LOCK HAVEN STATE COLLEGE

Mon. Feb. 9, 1970

Science Inst. Held

A summer institute in earth science for 30 secondary science teachers will be held June 29 through Aug. 7 at Millersville State College.

Those selected will receive a stipend and will pay no tuition. Room and board will be charged those requesting campus housing.

This program, supported by the National Science Foundation, will be planned around two subject areas—sedimentology and coastal oceanography. An oceanography phase concentrating on nearshore environment and a geology phase focusing on the study of sedimentary processes will be conducted concurrently with each paralleling and complementing the other. Six graduate credits will be awarded upon completion of the course.

Instructors Selected

Instructors for the program will be Dr. William Jordan, professor of geology, and Dr. Donald Davis, assistant professor of oceanography. Both classroom studies and field work will be required in both academic phases.

The institute is designed for secondary school teachers of science who have had some background in the subject matter. Preferences in selection will be given to those teachers who have successfully completed course work in physical and historical geology and a course in oceanography, have a working knowledge of mathematics and are teaching earth science in a departmentalized, instructional program.

Application Requests

Requests for application forms should be addressed to William B. McIlwaine, Director, Earth Science Institute, Millersville State College, Millersville, Pa. 17551. Primary consideration will be given to applications received by Feb. 15.

Ak. . Boys Learn Wrestling

Twenty boys, ages 8 to 13, at Lock Haven State College's Akeley School are spending their afternoons learning one of the skills Lock Haven is famous for—wrestling.

The boys are being taught the fundamentals of wrestling for an hour Tues. and Thurs. afternoons by John Bernardo, a student teacher and a member of the LHS wrestling team. Bernardo, who plans to teach and coach after graduation, says that teaching these youngsters is the best preparation he knows of for his future work.

Harry Keeler is director of the Akeley athletic program. "We try to keep it fun so that they learn the fundamentals of this great sport, but we don't plan to compete against other schools," said Keeler.

The boys are grouped into seven weight classes from 50 to 100 pounds. Dieting is not allowed. The boys must wrestle in whatever group they fall into. If they gain weight, they must move up to the next group.

The program is strictly voluntary, and practice time is after regular school hours. Keeler anticipates the program will run for several more weeks, coinciding with the collegiate wrestling schedule.

WHAT? ME WORRY?

To Open Festival

"Collecting folk songs is more than a vocation or avocation to me—it's a way of life," says Alan Lomax, who will open the concert series of the Lock Haven State College Fine Arts Festival on Tuesday, Feb. 10. Lomax will discuss his collecting activities and sing some of his favorite songs in Price Auditorium at 8:15 p. m.

Lomax has recorded over 100 albums which, taken together survey the folk music styles of half the world. He has also compiled 12 books on folk songs, including "Mister Jelly Roll" which he wrote on Guggenheim Fellowship. His Penguin Book of American folk songs appeared in the spring of 1960, and that fall, Doubleday published his singing history of the USA, "The Saga of American Folk Song."

In addition to his present position as director of artistic events for the Sterling Forest Folk Song Festival Foundation in New York, Lomax is now working on a project for the Rockefeller Foundation mapping the folk song families of the world.

From 1933 to 1942, he was engaged with his father in building the Archive of American Folk Song for the Library of Congress. He added some 10,000 recorded songs to the collection, making it the largest of its kind in the world.

With the collaboration of the major European museums, Lomax launched his definitive "World Library of Folk and Primitive Music," the first 17 albums of which have been published by Columbia Records. His personal collections form the basis of national archives in Scotland, England, and Italy.

Lomax's concert is open to the public at no charge.

Music Festival Underway

For the third year Budweiser is leading the way in the Intercollegiate Music Festival's national search for collegiate talent. More than 1300 entries are processed by the festival each year with audition tapes used to select finalists for six regional competitions.

A record number of people will view the 1970 Intercollegiate Music Festival as college music's top pop and folk groups go after national championships.

Audiences at the Budweiser-sponsored event will be treated to the most intense competition ever waged for national titles. More than 1300 entries have been received from students throughout the nation. This tops 1969's record crop of 1,121 entries.

68* Champs Featured

The 1968 Intercollegiate Music Festival national champions, the Burgundy Street Singers from Kansas State University, have been utilized in several television commercials for Budweiser, and the company has produced both a feature film and record album with highlights of the 1969 Intercollegiate Music Festival's national finals.

Collegiate performers have until January 15 to enter the 1970 Intercollegiate Music Festival. On that date judging panels begin reviewing taped entries from across the United States to select finalists for the event's six regional competitions.

Budweiser plays host to the regional winners at the 1970 Intercollegiate Music Festival on August 13-15. Finalists will be flown to Southern Illinois University's Edwardsville campus to compete for national championships. Top professional talent will join the collegiate performers for college music's biggest show.

The first regional competition will be at the University of South Florida Intercollegiate Music Festival in Tampa on February 27-28.

Entry Forms

Entry forms and rules and regulations for the Budweiser-sponsored event may be secured by writing IMF, P.O. Box 1275, Leesburg, Florida, 32748. Entry forms must be returned to the festival along with a tentative audition tape, by mid-January.

The competition at Tampa will be followed by the Villanova University Intercollegiate Music Festival on March 6-7 at Villanova, Pennsylvania; the University of Colorado Intercollegiate Music Festival on March 27-28 in Boulder; the UCLA Intercollegiate Music Festival on April 3-4 in Los Angeles; the Texas Intercollegiate Music Festival on April 10-11 in Austin; and the April 18-19 Southern Illinois University Intercollegiate Music Festival at Edwardsville.

Joseph Baratta, Pam Hockenberry and Andy Kesselak have been elected as editors of the 1971 Centennial yearbook. The election took place at a meeting on Feb. 3 when the Praeco staff organized for the Centennial edition of the yearbook. Work will begin during the next few weeks.

Latin Am. Tour Now Tent

This summer Dr. George Mottet, a professor at Lock Haven State College, and 15 students will make a tour of Latin America. Details of the trip are not yet finalized.

Tentatively the excursion will leave for their Latin American tour at the beginning of second session summer school, mid July. They hope to spend a few days in Columbia, Ecuador, Peru, Chile, Uruguay. Most of their time however, will be spent in Argentina and Brazil. The present cost of the trip is $700 and may hopefully be reduced to approximately $400.

There is still an opportunity to register for this tour. Any interested persons should contact Dr. Mottet in Ulmer Hall.

Diseases of the heart and circulatory system were the greatest single cause of death among Americans in 1965.

Clarion Drops Eagles 22-11

Clarion used its strength in the middle weights and its balance in the lower weights to win the Bald Eagle grapplers, 22-11, Friday evening sending LHS under the .500 mark for the season with a record of 4-5-1.

Clarion opened with a 5-0 decision at 118-pounds by Ross Donahue over Jim Rupp. Donahue used a first period takedown, a third period escape and two points riding time to send the Golden Eagles into a 3-0 lead.

Bill Murdock upped the lead to 8-0 when he came through with the upset of the evening by pinning LHS captain Shane Foley in 2:01 of the third period.

Foley had taken a 3-2 lead into the third period and then escaped putting him in favor 4-2. Murdock then took the LHS grappler down and when attempting a granby roll Murdock caught Foley with a double arm bar and inflicted Foley with his first dual meet loss since his freshman year at LHS.

Larry Rippey put the Bald Eagles on the scoreboard in the next bout when he easily handled Barry Barton, 17-4. Rippey did every thing but pin Barton and registered four takedowns, a reversal, a near fall, a predicament and two points riding time in route to his victory.

LHS came within two points after the next bout at 8-6 when Paul Brodmerkel squeezed by Don Kinsely, 3-1, at 142-pounds. Brodmerkel used a first period takedown and a third period escape to clinch the bout.

Clarion stretched their lead to 20-6 after capturing the next four bouts and clinched the match.

At 150-pounds LHS's Gene Taxis lost a heartbreaker to Mark Dymond, 3-2, on a penalty point for interlocking hands. Taxis used two escapes, one each in the last two periods for his points while Dymond scored all his tallies in the final period on the penalty point and a reversal.

LHS was completely outclassed in the next bout when Les Bressler handled Willy Vokes, 10-3. Bressler used three takedowns, a reversal and two points riding time while Vokes registered two escapes and a penalty point.

The Golden Eagles went in front 17-6 when Santo Ricotta clipped Bill Rhodes, 6-2, at 167-pounds. Ricotta held a slim 3-2 edge going into the third period but gained a final period escape and two points riding time for the win.

Clarion clinched the match in the 177-pound class when Henry Shaffer whipped freshman Joe Cassera, 9-0. Shaffer used two takedowns, two penalty points, an escape and two points riding time to clip the LHS freshman who was wrestling in his first match.

Even though the match was now out of reach, LHS did get some satisfaction in the next bout when Hank Hawkins used three third period points to nip previously undefeated Jack Riegel, 3-1.

Riegel had taken a 1-0 lead in the second period with an escape but Hawkins quickly knotted the score in the third period with an escape. Hawkins then recorded a takedown and after Riegel escaped both grapplers battled each other off to the period's end giving Hawkins his 3-2 upset.

In the heavyweight bout LHS's Scott Brooks and Gary Holsopple each recorded an escape and battled each other on their feet for a 1-1 draw making the final match score, 22-11.

Commenting on his team's loss LHS Coach Gray Simons stated, "We were pretty well 'up' tonight, then Mike got decked and that reall court us. We had planned on winning that, and thought we could win at 150. The little things hurt us, like Taxis locking hands. That really put the pressure on him to ride."

"Paul did an excellent job," praised Simons. "Kinsely is a tough wrestler and Hawkins did a good job too."
