

Senior captures Clinton County Crown

By Jennifer Brady
Staff Reporter

Kathy Ann Kleppinger, a senior majoring in psychology, used her fancy footwork to capture the Miss Clinton County Scholarship Pageant crown.

The pageant held this past Saturday in the auditorium of Bald Eagle-Nittany High School proved to be successful for each of the three participating LHU students: Kathy Kleppinger, Jacquelyn Kendrik and Ginger Kendrik.

Ginger Kendrik, a sophomore at LHU, was honored as the pageant's second runner-up. Ginger will be awarded a $150 scholarship toward the completion of her psychology degree.

Jacquelyn Kendrik's friendly personality impressed fellow contestants, and she received the Miss Congeniality award of a $25 gift certificate donated by one of Lock Havens' boutiques, The Smart Shop.

As the new queen, Miss Kleppinger will receive a $500 scholarship and will represent Clinton County at the Miss Pennsylvania Scholarship Pageant in Altoona this June.

Even before the pageant started, Kathy was involved with a variety of campus and community activities. This may help her feel comfortable with her schedule of personal appearances, including parades, speaking engagements, and special preparations for the state pageant.

Dancing leads to win

Kathy exhibited a dazzling dance routine to the music, "Le Jazz Hot," from the movie, "Victor, Victoria." Her previous dance and baton experience, consisting of six years' special training, was every bit in evidence.

Asked if she was nervous during her talent performance, Kathy said, "I love to dance, so when I actually started to perform, I wasn't really all that nervous."

Right after the Master of Ceremonies, William Tyson, pronounced Kathy the winner, she fought off a wave of thrilled astonishment.

"I was shocked. I had no thoughts right after they announced my name. Following my walk down the ramp, when people were taking pictures, I thought, 'I'm not ready for this!'"

All three young women had to meet individually with a panel of five judges for personal interviews. Points from these interviews were then added to their total scores following the evening gown, talent and swimsuit competitions.

Cheers for pink gown

Evoking applause from the audience and obviously impressing the judges, was Miss Kleppinger's choice of a hot pink sequined gown for the evening gown competition.

The second half of the pageant, beginning at 7:30 p.m., opened with a finely choreographed dance routine performed by all nine contestants to the song, "Stayin' Alive."

Last year's Miss Clinton County, Beth Crissman, along with local country singer, Corrine King, contributed to the festivities, with their unique entertainment.

Miss Crissman used her marionette, "Maude" to capture the audience's attention. Corrine King enthralled the audience when she sang "Mamma He's Crazy" and "Sentimental Old You."

Lock Haven Community Chorus wound up the evening by leading the traditional singing of "People" and they were joined by all of the contestants just prior to the announcement of the winner.

Asked what she felt was the most difficult part of the pageant, Kathy replied, "I guess it was just getting ready for it, pulling all the loose ends together to be ready in time for the pageant."

On her own initiative, Miss Kleppinger offered her own opinion about the easiest part of the contest.

"Everyone got along so well, while we were working together. I made such good friends, and I really learned from this experience," said Miss Kleppinger.

Rape program held on campus

By Kim Madgiak
News Editor

A Rape and Sexual Assault program was held on campus last Saturday by Lucy Heggenstaller, Sexual Assault Counselor, dealing with ways law enforcement and medical officers should treat victims.

Heggenstaller began by clarifying the values of the sexual assault victims. She stated that most victims feel as if the fault is their own, as though something could have been done to prevent it. This, however, is not usually the case.

Three types of rape

There are three types of rape: Power Rape, Anger Rape, and Sadistic Rape. Power Rape is the most common form and involves minimal force. The assailant in these cases is usually motivated by the desire to control the victim. Anger Rape is characterized by a large amount of physical trauma, with the victims being slashed, bruised, or dragged through the mud. Sadistic Rape is the type the media covers. It uses mutilation of bodily parts, and/or bondage, with a very low survival rate.

"Victims of Power Rape seem to feel the most guilt. Since there is little physical evidence, there is no proof that a fight was put up. Fear is a very effective tool, however, which leaves few medical indications," mentioned Heggenstaller.

Assisting Officers

Techniques used by officers when interviewing victims were also discussed. One way mentioned was to draw pictures of children of various ages and involved in different sexual acts so that a child victim could circle the one most resembling his/her experience. Another way is to have a doll present so the child may point to the body parts that were violated.

Lt. Denny Grenninger said, "It's a shame the amount of children molested by their own parents, especially when the victims are then dominated into thinking it's their own fault."

Techniques used for adult victims is to show as much support as possible without conveying an officer's true feelings. Also, issues need to be discussed that a victim may not volunteer. For this reason a Rape Advocat is available to all victims to be present at the time of a hospital examination and throughout all court proceedings, in order to provide visible emotional support.

Many victims do not wish to prosecute for a variety of reasons. Some deterrents to taking the case to court include: public exposure of the victim, the desire to block out the crime, and also simply not wishing to relive the incident.

Once a victim has decided to prosecute, his/her credibility is based on psychological reactions. Many people maintain control after an incident, and this is usually misinterpreted. The officers were told to listen for clue words, such as fear, and anxiety.

Prevention tips

The program closed with prevention tips to the officers. They were told to encourage the buddy system among young children, in addition to strongly encouraging communication between parents and children. For adults, the advice was to walk in well-lit areas and to avoid flirtations that members of the opposite sex could interpret as a come-on, while that was not the intention.

Kathy Kleppinger, the new Miss Clinton County, sits majestically upon her new throne holding her bouquet of roses. Kleppinger danced her way to the crown on Saturday night at Bald Eagle-Nittany High School.

EDITORIAL

Blah, blah,blah

Blah!!! The word fits this time of the semester perfectly. Look outside right now, it's probably blah out. How about classes; definitely blah. Work, whether it's homework or actual employment; maximum blah. Prospects for this weekend; blah. Look at the person next to you; blah. The money situation; worse than blah. It's just past mid-semester and the blahs seem to be attacking from all directions like a masked man with a chainsaw.

The onset of the blahs start soon after you put the shorts away for the season. The blahs are here in full force after the first two or three days of cold rainy weather, and you can never seem to shake them completely until Christmas break.

Professors usually sense the onset of the blahs with a great feeling of hopelessness. No matter what they do to try to revive their classrooms full of unthinking zombies, nothing seems to work. They are forced to give well-prepared lectures to a group of glassy-eyed would-be students, or themselves succumb to that Tycoon of Tedium, Blah, himself.

Somewhere deep in some Journalism textbook, or from some lecture, I remember that all editorials should have a solution to the problem raised. Well, here are a number of solutions. Take them for what you will.

I know some people that will claim that heavy drinking is the only answer. Others advocate that more studying and a rededication to school work is necessary. Some say that long naps and blowing off a few classes are a big help. Drowning the blahs in pizza, chips, pretzels and other junk food is another alternative. What do I think about these alternatives? Blah.

My personal idea for a cure lies somewhere between yoga and fantasizing that I'm observing some nude sunbathers in Florida with Sonny Crocket. Anyway, the sun should be shining again here in the "Haven" in about five months. And until then, we're all going to have to put up with the infamous Blahs.

Scots edge Bald Eagle gridgers 27-22

By Dave Walters
Sports Editor

The Edinboro Fighting Scots held off the Bald Eagle football squad and held on to a 27-22 victory Saturday in a Pennsylvania State Athletic Conference Western Division contest.

Both teams went into Saturday's game with a 1-3 divisional record. The Bald Eagles of head coach Jack Fisher fall to 2-6 overall while Edinboro reaches 4-3-1. This contest contained the top two rushing teams in the PSAC.

The Bald Eagles are ranked No. 1 in the conference in rushing and tallied 345 yards by using their rushing attack. For the first time this season, the Bald Eagles had two backs rushing for over 100 yards. Quarterback Pat Cahill carried the ball 23 times for 150 yards and two touchdowns. Sophomore halfback Eric Speece had 103 yards on nine carries and one touchdown. Prior to this game, Speece only had a season total of 74 yards.

The Scots' ground game amassed 289 yards, with Edinboro quarterback Scott Dodds leading the attack with 114 yards on 13 carries and one touchdown.

In the passing department, both teams were reluctant to throw the ball in the rain, but Dodds did complete six of 13 passes for 80 yards and one TD. Cahill hit three of six for 37 yards, all to wide receiver John Klacik. Cahill did throw one interception.

Edinboro scored first after linebacker Joe Bulas recovered a Cahill fumble. Seven plays later, Dodd scored on a 13 yard run with 10:58 remaining in the first period. The extra point kick was made by Jim Trueman and gave Edinboro a 7-0 lead.

LHU answered back with a 14-play, 87-yard touchdown drive. Cahill scored the TD on a one-yard run. The Bald Eagles faked the extra point kick and back-up quarterback Bruce Pendleton rolled out and took the ball in for a two point conversion. Lock Haven now had a 8-7 lead with 4:56 left in the first quarter.

Edinboro's Dave Geriak blocked a LHU punt late in the first half to give the Scots good field position on the 48 yard line. Edinboro took the ball down to the endzone in nine plays. Dodds hit Scott Brown with a 15 yard pass for the score. Trueman added the extra point and gave the Scots a 14-8 advantage at halftime.

The Bald Eagles regained the lead on their first possession of the second half as Speece capped off a 66 yard drive with an 11 yard TD run. Wayne Quinn booted the extra point to give the Eagles a 15-14 lead.

Edinboro took Lock Haven's ensuing kickoff and moved the ball 69 yards on 11 plays with Floyd Faulkner scoring from the six. The Scots tried a two-point conversion but the Eagle defense denied the attempt.

The Fighting Scots' defense stopped a fourth down and one attempt and dropped Cahill for a one yard loss. This gave EU the ball on the LHU 48. Fullback Jim Pisano finished the drive with a five yard run for the game winning score. Trueman hit the extra point.

The Eagles put seven more points on the board when Cahill pounded into the endzone from two yards out. This score was set up by a 41-yard sprint by Speece from the Edinboro 45 to the four.

Edinboro ran out the clock and didn't give the ball back to the Eagles. They converted a couple of third-down situations to give them more time to eat up the clock and ensure the victory.

Men 12th at CC Championship

The Edinboro Fighting Scots won the team title in the men's race of the Pennsylvania State Athletic Conference Championship cross-country meet Saturday at Millersville University.

Luke Graham led Edinboro to the victory with a first place finish. Graham covered the five mile course in a time of 24:45, nine seconds in front of East Stroudsburg's Jack Cuvo, a freshman transfer.

Edinboro finished with 45 points, eight in front of East Stroudsburg.

LHU ended up 12th in the 13-team field with a total of 310 points. Finishing right ahead of LHU was Mansfield with 308 points.

Finished third in the team standings was Millersville with 76 points, followed by Slippery Rock with 104. Indiana was close behind with 107 points for fifth.

Bloomsburg University also ended up with a total of 310 points, but LHU head coach Jim Dolan said, "We beat Bloomsburg for 12th based on our better sixth place finish. They were 90th, and we were 82nd."

"In spite of our 12th-place finish, we ran very well today. Every runner, except Ken Toner, who was injured and hasn't run for over two weeks, bettered his time by quite a bit over the same course we ran earlier this year," Dolan added.

Dolan said, "This conference is really unbelievably tough. I thought Craig Yakscoe, Dan Sheredy, Brad Seth and Greg MacGowan ran fantastic races. The whole team deserves a lot of credit for their improvement this season."

"Now it's on to regionals, where the competition is even tougher," said Dolan.

Yakscoe was LHU's top finisher, placing 48th overall in 27:01.

The other Haven finishes included: Sheredy, 52nd, 27:10; Andy Shearer, 64th, 27:48; Seth, 68th, 28:03; MacGowan, 78th, 28:54; Andy Sulon, 82nd, 29:19; and Toner, 83rd, 29:35.

The Eagle harriers will compete in the NCAA Division II Eastern Regional Championships at East Stroudsburg this Saturday.

Booters end on winning note!!!

By Bill Hunter
Staff Reporter

In a clear refusal to end the season with a losing record, the LHU booters crushed the Vulcans of California University, ending the season with a winning record of 9-8-2.

In their final game as Bald Eagles, seniors Terry Flynn and Kevin York combined for a total of four points. Flynn scored one goal and two assists, while York had one assist.

In a game completely dominated by Lock Haven, they scored three goals in each of the two periods.

LHU lit up the scoreboard with only 3:38 off the clock. The goal came on a pass from Rob Eaton to Terry Flynn, who put it into the back of the net.

Eleven minutes later the Eagles struck again on a Goal by Doc Dumars, assisted from Kevin York.

The lone Vulcan goal came on an unassisted shot by Randy Randic at the 26:20 mark.

This 2-1 score was as close as the Vulcans would come to the dominating Bald Eagles.

The final goal of the first half came with only 2:47 remaining in the period. The goal, scored by freshman Roy Mehl, was assisted by Terry Flynn.

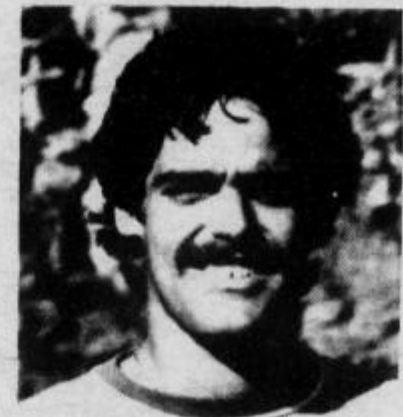

At 13:43 into the second half the Vulcans dug their grave even deeper as they were called for a penalty, resulting in a penalty kick. The kick, taken by LHU's Ron Minges, was converted into a goal.

The fifth and sixth goals of the game came from Haven players Dimitrios Frangiadis and Martin Dahl. The assists came from Terry Flynn and Phil Stephenson respectively.

The domination by Lock Haven can clearly be seen in the statistics.

Lock Haven took 27 shots and three corner kicks on California goalie Sangn Nguyen. In comparison, CU was only able to get four shots and three corner kicks directed at LHU keeper Rob Cocker.

Coach Long said, "It's a nice way to finish the season. You hate to have a 9-8-2 season, but if you can finish with a 6-1 win, it's nice."

Women run 5th at PSAC's

With their first five runners in the top 40, the Lock Haven University women's cross-country team finished fifth out of 10 teams in the Pennsylvania State Athletic Conference Championships on Saturday at Millersville University.

Head coach Leroy Straley's Lady Eagles finished with 141 points.

Indiana University of Pa. won the team title with 37 points, while Shippensburg was second with 99, followed by Edinboro with 103, and host Millersville pulled out a fourth with 111.

Edinboro took credit for the top two finishers in Saturday's PSAC competition as Kerrie Yenchak took the title with a time of 17:57, while teammate Coleen Snyder was only six seconds behind for second at 18:03.

LHU's top harrier on the 3.1 mile course was Sue Kutz, placing 16th overall in 19:16.

Kathy Staib was next for the Lady Eagles, placing 26th in 20:14, followed closely by teammate Pam Noll in 27th with a time of 20:16.

Lock Haven native, Jackie Widmann was 32nd overall in 20:28, while Lisa Bergin rounded out LHU's top five by finishing 40th in 20:55.

The other two Lady Eagle finishers were: Lori Jamison, 51st, 21:20, and Dina Giacinti, 54th, 21:34.

"All season we've been improving, and things were together today as everyone from our No. 1 runner to our No. 7 runner helped give our team a fine fifth-place finish," said Straley.

This coming Saturday the Lady Eagle runners will travel to East Stroudsburg University for the NCAA Division II Eastern Regional meet.

Prof's photos displayed at PSU

Photographs by Lock Haven University professor Dr. Chick Empfield are being displayed until Nov. 24 at the Pattee Library on the main campus of Penn State University.

A professor of foundation studies at LHU, Empfield is exhibiting his black and white photographs taken in various parts of the eastern United States including Maine, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

Empfield received his masters and Ph.D. degrees in educational media from the University of Pittsburgh. It was then that he began his serious work in photography.

From there he went on to study at the Maine Photographic Workshop in Rockport, Mass. He has also attended a number of workshops presented by Kodak in Rochester, NY.

Empfield has exhibited his work throughout the Northeast.

A faculty member at LHU since 1974, Empfield's course offerings include still photography and photojournalism.

He currently resides in Jersey Shore, PA, with his wife and three children.

Opening Night at the Roxy Eddie Murphy Triple Feature 48 Hours/Trading Places/Beverly Hills Cop

By Matt Connor
Co-Editor

Halfway through the 1980-81 season of Saturday Night Live a panic gripped the producers of the popular late-night TV program. They had four minutes of time on the air and no material to fill the space with. In desperation, they pushed a young feature-player on stage and told him to do his stand-up act.

Suddenly, in the words of that old cliché, a star was born. And his name was Eddie Murphy.

Now one of the top-ten box-office draws in the world, Murphy has three hit movies under his belt and a multi-million dollar contract with Paramount Pictures.

This week at the Roxy Theatre on Main St, you can enjoy all three of these films on the same night.

In his first film, 48 Hours, Murphy played a convicted thief who is released for two days, in order to help a tough cop (Nick Nolte) catch two psychopathic killers.

Released in December 1982, 48 Hours grossed more than $78. million and earned the great admiration of critics.

Trading Places, Murphy's second film was an even bigger financial success, and as for the critics, Time magazine said Murphy, "makes Trading Places something more than a comedy. He turns it into an event."

Murphy's last movie to date, Beverly Hills Cop, is also his biggest hit, and one of the biggest hits of all time, grossing over $221. million. It was Murphy's first solo vehicle and proved the power he has over his audience.

Murphy has been called the most potent and charismatic force in movies today, and with a triple feature of his films playing in Lock Haven, there is a unique opportunity to view his explosive talent.
