president and class historian.

Last year Caulkins was appointed Chairperson of the SCC Election Committee. He continued to be active in student government by being appointed SCC parliamentarian this year.

The SCC Constitution, which is presently being revised, states that the duty of the 1st vice-president is to be an administrative assistant to the President. Also, if the president is unable to fulfill his duties, the 1st vice-president must take over. Caulkin's opinion is to do more of the actual work of the president. He expressed that past presidents of the SCC have been overworked and he would like to help the president more. Caulkins believes his most important duty is to make certain all SCC members and committees are not inefficient in getting their jobs done.

When asked what he would like to see changed, he said a revision of the check cashing policy, continuance of the teacher evaluations, and better relations between the college community and townspeople. Smoothie stated that a two party check should not be cashed by the bookstore because of the danger of fraudulent checks. Caulkins would like to see campus and state employment checks cashed in the bookstore. He also would like to see a two-day consecutive limit on cashing these checks.

So far, Caulkins has learned that everyone can't be pleased, but he hopes that the apathy of LHSC students will vanish.

No More Campus Vets Club

by GWENA SWEENEY

What's up with the Vet's Club? Not much. In fact - nothing! There is no longer a Vet's Club at LHS.

The actual date of termination of the club could not exactly be given - "it just kind of died out," said Clyde Moate, a former Vet Club member.

Moate explained that the club was ended mainly because of lack of interest. He said that the majority of the Vets attending LHS live off-campus, some as far away as Williamsport, and a lot of them have families. "It was too much of a hassle to come back to campus for the evening meetings."

Although there is no longer a Vet's Club on campus, there is a Veterans Administration Office. It serves as a home office to assist the Vets with information with regard to VA benefits and any other problems that might arise.

For further information stop in at the VA Office, first floor, Bentley.

African Gold Provokes Student Boycott

(CH) The latest boycott target of students: gold coins from South Africa.

The Krugerrand, a South African coin representing one troy ounce of gold, has been the subject of several campus protests. In Boston, a television station that advertised the coin was picketed and the Indiana University student government passed a resolution condemning the sponsorship of the IU football coach's television show by a firm selling the coins. Some black IU football players reportedly said they would walk off the playing field in protest if the coach's show continued to be used to sell coins.

The coins are sold for speculative purposes, primarily through stock brokers. Students object to the South African governments policy of apartheid.

Hummel says cutbacks possible

by GWENA SWEENEY

The new treasurer for the SCC is Diana Hummel. Ms. Hummel, a Lock Haven resident, has served as an off-campus Senator and is presently serving on SAC (Senate Appropriations Committee). She has taken a number of accounting courses here at LHS and is also employed as a clerk by one of the businesses downtown.

As the new SCC treasurer, Diana will become the Chairman of SAC. In her new position she will work with the SCC and SAC to create a budget that is concise and see that it is followed.

Ms. Hummel feels that it is to the advantage of the Executive Board for her to live off-campus. She said that since she was the only one on the Board that did live off-campus it would, "help pull things together."

Diana did not have much to say in regard to her feelings about the possible hike in the activity fee; "I haven't really had a chance to go over the books yet." She did, however, hint that after she takes office, she might try to eliminate some areas of spending - meaning a cut-back in funds to some organizations.

To encourage student interest with the SCC, Diana said that she and the rest of the Executive Board are considering holding a debate opened to the student body. The debate would be held in Bentley during the supper hour. She said this would supply them with student feedback in regard to the matters discussed. It would enlighten both the SCC and the students.

It'll Cost Ya To "Get Down Tonight"

(CPS)--Music to get down with may become a thing of the past on campus. Beginning January 1, colleges will be paying royalties on most live and recorded music heard on campus. Royalty fees are expected to bring disharmony to student activity budgets and that's why the get down might go. Licensing fees could run as high as half of every student activities budget.

Thanks to a bill signed by President Ford last year colleges and universities will no longer be exempt under the federal copyright law from payment of royalties for music played on campus. Music covered by the law runs from rock to rag to Rondeau. Nothing is sacred whether it be live John Denver concerts, band music at football games or record parties at the local sorority. Even muzak in the cafeteria is covered. Anytime a fee is charged for an event that includes music copyrighted by one of the big three copyright agencies royalties will have to be paid.

No one is certain yet how the fee arrangements will operate. Several organizations from higher education are meeting this month with the three music licensing agencies. Between the three are held the copyrights to virtually all music published in the last 75 years. Since a college cannot know in advance whose music may be performed on its campus, it will have to pay fees to all three under three separate contracts. A blanket agreement is trying to be worked out that would cover everything in campus music with a minimum of record keeping and establish a uniform standard for basing fees.

The big question educators want to know is 'how much?' Whatever the costs will be they will come down to the student in the way of increased student activities fees. Students will be further hurt by what educators foresee as the ultimate result of the new law-fewer campus activities.

Bald Eagles Open Against the Vulcans

by JERRY PETERMAN

The Bald Eagle wrestlers open their 1977-78 season against a strong California Vulcan team this Wednesday evening at 8 p.m. on the Thomas Field House mats. The Bald Eagles sported a fine 14-5-1 record last season and a strong third place finish in the PSCAC. The Bald Eagles are also on the home mats Saturday evening when they host defending NCAA-Div. III champs, Montclair, N.J. State. A J.V. match with Steven's Tech will precede the varsity encounter on Saturday night. Bald Eagle mentor, Dr. Ken Cox, was pleased with his team's showing in the two scrimmages against Mansfield State and Lycoming College and the exhibition match against the Alumni. Coach Cox is still cautious about his team's chances this season. "We have a number of young, untried freshmen and a lot of hard work ahead of us before I can make any predictions. We should be an exciting team to watch and I'm hopeful we can garner our 36th consecutive winning season," finalized Cox, who is beginning his 8th campaign at the helm of one of the nation's top teams.

The tentative varsity line-up for the California match is:

118 — Gary Uram, Sr., Carnegie, Pa.; 126 — Dave Hoffman, Sr., Frackville, Pa.; 134 — Dave Moyer, Soph., West Lawn, Pa.; 142 — Michael Moore, Sr., Co-Capt., Petersburg, Va.; 150 — Doug Gallaher, Fr., Clearfield, Pa.; 158 — Mike Nauman, Soph., Elizabethtown, Pa.; 167 — Austin Shanfelter, Soph., Hershey, Pa.; 177 — Steve Hervey, Fr., Yorktown, Va./or Joe Speese, Fr., Moorestown, N.J.; 199 — Al Fricke, Sr., Clearfield, Pa., Co-Capt.; Hwt — Gregg Koontz, Soph., Bedford, Pa.

THE VICTORIOUS BALD EAGLE SOCCER TEAM -- rides through downtown Lock Haven after returning from Boston where they beat Cortland State by a score of 1-0 to clinch the NCAA Division III Soccer Championships.

Team Effort Pays Off: Eagles Come Home #1

by JACK SOHNLEITNER

Number one. I guess that sentence tells it all. The Lock Haven State College soccer squad defeated Cortland State 1-0 on Sunday to become national Champions and number one in the country.

The road to #1 was a long and tough one and who could have realized at mid-season when the Haven was 6-4 that they now would stand in a class by themselves at the pinnacle of success.

"Lock Haven breeds guts and determination into their players. We wanted the championship more. We wanted it and we took it," Parker said at the victory celebration held at Thomas Fieldhouse yesterday afternoon.

When Lock Haven defeated Scranton University 3-0 they earned a berth to compete in the national championships at Bobson College in Wellesley, Massachusetts over Thanksgiving. The Haven's win over Scranton was their twelfth, the most wins ever for a Haven soccer squad.

Lock Haven faced Wooster College of Ohio in the semi-final game. The Eagles took a 2-0 half-time lead on goals by Taber and Zalalas. Danny Taber's goal came at 8:45 with an assist from Tim Robinson and ten minutes later Angie Zalalas scored his first goal of the season, again with an assist from Robinson.

Wooster cut the lead to 2-1 but Larry Jones iced the victory for the Haven when he scored from 13 yards out. This sent Lock Haven into the finals against Cortland State a 1-0 victor over Babson College.

The final was played on Sunday in cold and windy weather. The only score came in the first half when Tim Robinson scored on an assist by Larry Jones. The Haven's defense then rose to the occasion like true champions and stopped Cortland State the rest of the game. Senior goalie Tom Fitzwater had seven saves and has played "brilliant at goal all season" said Parker.

A victory celebration was held at Thomas Fieldhouse to honor the soccer players and coaches. Dr. Hamblin along with the Mayor of Lock Haven William Eise-mann expressed how proud the college and community were of their achievements. Harris Lipez also spoke to the gathering. Mr. Lipez the "Voice" of LHS sports, has broadcasted Lock Haven athletics for thirty years.

Coach Parker was then introduced to a standing ovation. He introduced all the players and made some comments about each. He praised Burt Gobrecht for his courageous play on the field. Gobrecht played the second half with a broken nose and a bad knee. He also singled out Danny Taber as the best looking freshman player he has ever coached or seen play.

Coach Parker fighting back tears went on to say that the Haven's front line is as dangerous as anyone's in the country. That he was happy to be associated with this fine group of men and that this is a day they will all remember forever. "Barry Gorman, my assistant deserves as much credit as myself for the successful season Lock Haven had", Parker concluded.

Women's Swim Team Faces Tough Schedule

by DIANE ORBAN

The Lock Haven State College Women's Swim Team is facing a tough eight meet schedule for the 1977-78 season with 7 of their 8 meets being away. The women will meet such teams as Bloomsburg State, Gettysburg College, Indiana University of Pa., Lehigh University and Slippery Rock State. The only home meet for the Eagles is Tuesday, February 21st at 2:30 in the Zimmerli pool against Bucknell University.

The Eagles open the season with the Pitt Relays held at the University of Pittsburgh, Friday and Saturday, Dec. 2nd and 3rd. This is the first time Lock Haven will be attending these relays. The women will face 18 teams, most of which are experienced in these relays, but some which are not.

Last year the team had a record of 3-6 in a very tough schedule. The team placed 6th in States, 24th in the first AIAW small college nationals, and 50th in the large college nationals.

Presently there are 26 women on the team, six of who are divers. The returning letter winners are seniors Becky Elliott, Pottstown, Pa. and Peggy Schaal, Leola, Pa.; juniors

Selma Bjorklund, Lansdale, Pa.; Nancy Crouthamel (diver), Doylestown, Pa.; and Carol Harr, Latrobe, Pa. The returning sophomores are Tami Anderson, Hatboro, Pa.; Kathi Byham, South Williamsport, Pa.; Carol Duddy, Hatfield, Pa.; Jennifer Hipp, East Petersburg, Pa.; Mary Ann Loughlin, Horseheads, NY; Joy Sunburg, Jersey Shore, Pa. and Amy Jo Wolford (diver), Millerstown, Pa.

The new swimmers on the team this season will be sophomores Deb Kachel, Ephrata, Pa.; Dee Murphy, Harrisburg, Pa. and Vicki Smith, Parmal Heights, Ohio; freshman Debbie Alberth, Pittsburg, Pa.; Mary Bentley, Wellsville, NY; Bridget Denniston, Dallastown, Pa.; Sue Heth, East Petersburg, Pa. and Judy North, Hazleton, Pa. The freshman divers are Pam Bodager, Newtown Square, Pa.; Deb Cummings, North Wales, Pa.; Betsy Johnson, Port Allegheny, Pa. and Terre Pensyl, Paxinos, Pa. Other members of the squad are managers Diane Orban and Peggy Sheldon and trainer Becky Hitz. Junior Steve Schmidt, former member of the Lock Haven State College men's swim team, will be coaching the divers.
