

MEN HOLD INDOOR SPORT CARNIVAL

Upper Classmen vs. Freshmen

At 2.00 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, February 23, the men are to hold their first indoor meet in the form of a sport carnival, a contest between the freshmen and the upper-classmen. This is a new feature on our calendar and the program of events is therefore doubly interesting.

Individual Events

20 yd. Dash

Standing Broad Jump

Running Broad Jump

Running Hop, Step and Jump

Only three competitors from each group. Points distributed, 5 for first, 3 for second, and 1 for third.

Team Relays and Contests

Straight Relay

Backward Relay

Monkey Relay

Wheelbarrow Relay

Ch'ning Contest

Hand Wrestling (2 out of 3)

Tug O' War (2 out of 3)

Teams of 10 men. The same 10 men must compete in all of these team events. Points distributed, 3 for first and 0 for second.

Games

Dodge Ball (time basis) 10 men

Indoor Baseball—(4 innings—9 men)

Volley Ball—6 men

Basketball—four 8 minute quarters

All those who have played in any varsity game this season are ineligible for this basketball game but may participate in everything else. Points, 5 and 0.

A 15 inch silver loving cup will be presented to the group scoring the greater number of points. The plan is to have this cup competed for yearly.

Mrs. C. E. Roe Speaks On P-T Association

Through the efforts of Mrs. H. M. Focht, of Williamsport, who is the Chairman of the sixth district of the Parent Teachers Association, the students of S. T. C. had the opportunity of hearing Mrs. Charles E. Roe, of Washington, D. C., the National Field Secretary of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, explain the value of this association of which she is a leader.

Organized thirty-two years ago, this great educational movement has been sweeping the country and is still growing, with more than one million paid up members added in the last eight years.

Many famous educators are recognizing and expressing the importance of contact between the parents and teachers. They say it is the biggest known movement in the educational field today, and that the organization is making a great contribution to education.

We who are entering the teaching field should understand the permanent platform of the association; it includes the seven well known aims of education: health, home, learning, leadership, citizenship, character, and vocation. We must recognize the fact that only one-seventh of the child's time is spent under school influences and the remainder of his time, spent in the home and community. They

Basketball Game is Lost to Bloomsburg

The local S. T. C. quintet traveled to Bloomsburg Saturday, Feb. 16, to engage the college of that place in a return game. During the first half the locals held Bloomsburg fairly even but after every regular had been put out on personals the Bloomsburg quintet proceeded to put the game away. Except for the greater part of the third quarter when the locals stopped the offense of the Bloomsburg outfit it was evident that Bloomsburg outclassed the locals. The scoring of both teams was distributed, no one player standing out. To name any one player above the rest would not be fair to the others as every one of the local squad who participated in the game showed up well and only for a final, furious spurt by Bloomsburg the score would have been much closer than it was. The locals showed scoring potentiality that augurs well for the remaining games this season. During the greater part of the second half the locals played with only one regular against Bloomsburg's varsity quintet yet Bloomsburg was held fairly even until the locals tired under the strain and from then on it was all Bloomsburg. When the game came to an end the score stood 25-57, with the Bloomsburg quintet claiming the largest total. The next game for the locals is scheduled for Fri., Feb. 22, at Williamsport where they lock horns with the Gold and White quintet of Dickinson Seminary.

SENIORS MAKE HIT AT DANCE

Decorations Feature St. Valentine's Day

The members of the Senior Class acted as hosts and hostesses to about two hundred couples on Saturday night, February 16, when they gave their annual Senior Promenade in the gym.

The dancers were greeted by the receiving line which included the Senior Class President, Miss Margaret Martin, Mr. John H'ity, Dr. and Mrs. Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan, Mr. Goerger, Miss Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Gage, Dr. and Mrs. Rude, and Mr. High.

The gym, which lends itself to the artistic talent of the decorating committee, would have been a joy to good St. Valentine, in whose honor it was decorated. The improvised roof of red and white crepe paper with hearts suspended at intervals, softened the light, and gave the desired effect. The huge "Sweetheart" with the inscription "Senior Class of 1929" in red and white letters was the center of attraction on the south wall. The programs with their old fashioned silhouettes were the dainty favors appropriate for the affair.

That the orchestra was from State College was not hard to guess. When the Blue and White was played, the enthusiastic cheers made it evident that many of the guests were familiar with that strain.

The spirit of St. Valentine seemed to pervade the hearts of everyone and make the dance a delightful experience for the guests.

Principal Calls Attention to Corson's Book on Lincoln

At the Tuesday morning chapel services, Dr. Armstrong, in memory of Lincoln's birthday, spoke to us briefly about Dr. Oscar Taylor Corson, and called our attention particularly to his book "Abraham Lincoln, His Works and Deeds," which is in our own library. Dr. Corson was a great admirer of Abraham Lincoln and spent much of his time studying and lecturing about the famous president. His lectures, now compiled and edited, should prove to be very interesting and informative.

Dr. Armstrong, himself, was personally acquainted with Dr. Corson and once had the privilege of visiting the church where Lincoln wor-

Men's Choral Club to Give Vaudeville Show March 7

The Men's Choral Club of the college will present a five act vaudeville show in the college auditorium Tuesday evening, March 5.

This entertainment is to be characterized by a varied program of songs, comedy, and specialty numbers. The members of the club have been practicing for several weeks in preparation for this event, and judging from past performances of this organization we predict a highly entertaining and enjoyable evening of mirth.

The club has also been invited to present the show at the Bluebird theatre in Mill Hall, February 28. There will be a small admission fee charged for the performance at the college.

shipped and the house where he died, in company with the noted lecturer and author. His remarks, therefore, about Dr. Corson were especially interesting because his knowledge was first-hand. Few of the students are likely to miss the opportunity to read at least parts of Dr. Corson's book.

KLUB KORNER

On Monday, Feb. 11, at 5.30, the Rho Omega Lambda Sorority held their regular meeting in their rooms.

College Times Staff had a short meeting on Monday at 7.15 sharp. It was followed by a meeting of the Stunt committee.

Girls' meeting took place as usual on Tuesday, Feb. 12, at 7.15. Many helpful points about the dance were given by Miss Roberts.

Girls' Glee Club had their regular practice at 8.00 Tuesday night. A rehearsal for the stunt followed the meeting.

I. K. U. met at 4.15 on Wednesday. The U. meeting was better than it has been for a while and it is the wish of the organization that ALL members turn out. Committees were appointed by the President to plan for a social gathering to be held. Miss Himes then entertained the girls by telling some of her interesting experiences while teaching.

should all be of the same standard to prevent confusion of the child.

Mrs. Roe made her point very vivid by two illustrations. The first was the story of her pleasure in a rural school on finding the teaching of health by a tooth-brush drill, and then her disappointment when told by the teacher that nine out of ten of these children were not provided with tooth-brushes at home. The second was the story of the city school where she saw a moving van taking thousands of books to the school library and then her consternation when she saw a news stand directly across the street where they were selling cheap literature unfit for reading. The conflict of standard in both of these communities show the need for cooperation of the school and community.

Mrs. Roe pointed out to us, that the teacher belongs to the community as never before and is being judged by his or her activity in the community. The purpose of the Parent Teachers Association is to enable the teacher to give of himself to the community.

A teacher entering a community in which such a branch has not been organized, may secure literature and aids for the work by writing to the Head of the Pennsylvania Branch, Mrs. William Brice, Jr., at Bedford, Pa., or to the National Congress of the Parent Teachers Association, N. E. A. Building, Washington, D. C.

This, then, was the challenge to us by Mrs. Roe: that we as teachers should strive for better homes, better parents, better relationship, a better and closer relationship between the school and the home. In so doing, we shall be placing stepping stones and not stumbling blocks in the paths of the children, the importance of which is shown in the jingle which she left with us in closing:

"Isn't it funny that Princes and Kings,

Who Said This?

1. Isn't that the cutest little thing?
2. That isn't that pretty.
3. That hurt!
4. Oh shoot!
5. Do you see what I'm driving at?
6. Got five letters today.
7. You huckster!
8. Isn't that comic?
9. It's like nobody's business.
10. For cryin' tears.
11. It isn't even funny.
12. All right baby.

Answers will be published in next week's issue.

And clowns that caper in sawdust rings,
And common folks like you and me,
Are builders of eternity.

To each is given a set of tools
A shapeless mass and a book of rules,
And each must make e'er life is flown
A stumbling block or a stepping stone."

"First in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen."

Critics are doing their best to spoil th's hero of our childhood, to make George Washington a man of many faults and vices, even to destroy the tradition of the cherry tree so dear to school girls and boys. Must we believe the stories these modernists tell? Are these radical new inspirations any more true than the old traditions?

George Washington was human, we admit, and all humans have faults but all the family skeletons in the world cannot destroy the records of this great man's achievements and wonderful qualities of leadership. Nor can they present any good reason why we should not keep on teaching the children of coming generations to appreciate the debt we owe to him for his services to our country.

Some time ago, Intra-Mural sports were started among the men of our college. Now they are to add a new page to our book of customs with the inauguration next Saturday afternoon of the Men's Indoor Carnival with the Freshmen competing with the Upperclassmen. The silver cup to be presented to the victors for the first time on Saturday is to be handed down to the winning class from year to year.

Helen Bura is teaching fourth grade in Tyrone, and is very busy applying her S. T. C. Methods.

Violet Morris is trying her hand at rural schools. Her "particular" rural is at Blue Knob, Pa.

Shelter Project Is Begun in the Fourth Grade Room

What do you want to know about your ancestors? If it is how they lived, ask any fourth grader.

The pupils have talked about and drawn an Eskimo village, a stone hut or a log cabin. They are going to do the same with all kinds of shelter from that of primitive man to the kind they see every day; from that in Africa to that in Asia; from the log cabin to the mansion.

Each child is making his own booklet. He draws a picture from the discussion in class and then writes the story on the back of the picture.

When all the types have been explained and drawn, each child will design and make a cover for his pictures. This will necessitate the study of book binding and designing.

This project on the development of shelter is being directed by the fourth grade art teachers, Helen Le Baron and Molly Lewis, under the supervision of Miss DuBois.

Kindergarten Has Excursion To Lock Haven Post Office

On Wednesday morning, February 13, the kindergarten made an excursion to the postoffice to learn how valentines are sent. Postmaster Stevenson and Mr. Hall were interested in the little people and graciously showed them many interesting things about the sending of mail.

Us and Others

Sue Bowes was called to her home in Clearfield because of the illness of her mother.

Clarice Cohick spent Saturday and Sunday at her home in Salladasburg.

Among alumni members back for the week-end were Russell Bohn, Rose Bower, and Lillian Smith.

Phyllis Kinkead visited in Tyrone.

Bob Bollinger and Evelyn Bosworth went to their respective homes in Johnstown.

Irene Henry welcomed her parents when they came on Sunday. "Mickey" the dog was entertained by the girls on third floor.

Chrissie Lambert and Peg Smeltzer spent the week-end with the latter's parents in Pleasant Gap.

Bernice Alexander spent Saturday and Sunday at her home in Milesburg.

The Seven Cardinal Objectives of Education

We have daily health rules, we have lists of common resolutions, so why not a schedule of everyday reminders of the things that education stands for? They are important to everyone but most of all to those who are preparing for life work in the field of education.

The following aims of education are taken from a recent issue of the Journal of the National Education Association:

Health and Safety—Set your health standards high and improve your habits daily. Modern life demands reliable strength and energy; a sound mind in a sound body.

Worthy Home Membership—Magnify your home as the center of a life that is happy, useful and unselfish. Home is the soil in which the spirit grows. Give your best.

Mastery of the Tools, Technics, and Spirit of Learning—Know how to observe, to study, to think, to plan, to judge, and to act. The world is run by thinkers and doers.

Vocational and Economic Effectiveness—Find your talents and train them. Spend wisely less than you earn.

Faithful Citizenship—Do something daily to make your school, your community, your state, your country, and your world happier, cleaner, quieter, more beautiful, better governed. Each for all and all for each.

Wise Use of Leisure—Let your daily play be a source of joy and strength, a balance wheel for your work. Cultivate growing things, fresh air, sunshine, and simplicity.

Ethical Character—Search for the highest values and build your life according to the best patterns. Read often the lives of great men and women. Character is king.

Since examinations are for the purpose of deciding what a person knows and not what he does not know, we wish to assist the faculty by presenting for their approval, our idea of an ideal examination:

1. In what year did Patrick Henry discover the United States?
2. Who is "Moonshine"?
3. How many Indians were made free by the Emancipation Proclamation? Did Robert Fulton compose the Proclamation?
4. What month of the year does Mar. 17th come on?
5. What did Columbus have to do with the Lusitania?
6. Was Lindbergh the chief engineer on the Santa Maria?
7. Was Al Smith's Gettysburg Address written by himself?
8. Did General Pershing succeed at the Battle of Waterloo?
9. Who was the wireless operator on the Mayflower?
10. Do you like Edith Wharton's latest book, "Beowulf"?

Work of Educational Measurements Class Worthwhile

During the last semester, each student in Miss Noel's Educational Measurements classes studied two or three children in the Training School and made several charts of their personality and progress. More information will be added to these from time to time until the complete school record of each child will be on hand. These charts are to be filed in the office for the reference of teachers having these children in their classes.

It is hoped that the charts will be found helpful to the teachers. But even though they prove to be inaccurate in some respects, it is generally admitted that learning to study children (which must be done in order to make the charts) is the great objective of the work.

Second Grade of Training School Makes a Doll House

"Look what I brought today for our Doll House. I brought my hand saw and plane."

These and many more such remarks can be heard in the Second Grade of the Training School.

This is what it is all about; the Second Grade is building a Doll's House. In this work the class is divided into three sections.

One unit, under the direction of Miss Phillips, is undertaking the responsibility of making the frame of the house. Out of old orange crates and boxes they are shaping and carpentering a modern house. Twice a week several of the Junior High School boys give them valuable aid and suggestions for the house.

The second unit, working under Miss Alexander, is making the furniture. For this they are using cardboard and are painting it, giving it a realistic touch. Their task is a difficult one for they are very particular about the exact size and proportions of every piece of furniture.

The third unit, with M's Caprio in charge, is making the rugs for the house. Any time you look into the Second Grade Room you can see heads bent over brightly colored rugs, which busy fingers are weaving into mats.

This project of the making of the Doll House is being correlated most successfully with many subjects, especially in language class where the children are writing stories about it. The work is a fine example of the modern project method.

Intra-Mural League Games Are Featured by Upsets

In the Intra-Mural league games played Wednesday evening, there was a tightening of the race so that every team had a chance to reach the top. Both games were well played and hotly contested from start to finish. The first game brought Captain Barr's Cards and what a game it proved to be! The score was tied no fewer than three times—at the half, at the final whistle and at the end of the first extra period. The Dandies finally won out when Captain Johnson came through with a long shot from the center which proved to be the winning counter. The final score was 15-13 in favor of the Dandies.

The second game brought the leaders, the Kozmops, led by Captain Plummer, against the onrushing Champs, led by Captain Bollinger. The Champs, who seem to have reached their stride, won by a score of 25-13 and established themselves in a tie for second place with the Cards.

The games will continue as usual next week.

Excavation for New Training School Building Begun

Excavation for the new Training School building of the Lock Haven Teachers College has been started. Representatives of the John Snyder Company of Altoona and Harrisburg, to whom the contract was awarded, have arrived to begin the work. An inspector's headquarters and sheds for storage purposes have been built. The new Training School will be placed on the plot, west of the Gymnasium, formerly used for a playground. The site is part of the thirty acres purchased by the State and added to the property of Teachers College.
