Alternative To Classroom Learning Offered

LOCK HAVEN -- A unique program in which adults can receive college credit for learning they have achieved in jobs related to education degree programs began this year at Lock Haven State College, in the School of Education.

The program is unique for Pennsylvania, in that Lock Haven State is the only college in the state system which conducts its own assessment process in order to determine how many college credits should be awarded to a participant in the "Life Experience for Credit" program. Other colleges award credit on the basis of assessments conducted by outside agencies.

Participants in the program submit a documented account of the learning for which they are asking to receive credit. A committee consisting of college faculty and local professionals assesses the learning experience and recommends the number of credits to be awarded. Final approval is given by the academic vice president, Dr. John Zaharis.

The assessment process is based on the concept that the learning which has taken place during the performance of a job, or in work-related experience, is the same as could have been achieved in the classroom. It is up to the committee, using the evidence presented by the participant, to determine to what extent the work-related learning is equivalent to classroom learning, and then to recommend the number of college credits appropriate for the amount of learning achieved.

The number of credits awarded to current participants range from 12 to 42 semester hours.

The only restriction placed on participants is that they must be enrolled at Lock Haven State College and working for credits in education, although they do not have to be full-time students or education majors.

The first to receive credit for their learning experiences under this new program are Lois Bowes of R.D. 1, Howard, Millicent George of State College, Maureen Brookens of S. Highland St., Lock Haven, all in early childhood education; Larry Carter of S. Jones St., Lock Haven, in elementary education, and Joan Heck of Riverside Terrace, Lock Haven, in special education.

The assessment program was organized and developed under the leadership of Dr. Bertha Mayes, professor of education at the college, with the cooperation of Keystone Central, Head Start, and Day Care professionals. Current assessment committee members include Dr. Helen Goodell, associate professor of education; Edward Kelleher, assistant professor of social work; and Mary Jane Vance of the Follow Through program for the Keystone Central School District.

"This program is designed for the mature person who has already been involved in learning experiences which, we feel, are as valuable as material taught in classes and therefore deserve formal recognition through the awarding of credits. The program also provides an incentive for people who would like to earn additional credits by attending classes even though they may still be working in their jobs," said Dr. Mayes.

Lock Haven State College now offers three methods for students to earn college credit. The first is by attending classes and passing the standard course work requirements. The second is by taking the College Level Examination Program test (CLEP) administered through the College Entrance Examination Board of Princeton, N.J., and the third is through the recently instituted "Life Experience for Credit" program.

Dr. Bertha Mayes, standing, discusses evaluation procedures with five area residents who recently received college credit for the learning they had achieved through job experience, awarded through the new "Life Experience for Credit" program instituted this year at Lock Haven State College. They are, left to right, Millicent George, Maureen Brookens, Larry Carter, Lois Bowes and Joan Heck.

Matthews Selected As U.S. Delegate

Dr. Peter R. Matthews of Lock Haven State College has been selected as the U.S. delegate to the Latin American Regional Symposium on "Non-Formal Education through Recreation," to be held in Caracas, Venezuela, on December 3.

The symposium is being held by the World Leisure and Recreation Association under the sponsorship of the Organization of American States, for the purpose of developing recreation recommendations for Latin America for the 1980s. Some 20 countries will each send one delegate, selected on the basis of having been involved in some innovative aspect of recreation.

In addition to serving as the U.S. delegate, Dr. Matthews will also present a paper on "Recreation and the Mentally Retarded," a field in which he has been active for many years at Lock Haven State College, where he is an associate professor of special education for the mentally retarded.

In his address, Matthews will discuss the use of recreation in the normalization of the mentally retarded and some of the various techniques being used in the U.S. for normalization, such as "mainstreaming" and "integration." He will also discuss specifically some of the methods he has developed for providing recreation for the mentally and physically handicapped.

The invitation for Matthews to serve as a symposium delegate resulted from his giving a presentation on October 29 at the Congress for Recreation and Parks in New Orleans, sponsored by the National Recreation and Parks Association.

Matthews will return to South America in January, where he will spend the 1980 spring semester as a participant in the educational exchange program between the U.S. and the Province of Buenos Aires, Argentina. He will be conducting research in the field of special education, as well as recreation for the handicapped, in Argentina. He will also visit several other Latin American countries, including Chile and Ecuador, where he will confer with educators in the field of special education.

Parking Fines Must Be Paid By All

PARKING REGULATION CHANGES

As of January 1, 1980, the parking system at Lock Haven State College will go through a major change. The first change is that the collection of ticket fines will be strictly enforced for ALL FACULTY, STAFF, STUDENTS and ADMINISTRATION. Here is an example for a $2.00 fine:

$2.00 fine paid within 72 hours to S.C.C.
If not paid in 72 hours; $2.00 plus $1.00 surcharge paid within five (5) days to S.C.C.
If not paid in five (5) days; $5.00 plus $26.00 costs, payable to the Magistrate.

If payment is still delinquent, a warrant will be issued for the offender's arrest. He shall face payment of the fine and/or a jail sentence. THERE WILL BE NO EXCEPTIONS.

Secondly, the parking lots will be changed to faculty, staff, students and administrative parking lots. The changes are as follows:

Lot No. 1 will be ADMINISTRATIVE PARKING ONLY.

Lots No. 2,3,4,5,10 will be FACULTY and STAFF PARKING ONLY.

Lots No. 6,7 will be RESIDENT STUDENT PARKING ONLY.

Lot No. 9 will be RESIDENT and VISITOR PARKING ONLY.

Lot No. 8 will be COMMUTER STUDENT PARKING ONLY.

The parking lots will be open to qualified personnel on a first come first serve basis.

The parking has been changed in order to make it easier and more fair to persons involved. Anyone with questions should call Law Enforcement at 893-2278. All persons should be sure that they understand the new regulations.

ALL STUDENTS, FACULTY, STAFF and ADMINISTRATIVE persons should REGISTER THEIR CARS WITH LAW ENFORCEMENT.

COMMENTARY

Well in a little over three weeks you will hopefully be feasting at home thanks to your mom's home cooking. In the meantime, we on the Dining Service Staff and Dining Service Committee want you to know we are aware of your needs and are striving to improve our dining service operation. We meet on a regular basis to review comments from the "Suggestion Box" placed in the dining hall as well as comments that individual members of the committee hear. Adding local dressings, bleu cheese dressing, Fresca to supplement Tab, keeping both salad bars open longer - these are a few additions we have made. Some changes - such as more variety in the menu entrees - a better selection of desserts - these are forthcoming. Brownies and cream-puffs - neither of which appear in the present college approved contract - have been added. Please realize any menu changes we make must adhere to the menu pattern as specified in our contract with the college - then are presented to the Dining Service Committee and their advisor for their approval. This procedure may seem drawn out - it isn't - but rewriting a suitable mixture of entrees - soups - vegetables - desserts and salads - is by necessity very time consuming in order to be done properly.

Two comments that we have at this time and would ask your cooperation in improving both areas: Please get out of the habit of leaving trays, dishes, etc. on the tables - particularly at lunch and dinner - this is not only annoying to your classmates who must literally seed out a "clean" table to eat at, but it is very costly for us to bus your trays - monies which could definitely be put to a better use; also, the unbelievable amount of food (and napkins) which is taken, totally untouched and then thrown out. You are entitled to take as much as you but if for no other reason than keeping in mind the number of people who are literally starving to death, take only as much as you can eat. Remember you can come back to the serving line and salad bar as often as you want. I can assure you, after spending a number of hours in the dishroom, there are any number of families who could live for a month just on the untouched food from your trays that is thrown out after one meal.

From myself, my staff and the Dining Service Committee - good luck in the next few weeks - particularly exam week - and have a Happy and safe Holiday.

Sincerely,
Frank O'Brien
Director of Dining Service

Committee Chairman

Artist Series

By DAVE MARTIN

The second of five concerts of the Lock Haven Artist Series will be performed this Sunday, December 2, in Lock Haven's Trinity United Methodist Church, West Main Street.

Beginning the celebration of the Christmas season William Neil and Dave Hickman will present The Boroque Consort. The performance is sponsored by the United Methodist Women committee of Trinity.

Neil, a graduate of Pennsylvania State University and Syracuse University, is one of the most prominent organists in the nation. He is a teacher in both American and Catholic Universities and is organist for the National Symphony in Washington, D.C.

Neil has performed numerous times in recitals featuring Bach's keyboard music. He has performed as a soloist with orchestras and chamber orchestras.

Hickman studied at the University of Colorado. In 1974 he won the C.D. Jackson Prize which was presented to him, in part, by Leonard Bernstein. He was recently selected by Musical America as one of the most outstanding new solo artists in the United States. He is Professor of Trumpet at the University of Illinois and is President of the International Trumpet Guild.

Hickman has performed with orchestras and leading bands all over the United States. He appears frequently in recital and has released several albums.

Sunday's concert will begin at 3:00pm. Admission for adults is $3.00, students $.75. Admission is free for students, faculty, and staff with validated college I.D.'s.

This article is second in a series giving a profile of the international students and their countries. We hope that through these articles you will be able to learn a little more about the international students and the diversified countries that they are from.

Patricial Awori was born in Nairobi, Kenya, and is the eldest daughter in a family of 6. One of her brothers is presently a Junior at the University of Texas at Austin. Two brothers and sisters are still home in Kenya.

Pat has met and studied with people from nearly all over the world. She has travelled over most of Kenya, parts of the notorious Uganda, and nothern Tanzania. At the age of 5 she lived for a year in London, and since then has spent time there and in Switzerland. In 1976, she travelled to Madagascar on an English/French exchange.

For 14 years, Pat studied at Loreto Convent in Kenya, and after she completed the Advanced Level requirements, graduated in November 1977. In January 1978, she enrolled in Kianda College to do a 6 month pre-University course.

She was accepted at the University of Sterling in Scotland to study English, Literature, and History, but decided to come to the United States for the international and environmental experience.

Now a sophomore majoring in International Relations, Pat speaks English, Swahili, Baluyia, Kikamba, and is studying French and Spanish. She enjoys sports, especially tennis, hockey, rugby, and swimming. Her other hobbies are playing guitar, singing, reading, theater, and studying interpersonal and intercultural relations.

Currently, Pat is President of the International Club, and a member of the Women's Varsity Tennis Team, as well as the LHSC Choir.

Her ambitions are to complete a Masters and Doctorate in International Relations. After that - she has aspirations of working with the United Nations, or with the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. Pat's greatest goal is to become Kenya's first woman Ambassador.

While talking to Pat, I asked her how she felt being so far from home, "Being here has been an experience for me and it has taught me much about people and about myself. To come this far away from home and the people I love was one of the most difficult decisions I ever had to make. I do feel terribly homesick, but some of the people I have met here have helped to compensate that. Lock Haven is one of the Chapters in the book of my life."

By Jonathan Bravard

As I walk to class all I see, it seems, are broken windows, smashed light poles, and broken doors. Is this senseless vandalism, the work of small gremlins that haunt the campus? No, its the work of my fellow students. I thought that when one entered college, it meant that you were an adult. Obviously I'm wrong. But what may even be worse than the senseless vandals themselves, are the many people who watch it being done and do nothing about it. Don't you realize that you, the student, are the one who pays for all the damage, its not the state, it's our tuition money. You yell and scream when they try and raise tuition, but you close that same mouth when you witness someone vandalize something you paid for. So get off your butt, don't watch your money go down the drain, call Law Enforcement when you see someone vandalize something. Remember it's your money.

PCIE Sponsors Summer Study Program

By Leslie Forrestal

The Pennsylvania Consortium for International Education (PCIE) will sponsor its ninth annual Summer Study Program in Salzburg, Austria.

The purpose of this program is to enhance both the intellectual growth of students and the interest of cross-cultural understanding.

Students are able to spend four or six weeks in Europe with minimum cost at an Austrian university combining international living with meaningful study. In Austria, students will live in private homes where breakfast is served. This provision affords practical opportunities to get to know the people of Austria and learn from them. Noon and evening meals are served in student dining facilities near the classroom building.

Students will also share a variety of cultural events such as folk dancing, specialized cultural trips, and lectures. Optional, low cost day trips and week end excursions are made available, and some of the courses offered will highlight the many historical sights visited. Whenever possible, all experiences will be integrated with the academic program.

The PCIE recognizes the educational importance of travel as an integral part of an academic summer abroad and sponsors optional day trips and weekend excursions. Some of the possibilities offered will be to the Royal Lake Region, the Werfen Ice caves, and the Palace of Chiemsee. Weekend trips will be to Vienna, Switzerland, Budapest, and the Bavarian Castles.

The prerequisites are few: All participants must have completed their high school education, be admitted to a PCIE institution of higher education, and submit an application and two letters of recommendation.

Once in the academic program, each student may enroll in one course. Instruction in all courses will be in English. The professors are all faculty members of the PCIE institutions. The following courses will be offered: International Economics, Comparative Education, The Visual Arts/Advanced Creative Art, Systems of Health Care: An International Experience, Austria: Its Culture and People in Literature, German Culture and Civilization, Hitler, Environmental Problems in Salzburg, Environmental Field Geology, Special Subjects Seminar: Mozart and his World, and Geography of Europe.

Approximately 12-15 scholarships are available to any accepted applicant. As always, they are awarded primarily on the basis of academic accomplishments and financial need. The maximum award is $200.

If there are specific questions concerning any aspect of the program, contact either Professor Donald E. Green or Professor George Mottet, the International Education Campus Representative.

Creative Writing Fellowship Awarded To LHSC's Nicholson

A creative writing fellowship from the National Endowment for the Arts has been awarded to Joseph Nicholson, assistant professor of English at Lock Haven State College.

He was one of 275 poets, playwrights, and fiction writers selected from some 3,750 applicants.

According to the National Endowment for the Arts, fellowships for creative writers "are awarded to published writers of exceptional talent to enable them to set aside time for writing, research, or travel."

The fellowship grant will enable Nicholson to take a leave of absence for the 1980 spring semester to work on his new novel, "Playmaker," set in West Texas and Mexico where he will spend some of his leave time traveling to conduct research for his writing.

In addition to having published numerous stories, poems, and articles in a variety of professional journals, he has also published three books, the most recent entitled "The Dam Builder." In November he was a guest writer at Bucknell University's Third Annual Poetry Festival, and five of his stories have been included in the most recent issue of the university's literary magazine, "West Branch."

Nicholson is also co-author and host, with Lock Haven author Carl Larsen, of "The Sowbelly Show," a radio series funded by the National Endowment for the Arts.

Nicholson teaches creative writing, poetry, journalism, and sports writing at Lock Haven State College.

McNally Loses Tough 3-Round Exhibition Boxing Match

By Joe Leva

Lock Haven's Jimmy McNally, a classy 154 pound junior from Philadelphia, lost a close three round boxing exhibition at the famed Downtown Athletic Club in the Wall Street Financial District in New York City last Tuesday evening.

Villanova's Brett Miller held on in the 3rd round to edge McNally in the 4th Annual Intercollegiate Boxing Invitation. A capacity crowd of 400 who paid $40.00 each for tickets, gave McNally-Miller a standing ovation at the conclusion of their bout. According to Dr. Ken Cox, LHSC Boxing Club coach, McNally got a slow start and almost scored an upset over his taller more experienced southpaw opponent. McNally had an excellent third round and was in better condition. Miller was Eastern Intercollegiate runner-up last year at 154 pounds. The Downtown

A.C. is the most prestigious athletic club in the nation, and is best known for awarding the annual "Heisman Trophy", symbolic of college football's top player. During Tuesday's award ceremonies, the Rocky Marciano Award was given to former world middleweight champion, Tony Zale. Former World Champions and past Marciano Award Winners were also present. They were, Carman Basilo, Jersey Joe Wolcott, and Floyd Patterson. Also making the trip to New York along with McNally and Cox were Bob McCool, Lock Haven Express Sports Editor and Joe Leva who assisted Dr. Cox in McNally's corner. The boxing show was heavily covered by the news media including ABC. This was LHSC's a first exposure ever in the Invitational.

The LHSC boxers will be competing at the Dickinson College Invitational on December 8th.

'Winning Is Everything', But They Lost

By KEITH GODSHALL

"This year's team, man for man, is the strongest squad we've ever had at Lock Haven." That's an accurate, if biased opinion, from Mike Parker, the outspoken head coach of Lock Haven's championship soccer team.

Parker is an enthusiastic and dedicated coach, and leaves no question as to his coaching philosophy. "Winning means absolutely everything to me. I always play to win. I don't particularly play for fun."

With the winning tradition that Parker has established, and the nature of soccer, Parker feels that his team has all the confidence they need. Sometimes though, the team is too confident and feels that they can't lose. Parker himself does not make pre-game motivational speeches. "I downplay the lockerroom psyching thing. I think that rah-rah-rah stuff is kind of sick."

Despite the lack of scholarships, quality players come to Lock Haven, thanks to the successful program that Parker has established. Much of the recruiting is done on a referral basis. Parker received his European players by various means. Neil Johnson is from Hull, Parker's hometown. Pat Berrett was a walk-on. Trevor Adair was referred to Parker via a former assistant coach from Belfast, Ireland.

Despite a poor field, a lack of scholarships, and a lack of class in his team's play, Parker has once again turned the Bald Eagles into a national soccer powerhouse.

Parker is very specific about a newcomer's chances of making the team. "If a player comes to Lock Haven and he isn't good enough to start as a Freshman, he never will." Parker places his emphasis and expertise on the varsity squad. "I had to decide between providing a service to the J.V. team or to making a winning team. I'm not here to provide a J.V. program. There's only one team here that counts."

There has been a great deal of controversy concerning the rough play of the Eagles. Parker stresses the fact that his team is only playing tough, intimidating, and fair soccer. "I know the difference between tough play and dirty play," stated Parker. The rough play, Parker pointed out, is due to the individual personalities of the players, and their desire to win. "They're a bunch of winners," proclaimed Parker. There is, however, a weakness in the team that displeases Parker. "We show a little lack of class sometimes."

With success, come rumors of the head coach leaving for a more attractive position. Parker would like to coach a professional or Division I team that had a scholarship program. "Obviously, if the right job came up, I'd leave tomorrow," conceded Parker. But, he stressed, "I'm not looking to leave Lock Haven. I'm quite happy here."

Parker believes in the growth of soccer here in America. He'd like to see a soccer program initiated at Lock Haven High School.

Lady Booters Finish Season 6-3 Overall

By Monica Degenhart

The Lock Haven State College Women's Soccer Club completed their season, November 4, with the capture of second place at the first Pennsylvania Collegiate Women's Soccer Championship held at Franklin and Marshall College in Lancaster.

At the tournament the Lock Haven women beat Lehigh University, 4-1 crushed Franklin and Marshall's B team, 5-1. In the champion-

"It's the height of absurdity to offer a high school student only one fall sport (football). I see the future of the American game with American kids," said Parker. Parker pointed out that Bert Gottbrecht, a senior from Willow Grove, Pa., and captain of the team, had been drafted by the Philadelphia Fever, a professional indoor soccer team.

Parker said there is a major flaw in the program here at Lock Haven. "The field is horrendous! If you put four cows and some corn up there, you'll be alright."

ship game the Haven lost to Franklin and Marshall's A squad, 2-1. The team played a very impressive game, having many opportunities to score, but were unable to put the ball in the net again after their only goal by Barb Snyder.

The Haven opened the season in September with a shut-out victory over Penn State, 4-0. Then, in the Slippery Rock Tournament, they took third place by beating Slippery Rock B team twice, but dropping to the A team, 2-4 and the Rutgers, 1-2.

At Bucknell the Haven displayed their ability by dominating the 3-0 game. Their final record was 6-3.

The team is looking forward to the spring season and invite any new members.

Head coach for the lady booters is student, Larry Childs. Assistant Coach is Dave Wolfe.

KÜTZTOWN — After suffering a pair of losses in the NCAA Division III Soccer Championships last weekend at Trenton, the Lock Haven State College booters slipped to seventh in the regional soccer ratings.

Bald Eagle Netters Lose To Lycoming

By Marc Myers

The Warriors of Lycoming College handed the Bald Eagles their second defeat in as many outings 53-50 in a barnburner at Thomas Field House Wednesday night.

An epidemic of first half turnovers played a leading role in the Warriors' victory. Lock Haven committed twice as many turnovers as the victors in the first half, and had ten more than Lycoming for the game.

Cold shooting from the field also plagued the Bald Eagles who shot a measly 29% in the first half, and went to the locker room trailing 25-20 at intermission.

Lycoming got out of the blocks first and led 4-0 before a three point play by Ken Richter and a jumper by Don Riles made it 5-4 Lock Haven. An exchange of hoops gave the Bald Eagles their last lead at 7-6 with 13:33 left in the first half.

Lycoming opened an eight point lead 18-10 with 6:50 to play, but the Bald Eagles fought back to tie at 20 all on a John Beblowski jump hook with 4:03 to play.

The Warriors ran off the last five points of the half. Mark Duganon a jumper and Ray Graff on a three point play following a missed shot.

In the second half Lycoming shot the eyes out of the basket at a sizzling 69% clip, but the locals stuck close by dominating the glass 16-9.

A Riles jump shot tied the game at 27, and Richter tied the game at 29, but that was as close as it got until the 2:05 mark when Bob Horodyski fired in a 20 foot bomb to close the deficit to 49-48.

The Lycos turned the ball over on the inbounds pass, but it just wasn't in the cards for the Bald Eagles. Two turnovers thrust Adam Zajac into the hero role for the Warriors. Zajac hit on both ends of a one-and-one and scored on a breakaway layup to ice the game with 0:13 to play.

Mark Dugan pumped in 18 points to lead the winners, while Richter and Riles paced the Bald Eagles with 15 and 12 respectively.
