COACH MORGAN SOUNDS CALL FOR BASKETBALL

About Twenty Candidates Have Reported For Practice and More Are Expected.

With the football season closed, attention is now being given to basketball. Coach Morgan has issued a call for candidates and daily practices are being held in the College gymnasium. It is too early to make any predictions concerning the prospects as only a few veterans are back from last year's team and little is known concerning the new men.

One thing is certain, Coach Morgan will do his best to have a fighting team on the floor to represent Teachers' College. Lack of good reserve material has always handicapped the locals in other years and this year, so far as can be seen now, is no exception. Up to the present time there are about twenty candidates fighting for the various positions on the team and more are expected to come out.

Thirteen sweaters and seven minor letters were awarded to members of the Lock Haven Teachers' College football squad at a banquet in the College dining hall Friday evening, when the players, coaches and College athletic authorities gathered to celebrate a season which was the most successful in five years. The dinner was marked by an atmosphere of confidence, looking toward an even more auspicious career for the 1930 grid-iron team.

Dr. Armstrong Speaks.

Welcome word that next season's football games at home will be played in the new field now under construction along the Lusk run road beyond the College buildings was brought by Dr. Dallas W. Armstrong, President of the College, who declared that the institution is wholeheartedly behind the athletic program and the boys taking part in it. The present contractor who is grading the new field has almost completed his task, meeting the specifications of his contract with prospects of finishing the work before December 15.

Athletics, said Dr. Armstrong, are part of character training and are regarded in that light at the Teachers' College, where the important thing is not the score the team can run up on its opponents but the type of playing that is shown on the field. Dr. Armstrong congratulated the boys on their attitude and paid a tribute to their coaches who, he said, are bringing the boys of the College squad the reflected football traditions of three great institutions, Purdue, Princeton and Yale. Raymond C. Morgan, head coach, is a Purdue man, and his assistants, Donald W. Griffin and J. Wynn Fredericks, are alumni respectively of Princeton and Yale.

Bright Future Prospects.

The toastmaster for the evening's program, following the sumptuous banquet prepared by the domestic staff of the College, was Mr. Griffin, who called upon Rev. J. Merrill Wil-

FIRST STUDENT CONFERENCE IS HELD AT BLOOMSBURG

The first student conference called for the purpose of discussing campus problems and composed of delegates from all the Teachers' Colleges of the State, met at Bloomsburg on November 25, 26 and 27th. Our delegates, Samuel Long and Alice Read, brought back very interesting reports which they presented in chapel Wednesday, December 4.

According to Miss Read, Bloomsburg acted as an excellent host to the guests. Dr. Robert M. Steele, of California State Teachers' College, was the only faculty member present at any of the meetings. Although the report has not been written fully, the main topic was Student Government. Its general scheme, functions and effectiveness, and problems were discussed. Lock Haven ranks high, Miss Read stated, in its Government Association.

Mr. Long concluded the report with a brief mention of the social and house regulation. It is gratifying, he stated, to know that the students at our College have so much freedom. A committee was selected to make a digest of the constitutions and to draw up a set of resolutions. These are to a full account of the conference will be sent to each school at which time he given to the students.

INCREASE IN ATTENDANCE SHOWN AT SUNDAY VESPERS

There are three sides to a man's nature, physical, mental and spiritual. At our College there are two methods of feeding a person's spiritual nature, vespers and Y. W. and Y. M. C. A. From the Sunday vesper attendance it is easily seen that many of the students are neglecting this important phase of life. Last Sunday there were about sixty-five at vespers. Let us make it seventy-five this Sunday. This was the main idea given in Mr. Ulmer's chapel announcement on Friday morning.

His warning seemed to be well heeded for about a hundred and forty attended the vesper services on Sunday night. The pictures shown were of the life of Christ and illustrated His parables. The beautiful coloring and the outstanding formation of the people and scenes portrayed, made it very instructive and enjoyable. Grace Bridenstein announced the title of each picture and sometimes gave a little explanation. The students like this kind of a service and will be glad to witness more in the future.

Since we have established another new record let us keep it up and continue increasing our vesper attendance until we have the majority of students out. Remember next Sunday at 6:00 o'clock.

A FAIRY TALE

In the winter fairies are busy
Making beautiful colors
For the flowers.
In the spring they paint
Each flower,
They never have enough paint.
The flowers that are left
Become delicate white roses.

L. A. L.

The rushing season of the L. A. L.'s closed Wednesday evening, November 20, with a banquet in honor of the pledges at the New Fallon Hotel. Speeches were given by Maurine McClure, president and the advisors, Miss Daniel and Miss Edgerton. After a very enjoyable time, most of the members adjourned to the movies.

Y. W.

Miss Daniel was the speaker for the Wednesday Day Room Y. W. services. The theme of her talk was chosen from the last stanza of Robert Bridge's poem, "A Secular Ode For the Celebration of the Ninth Jubilee of Founding Eton College," emphasizing that we do, act, live and love the best that we can. The girls were inspired.

Y. M.

The weekly meeting of the Y. M. C. A. was held in the "Y" room at 6:45, Wednesday evening, December 4, with Clyde Lynch as leader. Mr. Ulmer, the faculty advisor, spoke to the men for a few minutes. He brought out the thought that the Christian is different from other people, not outwardly but inwardly. He works not for earthly awards or eternal life alone, but for the satisfaction he gets out of doing good and helping others. He said that we as young men should set up ideals that we shall strive to reach, and that all the decisions we make should be such that they will help us to gain these ideals.

HARMONICA BAND

A meeting of the men interested in forming a Harmonica Band was held in the Auditorium at 5:30 Friday afternoon, December 6. It is hoped to form a band of about twenty pieces with Miss Whitwell in charge. All fellows who can play some form of novelty musical instrument, jews harps or harmonicas, are urged to attend the next meeting to be held at the same time, Friday, December 13.

MEN'S CHORAL CLUB

The weekly rehearsal of the Men's Choral Club was held in the auditorium at 7:15 Thursday evening, December 5. At this time Christmas Carols were practiced.

QUOTATION

Virtue by itself is not enough, or anything like enough. Strength must be added to it and the determination to use that strength. The good man who is ineffective is not able to make his goodness of much account to the people as a whole. No matter how much a man hears the word, small is the credit attached to him if he fails to be a doer also; and in serving the

RHO OMEGA LAMBDA

The R. O. L. rushing season began Thursday evening, December 5. At 9:00 o'clock the Senior members who were dressed as pirates called for the Junior guests and took them to the auditorium where they were captured and taken to a darkened room which had been arranged like a ship. Benches had been arranged around the deck with a treasure chest in the center. The chest was opened by Evelyn Bosworth who presented each guest with a string of beads. They were then taken to the sorority room where they spent the rest of the evening dancing and talking. The feature of the evening was several readings given by their faculty advisor, Miss Arey.

BETA SIGMA CHI

On Saturday night, December 7, the Beta Sigma Chi Sorority entertained a number of Junior girls at an Italian dinner. This first "Bittersweet" rushing party was held at the home of Katherine Diack. Italian spaghetti, Italian bread and olives were served in an attractive way. Judging from the amount of talking and singing and dancing the girls enjoyed the evening and got better acquainted.

ALPHA SIGMA TAU

The members of the Alpha Sigma Tau Fraternity entertained their rushees at a Plantation Party Friday night.

The general aspect of the Gym was converted into an attractive and typical Southern plantation. The Master and Mistress, represented by the President and Vice-President of the Sorority, greeted their visitors as they were admitted. Negro cotton pickers provided music and entertainment. The evening was devoted to dancing, games and general getting acquainted.

Delightful refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Miss Belle Holloway was guest of honor. Miss Kay Hendricks, teacher in Junior High School of Lock Haven, and Alumnus of the College and Alpha Sigma Tau Fraternity was also present.

Lord he must remember that he needs avoid sloth in his business as well as cultivate fervency of spirit.

ROSEMARY CAPRIO BRIDE OF MAXWELL FITZSIMMONS

St. Agnes Church was the scene of a charming wedding on Thanksgiving Day, when Miss Rosemary Geraldine Caprio, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph N. Caprio, 413 East Main Street became the bride of Maxwell Robert Fitzsimmons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Fitzsimmons, of Roulette. The ceremony was performed at 9:00 o'clock by Rev. John B. Bender, rector of St. Agnes Church, who celebrated a nuptial mass.

The church was elaborately decorated with flowers and palms, vases of yellow chrysanthemums being placed on the altar. The bride wore a gown of ivory satin in princess style, with a veil of illusion held in place with a band of pearl trimmings and orange blossoms. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Sophia E. Caprio, as maid of honor. The bride carried an arm bouquet of bridal roses, lilies of the valley and baby's breath. Anna Fuocola acted as flower girl. Gerard Caprio, brother of the bride, was best man, while the ushers were James Caprio and Sebastian Grieco, of this city; John A. Strolli, of Philadelphia and Reginald V. Fitzsimmons, of Roulette. The bride was given in marriage by her father. Thomas Larkin was among the guests.

After a reception at the home of the bride Mr. and Mrs. Fitzsimmons left for a wedding trip to Buffalo, N. Y. On their return they will reside at the home of the bride's parents. The bride is a graduate of the Lock Haven High School and of Lock Haven Teachers' College. Mr. Fitzsimmons is a student of our College.

"THE DOVER ROAD" IS GIVEN TONIGHT BY DRAMATIC CLUB

Tonight at 8:15 the Dramatic Club will present its annual play; the production is to be "The Dover Road," a three-act comedy by A. A. Milne. The cast includes:

Dominie Earl Smith
The Staff—Marjorie Snow, Edith Morrison, Ray Zaner, Sebastian Grieco.

Latimer George McMullen
Anne Alice Ratchford
Eustasia Evelyn Bosworth
Nicholas Robert Bollinger
Leonard Richard Parsons

"The Dover Road" is the sort of a comedy that makes you chuckle for weeks after you have seen it, as you remember points that struck your funny bone. But when Eustasia nearly drowns Nicholas with her flood of tears you feel like weeping yourself—because you are so weak from laughing. And for awhile you are much worried for fear poor Leonard's cold in the head will send him to the infirmary with pneumonia. However, everything turns out comfortably and as Mr. Latimer says, they all "live happy ever after."

NECESSITY

Judge—The policeman says that you were traveling at a speed of sixty miles an hour.

Prisoner—It was necessary, Your Honor. I had stolen the car.

Judge—Oh, that's different.

EDITORIALS

The invocation of the student conference attended by representatives of all the State Teachers' Colleges of Pennsylvania, held at Bloomsburg, will no doubt have a vital effect on the student activities of these colleges, particularly in the matter of co-operation. An opportunity to discuss and compare the pressing problems which are puzzling the students and teachers should be very valuable. The colleges will be able to help each other solve these problems and so place the general level of all the colleges on a better working basis. It is hoped that the holding of the conference this year will establish a precedent, and that students from the various State Teachers' Colleges will have an opportunity of exchanging ideas each year.

CAROLS TO BE SUNG AROUND CAMPUS CHRISTMAS TREE

Immediately after dinner Friday, December 13, the students and faculty of the College will assemble on East Campus and sing carols to celebrate the lighting of the first campus Christmas tree.

The large evergreen tree near the walk on the East Campus was chosen for the occasion because it is so located that it may be seen from Susquehanna Avenue, Fairview Street, Main Street and the east college windows. A beautiful set of lights, containing a large star for the top of the tree, was purchased by the Women's Student Government Association. It is hoped that this will be the beginning of an annual Christmas custom.

ANNUAL BAZAAR IS HELD IN KINDERGARTEN ROOM

On Wednesday, December 4, any visitor to our College would have seen a steady stream of students going to the Kindergarten room. What caused all this upheaval of the ordinary trend of events? It was no less than the I. K. U. Bazaar, held in the Kindergarten.

This Bazaar has become a much anticipated event of every year, and all because it gives to the students of S. T. C. a chance to get some genuine hand made articles for a few cents.

This year's Bazaar had many good features about it, and one bad one, the latter being the inability of the Primary girls to keep the place supplied with candy. This seemed to be an absolute impossibility, for as soon as a plate or boxful arrived, some sweet-toothed college sheik like Russell Bohn, would bargain for the entire lot. Jimmie Risch had a hard time getting a smell of it. When the candy was all gone, the girls brought sandwiches and pop corn and with these the evening was made merry.

Now for the other interesting things that were found there. On one table was a complete line of hand-painted stationery. At the top of each sheet was a pirate bold, an ancient frigate, or a monogram, painted by some industrious and artistic member of the I. K. U. On another table reposed in a colorful array, all manner of objects suitable for Christmas gifts. There was also a table containing pictures mounted very tactfully and sold for a few cents.

Miss Noel Tells Fortunes.

But from all appearances, the most popular booths were those of the fortune tellers. If Miss Noel and Mary Brosius were to go into the business they would undoubtedly become very wealthy people. Their tact in telling their customers just the things they liked to hear, was an argument in their favor. Of course Miss Noel's admonition that "it was all for fun" has to be remembered and it is a safe wager that much "fun" was obtained.

One of the practical jokers of the College dressed Ralph Poorman up as a lady school teacher and brought him to the Bazaar. For a while there was a good deal of comment as to who the new teacher was. Poorman went by the name of "Susie" and really was quite a lady in appearance and action. Miss Noel told his fortune, but nothing can persuade him to tell what his future has in store for him. He may be teaching primary grades for all any one knows.

Many Men Attend.

One encouraging feature of the Bazaar was the number of men who attended. Last year they were few and far between, but this year they realized that the functions of the I. K. U. are not for the ladies alone. We are certainly glad to see the boys interested.

There seems to be a mystery about one happening at the Bazaar and that is the bursting of so many balloons. Why did they burst? Who was the cause of it? There is one person in the boys' dorm who can solve that mystery and the majority of the people at the Bazaar have their ideas on

US AND OTHERS

Myles McClellan went home for the week-end.

Malone, Plummer, McIlvain and Sekula attended the Conference game between Williamsport and Altoona High Schools held at Altoona.

McCall brothers entertained a friend from the home town Sunday.

Evelyn Bosworth and Ann Viering spent part of their vacation at Philadelphia. While they were there, they attended the Penn-Cornell game.

Miss Holaway visited friends in Rochester for several days during the Thanksgiving vacation.

Katherine Anderson spent her vacation at Rochester where she visited her brothers and friends.

Alice Read visited Peg Beeson for the remainder of the Thanksgiving vacation after attending the Students' Conference at Bloomsburg.

Nellie Hess and Dot Kling visited at Dot's home in Altoona last week-end.

Elizabeth Kettleberger and "Pete" Hile visited at Pleasant Gap at Pete's home last week-end.

Mildred Granville was home with Mabelle Winkelbleck last week-end.

Kathleen Gorman spent the week-end at her home in Clearfield.

Louise Shaffer visited at her home in Williamsport last week-end.

"Topsy" Neiswinter spent the week-end at her home in Mt. Carmel.

Martha Connor spent her Thanksgiving vacation in New Jersey and New York. She visited her mother in New York.

Ruth Conrady spent Thanksgiving vacation at St. Marys, Pa.

We are glad to have Martha Craven and Gladys McLean back with us after their recent illness.

Faye Lord visited Thelma Young for a few days.

It has been rumored that Jimmy Renninger went deer hunting at Thanksgiving time. Enough said!

MUSICAL ARTISTS PRESENT
TALES OF HOFFMAN HERE

The first number of the Musical Artists' Course brought to L. H. T. C. the Boston Male Choir presenting the Tales of Hoffman on the evening of Thursday, November 21. This opera under the direction of Demeter Zachoreff was given by the members of the Choir with the assistance of several soloists and was presented in costume, which added to the interest of the performance.

The story of the opera is told thru the prologue which introduces the chorus with a scene showing Hoffman among his friends merry-making at a tavern in Nuremberg. Hoffman among his friends is a favorite. He tells the story of his three love affairs shown in actual performance in the three acts of the opera. The first tells of the time when the young man fell in love with a mechanical doll whom he believed to be a very beautiful human girl; the second act glows with a love tale in Venice where an enchanting woman gets Hoffman under the spell of her charms and then elopes with another lover; the third act portrays the tragedy of young Antonia, a singer who is a victim of consumption, and who through an evil influence literally sang herself to death. The epilogue of the opera brings back the scene in the tavern when Hoffman declares his disillusionment and announces that Art is the only faithful mistress.

The program was finely presented; the work of artists increased the pleasure which always comes from the beautiful music of the opera. The Boston Male Choir was not new to the audience for they presented a musical program in connection with the artists' course of last year. The type of program given Thursday evening was different from any presented before by them but it entirely fulfilled the reputation of the Choir for a wonderfully delightful evening of fine music.

YULETIDE SHOPPING

As I wandered around the town I saw Shop windows full of brightly painted toys

And wreaths of holly and poinsetta. Vari-colored tiny lights peeped thru some laurel branches,

Everywhere the crowds surged back and forth

All jolly and brimful of the happiest secrets.

It's great to mingle with the Christmas throngs

And to buy your tags and gay gift paper,

To feel the cheerful spirit Of the Christmas shopping crowds.

liams to speak the invocation. Other speakers were Dr. David W. Thomas, president of the College Alumni Association, who recounted some of the earlier football history of the institution and looked into the future to see the ever-brightening prospects stretching ahead and Russel Bohn, captain of the squad, who expressed the appreciation of the team for the services of the coaches and the support of the College, also anticipating great progress in the immediate future of gridiron activity at his Alma Mater.

Faculty Manager C. M. Sullivan also had a word to say about the past history of football at Teachers' College. The progress has been from strength to weakness, he recalled, with the present time showing every sign of another upturn. Many of the old schedules at the College were a series of triumphs for the strong teams annually put into the field by the former Normal School until Maroon and Gray football suffered a setback, hitting its low mark in 1918 when Sol Wolf, now coach at Williamsport High School, endeavored to revive the old spirit but was handicapped by the lack of numbers which has been the chief impediment to football activity at the College ever since.

The present outlook, however, said Mr. Sullivan, with the new field, already nicknamed "the plains of Abraham," promised for next season, is better than ever. The faculty is co-operating and the students are rallying to the unifying spirit of football. Mr. Sullivan announced the schedule for next year.

Assures Town Support.

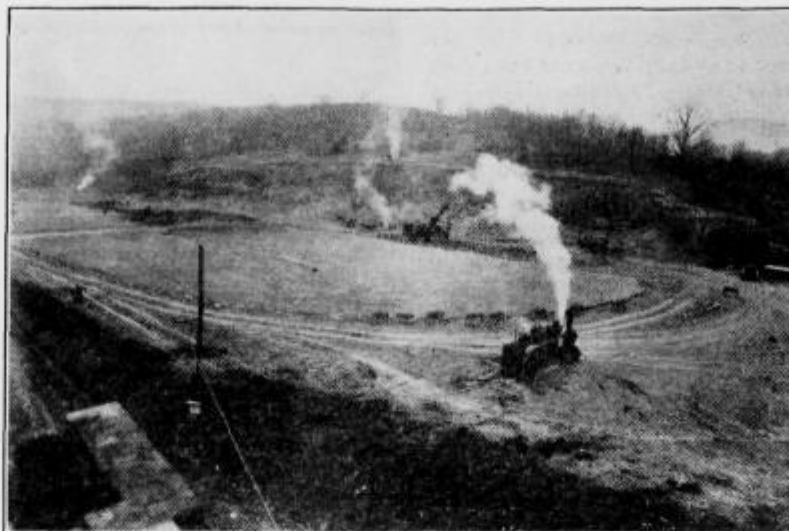

Mr. Fredericks, speaking on behalf of the Lock Haven public, expressed the opinion that Lock Haven is about the proper size to be influenced by the power of some sport. People and nations, he reminded his audience, have been welded by wars. Politics later proved to be a unifying force in our own country, then baseball as the national game produced the feeling of unity. The recent development of football has made it not so much a college activity as a high school and community influence.

Tracing the local football fortunes, Mr. Fredericks pointed out that High School football progressed as the Teachers' College prowess had dwindled. At present, conditions are somewhat reversed with the College eleven seeking to regain its old status. That future college teams will win support from the people of Lock Haven was prophesied by the speaker, who added that college football will advertise both the school and the city.

Coach Thanks Team.

In awarding the letters and sweaters, Coach Morgan thanked the boys of the squad for their efforts and extended his gratitude to Mr. Griffin and Mr. Fredericks for their assistance. The squad also joined in this expression of appreciation, presenting the two assistant coaches with a gift of gold pieces. To all others who had assisted in the season's efforts, Mr.

NEW ATHLETIC STADIUM UNDER CONSTRUCTION

Morgan extended his appreciation, stating his opinion that the team has got over the hardest part of its steep climb into football eminence.

Others who spoke were William Keiner, vice president of the Board of Trustees; Frank D. O'Reilly, editor of The Express, and C. E. Yount, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

In addition to the squad, guests at the dinner included the wives of the coaches and speakers, members of the Board of Trustees and officials of the school. The cheer leaders were also present and led the assemblage in enthusiastic cheers for the team and coaching staff at the close of the banquet.

Break Long Spell.

The squad banquet was the first formal celebration of the past season's notable achievement, the winning of the only two victories that have brightened the football annuals at the College for the past five years. The team of 1929 broke the long spell in the third game of the season, defeating the Susquehanna Reserves 6-0. The second triumph was at the expense of the Clarion Teachers' College, the local season ending with a 38-12 victory over the eleven which one week later held the Teachers' College champions from Slippery Rock to a count of 13-7.

Another omen of a good year in 1930 was pointed out at the banquet as the season's awards were conferred. Coach Morgan will lose only two of the men who composed his 1929 machine. Bohn and Renninger are the only players in the present roster who will be missing when the names are called at the start of the new season.

The thirteen boys who received sweaters at the banquet include McCall, Parsons, Smith, Sundberg, Poust, Rice, Cowfer, Malone, Hatter, Achenbach, Robb, Bohn and Hart, while the seven to whom letters were awarded are Bossert, Donnelley, Rohrbaugh, Bloom, Plummer, MacDonald and Renninger.

The Season's Achievement.

The history of the season, as recounted at the banquet, shows few dismal spots. The games which were lost were surrendered only after a gallant fight and Shippensburg's score of 26 was the highest run up on the team during the entire schedule. The seven games played this Fall resulted as follows: Dickinson Seminary 13, Lock Haven 0; Mansfield Teachers' College 12, Lock Haven 6; Lock Haven 6, Susquehanna Reserves 0; Millersville Teachers' College 12, Lock Haven 0; Bloomsburg Teachers' College 6, Lock Haven 0; Shippensburg Teachers' College 26, Lock Haven 0; Lock Haven 38, Clarion Teachers' College 12.

Next year's schedule will include most of these teams, the season opening with the Susquehanna game and closing with the Clarion contest. Four games will be played at home, including the season's opener and the battles with Mansfield, Shippensburg and Bloomsburg.

Inexperienced Players.

The season just ended was a training period for a number of inexperienced lads who will be well-versed veterans when the next chapter of T. C. football history begins. Poust, for instance, who did all the punting during the past season, had never played football before this year, but his work at end was a consistently good performance. McCall, capable guard who had his first chance in the second game on the schedule against Mansfield, had never seen a football before this fall. Malone, the fastest lad on the team who ranked next to Hart in the amount of territory gained during the season, was out for the team part of last season but his performance this fall made him a star. Rice, an able tackle and end, is another boy with limited experience who has done good work since joining the College squad.

The hold-overs from last year included Sundberg and several former Lock Haven High School players who have contributed heavily to the general performance of the College eleven. Parsons and Robb are former High School players who were on the College team last season as well as this. The newer contingent from the High School training ground includes Achenbach, Hatter, Hank Smith, Bossert and Dick Smith, though the latter lasted only part of the season, going out with an injury before the schedule was finished. Hart is another lad who got his preliminary training on the High School diamond. He played with Jersey Shore High School before entering the College.

The Coaching Force.

Raymond C. Morgan, coach of the Teachers' College eleven, came here from Susquehanna, after a playing and coaching career of considerable length. He is a graduate of Purdue University, this year's champion of the western Big Ten. Seemingly the triumphant tactics of his Alma Mater are what he is endeavoring to inculcate in his charges of the Maroon and Gray.

Faculty Manager C. M. Sullivan has been active in the labors of the season, especially during the home games and President Dallas W. Armstrong has been sympathetic and helpful in encouraging the members of the football squad to their best efforts.

The success of the past season has already attracted the attention of a number of young football players who are planning to enroll at the local College next year. The opinion of those interested in the progress of the gridiron sport at T. C. is that the past season has put the College "over the hump" and that the future holds better prospects than ever before.

SANTA TO ARRIVE AT T. C. THURSDAY EVENING IN GYM

Fun, Food and Frolic! This is the order for Thursday evening, December 19. At 8:00 P. M. in the auditorium, a play and the singing of carols start the fun. Following this come games and dancing in the gymnasium. By 9:30 Santa will be with us. An advance message by radio tells us that in order to ascend high enough to cross the mountains it will be necessary for him to lighten his baggage by dropping overboard his toys for the folks of Lock Haven State Teachers' College.

The students and faculty of the College will replenish Santa's pack by each bringing a ten cent present for the gift box. These presents will be requested for admission to the gymnasium. After Santa has distributed the gifts and treats, the remainder of the evening will be spent in dancing. The College orchestra and the radiola will furnish the music. Come for one grand get-together party before vacation.

The increased enrollment this year makes the regular Christmas Dinner Party an impossibility. The above program is being substituted for it.

EXCHANGES

Among our exchanges are college papers from Minnesota, Indiana, Illinois and even from Texas. The Northwest Viking from Washington State Normal School, Bellingham, Washington, is one of the interesting and evidently progressive publications that we read. From Cullowhee, N. C. comes the Cullowhee Yodel. We like its school news and its jokes. The Collegian from Fresno State College, California, is full of sport news that keeps us wide awake and interested.
