

Library Again Falls Victim To Vandalism

"They've found another way to rip us off", commented Mr. Robert Bravard, LHS Head Librarian, as he spoke to an Eagle Eye reporter concerning the latest library vandalism.

When the reporter arrived Bravard's office in the LHS library, she was handed a large, black book entitled The Anarchist Cookbook by William Powell. However, the book had no pages; it was, in fact, just the hard bound cover devoid of any contents. The body of the book had been neatly cut away from the cover spine and removed. It appeared the act had been accomplished with "probably a razor blade or very sharp pocket knife."

The book, which had been very controversial when it was published, had been acquired by the library in 1971. "We stuck our necks out to get it", stated Bravard and later commented that it is now an "historical document of a whole way of thought that passed over and through."

The only rational explanation for the clever theft Bravard could devise was because of possible reluctance to sign this particular book out of the library. The perpetrator may have been wary of any possible FBI inspection of the circulation records for the book which has occurred at some other libraries. Bravard explained, however, that the American Library Association unanimously passed a motion that under no circumstances would circulation records be turned over. "That violates all kinds of rights," commented the Head Librarian.

If sufficient funds are available, the book will be replaced but will go on reserve instead of on the open shelves where it was originally placed.

"Next year we may not be able to buy a single new book," stated Bravard in relation to the current state of the state budget. He added with regret that "every time we have to replace a book, that's one new one we can't buy."

In addition to the destruction and theft of The Anarchist Cookbook, it has been discovered that a large and expensive reference book is missing from the shelves. "It's been gone long enough (three weeks) that we are now sure it's not just misshelved somewhere," affirmed Mr. Marc Thomas, Reference Librarian.

The missing book, volume I of the 1972 edition of the Encyclopedia of Associations, is the most recent in a set of volumes which list the names, heads, addresses and phone numbers of all major organizations in the United States.

"Too few people, when they can't find a book, come to us," stated Thomas. The student could fill out a search card and the library staff could more promptly attempt to locate the books.

Both Bravard and Thomas stressed that if any missing books would be returned, the librarians would be so glad to have them back that there would be no trouble involved for the persons responsible.

CHANGE in Book Store closing hours: it will be closed March 13 and 14 and resume normal operation March 15 at 8 am rather than 8 pm as previously stated.

Heed Of Parking Rules Urged

At the Parking Appeals Committee meeting of March 8, it was decided that certain reminders of Lock Haven State's parking regulations be given to students. It seems as though students are repeatedly violating the same restrictions.

Students are reminded that they are responsible for their visitor's vehicles even though they do not have a car themselves. Students should be familiar with all regulations to protect their visiting friends or relatives from a parking fine. A simple note on the windshield will notify the security guard of the automobile's status.

Another area of concern by the committee is the parking of vehicles in restricted areas. These areas, located in front and at the side of McEntire, behind High Hall and in front of the laundry room entrance of North Hall are prohibited parking for fire and maintenance only. Disobeying these areas could possibly result in loss of lives and extensive property damage, in the case of a fire.

These are only two of the many restrictions defined in the College Traffic Code. Students are advised to obtain a copy of the parking regulations in the Security Office, Bentley Hall if they are unaware of the rules.

Community Responds For Scotty Meyer

by Linda D. Dicks

"The people's response has been just wonderful," was one of Mrs. Erma Smith's many comments about the "Please Help Scotty Meyer Fund."

Mrs. Smith is publicity chairman for the Fund which was set up to cover medical costs for the 12-year-old who was seriously injured in a November accident.

The mishap occurred near the Meyer home when a chain attached to a jeep snapped and hit Scotty on the side of the head. A field was being cleared of tree stumps at the time.

Young Scotty was rushed to Geisinger Medical Center at Danville where he was admitted with head injuries and remained unconscious for several weeks. Scotty spent all but three days of his hospital visit in intensive care. He underwent surgery at two different times, and is now at home with his family.

Scotty and his twin sister are the youngest of seven children and the second set of twins.

A number of fund-raising activities were set up for the boy. The first was a Sarah Coventry Jewelry show, followed by a citizen-band Club coffee break, 50-50 Bowling, a roast beef supper, and a dance at the Elk's Ballroom.

WBPZ offered its services in setting up a "Mister Take-down Contest." Townspeople donated money by voting for their favorite high school wrestlers at a penny a vote.

The fund-raising drive ends March 30 with a basketball game between the Pennsylvania State Police and the coaches of the Keystone Central School District.

Scotty is expected to attend and the "Mister Take-down" trophy will also be awarded.

A goal of $10,000 had been set, but as of Feb. 26 over $11,000 had been raised with more money still being contributed.

All Seniors who have not taken the GRE and are considering entering graduate school now or in the future should make a special effort to register by April 3, 1973 with ETS to take the test at Lock Haven State College on Saturday, April 28, 1973. The GRE bulletin and application form may be secured from the Placement Office, Bentley Hall.

To the Editor:

We were pleased to read Barbara Peterson's report on the 'Welcome Home' to 18 students returning from a stay at Nottingham. It was good to read how much they had enjoyed their experience. May we correct a factual error in the report which stated that Nottingham is 'a three year college offering only a certificate in education'? In addition to this 3 year course the college offers a 4 year course leading to the degree of Bachelor of Education with honours of Nottingham University (followed by about 25% of our students) and also a Post-Graduate Certificate of Education. We hope soon to be offering degree courses for B.A. and B.Sc. degrees for students who do not wish to teach.

ACACIA Celebrates Founders Day Today

by Susan Gottshall

The brothers celebrate their 1st Founders Day Friday, March 9.

One year ago, the colony of Acacia first appeared on Lock Haven's Campus. Since then, the fraternity has obtained prominence among campus organizations. This past Monday, March 5th, Acacia was formally recognized as a campus organization by becoming a member of the Inter-Fraternity Council.

In its one year existence, Acacia has made some notable achievements. This past fall, Acacia won first prize for its Homecoming Float. The fraternity also participated in last year's Greek Olympics faring well in the pie-eating contest.

The brothers of Acacia now reside at 3rd floor High Hall. However, they are looking for a house and plan to have one by next fall.

Acacia's President commented on the fraternity's growing status. "The campus will be hearing and seeing a lot more of us in the near future."

Currently, Acacia has 23 members including six pledges. John Hogue is President, Tom Manganiello, Vice President, Ronald Shawley, Secretary, Calvin Swiegart, Pledge Trainer, and Paul Gaebler, Social Chairman.

The six pledges are Kim Coon, John Wolfe, Barry Crown, William McComas III, Robin Miller and Charles Rufenacht.

Acacia has roots other than Lock Haven in Pennsylvania. Chapters exist at Penn State, Shippensburg, University of Pittsburg at Johnston and Waynesboro College. Lock Haven is the third colony to be formed.

12 Veterans Returning

'73 Baseball Holds Bright Prospects

by Ray Oberheim

The 1973 LHS baseball team has begun workouts in preparation for its April 10 opener at Millersville.

This year's Eagle squad, on paper, looks to have all the ingredients needed to become one of the finest ever produced by this school.

An incredible number of experienced men return, especially at the critical pitching position with 12 individuals having 2 or more years experience, including 5 with three years experience.

Since the arrival of Tod Eberle as coach in 1970, the Eagles have improved each successive year to the point where this year's team appears to have a great shot at the conference championship and a stoppage of the humiliating string of 8 successive defeats at the hands of arch-rival Mansfield.

Under Eberle, the team has a regular season won-lost record of .500 or better against every team it has played, except the Mansfield Mounties. The Eagles are 0-8 against them under Eberle, losing by such whopping scores as 4-0, 9-4, 7-2, 8-2, and 12-3.

Since the team handles other teams well, who in turn give Mansfield trouble, it would seem certain that the "Mansfield complex" is as much mental as anything else. So if the Eagles can this year keep from "psychoing themselves out" against Mansfield, they may just find the road clear to their first conference championship since 1955.

May 5 is the date of this year's showdown with the Mounties. All indications point to that doubleheader, on the Mounties' field, as being one in which this year's squad members will remember the rest of their lives. For those Eagles playing their final season, and there are many, it'll be their last opportunity to "get Mansfield."

On the other side of the ledger, several teams are probably saying the same thing about Lock Haven. Under Eberle, the Eagles are 3-0 against York, a team that handles Mansfield well, 5-1 against Slippery Rock, 5-3 against Bloomsburg, and 4-2 against Clarion.

This year's schedule, besides the usual 14 conference games, includes non-conference opponents, York and Juniata, along with two more non-conference pick-ups, Susquehanna University and Geneva College.

No Southern trip is scheduled for this spring, as there was last, because the spring-break falls in April this year. Since the conference schedule must be played at that time, it would be too late to go South.

This year, with only 4 dates at home and 2 of the 4 over the spring-break, the spring weekend doubleheader with Shippensburg on April 28 and the season finale with East Stroudsburg on May 9 will be the only games easily accessible to LHS students at the Eagle's home field in Woolrich. Of course, there's always the chance that the Eagles will have the best conference record and therefore host the conference playoffs.

All in all, it would then seem that the outlook is unquestionably bright for this year's team. If those returnees play up to the caliber they've displayed in the past and those newcomers pick up the enthusiasm and desire of the veterans, then Lock Haven should certainly make the post-season playoffs. The team may, perhaps, win the conference championship, hopefully end Mansfield's domination, and maybe even receive an NAIA playoff bid.

The material is, without question, there. All that remains is transferal of the potential from "on paper" to results "on the field."

Grad School Prospectives: GRE's Begin in April

Senior and Junior students who are considering graduate school following graduation are reminded of dates and places for the administration of the Graduation Record Examination (GRE) for the remainder of this school year and next year as well.

The GRE is offered on six national test dates each year at authorized test centers. For this year, a test center was established at Lock Haven State College for the administrations on December 9, 1972, and April 28, 1973. By this arrangement students do not have to travel to neighboring test centers such as those located at Penn State University and Bucknell University.

For the 1973-1974 academic year, Lock Haven will serve as a test center for one date only, January 19, 1973. Those students who expect to take the examination within the next year and who wish to take advantage of local administrations should make plans at this time to register for either the April 28, 1973, or January 19, 1974, test dates.

Registration for the April 28, 1973, administration closes April 3, although it is possible to register within one week following that date by paying an additional late registration fee of $3.50. The basic fee for the Aptitude Test is $9.50. The fee for one Advanced Test, required by some institutions, is an additional $9.50. If both tests are taken on the same date a comprehensive fee of $19.00 is charged.

Following the April 28, 1973, test date, there will be a final administration for the 1972-1973 year on June 16 at national test centers other than Lock Haven. The last date to register without penalty for this administration is May 22.

For the 1973-1974 academic year, the tests will be available on October 27, December 8, January 19, April 27, and a final date in June. Of these dates, a test center at Lock Haven will operate only on January 19.

Registration forms and additional information are available from the Counseling and Testing Service in Himes 107 and the Placement Office in Bentley Hall. Also available at the Counseling and Testing Service is a registry entitled "Graduate School Departments Requiring or Recommending GRE Scores for Admission. Current bulletins and catalogues published by graduate institutions, many of which are accessible at the Reserve Desk of the Library, may be consulted for additional information about the use of the GRE in admission procedures.
