Voter registration to be held in BHL

Today from 10 am to 7 pm a special voter registration drive will be held in Bentley Hall Lounge. This is a program jointly sponsored by the Commonwealth Association of Students (CAS) and the Association of State College and University Faculty (APSCUF). The service is being provided by the Clinton County Voter Registration Office.

All previous experiences with registration drives on this campus have been discouraging and only a small percentage of the unregistered voters on campus have ever been registered. To combat this apparent apathy there is a new twist to this year's registration. The idea originated at Bloomsburg, where they sponsored a registration drive and gave a free t-shirt to every student who registered. The idea caught on and attracted a lot of new voters there.

This same technique is now going to be tried here at Lock Haven with another new innovation. For every new or changed registration the student will receive a free t-shirt on a first come first serve basis until the 250 shirts are gone. The added innovation concerns tonight's dance. There will be a dance held tonight in Bentley Hall Lounge featuring Kelakos. Admission will be 50 cents with a validated ID and $1.25 without a validated ID. As an extra incentive to register though, the cost will only be 25 cents for anyone with a Voter Registration Card.

According to Paul Benkert CAS coordinator, "There have been quite a few misconceptions by students about what being registered here on campus means. Quite a few students believe this means they will be changing their home address or that they will be subject to local taxes. This

Lock Haven Students invited to teach abroad

By JIM DORAN
Staff Reporter

Dr. Donald Fostvedt, Director of Student Teaching in Foreign countries, yesterday released the names of 17 Lock Haven State College students that have been invited to student teach in three American schools abroad.

According to Fostvedt, a student wishing to apply to student teach abroad must first be accepted by the Student Evaluation Committee for Student Teaching, and then the names are passed on to the institutions requested by the students for final approval.

Fostvedt commented that even though the program has officially been closed, it may still be possible to be accepted for a position overseas.

"There is still a chance," noted Fostvedt, "That one could be accepted but recommendations are needed from the student's advisor, from someone who knows the student socially, and from someone who can supply an academic recommendation."

The three schools that are applicant will be determined in time for the beginning of the program.

Students will also be required to sign an interest sheet in the Financial Aid Office.

The summer work-study program is financed by Lock Haven State. The Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Agency (PHEAA) is responsible for placing the students in jobs near their homes and related to their academic and professional interests, according to Van

Letters to the Editor

Akeley voices her opinions

To the Editor:
Dear "Staff Bulshiter,"

Apparently you are not the only reader who believes that I deliberately "crucified Kim Coon" and the recent College Players' production. Let me reiterate a few ideas from my review:

1. "The Night Thoreau Spent in Jail" was a powerful production. Nearly every element of the play, from acting to set design, worked toward this effect. I did not "enjoy" the show because of this; in fact, the combination of a strong presentation and the philosophies of Henry David Thoreau disturbed me

Review is the opinion of one

To the Editor:

I find that I am unable to allow to pass unremarked either the critical appearance in your pages of Ms. Wendy Akeley or the rather strong attack on her criticism.

First, as a long time critic of the theatre myself, I welcome Ms. Akeley's enrollment in our ranks. As the response to her initial effort would indicate, it is not an easy thing to be a critic. One is frequently misunderstood; and too often otherwise intelligent people totally fail to grasp the function and role of the critic.

I can write here with a reasonable degree of objectivity. Due to circumstances beyond my control, I was unable to see the play in question; I have read it however. I could find nothing terribly wrong with the review; it was a good effort. I thought it was very carefully written and indicated a most touching determination to be exact and reasonable in detailing the various points.

What Mr. Kim Gazabat seems to have never grasped is the point that any review is exactly one person's opinion. That one articulate person is simply providing a single perspective on the given work of art. Anyone then reading that review may agree with it deeply and continues to do so. To me, this proves it was an excellent production.

2. The pacing of the first act was slow. Regardless of whether or not this was the fault of the script or the audience, and I do not believe it was either, it detracted from the atmosphere that the actors tried to establish for the viewers.

3. Kim Coon gave a strong performance as Henry David Thoreau. I think this campus has come to expect a lot from him in a production, and I am sure they were not disappointed in this one; he handled his role with intensity and dignity. True, I did not agree with his delivery of some of Thoreau's lines. You need not take such criticism personally, however, as I doubt anyone could possibly confuse you with a talent like Kim

Article needs clarification

To the Editor:

Your issue of March 5, 1976, Friday, contained an article on abortion and the program of Concerned Citizens for Human Life. Several points in this article require clarification. My comments refer only to the article as printed, as I did not attend the presentation on Monday, March 1.

1. Who are Mr. & Mrs. Thomas? They are not my wife and myself.

2. Some authorities have cited figures which suggest that the incidence of maternal death in childbirth is greater than the incidence of death of abortion patients.

3. The article quoted a speaker as claiming that 9.6% of the subjects of abortions were there after sterile. This seems very doubtful. The primary cause of sterility after abortion is infection. This was common with illegal abortions.

Under medically supervised abortions, such complications have been reduced to less than four in one thousand.

Greeks Speak

This week's "Greeks Speak" concludes the Lock Haven fraternity profile series with Lambda Chi Alpha. Lambda Chi started in Boston on March 22, 1913 and on Sept. 1, 1939 it merged with Theta Kappa Nu. Today, Lambda Chi has approximately 229 chapters including several in Canada, making it one of the few international fraternities.

Lambda Chi became the 181st national fraternity when it was founded here at Lock Haven on March 22, 1913. The forty active members, from their headquarters at 100 Main Street, host various activities such as the Olympics and Aqua capers. This past weekend the members of Lambda Chi raised $226 for the Heart Fund in their annual "bounce-a-thon." This year the bouncing continued for 52 continuous hours.

March 22 is slated to be the date of the "Founder's Day" banquet, and the "White Rose" fraternity weekend will be held at Oregon Hill Ski Resort. Guiding the brothers of Lambda Chi Alpha for the past year are President Randy Stover, Vice-President Charlie Andrews, Secretary Charlie Zarnitz and Treasurer Ron Dewitt. This year also, the president of the Interfraternity Council is Lambda Chi brother, Marc Bridgens.

4. Among other risks, the speaker said that abortion is second only to heart transplants in medical risk. This is a gross misrepresentation. Most abortions are day operations of a type easily done in a clinic, requiring a few hours medical supervision, not extensive hospitalization. This statement smacks of the shoddiest scare tactics.

5. For my one specific statistic, there is a source listed. I spent some time examining what information on abortion was easily accessible to me. I am not satisfied that there is any valid and reliable statistical basis for precise and certain statements on abortion. Its legality is recent, methodology various, and persons involved could have various motives for imperfect reporting.

Though I support its legality, I do not claim that abortion is good. It is a desperate necessity. I can accept those groups who present alternatives to abortion. But these alternatives cannot

Thomas informed of Hotline

To the Editor:

Dear Ms. Thomas,

I am writing in regard to the "New group to aid women" article in the March 5, 1976 issue of the Eagle Eye. In this article you stated "one of the purposes of the group will be a place that women can go to talk to someone who has empathy with the way a woman feels... women want to talk and on this campus there is no place to go."

If you attempted to be as informed about campus organizations as you do about the need of women you would know of the campus Hotline "Receiving". This organization deals both empathetically and objectively with students problems - both Male and Female. This organization also has information concerning "anything that is of special interest to women" and men on campus.

Most importantly Ms. Thomas, there is an organization students can contact. This organization is made up of a trained staff who care to

Four Haven wrestlers in the NCAA finals

By GARY BRUBAKER
Staff Reporter

Long, tiring practice sessions, hours and hours of conditioning and the desire to win—that's what makes a national champion. Years of hard work and training will pay off for ten wrestlers this week, as the NCAA Division I wrestling finals begin at the University of Arizona in Tucson, tomorrow afternoon.

For four Lock Haven wrestlers: Tom Parker, Mike Moore, George Way, and Jim Schuster, a trip to the nationals is a realization. The four, qualifying 11 days ago at the Eastern Wrestling League finals held at Penn State, left for Tucson earlier Tuesday morning. Head coach Dr. Ken Cox and student assistant coach, Dave Crowell accompanied the wrestlers on the cross-country trip.

For Way and Schuster, this will be trip number two. Both wrestlers made the trip to Princeton last year but failed to place.

Approximately 32 wrestlers in each weight class will be going for the coveted title of "Best in the Nation" at his respective weight in the three-day tournament.

First round action is set for Thursday afternoon. Round number two begins Thursday evening with quarter-final action set for Friday afternoon. The semi-finals Friday night will determine Saturday night's finalists with the consolation finals set for Saturday afternoon.

Lock Haven's last NCAA place-finisher was Larry Rippey, in 1971, when he garnered a 4th place finish at 134 pounds in Auburn, Alabama.

The Bald Eagles have had five individual national champions, capturing a total of seven national titles.

Gus DeGustino was Lock Haven's first national champion, winning the 137 pound title in 1953. DeAugustino is one of the top high school coaches in the nation, currently head mat mentor at North Allegheny High School.

Lock Haven's greatest all-time wrestler Gray Simons, captured NCAA titles in 1960, 1961, and 1962 at 115 pounds. He compiled a brilliant 91-2 career record at LHS, and was voted the outstanding wrestler at the '61 and '62 tournaments. Simons is presently head coach at the University of Tennessee.

In 1966, Fred Powell became Lock Haven's third national champion, winning the 123 pound title. Powell, presently head coach at Slippery Rock State College, also finished fourth in the 1963 NCAA's.

In 1966, Bill Blacksmith became Lock Haven's fourth titlist approximately 20 minutes after Powell's finale. Blacksmith is presently head wrestling coach at Indiana University of Pennsylvania.

Ken Melchoir was Lock Haven's last national champion in 1968. The former Lock Haven wrestler won his NCAA title at 115 pounds.

Powell and Simon will both be going to Arizona because each has wrestlers competing in this year's nationals.

On the other hand, Blacksmith will be at Edinboro, Pa., where his qualifying wrestlers will be competing in the NAIA finals, also to be held this Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

Other NCAA place finishers over the past 35 years for the Bald Eagles 1948: Steve DeAugustino was fourth at 121 pounds. That same year, Tony Verga placed third at 145 pounds for Lock Haven.

In 1958, Joe Hammaker finished fourth at 137 pounds with Ralph Clark garnering a third place finish at 147 pounds, in 1960.

Lock Haven's Swope finished third at the '64 and '65 NCAA tournaments, and the following year took fifth. Swope wrestled all three years at 177 pounds.

Also Benkert pointed out that if students are registered at home and wish to change their registration to Lock Haven, they may do so but they should inform the registrar. This is so he or she may fill out the necessary forms to cancel their registration at home.

Benkert urged students to change their registration to Lock Haven if they are registered at home. By this the campus as a whole can make its political voice known.

I would encourage Ms. Akeley. I sincerely hope that future issues of the Eagle Eye will carry her criticism. I can assure her that outraged letters to the editor are perhaps the mildest of the forms of retaliation that a critic is subjected to. Ms. Akeley is truly fortunate in her present forum; it is highly unlikely that "outside forces" will deprive her of a place to express her opinions.
