LHU to open educational center in Clearfield

By Jennifer Mangiarcina
Staff Reporter

The University Council of Trustees has approved a proposal to establish a University educational center in Clearfield Pennsylvania.

According to the proposal adopted at the Thursday, February 16, council meeting, the Clearfield center will offer a variety of lower-division courses in general education areas.

The courses will begin this fall as provided through the University and its partner in the agreement, the Clearfield Educational Foundation, Inc.

The intention of the Clearfield Center is to provide affordable educational

"These are caring people who have demonstrated a strong interest in providing members of Clearfield and surrounding counties, the opportunities of higher education."

Dr. Craig Dean Willis,
University President

opportunities in direct response to the identified needs of the Clearfield community.

According to the resolution between the University and the foundation, new program areas may be established by mutual consent, expanding the courses offered, and allowing students to complete a degree of the University or transfer academic credits to any other accredited college or university.

The Foundation alone will offer scholarship aid in the amount of up to $45,000 a year over the next five years, to students from Clearfield and surrounding counties enrolled at the Center.

Guy A. Graham, President of the foundation, said, "Our experiences with Lock Haven University to date have been nothing but very positive."

"We are deeply appreciative of Lock Haven University's efforts to establish the Clearfield Center."

According to Dr. Ira G. Masemore, dean of the college of education and human services, a group of citizens formed an educational foundation and contacted Dr.

Craig Dean Willis, University President, and requested to discuss the possible establishment of the center, in order to bring educational opportunities to their community.

Willis said, "These are caring people who have demonstrated a strong interest in providing members of Clearfield and surrounding counties, the opportunities of higher education."

Lock Haven University Office of Admissions will begin accepting applications for enrollment within the coming month.

An announcement of the courses to be offered this fall and other details regarding the Clearfield Center will be made as additional information is available, said Willis.

University to offer investment course

By Kate Peplow
Staff Reporter

The University will be offering an investment course, "Successful Money Management."

This course is open to all adult learners and will cost $79.00. This fee includes books and all other materials for the course.

The seminar is designed to give participants a better understanding of financial planning for needs such as anticipated college expenses, retirement, investments, and reducing taxes.

The first session will begin on Tuesday, March 7, and will continue each Tuesday through March 28.

Also, the same four-part seminar will again be offered on April 5, 12, 19, and 26 on consecutive Wednesday evenings.

All classes will be held at 7 p.m. in Robinson 409. Each session will last approximately two hours and thirty minutes.

To pre-register for the "Successful Money Management" seminar, contact the University's Office of Continuing Education by March 2 at 893-2124.

Additional information can be obtained by contacting the instructor for the seminar, Scott A. Weglarz, of Friedrich and Friedrich at (717) 242-2751.

Buerkle to help LHU celebrate Black History Month

By Karla Reuss
Staff Reporter

Dr. Jack V. Buerkle, a professor of sociology at Temple University, will speak on "Classic Jazz--from New Orleans through Swing," as part of Lock Haven University's celebration of Black History Month.

Buerkle will discuss, "critical incidents and personalities" from the history of what he calls America's most unique art-form, jazz.

Buerkle will talk about some of America's jazz greats including Bolden, Armstrong, King Oliver, Duke Ellington, Basie and Ella Fitzgerald.

The event organized by University Instructor Janet Irons.

At Temple, Dr. Buerkle hosts a nationally syndicated jazz radio program, "Jazzencounters."

His forthcoming book, "Jazz Encounters," describes the jazz world from the perspective of a behavioral scientist.

This event is brought to the university through the Pennsylvania Humanities Council's Commonwealth Speakers Program, an affiliate of the National Endowment for the Humanities.

The Black History Month presentation is open to all University faculty, staff members and students, as well as the public.

Dr. Buerkle's address will take place in the Smith Hall Lounge at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday February 28.

Admission is free.

Dessenberger aids fellow members of Kiwanis

By Jeanne M. Ruczhak
Staff Reporter

Dr. Ralph Dessenberger, professor of foundation studies, recently produced a short video tape titled "Catch the Kiwanis Spirit" for the Kiwanis International Convention in San Francisco last August.

The tape shows the Mill Hall Kiwanis interaction with the community and several fundraisers which support their many youth programs.

A highlight of the program was the captioned narrative for the hearing impaired which was undertaken as a research project by Dessenberger during his sabbatical.

Mill Hall Kiwanis has many projects coming up. "Super Bingo", a spring raf fle, their annual outdoor show, and their annual chicken barbeque.

Dessenberger has been a Kiwanian since 1966. He had been a charter member of the Lock Haven High School Key Club in 1946.

He has been with the University since 1965. He and his wife reside in Mill Hall, PA.

Dear Editor:

There is a special group of people on campus that are not often spoken about. They are seen each day doing their job with care and pride. When they are asked to help another, they gladly drop what they are doing and help the other person. This group of people that I am talking about are the custodians of Lock Haven University. At times, they go above and beyond the call of duty to keep our school neat and tidy. We as a student body need to take the time to give these people a word of cheer or encouragement when we see them and let them know that they are appreciated. For they truly are.

Defeat Slippery Rock 84-58...

Lady Eagles to host Cal in playoffs

By Merritt La Porta
Sports Reporter

The Pennsylvania Conference Western Division playoffs come to Lock Haven tonight as the Lady Eagles take on the Lady Vulcans from California for the right to face undefeated Bloomsburg in the semi-finals.

"We're very psyched for this game," said junior scoring leader Maryellen Jaskuta. "Having the home court advantage will be a big help especially if we have a lot of fans show up."

During yesterday's practice the girls looked loose and ready to go. Signs screaming 'Nothing but net' and 'Crush Cali!' were strewn across the court, waiting to offer their moral support to the team tonight.

"Let's get 'em ladies!" shouted senior co-captain Joy Redmon. The girls whistled and clapped their hands in response. The Lady Eagles were ready.

"It's going to be a dogfight against California," said head coach Frank Scarfo. "This is the first time they've made the playoffs, so they're going to come in psyched."

The Lady Eagles got a taste of that California psyche on January 21, when they lost to the Lady Vulcans 64-56 at California.

However, the Lady Eagles finished the regular season 12-1 on home court and defeated California by 12 points, 70-58 at Thomas Field House on February 11.

Yet, this is the playoffs, and many strange and unexpected things happen during playoff time.

Last year the Lady Eagles lost to Indiana University in the playoffs, something that remains fresh in the mind of coach Scarfo.

"IUP stole a final four berth from us last year," he said. "We learned a valuable lesson not to be overconfident at home. We're confident, but not overconfident."

The team goes into the playoffs coming off a road victory over Slippery Rock on Saturday, 84-58.

Jaskuta led the way with 17 points on the night, with Angie Wolfe contributing 14. Lisa Sporer added 12 while grabbing eighth rebounds.

"We did the job," said Scarfo. "We won't be making any changes for the playoff game."

"We're going right at them with the best that we've got," he added.

Jaskuta echoed the thoughts of the team.

"We know we have to win this one to get to Bloomsburg," she said. "After going 1-1 with them in the regular season, we know they're not a scrub team."

At 7:30 p.m. tonight, we will see if the Lady Eagles can 'scrub' up the court with California and advance to the playoffs this weekend at Bloomsburg.

Rematch Saturday night...

Bald Eagles edged by SRU

By Herb Samuels
Sports Reporter

The men's basketball team finished their regular season in second place in the Pennsylvania Conference Western Division after a 78-74 loss Saturday at Slippery Rock.

The Bald Eagles got off to a decent start before Slippery Rock went on a tear in the last 10 minutes of the half.

Before anyone knew it, the Bald Eagles were down at halftime by a score of 44-22. They shot only 25.9 percent from the floor as compared to 48.7 percent for the Rockets.

The Bald Eagles then tried a come back to not only win the game but also the divisional title. They shot an amazing 60 percent in their attempt.

In no time the lead was shaved down to 10 points. In the closing minutes they closed the lead to 70-69.

Slippery Rock didn't quit either as forward Todd Baker hit a three point shot to give them a 75-69 advantage.

The Bald Eagles scored five points to come within one, but the Rockets scored the last three points of the game from the free throw line to ice the victory and third place in the division.

Bald Eagle coach Dave Blank was quoted as saying, "We just couldn't get the ball in the basket in the first half.

"We made a good run at them in the second half but we had so far to come back and we didn't have enough left at the end.

"But, I have give our kids a lot of credit. They showed a lot of class. Down by 22 points on the road, it would be easy to quit especially against a team like Slippery Rock. But we didn't."

Bald Eagle forward Dean Kriebel led the team with 21 points. Guard Truman Greene pumped in 13 while guard Tony Bacon and forward John Jekot scored 12 apiece. Forward Carl Brown lead the Bald Eagles with six rebounds.

The Bald Eagles end the regular season with a 21-5 overall record and an 8-4 record in the division

Shippensburg University finished first in the division and gets a bye in the first round.

Lock Haven however has the task of facing off against the same squad from Slippery Rock this Saturday at the Thomas Field House at 7:30. The winner of that game will advance to the Pennsylvania Conference championships at Millersville on March 10 and 11.
