By Kim Wilkinson
News Editor

Petitions for SCC senate elections should be returned to the SCC vice-president's office by Friday, according to Brian Lane, SCC vice-president.

Candidates must have been a student at LHSC for at least one semester with a 2.0 grade point average. All SCC activity fees and other dues must be paid.

According to Lane, there has been "a pretty good response," and strong interest.

There are 14 positions open: Gross Hall, two; McEntire Hall, one; Russell Hall, one; Smith Hall, three; and off campus, three.

It is also possible to be considered as a write-in candidate if the petition is returned by 9:00 a.m. the day of the election.

Elections will be held Wednesday, February 9.

Eagle Eye has new editor

By Hank Zdun

Daniel R. McGurgan, a journalism major from Pittsburgh was named editor in chief of the college student newspaper, the Eagle Eye, during a special meeting of the Eagle Eye staff last Monday. He will replace Kurt Gallagher for the remainder of the semester.

McGurgan is the author of the sports column, Strap Rap and has been a member of the Eagle Eye staff for the past four years.

"Objectivity is the key," he stated.

"I've been around here long enough to know the ethics of journalism," he added.

McGurgan stated that he would like to see more "Hard news" appear in future issues of the newspaper but warned, "I don't want to rake anyone over the coals, but I do want to be thorough."

He also stated that there are always positions available for any student who would like to be a part of the Eagle Eye staff.

Registration pleases students

Fifty-six percent of LHSC students feel that the new registration system works better than the old system, according to an Eagle Eye Survey. Thirty-eight percent feel the new system is not better and eight percent feel no different.

James Smalley, Dean of Academic Administration feels that most of the students and faculty were pleasantly surprised by the efficiency of the new system. Smalley says that the same system will probably be used in the future with only a few minor adjustments.

Smalley noticed that the new registration system itself created no major problems. Although some students had to stand in long lines to get their billing straightened out, this problem was mostly the fault of the students. Smalley says that the Administration will have to examine the situation and try to combat the problem.

Scheduling information was fed into a computer during and after registration last Monday and official class schedules and lists were issued Tuesday morning. The class schedules were distributed on the ground floor of Bentley Hall, but many students failed to pick them up.

Garrett Morris

Comedian to perform here tomorrow night

by Kirsten Jorgensen
Opinion Page Editor

Garrett Morris, a former member of the "Saturday Night" repertory company, "The Not Ready For Prime Time Players," will be performing at Lock Haven State College Thursday, February 3 at 8:00 p.m. in Price Auditorium. Admission is $3.00 with I.D.

LHSC will be the first of many shows that Morris will do in the month of February. In fact, he is booked in almost all of the remaining days of this month.

"A representative of Morris stated that the majority of the performance will be original, and has never been seen before," said Gary Interdonato, acting Cultural Affairs director. "The representative also mentioned that it should be a wild evening geared toward a college audience.

Morris was born in New Orleans and grew up with strong musical influences. He attended Tanglewood, Juilliard and the Manhattan School of Music, and became a singer and music arranger with the Harry Belafonte folk singers and made a number of TV appearances with them.

Morris has appeared in several Broadway shows and three movies, "Where's Poppa," "The Anderson Tapes" and "Cooley High."

A few of the characters that Morris portrayed on "Saturday Night Live" were: famous baseball great Chico Escuela, dictator Edi Amin Adada, Tina Turner, and one of the infamous "Killer Bees."

If you like Saturday Night Live, Garrett Morris' appearance at Lock Haven is something you don't want to miss.

Commentary

Why are book prices so high?

By now it is no secret that the prices of the books in the bookstore have gone up somewhat, and many of you are probably grumbling just a bit and wondering who is the culprit behind this injustice.

To help clear the air on this matter, I asked Marge Bangson, the manager of the bookstore, why the prices went up and what caused the increase. "The manufacturer gave us a suggested retail price (list price), and we stayed with that price," said Bangson. "We did not mark up one single book. The publisher's price went up and so, therefore, the suggested retail price went up."

What it comes down to is that the bookstore is at the mercy of the publisher, when it involves the prices of books. "The publishers can do anything they want," said Bangson. "When I call the publisher to order books, the person tells me the wholesale price, and that that price is subject to change without any notice."

On the bright side, SCC President John McNamara noted that each week the bookstore will run a 10% sale on a different item. The original plan, according to McNamara, was to run a daily sale, but that did not quite work out.

This week's sale is on sweatshirts. I know, who can think about buying sweatshirts when you have to pay for your books? Nonetheless, it is, I feel, a good idea. Perhaps a 10% sale on a few more basic items, such as pens, pencils, and notebooks would be more practical at this time.

Oh well, it was my intention here to inform you as to why the book prices skyrocketed, and that although this increases your financial burden, there is some relief with the 10% sales. You just have to look for and utilize these sales.

Sigma Kappa sorority welcomes all students back!

The Undergraduate Alumni Association organized a Book Resale Service. We had a very positive response with students filling in the papers available in Bentley Lounge before break. We are sorry to report that due to someone's idea of fun, most of these papers were removed or torn, eliminating the service and defeating its initial intent. We shall continue to post papers in hopes the students who truly wish to be helped by the service can sell their books at a reasonable price. We also hope those responsible for destroying the papers will realize they only hurt themselves and their peers. Thank you to those who supported our efforts.

Open auditions for QUARTERS, an original one-act play, will be held Tuesday, February 1 and Wednesday, February 2, at 7:00 p.m. in Sloan 321. All LHSC students are invited to attend.

There will be a memorial service for Dedie Welshans, who passed away in December, 1982. The ceremony will be held next Thursday, February 3, 1983, in the Hall of Flags at 1 p.m. Students are encouraged to attend this remembrance of a remarkable student.

Haven Wrestlers win third in a row, 31-10

by Kevin Campbell
Sports Editor

The Bald Eagle matmen moved into third place in the Eastern Wrestling League by defeating West Virginia 31-10 Saturday night.

The victory was the second in two nights and the third of the week for Coach Neil Turner's grapplers, setting up a showdown with rival Clarion State Saturday. The Haven edged Bloomsburg State 24-16 last Tuesday before thrashing the Pittsburgh Panthers 29-8 on Friday.

Lock Haven captured the first three bouts of the evening against WVU, two by pins, to capture the early lead.

Junior Ken Whitsel rolled to a first period 11-1 lead over Mountaineer Jeff Leaf before pinning the WVU wrestler with 21 seconds remaining in the period.

Bald Eagle senior Mike Millward recorded his twentieth victory of the season against just six losses by sneaking past Mike Levanduski of West Virginia. Millward had fought back to tie Levanduski, and won the bout on penalty points against the WVU wrestler with 45 seconds left.

Eagles increase advantage

Junior Don Parsley increased the Eagle advantage to 15-0 with a first period pin over Mountaineer Tim Cooley at 134 pounds. Cooley had taken an early 5-2 lead in the bout before Parsley reversed him for the pin.

Bald Eagle Tom Kreamer drew with West Virginia's Howard Wilson to put the visitor's on the board, but victories by Leonard Mummau and Doug Buckwalter widened the gap to 24-2. Mummau was victorious by a 14-6 count to record a major decision, while Buckwalter won 7-4.

After dropping the next two bouts, Bald Eagles' Ed Black and Rick Peterson sealed the victory with consecutive triumphs. Black recorded a 12-8 victory over WVU's John Palmer while Peterson notched a major decision over Bill Nye at heavyweight. The triumph gave Peterson his twenty-fifth victory of the season against just six losses.

Lock Haven trails undefeated Penn State and Cleveland State in the EWL standings. The Bald Eagles dropped a close match to Cleveland State over the break, but will face the Nittany Lions at University Park later in the season.

The team will travel to West Chester Thursday night before Saturday's showdown against Clarion in Thomas Field House.

Eagle cagers gain emotional victory; but lose two

By Chris Brooks
Sports Editor

After earning its biggest victory of the season against Clarion last Wednesday, the Lock Haven State men's basketball team suffered back to back defeats to Indiana University of Pennsylvania (75-66), Saturday and Bloomsburg, Monday.

At Bloomsburg, the Eagles came out at halftime trailing by just one point, 32-31. The Huskies, however, put to rest any ideas of a second upset for LHSC in a week by outscoring the visitors 54-38 in the final twenty minutes to win going away, 86-69.

The loss dropped Coach Brad Black's squad to 4-17 overall. The team is 1-4 in the PC West.

Sophomore Mike Greene led the Lock Haven scoring attack with 17 points. Scott Dobak added 13 points and Fred Shuey chipped in with 12 points and 12 rebounds.

Saturday, the team travelled to IUP and in contrast to the Huskies contest, led at halftime, 32-31. LHSC stayed with the hosts throughout the game, but saw its upset bid slip away in the last minute when the team was forced into a must foul situation. The Indians sank 17 of 23 free throws, many down the stretch, to seal the victory, 75-66.

IUP's Don Betts led all scorers with 20 points, while teammates Ron McNabb and Mike Krafick tallied 14 and 11 points, respectively.

For the Eagles, Dobak led the scorers with 17 points. Shuey followed with 14 and junior Sam June chipped in with 13. The front line tandem of Dobak and Shuey also combined for 16 rebounds.

Coach Brad Black said that his team "lacked some consistency," but he was pleased with the effort.

"We played well at the beginning and were up six to eight points in the first half. Then (Scott) Dobak got three fouls on him and had to come out, and that was a factor," he said.

Last Wednesday, freshman Jeff Jackman proved to be a pressure performer as he came off the bench to score a career high 19 points in the Eagles' most emotional win of the season, an 83-81 overtime tilt against Clarion.

Jackman scored LHSC's last four points in regulation play and four of the six in the five minute overtime period. When Clarion was called for an excessive timeout technical foul, Jackman calmly swished both shots to nail down the victory.

The Bald Eagle win spoiled the return to the "House of Noise" of former head coach Dick Taylor and former LHSC standout Ken Richter, who now respectively act as head coach and assistant coach at Clarion.

Greene led all scorers with 27 points and June added 20.

Icers gain comeback win, 4-3

By Justin Newman
Staff Sports Writer

Junior Scott Armstrong scored midway through the third period Saturday night to give the LHSC Ice Hockey Club a 4-3 come-from-behind victory over Moravian College at the Penn State University ice rink. The win boosted the Haven's record to 4-0-1.

Lock Haven jumped out to an early 1-0 lead when Bill Furjanic fed John Greenfield with a pass that enabled Greenfield to net his fifth goal of the season.

Moravian seemed to control the flow of the game after the initial score, and tallied three unanswered goals. But, once again with their potent offense and character as their biggest assets, Lock Haven started their comeback.

The injury-plagued Bald Eagles, with goals from Chris Healy and Bill Joseph, knotted the game in the second period.

Healy carried the puck end to end, but was shut down by the Moravian goalie. The sophomore found the rebound lying alone in the crease behind the goalie and flipped it home for his second goal of the season.

Healy then combined his efforts with Joseph five minutes later, with Joseph picking up the fourth goal of his rookie campaign.

The game was tied going into the final 20 minutes. Lock Haven came out storming, firing 24 shots on the Moravian goal, while only allowing four shots on rookie goalie Mark Zabilowicz.

"Everyone had plenty of chances to score, but we were shooting the puck right into their goalie's midsection," commented Greenfield about the number of shots the Bald Eagles had, which totaled 51.

The 3-3 tie set the stage for Armstrong's eighth goal of the year.

Lock Haven's biggest win came late last semester, just after the death of Dedi Welshans, a well respected classmate and friend of many Lock Haven Icers.

Before the game, which matched the Haven against Williamsport, the team held a special meeting and decided to direct their efforts towards winning the game for Dedi. A stick was signed by all the players and is being sent to the Welshans family.

LHSC adds Management Science Club

By Wendy C. Piney

The Management Science Club is a new club on campus, which has recently been chartered with the SCC. The club, which is business oriented, was created with the help of administration last spring. The goals include expanding the internship program, connecting students with business, improving the elective courses and generally aiding the Management Science Major in entering the real world.

Past programs have included guest speakers in banking, advertising, labor and management relations, and corporate settings. The club provided students in the major with insight to the spring courses and registration advantages along with information on resumes and internships. The programs have been informative and practical.

The future holds a micrographic exhibit which will include over 2000 business career areas and much more. They invite new members to share in the benefits of the club and to bring in ideas.

The general meetings are held in R205 the first and third Tuesdays of the month at 1:00 p.m.
