

Advising Fair to help LHU students with undeclared majors

By Jennifer Pepper
Staff Reporter

Students with undeclared majors can ask whatever questions they may have about any field of study at Lock Haven University, during the second Advising Fair tomorrow night.

Faculty and department chairpersons will meet with students in Ulmer Planetarium from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Wednesday evening.

"It's primarily for undeclared majors, but anybody that may have a question about a major or would like to learn about some other major has an opportunity to go," said Dr. William A. Sadler, Jr., dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

The College of Arts and Sciences held the first and similar Advising Fair last fall.

Tomorrow's Fair, however, will be the first to include representatives of the College of Education and Human Services as well.

Sadler said that the fair will begin with a general session, and will then students will divide into small groups of different majors. Students may move from group to group if they wish, he explained.

He added that materials about various majors will be available at the fair.

"Advising is very important, and more and more students have questions about majors which they're uncertain about. So the Advising Fair is designed to help students who have questions about majors, get those questions answered," said Sadler.

He said that nearly 100 students attended last fall's fair, and that he would like to see 200 or 300 students at Wednesday's fair.

Lock Haven city streets will be cleaned starting April 1

By Kate Kinney
Staff Reporter

The city streets of Lock Haven will be cleaned starting tomorrow, and local police are ready to handle parking violators on the designated streets.

Lieutenant Joe Sanders of the Lock Haven Police Department says signs were posted in the fall to let citizens know that a street sweeper will be on duty from April to November.

"While the streets are cleaned every year, this marks the first year the entire city will be cleaned at once," said Sanders.

According to Sanders, the city wants to make the most of the service and has therefore ordered that parking not be permitted on the sign-designated streets between the hours of 12:30 a.m. and 7:30 a.m.

Sanders stated that students from LHU who live off campus and have cars parked on city streets, should pay particular attention to the street cleaning signs.

"There will be a $3 ticket issued for those individuals in violation," said Sanders.

He also said the signs stating the hours of no-parking are posted approximately every 200 feet on the street and that the sign means the whole street, not just the section with a sign.

"We're going to enforce it (the $3 fine), and hopefully everyone will check the signs and be careful where they park," said Sanders.

The sweeper, used to gather leaves and debris, will not harm cars or the roads, said Sanders.

He said that a schedule of streets to be cleaned is available at the Lock Haven Police Station.

SCC Talent Show scheduled for April 28

By Doug Rutter
Co-News Editor

An SCC Talent Show which will "give the students a chance to see how talented their peers are" has been tentatively scheduled for Tuesday, April 28, according to SCC Vice President Steve Donaldson.

SCC Social Committee Chairman Ron Minges said that cash awards of $150, $100, $75 and $50 have been tentatively set for the top four finishers in the show, which will be at 8 p.m. in Price Auditorium.

Minges also mentioned that all entrants will be given sweatshirts or T-shirts from the University Bookstore.

"This is a chance to give the students back some of their own money," Donaldson said.

Minges stated that there are currently four acts which have signed up for the show and that a minimum of ten acts are needed for the event to take place.

"If at least ten groups don't sign up, it just won't happen. Anything closely resembling talent will be accepted as an act," Minges said.

He said that students may apply to be in the talent show in the lower level of the PUB, office #4, until April 10.

There is no fee for students who enter the talent show.

All SSHE presidents received new salary raises this year

The 14 State System of Higher Education (SSHE) presidents have received pay raises. The increases were authorized by the SSHE Board of Governors in December and put into effect on January 1.

The new salary ranges were requested in a policy approved by the SSHE Board. The policy also affects other administrators and senior officials, including vice presidents.

According to the SSHE, factors such as performance, years in service and previous salaries were taken into account when calculating the presidents' increases.

For the benefit of the Lock Haven University student body and faculty, following are the salaries of the 14 SSHE presidents:

University	Name	New Salary	% Increase
Indiana	John D. Welty	$65,000	7.7
West Chester	Kenneth L. Perrin	$65,000	6.9
Shippensburg	Anthony F. Ceddia	$65,000	6.5
Millersville	Joseph A. Caputo	$65,000	6.5
Kutztown	Lawrence M. Stratton	$65,000	5.4
Edinboro	Foster F. Diebold	$64,800	6.1
Clarion	Thomas A. Bond	$64,800	4.9
California	John P. Watkins	$64,800	4.8
Lock Haven	Craig D. Willis	$64,800	3.4
Mansfield	Rod C. Kelchner	$63,500	5.5
Slippery Rock	Robert N. Aebersold	$62,100	5.9
Cheyney	LaVerne McCummings	$62,100	4.7

Baseball team trounced by Clarion 11-3

By Joselle Melitto
Sports Reporter

The Bald Eagle baseball team fell to Clarion University on Saturday during the first game, 11-3, then went on to tie the score in the second, 13-13, in an unfinished game.

The second game was suspended due to darkness.

After the regulation seven innings, rather than start another inning and not be able to complete it, the umpires and coaches decided to suspend the game.

The game will be finished at Clarion on April 14 preceeding the scheduled doubleheader.

The first game against Clarion was the opener to the Haven's Pennsylvania Conference Western Division play.

Assistant Coach Lefty Lovelace was not pleased with the team's performance in the first game.

"Clarion had a hot bat. They were hitting everything, but we just played terrible. We had a lot of mental errors and poor base running," said Lovelace.

Starting pitcher Bob Baker gave up five runs in the top of the first inning before relief pitcher Paul Dillahay came in to finish the game.

The Haven's Pat Stacio, John Kampes and Mike Snyder each had one hit.

LHU's Steve Kampf squares around to attempt a sacrifice bunt during the second game against Clarion Saturday. The game was suspended due to darkness.

In the second game LHU came back to life.

With the help of a grand slam homer by Stasio, a homerun by Kampes and four hits by Greg Snoberger, the Bald Eagles held on for seven innings until the game was suspended with the score tied at 13-13.

Phil Masser was the Haven's starting pitcher, but was relieved by freshman Mike Sigmond, who in turn was relieved by freshman Mark Swank.

The Eagles next game will be played at home against Indiana University of Pennsylvania on Saturday.

According to Lovelace, the time of the game has not yet been set due to daylight savings time.

Gair sets record at Susquehanna Invitational

Freshman Rob Gair was the only first place finisher for the Bald Eagle track teams as he set a new Susquehanna University Invitational meet record in the pole vault on Saturday, clearing 14 feet.

Placing fourth for the Eagle men were Richard Nurse (100 meters, 10.9), Brian Catherman (pole vault, 13 feet), and Mike Bachman, Steve Griffith, Tony Driebelbies and Joe Kravitz (mile relay, 3:26.9).

Griffith placed sixth in the 400 meter hurdles (58.50). Bachman was seventh in the 400 meters (51.1) and Brad Seth finished seventh in the 10,000 meter run (33:12.0). Kravitz place eighth in the 800 meters in a time of 2:00.

For the women, Sandy Adams was the highest finisher as she placed fourth in the 100 meter hurdles in a time of 15.7 seconds.

Sonja Yingling placed sixth in the 100 meter hurdles in 16.1 and Pam Yaroma was sixth in the long jump with a distance of 15 feet 2 inches.

Adding seventh places were Bubbles Whittington (100 meters, 13.3), Sherry Groff (400 meter hurdles, 1:03.2) and Jill Baumgartner (5,000 meters, 19:12.0).

The first home meet of the season is this Saturday as the Bald Eagles host the Warriors of Lycoming. The meet is scheduled to start at 12:30 p.m.

Hockey club takes one of two from Wizzards over weekend

By Glen Gusclora
Sports Reporter

The men's hockey club split a pair of games with the Wizzards at Penn State this past weekend.

Junior Pete Lempa had a hat trick to lead the team over the Wizzards 7-3 on Saturday. Club Captain Doug Rutter, Juniors Bob McGettigan and Dan Lawson, and freshman Steve Kimmey each added goals.

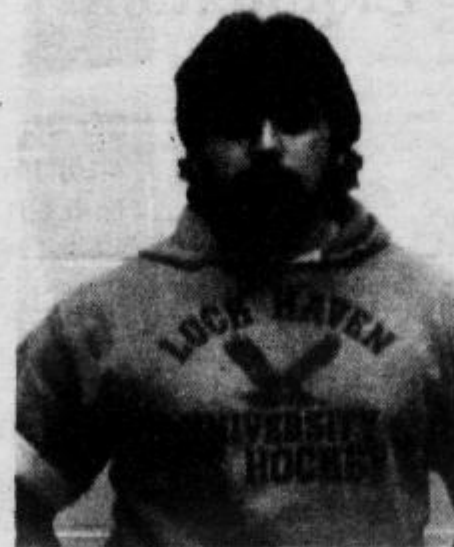

"I think we played very well," said Rutter. "We played aggressively and skated to the puck."

Haven Goalie Mark D'Agostino had 20 saves on 23 shots on goal.

D'Agostino has allowed an average of 4.65 goals per game on the season, but has allowed just 2.8 goals per game since spring break.

"Our wins since spring break have been a total team effort and not just better play on my part," said D'Agostino. "We are finally coming together as a cohesive unit and it's starting to pay off."

On Sunday the club fell to the Wizzards 5-0.

Mark D'Agostino

"We got some bad calls from the officials," said Rutter. "It seemed as though we were skating a half a step behind them the entire game."

The hockey team will travel to Penn State on Sunday hoping to improve their record of 3-10. They will face the Geohabs at 7:45 p.m.

Lady Eagles split with ESU

By Bill Hunter
Sports Editor

After a 2-0 fall in the opener, the Lady Eagles softball team came clawing back to win the nightcap 10-3 over East Stroudsburg University on Saturday.

The 1-1 finish on the day upped the team's record to 8-6 overall.

Despite outhitting the Lady Warriors 3-2 in game one, LHU's starting pitcher Gretchen Caton was credited with the loss. Both runs allowed in game were unearned.

Lock Haven threatened in the first inning as Kathy Staib doubled and Ginny Neiss singled, but both were stranded on base. The Haven's only other hit came in the fourth inning when Vicki DiVittorio singled.

"Hitting has been our weakness. Our pitching has been adequate and our defense is good," said Head Coach Wayne Allison.

The second game was a complete turn around for the Lady Eagles.

The first inning set the pace of the game as LHU scored twice when Staib walked, Neiss hit into a fielder's choice, Mel Frohnheiser rapped a triple and then scored on a wild pitch.

After two more runs in the third, the Haven exploded in the fifth inning for six runs, four of which were walked in.

Fronheiser, Funk and Neiss were each 2 for 4 as the Lady Eagles hammered eight hits in the game.

The next contest for LHU will be a doubleheader against Penn State on Wednesday at 2:30 p.m.

"We (LHU) are probably the only Division II team that Penn State plays. They are 11-11 on the season, but they will be tough," said Allison.

TIME CAPSULE

Energy and salaries blamed for price hike in dorm fees

Time Capsule is a brief look at what was filling the pages of the Eagle Eye approximately ten years ago.

A decade ago this week . . .

Effective fall 1977, on-campus students will be paying an additional $108. Room and board rates will increase by $2 and $1 respectively per week. Dr. Francis Hamblin, LHS president, termed the increase "unavoidable."

"I don't want to raise rents," said Hamblin. "I'd be happy get rid of them altogether."

Two major factors are responsible for the increase, according to Hamblin. One is the rapidly ascending energy prices. Over $100,000 more than anticipated was spent on fuel this year. This is attributed to the extreme coldness experienced in the past few months. Energy cutbacks were made, but there wasn't enough to compensate for rising prices. Hamblin remarked, "We're using much less heat and light and paying much more for it."

Akeley school to close

The Lock Haven State Board of Trustees rendered a unanimous decision over Spring Break to close Akeley School at the end of the school year.

On February 4, a memo was sent to LHS President Francis Hamblin in which Akeley School faculty members recommended the close of the school because of the deteriorating conditions of the building, the declining number of staff members, and lack of funds to purchase supplies. The faculty also stated in the memo that if these trends could be reversed, then they wished the school to remain open. Hamblin commented that all the conditions are true and at this time irreversible.

Hamblin reported that the administration's first duty is to the approximately 2,200 undergraduate students at LHS not to the 149 students who do not pay tuition to attend Akeley.

Rumors about the closing of Akeley were heard last month but no decision was expected until next month. "No one takes pleasure in seeing it (Akeley) terminated," stated Hamblin.

OPENING NIGHT

Wednesday movie in PUB: The Gods Must Be Crazy

By Ken Foster
Movie Columnist

The SCC will celebrate April Fool's Day with a Wednesday night presentation of The Gods Must Be Crazy, a mock documentary involving a tribe of African natives and a bottle of Coke.

The Gods Must Be Crazy is an absurd comedy from South Africa and has been packing theaters in our own country since 1984. The story begins when an airplane pilot throws an empty Coke bottle out the window, and it lands on the head of an African Bushman. The natives believe that the bottle is a gift of the gods, who have always given them only useful and good things.

Soon the members of the tribe have found endless uses for the bottle and they begin to fight over its use. When the leader of the tribe concludes that the bottle is an evil influence in his tribe, he journeys to modern civilization to return it, encountering numerous idiotic civilians along the way.

Many people might expect a film from South Africa to make fun of the simple ways of life demonstrated by the Bushmen, but The Gods Must Be Crazy does just the opposite, satirizing the idiotic complexity of modern technology and the "civilized" man. It is fascinating and hilarious to see how many uses the Bushmen can find for the discarded bottle, something we would all regard as useless.

Sponsored by the SCC, The Gods Must Be Crazy will be shown Wednesday night only, in the lower level of the PUB at 8 p.m. Validated ID is required for free admission.

"The Apathy Busters" comedians to perform in Price Auditorium tonight

By Chris Fischer
Editor-in-Chief

The one hour long performance is free to LHU students with a validated ID. The admission fee for all others will be $1.

"The Apathy Busters" will attempt to make LHU students laugh tonight as the group of comedians will perform in Price Auditorium at 8 p.m.

The Student Cooperative Council in cooperation with CRI Productions will feature three comedians who work out of Port Jefferson, NY, according to SCC Social Committee Chairman Ron Minges.

"The Apathy Busters" are a group of comedians that work together to create humor," said Minges. "This is guaranteed to be stand-up comedy at its best."

"They are known for getting the audience involved in what they are doing, and making them part of the show," said the Social Committee chairman.

Minges pointed out that this comedian group was picked for the SCC's second main social event of the semester because the comedians play a lot of universities and were "highly recommended."

"I looked at a lot of couple acts," said Minges. "The idea of more than one comedian working together might provoke more laughter."
