W. A. A. STUNT NIGHT PROVES BIG SUCCESS NEXT EVENT ON CALENDAR IS SOPH DANCE

BETA SIGMA CHI WINS FIRST PRIZE

Second Prize Goes to Men's Choral Club

Stunt Night, sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association for the benefit of the Training School Milk Fund, was held at eight P. M. Tuesday, February 26. It was nothing less than a "howling" success! Each organization in the school presented a stunt under the stipulation that it should include not more than eight persons and last not longer than eight minutes. Everything from orchestras to automobiles, and from fairy tales to a drama was characterized.

Gay troupes of performers and an enthusiastic audience crowded in to the auditorium from 7.15 until eight o'clock, when the program began. The orchestra entertained the assembly while the first stunt was being prepared. The Educational Club started the program with their presentation of Human Dols. Then the following stunts were given in succession:

A Drama ..... T. H. R. Sorority

Hansel and Gretel

Rho Omega Lambda Sorority
When Calcium Talks ..... Art Club
Seem Funny Orchestra ..... Orchestra
Family Album

Beta Sigma Chi Sorority
Shakes from Shakespeare

"Shake" Literary Society
Spring—Ah!—Whoop

Naturalist Club
A Negro Wedding, Men's Choral Club
The Highwayman ..... L. A. L. Sorority

Price Literary Society
Minnet ..... Girl's Glee Club
Silent Prompter ..... Dramatic Club

A Dream Come True ..... Y. W. C. A.
Kitchen Cabinet Orchestra

College Times
When We Were Very Young, I. K. U.

For a few minutes at the conclusion of the stunt program, the audience waited in almost breathless suspense for the decision of the judges, Miss Roberts, Mr. Goerger, and Mr. Sullivan. The Beta Sigma Chi Sorority was given the first prize; the Men's Choral Club, the second; and the Educational Club, the third.

Ruth Breton, American Violinist, Pleases Large Audience in Captivating Recital

One of the most captivating programs of the musical course given at Teachers College was heard Friday night, March 1st, when Ruth Breton, an American violinist, extraordinary, gave her concert.

From the opening strains of 'Lugan-Kreisler's Præludeium and Allegro' to the finale of the program the audience was held under the spell of her superlative technique and intensive personal fascination.

Miss Breton's program was well chosen and skillfully executed. In the first group her interpretation of the Minuet in G by Beethoven entranced the listeners with the delicacy of tone and the feeling it displayed. The Little Windmill was an interesting rondo of the descriptive type.

After each group the enthusiastic audience called for more, which the violinist graciously gave. Her first encore was the Espanole Serenade eloquent with romance and feeling inspired by the intense appreciation of the artist.

Mendelssohn's Andante and Finale from the Violin Concerto made up the second group. Her flawless technique and loveliness of tone made the Concerto seem sheer inspiration. The power and vitality of the artist were also in evidence, and here too, the pianist had the opportunity to furnish the orchestral accompaniment worthy of the artistry of the Concerto.

The third group contained a Nocturne by Chopin-Sarasate, a piece with a graceful flowing melody pervading the quiet calm spirit of it. Schon Rosmarin by Kreisler had a piquant, fanciful theme. Again for variety Ruth Breton played the Orientale, quite different from the others, rather slow-moving, yet mysterious and spicy, like the Orient. After Paganini's La Campanella, the finale number of the program brought several delightful encores from the gracious artist. Two American folk tunes were enjoyed and Liebesfreud and Love is Blind by Fritz Kreisler, all displaying delicacy of touch and strength.

Ruth Breton's reception by the students has proved that many can appreciate the higher type of music and gain inspiration from it.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS HEAR INAUGURATION

The pupils of the Junior High School had an opportunity to "listen in" on the Inauguration ceremonies last Monday by means of a radio which Mr. Patterson had installed for the purpose.

FOURTH GRADE OF TRAINING SCHOOL ABOVE NORM

Should we be proud of our Training School? In the standardized Hargerty Reading test the Standard Norm is 44. But in our Training School fourth grade the norm is 46%.

FIRST SOPH HOP COMES SATURDAY

College Group Adds a New Social Event

The first Sophomore Hop in the history of Lock Haven S. T. C. is to be held in the gym of Saturday evening, March 16. It will take the form of a subscription dance to which all the faculty, students and alumni of the college are invited.

This party is another of the new events added to the social calendar this year. Those who attended the Freshman Frolic year recollect that a good time they found there. It is the same class, only now advanced to the standing of sophomore, that is putting on this next dance, with a whole year of new experience and ideas to make it better. An orchestra from town is going to do its best to prove that it has all the pep and fire of any of the best imported melody makers. Feature numbers and other surprises are awaiting the guests at the Soph. Hop.

No formal Prom is this—just a genuinely informal dance brimming over with spirit and fun. A ticket will be worth much more than $1.25 but that's all the students will have to pay to give both themselves and their guests the best of good times.

These sophomores are going to show you what a live bunch they are and what a good time they can put on. Don't be Scotch! See the ticket-sellers NOW and put your spare cash to the best of uses—to give yourself and "the" someone else a real evening together!

DRAMATIC CLUB PLAY TO BE PRESENTED MARCH 8th

The cast of "Outward Bound," which is this year's Dramatic Club presentation, is working very hard to make the play a success. While it was running in New York and Boston, it created an immense sensation, and the Dramatic Club cast is anxious to bring to the Lock Haven public a taste of the great issues of life with which "Outward Bound" deals.

You will laugh, you will cry, you will fear, you will sympathize, and best of all, you will think, for "Outward Bound" and its characters make you do all these things.

BETA SIGMA CHI WINS 1st PRIZE FOR STUNT NIGHT

The prizes were gifts of money put into milk bottles and tied with red, white and blue papers. Members of the Association who acted as ushers were dressed in white and wore attractive red, white, and blue pompons on their shoulders.

We are glad that the Association is planning to make Stunt Night an annual affair.

Here's hoping that the kiddies enjoy the milk as much as we all enjoyed—Stunt Night!

Miss Daniel Gives Reading

The Vesper Service held Sunday at 6:15 was led by Mary Niebauer. The Girl's Glee Club sang a beautiful selection called, "The Lord Sendeth forth His Love." Following this Miss Daniel read "Where God is there Love Lives Also." The service was closed with the usual benediction.

Y. M. C. A. CONDUCTS VESPERS

The vesper service, Sunday, February 24, conducted by the Y. M. C. A., was led by Clarence Mutchler. Roy Clawson, John Varner and Ellis Boyer sang a trio, "Some Day He'll Make It Plain to Me." Following this Mr. Patterson gave a short talk on his impressions of George Washington. The service was closed with the usual benediction.

Men's Choral Club Present Five Act Show Featuring Songs, Comedy and Specialties

The Men's Choral Club of the College presented a five-act Vaudeville show in the College auditorium, Tuesday, March 5.

The program consisted of glee club numbers, solo acts, comedy and specialty numbers. Each and every performer handled himself with the air of an experienced trooper, and the entire show bore the appearance of one of Keith's best.

A large audience was on hand, and judging from the applause, they were enjoying themselves to the fullest extent. It was the first appearance of the Choral Club this year in an individual event, and they proved that they can be as entertaining as any

EDITORIALS

The one man upon which the attention of the public is now centered is Herbert Hoover, the man who became President of the United States on Monday, March 4. At the same time, as is always the case, side lights are being thrown on anything and everything with Hoover's past work. Leland Stanford University is now enjoying such reflected glory in the capacity of Hoover's Alma Mater. It is easy enough to contemplate the increase in enrollment and general popularity that this college will know in the near future.

But we need not be jealous—who knows but what we have a future president among our undergraduates right now? Even if we haven't that, there's a chance that we have a future president's wife in our midst. We only hope that when these prominent characters gain this, the highest of peaks, they won't forget THEIR Alma Mater.

Read the Soph. Hop article on the 'Times' front page. Most colleges have this dance every year but this is the first time it has been held here. Is it a good custom to establish, I think so. It is added attraction to our social calendar. It is not like the formal parties which our other dances form—it is a chance for a different informal good time with everyone in

Alumni Notes

Pearl McNally is teaching the Jamestown school in Portage Township. This is her second year in that school.

1928

Mercedes Beiter, member of the Mid-year class of '28, is teaching in Wilmore, Pa. She has charge of the Music in the 7th and 8th grades. This is the first year that Wilmore has had a special Music Department.

Esther Keyser likes rural school. Her particular "weakness" is one near Williamsport. Esther's school has been very energetic this year. Several socials have been held with everyone helping. The pupils salted peanuts and made the ice cream and the mothers contributed cakes. With the returns of the sales they have purchased a hectograph, a teacher's desk and several other smaller things. Esther's school certainly is learning the art of cooperation.

1929 Mid-year

Margaret Scanton is teaching in Washington township in the vicinity of Lily, Pa. In the 5th, 6th, and 7th grades which she is teaching, she has thirty-five pupils. "Take her word for it, she finds teaching thirty-five quite different from teaching twelve in the Training School at T. C."

S. T. C. Loses Double Header On Week-End Trip to East

The local college quintet left Friday evening, March first, for a week-end trip to West Chester and Kutztown, playing the former on Friday evening and the latter the following evening. The West Chester cagers took the locals into camp by a 43-12 score, which indicates how West Chester outclassed the locals. Vonada, star center for the locals, was injured during this game and was unable to play against Kutztown.

The next evening the locals traveled to Kutztown, and despite the hard game with West Chester the night before, put up a whale of a game for three quarters. Kutztown led by a score of 27-21, and the locals were going strong when Kutztown ran wild during the final period, the final score being 43-27 in their favor. Malone, who took Vonada's place in this game, played remarkably well on the defense.

The next game on the schedule is Dickinson Seminary on March 7.

Us and Others

Thursday, February 28, under the auspices of the Men's Bible Class of the M. E. Church at Mill Hill, the Boys' Choral Club of Teachers College gave an entertainment at the Blue Bird Theater, consisting of glee club selections, saxophone solos, comedy acts, and specialties.

Miss Rowe was called to Kingston, N. Y., on account of the death of her sister, Mrs. Luther Post, of Brooklyn, N. Y., who was killed in an automobile accident while driving with her daughter-in-law and granddaughter in St. Augustine, Fla. The granddaughter is in a very critical condition.

The weekly meeting of the Alpha Zeta Pi was called to order on Monday, Feb. 25, at 7.15. After a short business discussion the club heard a very pleasing speech by L. R. Lesher, from the Clinton County Times office. This was a very practical talk and the members learned many new facts about the making and the printing of a paper.

A meeting of the Beta Sigma Sorority was held Tuesday, Feb. 26, at 6.30. During the business meeting plans were made for a party in the honor of Mrs. Shoemaker. It was decided to have it on Thursday, March 7. There was a practice of the stunt after the meeting.

The Rho Omega Lambda Sorority had their regular business meeting on Wednesday, Feb. 27, at 5.30.

Mrs. Dalby thrilled Elizabeth when she visited her Saturday.

Want to hear all about the Inauguration? Ask Crissie Lambert, Catherine Shipman or Peg Beeson for you know they were there.

We are mighty glad to see Sue Boves back again. She returned on Saturday night.

Jane Taylor visited her sister, Lucille, over the week-end.

Kate Bennett was glad to see her mother and little sister, who came Friday evening.

Lloyd and Robert Plummer spent the week-end at their home in Portage.

Johnny Varner journeyed to Woodland for a visit Saturday and Sunday.

Philip Guy and Clarence Mutchler, both of Williamsport, paid the home town a visit over the week-end.

Harry Dale, of Renovo, visited his brother, Charlie, from Saturday until Sunday evening.

Ann Gillogley, Catherine and Eleanor Judge were visiting Ann's uncle at Williamsport over the week-end.

Faye Lord spent the week-end in Williamsport.

Annabelle Hayes has left school on account of illness.

By Ye Joke Editor

IF I WERE A CO-ED

I would never wear clothes that men are supposed to wear, because it lowers their masculine supremacy.

I would be friendly with as many boys as possible, because it pays—in gifts.

I would not use cosmetics so extensively as to hide the beautiful countenance.

I would not gossip and talk about the physical defects of others or myself.

I would not weigh myself before an audience, especially if I were rather stout.

I would never take my best friend's boy (friend as mine); it breeds jealousy.

I would never read jokes about Scotchmen and then tell everyone about them.

I would not believe in woman suffrage.

SOME LATE RESOLUTIONS

I firmly resolve never again to look at a book for Psychology. What's the use; Miss N never calls on me when I do.

I firmly resolve never more to offend Miss A's artistic senses. I'll stop drawing.

The way I murder the English language is enough to make any instructor or insane. I firmly resolve to write no more compositions.

I firmly resolve never more to go to breakfast. It breaks my heart to listen to the toast.

I firmly resolve that if I faithfully live up to these four resolutions my instructors will realize that I'm homesick, will reward me with ones in every subject, and will invite me to finally go home.

I. K. U. Tea Is A Success

The "Alice in Wonderland" Tea, given by the Junior members, was a success from every standpoint. The tea was held in the Kindergarten room, Wednesday, February 27th from 4.30 until 6 o'clock.

The story of Alice in Wonderland was well portrayed by four of the Juniors, namely: Phyllis Kinkead, who played the part of Alice, Louise Rhodes, Dorothy Arnold and Elizabeth Van Scoyoc.

The remainder of the afternoon the guests were entertained by musical numbers. Elizabeth Kittelberger delighted her audience with the number, "Roses of Picardy." Ingrid Franklin also added much to the enjoyment by playing several pretty classical selections.

Us and Others

Leona Douglas spent the week-end at her home in Pleasant Gap.

We are glad to welcome Hilda Ellis back from the infirmary.

Kay Knoll was home for the week-end.

Pauline McElhattan was at her home in Shippensburg.

Anna Forse is in the infirmary.

Eleanor Emery was at her home in Williamsport.

Mary Beale's mother, father and brother were her guests on Sunday afternoon.

Mary Elda Miller and Jeannette Donahoe were at their homes in South Williamsport.

Dot Stitzer entertained her mother and sister here on Sunday.

Helen Lewis has been home all week, due to the death of her grandfather.

Longfellow Is Topic At Y. W.

In honor of Longfellow, whose birthday was celebrated Wednesday, Feb. 27, the girls of the Y. W. turned their thoughts to this well known poet, during their regular Wednesday evening meeting, under the leadership of Alice Woolbert. Elizabeth Kittleberger read "The Psalm of Life" and Ellen Corbin, "The Clock on the Stairs;" both of these poems being very familiar to all of us. Miss Weidley sang an appropriate and beautiful solo. With Miss Rowe, the girls discussed some of Longfellow's poems which they know and love.

Something unusual—Anne Orlin telling a Jewish joke.

The day room has been accredited with a new musician—"Clint" Swayer with his harmonica.

Piper and Legacy must have all night dates; they were seen strolling along the walks at about 7:30 one morning; more likely every morning.

Those fellows doing housekeeping work in the Training School know now that little boys should not throw erasers around the rooms.

There was a slight touch of spring the other day and the strollers were many, including Tim Cross and Geneva. Spring brings out the saps in trees and ? Ricker and Brown were also promenadeurs with their better halves.

should have been a man. It is a shame that the girls were cheated out of a chance to catch such a sheik.

That Irene Russell missed her calling—an orchestra leader's baton should be her weapon instead of a teacher's ruler.

That Alice Baumgartner must be a fine teacher—she can even make dolls do her bidding.

That Irene is lucky for Charlie Dale that they don't always use a "silent prompter" in Dramatic Club plays!

That McCall needs only a little more training to make him very useful to some of the devoted couples around the campus.

It is time we began letting the Lock Haven residents know we are on earth—in one of the stores the other day, a student said to the manager: "We're from up at the College."
The manager looked very much puzzled and inquired "What college?"

Some of us feel very much disappointed about the would-be flood. It was not quite fair to get us all excited and then let us down so easily!

Mr. Ulmer was also thanked for the prayer and meditation books which he gave the members.

Scientists tell us that the weather on this globe hasn't changed much for a billion years, and now all of the old timers are first class fibbers.
