$75 Tuition Increase Approved For LHSC

LOCK HAVEN--An increase of $75 per semester in the basic fee for full-time undergraduate students at Lock Haven State College has been announced by the Pennsylvania Department of Education, to take effect at the beginning of the 1980 fall semester.

The college was recently informed of the $150 a year increase by State Secretary of Education, Robert G. Scanlon.

The basic fee will increase from the current total of $475 per semester to $550 a semester, bringing the new basic fee rate to $1,100 for the 1980-81 academic year.

The $75 per semester increase also applies to students who are not residents of Pennsylvania, with the total for non-residents going from the current rate of $890 per semester to $965 per semester, or a total of $1,930 per year beginning next September.

The fee for students taking less than 12 credit hours a semester will go from the current rate of $39 per credit hour to $46. Full-time students taking more than 18 credit hours will be required to pay the basic fee, plus $46 for each extra credit hour.

The charge for non-residents will go from $71 per credit hour to $81 for part-time students and for those taking more than 18 credit hours per semester.

Graduate students at other Pennsylvania state colleges will also have to pay a $75 per semester increase in the basic fee, from $475 to $550. Part-time graduate students will have to pay $62 per credit hour.

(U.P.I.) A group of scientists are meeting in Washington to set priorities on future radiation research. Dr. Arthur Upton, Chairman of Environmental Health at New York University, said that little is known about the effects of low-level radiation on humans. Upton said that most scientists have abandoned the theory there is a threshold level of radiation exposure below which radiation causes no harm. He said most information comes from studies of people exposed to large doses of radiation such as the Japanese atomic bomb survivors.

(U.P.I.) Tass, the Russian news agency, said today that Soviet specialists are helping to build a large power station near the city of Isfahan, Iran, which has officially denounced the presence of soviet troops in Afghanistan, seems willing to accept any help it can get from the Kremlin.

(U.P.I.) (New York) The city of New York approved a 720 thousand dollar appropriation to buy 10 thousand bullet-proof vests for its policemen. Mayor Edward Koch insisted on getting the vests after a Transit Authority Patrolman was slain while trying to stop a turnstile jumper. Four policeman have been killed since January.

(U.P.I.) (Deer Lake) Muhammad Ali says he "will shock the world" by getting his 38 year old body in shape to defeat John Tate for the W-B-A Heavyweight title. Ali has reportedly agreed to fight Tate in Taiwan with the two fighters splitting 14 million dollars.

SCC President Getz Speaks At Recent Press Conference

By MARCY WALSH

"SCC President is not a popular job." Gerald Getz, SCC President, said at a press conference held recently.

As president of the SCC, Getz oversees committee functions, is a voting member on the finance committee, and basically sees that the SCC is in fine running order at all times.

Getz said he has always been interested in student government, but since he was a full time student and employee, he never really had a lot of time to get involved. Then when he saw that only one slate was running, he went around, talked to few people and developed a slate of his own. He felt they had better issues and they had more appeal because they had a better cross-section of people. Getz also stated that he felt he may have had more appeal to the students because he was a Greek. Getz is a member of the Phi Mu Delta fraternity.

One of the issues discussed was the possible rise in the student's activity fee. Getz stated that they are trying to cut services in other areas so the fee wouldn't have to be raised. "What I would do is take money out of the executive budget by cutting out some trips and conferences." Right now it is uncertain whether the fee will be raised.

Another issue discussed was how the SCC money is allocated. Presently the SCC oversees all coffeehouses, concerts, films, sports, plays, intramurals, clubs, cultural affairs, and guest speakers. Getz stated that a percentage of all funds is allocated to each of these organizations and activities as they see fit.

Getz feels that he has brought about many changes since he became SCC president. One of the SCC's biggest accomplishments was the arrangement of the Beatmania concert. "I worked day and night on that concert for months, and I feel it was one of the best run concerts we have ever had," Getz said. Three thousand dollars was raised from the concert. Getz stated that it was the first concert to make money that LHSC has ever had.

As president, Getz has available to him $900 to be used for trips and continued on page 3

During the S.C.C. meeting of March 5, 1980 the senate voted unanimously to discontinue the publishing of the college yearbook, Praeco, for the 1980 year. This request came from Student Publication's General Manager and Advisor, Kim Pettingill.

According to Gerald Getz, S.C.C. president, Pettingill had no other choice. She and one staff member made up the entire yearbook staff and it would be impossible for two people to put out a yearbook.

The decision was made by the S.C.C. because there is no publications board.

Although there were others on the staff, they have either lost interest or are unable to make the meetings.

The major problem with the yearbook is lack of student interest. Only 99 people signed up to receive them. This did not leave publications with a very large amount of money to work with.

There is another alternative however. One possibility is a senior index. Although nothing is definite, this would include senior portraits and senior activities.

Underclassmen would be able to purchase them also. The decision to have such an index is still pending. An announcement will be made as soon as a decision is made.

In Response

When asked how they feel about there not being a yearbook, some seniors were very negative.

Nancy Davis: "A yearbook is important to people, I would even be willing to pay for it."

Gerald Getz: "I would like to see it stay."

Joannie Hanna: "That's really terrible. They always had one before. It makes me mad."

Jay Supko: "I think it's a shame to lose all those college memories that would be preserved in a yearbook."

Whatever the outcome of this will be is not as yet known. Of all the opinions expressed, the last sums it up the best, it's a shame.

Blood Analysis Set For March 15 At Hospital

LOCK HAVEN--The sixth Multiphasic Blood Analysis Program (MBAP) gets underway Saturday (March 15) from 7am to 9am at Lock Haven Hospital, Fourth and Nelson Streets, and will be conducted again March 22 at the same time.

To date, over 2,100 residents have participated in the morning programs, many on an annual basis.

MBAP has become recognized by over 200 doctors throughout New York, Pennsylvania and West Virginia as a major step in preventive health care. By monitoring at regular intervals the various functions and organ systems of the body through the study of blood composition, the physician can often predict disease conditions of the heart, kidneys, liver, pancreas, circulatory system or other vital areas of the body before they become acute. Interpretation of the blood screening results should be accompanied by a yearly physical examination.

According to Mr. Charles Meeks, chairman of the sponsoring Lock Haven Rotary, participating is by appointment only and may be made by calling toll free: 1-800-828-2920 weekdays between 9am and 5pm.

There will be a listing at the hospital of all 32 tests performed on the two small blood samples taken from each participant. All results are mailed directly to the individual's personal physician.

The $15 fee is paid to MDS Laboratories of Olean, NY, for analysis, reporting and maintenance of a permanent test data file. Receipts will be issued so that participants can submit them to insurance companies, state, federal or medical assistance programs, if coverage, as indicated in the policies, is available.

Fasting 12-15 hours prior to testing is required; however, two small glasses of water may be consumed during the fast. Free coffee, doughnuts and fruit juice will be served at the hospital.

"The Fantasticks"- the longest running musical in the world is being performed by the College Players this week- Thursday through Saturday night.

This year is the 20th anniversary for the show. The College players are producing a musical for the first time since 1974.

Barb Loza, a freshman majoring in music and theater, portrays a young girl in love for the first time as Luisa. She has a strong music background and works well as an actress.

The young boy in love with Luisa is Chris Foster as Matt. Foster, a high school student that takes credits here at LHSC, does a fine job at acting and is a strong vocalist.

Chip Mincemoyer is the villain who also acts as a narrator, that tries to bring the young lovers together. He is majoring in music and is a very strong character in the production.

Joe Ritchey and Chet Carbaugh play the two meddling fathers of Matt and Luisa. Ritchey is not new to the LHSC stage and does his usual fine job as an actor.

Carbaugh is new to acting but not to music and he is a fine singer that is trying his hand at acting.

Jan English is new to LHSC but not to the stage. She plays the part of an old actress, hired by the two fathers, to abduct young Luisa. English does a good characterization of an old actress trying to prove she's still good.

Mike Fix and Cathy George may not have lines to speak or music to sing, but they are two great actors in the musical.

John Gordon, a theater professor, and Betty Brendel are directing this production of "The Fantasticks" with Bobi Hegarty as stage manager.

Tickets for students are free with a valid ID from the PUB Secretary.

Admission is $2.50 for general public.

Curtain goes up in Sloan Theater at 8:00 pm on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday evenings.

A Planetarium Star Show featuring "The Life of Dr. Albert Einstein" and "His Scientific Contributions" will be held in Ulmer Planetarium on the following days:

March 13- 7:30 pm and 9:00 pm
March 16- 2:00 pm and 3:30 pm

There is no admission charge. Seating is limited to 50 persons per show, on a first-come, first-seated basis. No one will be admitted after a show has begun. All shows run an hour in length.

Coffeehouse

Legendary British rock group, The Rolling Stones, have cut a new album which will be released in April.

The group recorded over forty-six tracks over the past six months. They are cutting that number down to an album's worth of songs.

Another famous British rock group, The Who, is scheduled to start recording their first album for Warner Bros.

The Who's lead guitarist, Peter Townshend, has cut a solo album which is due to be released in late March. Also the Who's lead singer, Roger Daltrey, has made a movie about a noted English criminal. Daltrey sings all new material on the sound track, and members of The Who provide backup.

The Who is also planning their next U.S. tour. The group will begin with a series of West Coast dates which are set to begin in April, with an East Coast swing to follow in the summer.

In Seattle, Folk Rock singer Bob Dylan failed to sell out any of his concerts there. On opening night about a third of the audience walked out before Dylan even did an encore.

Paul McCartney has vowed to never smoke marijuana again after he was arrested in Japan for possessing over 220 grams of pot.

Letter

Letter to the Editor,

In a recent issue the Eagle Eye carried a news article promoting the Children's Carnival held on the Lock Haven State College campus on Sunday, March 2. The American Association of University Women (AAUW), the spearhead organization of the community's week-long Children's Festival, was referred to as a "Community Woman's Club."

This is not the image AAUW prefers to portray. Instead, AAUW is a national educationally-oriented organization that promotes scholarship for those who aspire to advanced degrees. They boast 190,000 members with four major areas of interest: Education, Culture, Community, and International Relations. From these areas of concern, two-year study topics are developed.

Currently these topics include "Families Facing Change" and "Managing Resources for Tomorrow." Through these timely studies, AAUW influences legislation on the national, state, and local levels.

Lock Haven State College is a corporatemember of AAUW and encourages its women graduates to continue their professional educational concerns through membership in AAUW.

In 1982 AAUW will celebrate its 100th anniversary with the achievement of a Centennial goal of ten million dollars which supports many grant and scholarship opportunities for women.

May M. Ireland, LHSC Corporate Representative

Letter

To the Editor:

I feel the need to comment on the letter published Feb. 29. The "commies" are not going to land in California or New York. It just won't happen. Comparing the Soviet Union to Hitler's regime is grossly unjust, and an insult to the Soviet people. It is our attitude towards the Soviet Union that causes the problems we have with them. We insist on treating the Soviet Union like a little boy who just got caught with his hand in the cookie jar.

The United States is a great country but so is the Soviet Union. Socialism is not a disease but a form of government just like Democracy is a form of government. I do not advocate communism but I cannot condone the countries who choose this form of government. I believe if we were to treat the Soviets with the same respect we ourselves expect, both countries would gain immeasurably in the goals all nations strive for: economic prosperity and peace.

This country is based on "Freedom for all" in America. It is not possible to have complete personal freedom everywhere in the world. Everyone can't be just like us. Over-crowded, un-educated people could not survive in a free-enterprise system. Developing countries trying to industrialize are often forced to restrict personal freedoms for the good of the country. Russia is one such country, since the end of the Cold War they have made great leaps in the granting of personal freedoms. By resuming the Cold War both the American people and the Soviet people stand to lose. All we can hope to achieve is the isolation of the Soviet Union. This will curtail the flow of western ideas into the Soviet Union making peaceful co-existence between the two countries the impossible dream.

Unless the United States is directly attacked I do not believe we should ever have a war. I like to think of myself as a realist facing a horde of nuts. The nuts sit around and tell each other how to win nuclear wars, the realist sits outside the group and calls them assholes. Thank-you for your time
Harry P. Cramer Jr.

Greek News

Sigma Kappa Sorority

By Kim Smith & Ginny Roth
College and town community services are two strong dimensions of Sigma Kappa programmings.

The Maine Sea Coast Mission and the American Farm school in Salonica, Greece are two of the national philanthropies supported by each Sigma Kappa college chapter. In addition to money, the Delta Pi chapter here at L.H.S.C. sends care packages of toys and clothing to the Sea Coast Mission around Christmas.

Another side of their commitment as a national organization sees Sigma Kappa actively involved in Gerontology, which is care of the aged. Locally this year Sigma Kappa has visited shut-ins in co-operation with downtown churches. In addition to singing at the Susqueview nursing home regularly. The sorority has sponsored a Halloween candy corn bingo party and their pledges have organized a St. Patrick's Day celebration to be held next week at the home. The Kappas also support the Bi-County Office of the Aging, initiating an annual Penny-a-thon for their benefit this past November. The $114 in pennies raised during the downtown activity was matched nine times by a federal agency. The Bi-County organization netted over $1000.

On campus, the sorority organized last semester several Bizarre Holiday celebrations. National Popcorn Week, Pickled Pepper Week, and National Hello Day were among the most popular. The holidays were publicized by articles in the college newspaper and signs posted on campus. The main motivation for sponsoring the Bizarre Holiday activities was to give the college community something off-beat to become involved in, speeding up the lengthy fall semester.

The sisterhood also assisted Phi Mu Delta fraternity in offering a Halloween Party for the children of Head Start. Games, treats, and a haunted house captivated the youngsters for the full evening.

In the near future, the sorority hopes to make available to the college community organ donor cards as a public service.

More information on this activity or any community commitment by Sigma Kappa may be obtained by calling 893-3661 or 748-3452.

ferences. He stated that it was not like a regular expense account. Every penny he spends must be put down on paper. A voucher is signed and then it goes to the treasurer for his or her signature. If a large amount of money is being spent, then it must be approved by the finance committee and the Senate.

When asked about his involvement with campus publications, Getz stated that the Eagle Eye is very important to the SCC. "It's like a bi-weekly relationship between myself and the students." Getz said that an advisory board for the Eagle Eye is being organized.

Getz feels he is doing a very honest job as president. Any decision he makes is approved by the executive board. "I don't have the guts to make decisions under the table without bringing them to the attention of the students." Getz said he would love for any student to come down to his office any time and talk about campus issues. So far not many have done this. He is always interested in constructive criticism.

SCC Recognizes New Organization On Campus

The Lock Haven State College SCC has recently approved a new organization on campus effective February 26, 1980. This club, which is directly affiliated with the Department of Military Science, is called the Lock Haven State College ROTC Ranger Detachment. Membership is open to only those students who are currently enrolled in one of the military science courses. The group participates in outdoor oriented activities; however, they receive prior instruction in areas associated with these activities in preparation for the outdoor criteria. This training includes first aid, swimming and water crossing techniques, mountaineering techniques including rappelling, climbing, etc., survival techniques, land navigation and land and water navigation.

The club has elected from its current enrollment of twenty-one (21) members, the following executive staff: Keith Dixon, John Yonkin, Mary Ann Hinchley, Robert Ross, Randel Cole, and Lisa Mohrvinkle. The administrative advisor is SSE John Harvey.

government agency in Harrisburg, Pa., non-profit organizations, legislative offices and state-related associations. Applications for LEIP must be turned in before March 21.

There are two federal programs available--Federal Cooperative Education Program and Federal Summer Intern Program. The first places students with federal agencies in Washington, D.C. This is offered during fall and spring semesters and is limited to qualified majors. The latter program employs outstanding college students as interns in governmental agencies, usually in Washington, D.C. As implied, this program is available only during the summer and only to qualified students.

REAL, Relating Experience to Academic Learning is a cooperative program of the Pennsylvania Department of Higher Education and the Pennsylvania Higher Education Agency. It gives students who qualify for work-study funds placement in a state, federal or non-profit agency.

Also available is the Legislative Internship Program. Here, outstanding students are employed as legislative interns in the Washington, D.C. offices of elected representatives and senators. This is a brand new program for qualified majors.

The Cooperative Institutional Internship Program is a program involving Selinsgrove Center and eight institutions of higher education, including Lock Haven State. It provides on-the-job experience for interns in areas such as occupational therapy, psychology, social services and special education for the severely and profoundly retarded. These internships are arranged throughout the year for qualified majors.

Individual arrangements for other internships may be initiated through your academic department chairman or adviser.

For further information regarding internships programs, contact Dr. Harvey N. Sterns in the Field Experience Office in Sullivan Hall.

Maetozo Serves On National Cabinet

Dr. Matthew G. Maetozo, Dean, School of Health, Physical Education and Recreation at L.H.S.C. was recently elected to a three year term of the Executive Cabinet of the National Association of Sport and Physical Education. It is the only national organization involved with both physical education and sport on the elementary and secondary school levels and in institutions of higher learning in the United States.

The nine men and women will supervise and coordinate the work of eighteen councils and academies in conjunction with a staff of five, having offices in Washington, D.C. The various councils and academies also represent college and university administrators, secondary school athletic directors, national intramural sports and specialists in the following areas of physical education and sport: adapted, curriculum, exercise physiology, history, kinesiology, motor development, sociology, philosophy, psychology and sport art.

The 30,000 member organization is responsible for an annual national convention of up-to-date information, instruction and materials for teachers and coaches. It also sponsors mini-conferences through district liaisons in various areas of the U.S.

Friends of Lock Haven State Hold Telethon

By SUE MAYERS

A telethon was held last week to raise money for the Friends of Lock Haven State College. At the telethon, alumni from all over the country were called and asked if they would make a donation.

The Friends of Lock Haven is a non-profit organization which is set up to supply the college with money that the state cannot.

Ginny Roth was in charge of the telethon. She has a student internship in the alumni office. Also helping with the telethon were Mrs. Nadine Stukel, the Alumni Co-ordinator, Patti Lechmanich, the Assistant Director of Administrations, and sororities from the campus.

During the telethon 1,000 alumni were called. Over 300 alumni gave a definite pledge.

Pledges of an indefinite amount was given by 400 alumni. The average donation was $8.00/person. Roth said that the goal of the telethon was to get more people to pledge in the future. Roth said she was very pleased by the great job the sororities did.

Spring training has begun for major league baseball and the start of the regular season could be thrown a curve. The working agreement between the owners and the players must be renegotiated and the players have threatened the owners with a strike if certain demands are not met.

This weekend featured some excellent college basketball in the race for the top spot. UCLA pulled off the biggest upset so far as they defeated top ranked DePaul by a 77-71 score.

The next round features some interesting matchups. The biggest games are Georgetown-Maryland, Kentucky-Duke, Purdue-Indiana, and UCLA vs. Ohio St. I see Syracuse and Duke as the two favorites to reach the finals with Maryland and Purdue as the possible Cinderella teams.

Last week we considered the Rookie of the Year in the NBA, this week let's toss around some names as a possible MVP. High on anybody's list would have to be Kareem Abdul Jabbar. He usually makes the Lakers click and right now they are at the top of their division. Some others that will receive some many deserved votes are Larry Bird of Boston, Julius Erving of the 76ers, Adrian Dantley of Utah, and Moses Malone of Houston.

Four members of this years Lock Haven football team traveled up to Buffalo this past weekend for a free-agent tryout camp. The group included quarterback Dan Spittal, offensive guard John White, center John Wolgamot, and defensive end Jim Dressler. They all participated in different agility drills, strength and speed drills. They were waiting to find out their results last Monday night.

Special recognition goes to Lambda Chi as they were able to answer last weeks trivia question. Who is the only pitcher to win a Rookie of the Year Award and later on in his career win a Cy Young Award, but he has never won an MVP award? The correct answer is Tom Seaver.

The week's question is: What pitcher has won 19 games in one season more times than any other pitcher?

Next week the Eagle Eye will present our preview of the upcoming spring sports,

Boxing Tournament To Be Held At Lehigh

BETHLEHEM, PA.—Nearly 20 colleges and universities are expected to participate in the annual Eastern Collegiate Boxing Tournament which Lehigh will host Thursday, March 13, through Sunday, March 16.

The four-day event, sponsored by the University's Interfraternity Council, will benefit Bethlehem's South East Neighborhood Center, a facility serving residents of a public housing project, and the Bethlehem Boxing Club, a youth program on the city's South Side.

Lehigh the defending champion, will enter a full slate for the 11 weight divisions as will Penn State, last year's runner-up. Syracuse, West Chester, Dickinson, Penn, Lock Haven State, Brown and the U.S. Naval Academy are also planning to send top-strength teams.

Other colleges represented will be St. Francis of Loretto, Pa., Shippensburg State, Temple, Villanova, Delaware, Trenton State, Central Connecticut, Connecticut and Western Massachusetts. The University of Toronto also will have boxers in the tournament.

Preliminary bouts will be held Thursday and Friday, March 13 and 14, at 7:30pm, semi-finals on Saturday, March 15, at 7:30pm, and finals on Sunday afternoon, March 16, at 3:30pm.

General admission to the preliminaries will be $1 and to all other sessions $2. Students and children under the age of 12 will be admitted at all times for $1. Ringside seats for the finals will be $5.

Injuries And Care

By SUZANNE POWELSTOCK

Ice First-Heat Second The injury-

Most types of injuries occurring result in some sort of pathological changes in tissue. The most common include strains, sprains and contusions, and their damage may include tendons, ligaments, nerves, capillaries and blood vessels. The result of the trauma to the area is internal hemorrhaging and after a period of time, depending upon the severity of the injury, the blood clots forming a mass which is called a hematoma. At the same time, the blood fluids that are released collect within the spaces around the tissues and water is drawn from the blood vessels resulting in edema or better known as swelling. This process of edema formation may take place for up to 24-72 hours following the injury.

Treatment

The initial treatment for these injuries is I.C.E. (ice, compression, elevation). Ice should be applied immediately after the injury has occurred and should be continued for 20 minute periods until swelling has subsided and the injured area is no longer giving off heat. Ice at this stage will aid in decreasing pain, and muscle spasm, and should be accompanied by a compression bandage and elevation of the injured area. Ice will decrease the total amount of damage and minimize the effects of the injury if used immediately for the proper duration.

Healing-

Healing and repair will begin when enough of the hematoma and swelling has been removed in order to permit new tissue growth. In order for this to occur, oxygen must be brought to the site through the blood vessel and capillary networks. The use of heat at this stage is beneficial in increasing blood flow to the area, thus increasing amounts of oxygen and nutrients to the area. Thus heat will promote healing by speeding up normal body processes working during tissue repair.

Precautions-

1. Do not place ice directly on the skin for prolonged periods of time. Use a towel between skin and ice or frostbite can occur.

2. Be sure swelling has subsided before switching to heat of you will increase swelling and may cause further damage.

3. When using heat, be sure that it is not too hot. It may burn the skin.
