President Explains New Plans For More Phys Ed Facilities

Bob Stroble

Many people have been wondering what lies ahead in the near future as far as expanding the physical education and recreation facilities here at LHSC are concerned. We have also been engrossed in the same line of thought on many occasions. To answer all of our questions we held a profitable interview with Dr. Richard T. Parsons. The results were both pleasing and informative.

It seems logical to start with the present and take things as they should appear on campus.

The new athletic field being constructed behind Smith Hall and Woolridge Hall is just that. It will be a regulation gridiron type of field and will be able to be used for everything but baseball.

The new mens' residence hall which will be constructed behind Russell Hall will encompass the area of the present tennis courts. The state has appropriated money for this residence and work will begin on it in the spring. This will leave us without tennis courts come September. To alleviate this problem the coming legislature will be asked to appropriate money for 10 new all-weather tennis courts to be constructed in the area of the present football practice field.

Another athletic field will be constructed behind the new mens' residence hall and the site of the present girls tennis courts. This will be used primarily as a girls' hockey field and activities of that nature.

A prime question in everyone's mind is "when and where will LHSC have its own football field. Here's your answer: A new football stadium and track will eventually be constructed west of McColum Field. That is the area of the pond and further out in that direction. Parking would be provided to the north of the stadium and a practice field would also be located in the general area of the stadium. The area already has been surveyed.

Across the railroad tracks from the present football practice field, the state hoped to acquire all of the land to the service stations. In this area there will be a marine and land swimming area constructed. Adjacent to this will be a large parking area.

Dr. Parsons said these projects are to be completed by 1970, but he doubts that they all will be. (Why?)

In the distant future there will be a new gymnasium constructed on the hill area behind the special education building to replace Rogers Gym.

Modern Dance Group

Modern Dance Class to Perform At Assembly This Afternoon

Two men and 45 women in the beginning modern dance class will present a program of dance during the assembly hour at 1 p.m. today in Price Auditorium.

The program is designed to help the student understand modern dance and to show what modern dance is in art form. The class will start with the simple movements of a beginner to the highly polished forms. These forms will include modern dance warm-ups, simple patterns, use of ropes, locomotor movement, creation of a dance and composition.

The program will begin with dance warmups used in preparing the body for movement, with each group working on different parts of the body.

A simple dance pattern developed in the round form will be performed to the music of "Row, Row, Row Your Boat."

The third number will be the fundamental movement experience in using the arms in relation to the body. One of the most difficult skills for the beginner to acquire is that of getting tension into arm movement. In this number, each student will use a piece of rope to get this tension.

The fourth number will show locomotor movement, using of the feet and legs in landing. The class will demonstrate a simple walk pattern and other locomotor studies.

Improvisations will be shown in the actual creation of a dance. These will indicate the composing on the spur of the moment. Two improvisations will be performed.

The final step to be demonstrated in the development of the dance student is the creating of a composition. This will be shown by the use of words and pure dance.

Julie Dickson will serve as narrator. Miss Marian E. Hirst, assistant professor of health and physical education, is in charge.

Dr. Zimmerli to Get Award

Dr. E. K. Zimmerli

Dr. Elizabeth K. Zimmerli, chairman of the health and physical education department, has been elected by the Pennsylvania State Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation to be the 1962 recipient of the Elmer B. Cottrell Award. She will receive the award tomorrow at the association convention banquet in Allentown.

The Cottrell Award is a special high award given to members of the association whose exceptional service and professional philosophy have led an outstanding effect in promoting the profession.

A graduate of Boston University, and Stanford University, Dr. Zimmerli has held teaching and administrative positions in health and physical education at Bridgewater and Worcester, Mass.; South Orange, N. J.; Minneapolis, Minn.; and West Chester. She was senior advisor from 1945-46 in health and physical education to the Department of Public Instruction in Harrisburg.

She joined the Lock Haven State faculty in 1946.

'Santa Land' to be Theme Of Christmas Dance Saturday

"Santa Land" will be the scene of the traditional Christmas Dance sponsored by the Women's Athletic Assn. from 9-12 p.m. Saturday in Thomas Fieldhouse. Co-chairmen for the semi-formal affair are Linda Ritchey and Shirley Olt.

Music will be provided by the Keystone-Aires, a popular dance band from Bellefonte. Decorations are being planned by the committee chairmen: Betty Gommel, Ricki Horn, Marty Becker, Mary Jane Hennessy, Bonnie Bitzer, Chris Spacek, Marie Marcotte, and Sally Lentz.

Refreshments will be served in "Mrs. Santa Claus' kitchen" under the direction of Marti Westaby. Guest of honor for the dance will be Dr. Charlotte Smith who is also advisor of the association.

Admission for all students is free.

CHRISTMAS ASSEMBLY

The Annual Student-Faculty Christmas Assembly will be held in Price Auditorium Dec. 13, at 1:10 p.m. Students are urged to purchase a small gift for the needy children in the area.

These gifts need not be wrapped and are to be placed under the Christmas tree which will be in the lobby. Get with the spirit, join in the fun, make a child happy — see you there.

So We Say . . .

Bonus or Boner?

Perhaps the recent cut system adopted by the faculty-student committee has turned out to be a boner rather than a bonus.

Many students complained about the old cut system and requested a revision calling for unlimited cuts. Now that the new cut system has been put into effect, it seems that the student body, for the most part, has gained a privilege and lost an average. The grades at the end of the nine-week period give evidence of this fact, especially among the underclassmen. A number of students had as many as three low grades.

Recently, faculty members were given lists of students enrolled in their classes in order to take a poll and determine the number of cuts the student body has taken. If sufficient evidence points out that excessive cuts are responsible for poor grades, the faculty may take action to abolish the new cut system entirely.

As stated in the new attendance regulations, "Regular attendance at classes and fulfillment of the responsibilities for meeting class requirements of each course are primarily the responsibility of the student." It is also the responsibility of the student to make certain that these regulations are carried out and prove that the new cut system is a bonus, not a boner.

Our Attendance Policy

This editorial recently appeared in the Stroud Courier of East Stroudsburg State College

This year it was deemed necessary by the Dean of Instruction to put into effect a new policy as rather a hard cut against the student class attendance. We cannot classify this as a lenient system as employed by other colleges or universities, but one which permits only emergency absences from class.

The fact that the old system got out of hand is not entirely the blame of the students, who are the ones being penalized by the new policy. Professors and instructors are to blame as well, for many of them kept no accurate, uniform attendance records, and encouraged those students more prone to taking illegal cuts.

The per-semester-hour cut system left too much temptation and it was assumed that we would make the most of our education by using our own discretion. Cuts were used for going home earlier on Friday, sleeping late, or last-minute preparation for a test. As long as we did not exceed the three-cut limit, we were allowed to be the judges. Under the new system we might be the judges, but there is more of a tendency to be dishonest in stating the reason. Already the system is becoming dishonest, because the policy is so strict they do not write other causes as called for.

It was obvious in the past that a new change in policy was needed. Whether or not this is the answer and whether or not this is to be successful is up to the student body and the faculty as well. We should all join forces to keep cutting at a minimum, but keep it honest cutting.

Everyone who is normal is bound to have something to gripe about. What is your pet gripe?

Jim Shugarts, Clearfield, Social Science: "I think there should be more social communication between the four fraternities."

Ginny Logan, Lock Haven Elementary: "It's about the parking facilities — the students who live here at school should have a special place to park so that the commuters can find a place without coming an hour early in order to get to class on time."

Jacki Wichser, Metuchen, N.J. Elementary: "It's about the rodents that frolic up and down the walls and halls of High Hall. They do everything but knock on the doors. The girls will be happy to move to the new dorms."

Bob Howard, Pittsburgh Health Education;
Dick Miller, Tyrone Health Education

"We think that there is an easily defined solution to the problem of rodents in High Hall. INSTALL CATS."

We've been waiting quite a long time to get some BIG NAME TALENT on campus. Now, we've got it. Don't forget Count Basie and his big band on the 13th . . . Word has it that if Basie goes over, more big name talent is in store for this school . . . Alan Sherman, an unknown folk singer, has an album just released that might be of interest to folk fans. My Son, The Folk Singer on Capitol has sold 775,000 copies already with many more Christmas orders scheduled and behind. The album is a spoof on Folk music. Sherman is the only folk singer with an hilarious Jewish accent. He is scheduled for an appearance at Carnegie Hall with his own concert soon . . . Why is Frank Sinatra reluctant to release pictures to the press of his son, Frank Sinatra, Jr., who is a budding young singer much in demand? . . . Tricky Ricky Nelson is now on tour — with the United States Air Force . . . Fabian signed a fabulous contract with Dot Records recently. Who knows why? He can't sing and hasn't released a record in two years . . . Why did Steve Lawrence, who could make a fortune from belting out songs like Portrait of My Love with his magnificent voice, have to stoop to the depths of recording Go Away Little Girl in the style of Neil Sedaka? . . . Record to watch: Push and Kick, Mark Valentino.

Letters to Editor

Shape Up

The administration is conducting an investigation of the present attendance system. From what we hear, we can anticipate a change in the attendance regulations next semester. Rumors have it that the nine-weeks grades were lower than in previous years and that the students, given an inch have taken a mile with regard to cutting. This investigation should not stop with only these results.

We encourage those conducting this investigation to utilize all this data, not so much to condemn the attendance system but to evaluate some of the weaknesses among the faculty and the students. They would do well to investigate why certain classes have a very high incidence of cutting. When this system was put into effect, we had hoped that it would create an obligational relationship between the student and the instructor — and the student who failed to comply adequately would be eliminated. We had hoped that it would obligate the instructor to make his presentations motivating, interesting, and valuable enough to put excessive cutting out of the question.

Obviously this standard has not been achieved. Students who cut excessively and suffer from it would naturally be weeded out via the flunk out route. THIS SHOULD HAPPEN. This cut system could raise the standards of this institution. If the results of the investigation indicate weak spots

Sorority Sidelites

With the holiday season looming ahead, sorority parties and fund raising projects are in full swing.

The pledges of Sigma Sigma Sigma held a party for the sisters and their dates last Friday night in Russell rec room. The theme was "A Night at the North Pole."

Tri Sigma pledges are also selling chances for a drawing that will be held Monday. The winner will receive a ten dollar gift certificate.

The sisters and pledges of Sigma Kappa held a dinner-dance last Sat. evening at the Locks Restaurant. The dance, held every year at Christmas time, has been a traditional affair with the sorority.

All those students planning to attend the WAA Christmas Dance remember, Sigma Kappa sisters and pledges will soon be taking orders in social square for corsages.

The pledges of Alpha Sigma Tau held "A Basketball Bounce" in Rogers Gym, Saturday night, after the basketball game.

The Taus also held their second cultural meeting of the year on Thursday evening.

For those students and faculty members who wish to buy Christmas cards, Tau sisters and pledges will be selling them by the box.

and they are eliminated, this school would certainly benefit. Let's use this system as an indicator to students and faculty alike to "Shape Up or Ship Out."

Teaching Rates as Highest Profession in Country Today

Teaching is the fastest climbing profession in practice in the United States today, an article in a recent edition of the Chaper Journal stated.

A nationwide poll, printed in several newspapers, shows that teaching has more than doubled its appeal since 1955. The pollsters asked a representative sampling of adults what profession they would recommend a young man to follow if he were qualified.

The article said that in 1953 the field of medicine was way out in the lead with 29 percent. Teaching ranked sixth with seven per cent recommending it. Only bankers and government careers lagged behind teaching.

But the 1962 survey showed that teaching has now vaulted into third place with 12 per cent recommending it as a "best" profession. Medicine and engineering rate 23 and 18 per cent, respectively.

Even more encouraging are answers from people in their 20's. Twenty-six per cent listed medicine as the best career, with teaching a close second at 18 per cent.

Credit for this climb from last place to first must go to the teachers themselves and to their professional organizations. By stressing the professional aspect of their jobs, teachers are developing community awareness and appreciation. And where this has occurred, the community has in turn supported higher standards for its teachers.

By continuing their professional approach, teachers can accelerate the process which brings them higher status and better education to our nation's children.

The 25th anniversary of the Delta Sigma chapter of Kappa Delta Pi education honorary fraternity was observed last week when new members were initiated during the annual fall banquet at the Dutch Inn.

Dr. J. Richard McElheny, national executive secretary-treasurer of Kappa Delta Pi, West Lafayette, Ind., explained the ideals set forth by the founders of the society. In discussing Knowledge, Duty, Power — the meanings of the Greek letters of the society — McElheny said that in the ideal service is the concept that teachers will find themselves putting forth effort in line of their duty and power. He said they must think in terms of each student as a contribution to society. "Never take the human element out of teaching; you must have dedication," he told the members.

The local chapter is the 104th of 239 chapters in the country. The national society was started in 1906.

The initiates were Carson Brown, Saxton; Robert Hammer and Dorothy Balch, Williamsport; Ronald Fluke, Altoona; Patsy Jordan, Manchester; Mary J. Williams and Stanley T. Promising Basketball Record Hinges on Team Cooperation

by Monte Shepler

Now that basketball season has started, sports interest turns to the fieldhouse court. Returning lettermen, teamwork, a strong bench and support seem to be the factors needed to make a winning season, according to a spot survey made prior to the season's opener.

Three players and their coach were queried on what they think will help the team this year to improve on the '62 won-lose record.

Richard Bieda:

"I believe the large number of returning lettermen will lead us to a better '63 record."

Bob Mills:

"A change from a team of individuals to a team of combined effort appears to be the change that will mean the most this season."

Bob Howard:

"New rebounding ability and continued teamwork will help us to a good season this year."

Coach Daley:

"I think a much better attitude in team spirit and our strong bench will be the greatest factor in improving on our '62 record."

Four other students were asked, "What chance do you think this season's team has of improving on their previous record?"

Ken Bumgarner:

"The team needs these three things to improve their last year's record: teamwork, co-operation between players and coach, and support from the student body."

Cliff Watson:

"If the tall men can do the job and the defense works together, they should have a real good season."

Denny Duttry:

"If they play together and work as one unit they will break the .500 mark without any trouble."

We feel that team co-operation will be the big factor in a winning season for the '63 cagers. There is no doubt that the material is present, but whether or not this material works as one team is the question.

Pigskin Predictions

The students outclassed the coaches down the line in the final tabulations for the Pigskin Predictions. The students' overall average was .617 as compared to .517 for the coaches.

The results are based on 40 games during eight weeks.

Duttry — 26 for 40	.650
Keenan — 25 for 40	.625
Stroble — 23 for 40	.575
Lawther — 22 for 40	.550
Daley — 21 for 40	.525
Hacker — 19 for 40	.475

To avoid any misunderstanding during the winter sports schedule, we feel it necessary to acquaint you with our means of coverage. We work on a week-in-advance deadline, with all but weekend sports going to the printer on Thursday prior to its publication. Thus any games or matches between Monday and Thursday cannot be covered in that Thursday's edition. Thus, most of our coverage of past events will be included in our advance stories, which we will stress because of this deadline. Also, we intend to give as complete coverage of all sports as our space and time allows. Any suggestions, comments or information you may have for this page is welcomed through you directly or by mail. We hope you will understand our setup.

SHORT SHOTS:

Denny Duttry was named to the football All-Conference second team and Dan Keenan received an honorable mention . . . John DiNunzio, former sports editor of The Eagle Eye, recently received his PIAA basketball officials rating . . . In the game that caused such a clash between us and some readers earlier, another footnote has been added. Official statistics show that in that game, California set a new conference record for total yards gained in one game — 533 against our Bald Eagles.
