Dr. Michael Peplow, heads committee.

Peplow Heads State Committee

CATHY WERT
Staff Writer

Dr. Michael Peplow, English Department Chairman at Lock Haven State College, was elected president of the Organizational Committee of the newly-formed English Association of the Pennsylvania State Colleges and University (EAPSCU), developed at an English teacher's conference held here on March 28-29.

Twelve representatives from eight English departments met at Lock Haven to formulate the association, which includes faculty from English and other related departments from Pennsylvania's 14 state colleges and university.

According to Peplow, EAPSCU was organized by the representatives in an effort to "exchange ideas, develop position papers," and build a "sense of unity" among the English and other related faculty at the 14 state colleges and university.

Peplow feels that the English departments throughout the state colleges and university have been working void of each other for too long. He hopes that through this unification process the departments may develop a sense of direction that will improve English and Language Arts awareness.

In addition to Peplow, the other officers elected are Vice President Liliana Zancu of Millersville, Secretary-Treasurer John Hanchin of California, and Editor Malcolm Hayward of IUP.

Campus Pulse

If Russia were to intervene in Poland, what should Reagan and America do?

Mike "Tex" Sperry: I'd like to be peaceful on all terms; but we can't let them (Russia) keep spreading out so much, they're going to be so powerful and have us outflanked that they're just going to nail us.

Eric Browning: We'd have to see how the invasion would go first. There's every chance the Soviets would have a tough time with it. They might regret it like we regret Vietnam.

Joe Skarbowski: I don't think that Russia belongs in Poland. I think that if Russia invades Poland, we should boycott them like we did the Olympics.

Keith Wood: It is a very serious issue. Russia is a country we shouldn't mess around with. If Russia does take over, I think Reagan will not let that go by very easily. I think a war could end up from that situation.

Dave Zielski: I would just as soon let Russians and Poland fight it out. I can't see that Poland has anything we need.

Reagan's Budget To Be Discussed

President Reagan's budget outlooks will be the topic of discussion by Dr. Rudolph G. Penner, an economist at the American Enterprise Institute for Public Policy Research in Washington, D.C., on Monday, April 13, at 8:00 PM in Sloan Theater.

Penner is the director of tax policy studies at the institute, and formerly held the position of assistant of economic policy at the U.S. Office of Management and Budget.

Penner's special area of interest is concerned with tax and budget policy issues. He is the author of various articles for professional magazines on stabilization and tax policies.

The title of the talk is "Reagan's Economic Policy: Will It Work?"

Presently, the President's budget lies before Congress. If the proposal is accepted by both Houses, many social programs will be slashed in fiscal year 1982, and throughout the duration of the Reagan Administration. Among the most affected by the Reagan cuts will be the college students, who will have to face rising tuition costs and deep cuts to the student loan programs. It is estimated that about 750,000 students will be forced out of school in the upcoming academic year.

With President Reagan in the hospital, white house aides are worried about Congress and the progress on the proposed budget cuts.

Even though the Democrats in the House are in strong opposition to the proposed budget cuts, they feel that Reagan will get 75 percent of what he opted for.

LH Rallies For Atlanta

A candlelight rally showing support for the families and friends of the 22 slain black children in Atlanta will be held on Thursday, April 16, on the Price Auditorium patio beginning at 6:30 PM.

The rally is intended to spark an awareness on the Lock Haven State College campus in relation to the tragedy that has been with Atlanta since July of '79.

This effort is the second of its kind concerning the Atlanta crisis. The first was initiated by Kappa Sigma Phi fraternity, who sold buttons and ribbons in protest of the killings. The proceeds were sent to help fund various organizations in the southern city.

Dr. Dora Vandine, Associate Professor of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, along with Dr. William Smith-Hinds, Assistant Professor of Sociology at LHSC, will speak about the effects of the crisis in relation to their specific areas of study.

Rachine Mazyck will open the ceremony by singing Stevie Wonder's "The Greatest." Other musical selections will include "Bless the Beasts and Children," and "All Through the Night." Poems will be read dealing with the sensitive emotions of the incidents.

The symbolic green ribbons will be available from any member of either the Black Cultural Society or Sigma Kappa, who are sponsoring the rally, Thursday.

SAT Test Show Errors; CAS Fighting

By ERIC BROWNING
Political Reporter

Recently, two mistakes revealed in the scoring of the standardized 'college boards' tests developed by the Educational Testing Service (ETS) has affected the scores over a quarter of a million college-bound students and raised questions about the validity of these tests and their effect on students' welfare.

The ETS is a corporation based in Princeton, New Jersey which develops, administers, and distributes most of the standardized tests used in college, graduate, and professional school admissions decisions. Among these well-known tests are the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT), Graduate Record Examination (GRE), and the Law School Admission Test (LSAT) plus tests for over 50 occupations from law enforcement to the foreign service. In all, ETS tests more than three million students each year.

The two mistakes involved one student who proved the ETS's answer for a question was indeed wrong while another student proved that there were two correct answers to the same question. This caused the scores of about 256,000 students to be raised - some as much as 20 points on the S.A.T. scale of 200-800.

The ETS tests exert an enormous amount of influence on students by deciding which college or professional school they will be admitted to, and even may determine many job opportunities. But according to ETS's critic, this power can be easily abused with the students paying a heavy price - their futures.

The Commonwealth Association of Students (CAS), the state student lobby organization representing the 76,000 state college and university students of Pennsylvania, claim that these standardized admissions tests may pose a potential threat to students because of a lack of accountability and consumer protection.

According to one CAS pamphlet, students currently have no assurance that these important test scores have been accurately and fairly derived because of the secrecy which ETS surrounds the evaluation process. The literature points out that the students pay for the testing and yet are provided only with a final ranking and score and have no knowledge of the evaluation rationale and procedure. CAS feels

EDITORIAL

This campus reeks with student apathy. Let's examine just two issues to substantiate what we are saying. Case in point, the SCC meeting to decide if student book prices should remain with a 30 percent price hike. This certainly was an issue of monumental importance to the whole of the student body, but you couldn't have told it from the turn out at the meeting. Only a handful of students, about 15, showed up to see what the outcome of the meeting would mean to their pocketbooks.

The second case deals with the challenge of Jonathan Bravard to see which student could write a better column than his. You know what? We didn't get one response out of about 22 hundred students. They just sit around the lunch table bitching and complaining about Bravard's column, rather than doing something about it.

Well those are just two instances that illustrate student apathy, laziness, or perhaps ignorance, that are rapidly becoming a trade mark at Lock Haven.

We interviewed one student about his/her attitude toward the crisis in Poland and the answer was amazing. The person simply said, what crisis? Come on Lock Haven students surely you must have something of intelligence to say. Of course we don't want to push you into something that you are not capable of. After all this is only a school of higher education.

Many college newspapers have problems filling the news pages, however they are always able to fill the editorial page. Not at Lock Haven though, students on this campus don't take advantage of the second page, they would just as soon sit back and let the other guy do it, while they say "Wow, isn't that cool?" Well the other guy is sick and tired of doing all the work.

There is more to life than frat parties, sports and drinking beer. When you go to look for a job the employer probably won't be impressed by the amount of beer you can drink, or how many tackles you made at last year's homecoming game, rather he'll want to know how qualified and intelligent you are, and the ability you have to offer.

People wonder why the world is the way it is. Well, just take a look around you and see what is being injected into the mainstream of society. This world consists of too many apathetic people already and it's time the younger generation of this society take substance and act upon issues as they should be acted upon. Students should stop sitting back and start taking initiative on important issues that will affect them, the college, and the world. One day reality will hit you a lot harder than you hit the guy on the football field last Saturday. And no matter how much beer you drink you will never be able to change the way things really are.

The Eagle Eye is not saying that students shouldn't take interest in extra-curricular activities, but they should also start putting things in perspective as to the importance of the issue.

It is the feeling on this campus that many of the townspeople in Lock Haven are slow or behind the times. However, these people do take advantage and exercise their privilege by expressing their opinions and views on the editorial page of the Lock Haven Express. The Express is usually flooded with letters from concerned citizens. Whereas the Eagle Eye can barely obtain reactions or feelings from the people at the so called higher education level. We should start to wonder who actually is behind the times.

The Eagle's Claws

By JONATHAN BRAVARD
Friends keep asking me to write something that is not pessimistic. So to keep my friends happy I'm going to write something optimistic. Besides I was going to write something optimistic anyway.

The lesson for today folks is how to tell spring from the rest of the seasons. Let me first start with colors. Winter is white, spring is green, summer is multi-colored, and fall is brown. Pay attention there will be a test afterward.

Basically, I'm going to talk about spring because it is what we are going through now. I like spring basically because it is a time of green, rain, and renewal. I also like spring, I have to be honest, because the girls seem to bloom. They come out from under all those winter clothes. I think it's great.

But that is all, sort of, beside the point. I said I was going to talk about the differences between spring and the rest of the seasons. So here I go. In the other season I don't have to duck Frisbees when I walk in front of Russell Hall. The crack of the baseball bat is the sound heard on the athletic fields instead of crunch of shoulder pads.

This weather seems to bring out the couples, like flowers growing in the "beauty" areas of the college. Benches start appearing, like mushrooms, in the shade. I start missing all those trees they cut down. They, meaning the Administration, told me that all those trees were dying so they had to be cut down.

Besides baseball, there is softball. Softball is the only game, besides darts that is useful to be drinking beer while you play. Beer and softball go together like Laurel and Hardy. It seems the more you drink, up to a point, the better you play. The college helps those of us who like to play the game, by providing two fields to play on and a league to play in. Intermurals is a very good program so let me say thank you college for intermurals.

One last thing before I end today column. First all you ladies can stop reading now because what I'm going to say next is only for the guys.

If we are lucky the new 24 hour sports channel, ESPN will program lots of baseball, so we all watch our favorite teams play. Just think men, by the time baseball season is over it will be time for football. There is nothing better than beer, hard pretzels and televised sports in any season.

COMMENTARY

Ranger Weekend

By JOE SKARBOWSKI

The first annual "Ranger Weekend" between Lock Haven and P.S.U. Altoona Haven clubs held last weekend was nothing more than a great success. The participants took advantage of the excellent spring weather to get in some interesting training and a lot of friendly competition.

Altoona took the early lead in the overall team competition with a narrow 3 point win in Saturday morning's "Mil-skills" course and a victory in the afternoon's rifle match. But Lock Haven's Rangers staged a comeback attempt when the canoeing team of Greg Septer and Ken Perry and the team of Eric Heberlig and Bob Kolterman captured first and second places respectively in the canoe race.

Despite the strong finish in the canoe race, Lock Haven couldn't catch the Lions. Altoona clinched the team title with a 38-32 overtime win in the basketball tournament. But determination and pride stuck with Lock Haven as they went on to win the land navigation course on Sunday morning.

Sorority Projects

By BETH OWEN

Lock Haven's chapter of Alpha Sigma Tau is hosting a Regional Leadership Workshop for the sorority this weekend. The purpose of the workshop is to help improve the sorority as a whole. Programs on various aspects of the sorority will be conducted throughout the weekend.

Thirteen different chapters of AST will be represented at the workshop and nearly two hundred sisters will attend. Mrs. Sybil King, National President of AST, will attend the workshop, along with eight other national council members from across the country.

Parking Problem

By NOSMO KING

Every single day somebody parks a brown Volkswagen bus right in the vice-president's parking space at the Administration Building. I can't understand why law enforcement, the people at Sullivan Hall, or Mr. Marshall himself, lets such an act be perpetrated day after day. It's disrespectful and a disgrace for our administration.

To teach that guy a lesson, somebody ought to stretch a cable above Fairview Avenue from Smith Hall's roof to the roof of Bentley. Then they should take that white canoe that's always tied on top of that brown VW and string it up above the street. They could write in black paint on the sides, "Welcome to the Haven, Home of White Water Rafting and Parking Space Snatchers."

Lacrosse Cops Opener Over Bucknell 4-3

By MIKE BURKE

The 1981 Lock Haven lacrosse team opened their 1981 season here, Wednesday, with a 4-3 victory over Bucknell.

Lock Haven got on the scoreboard first when sophomore Chris Sank scored an assisted goal. Senior Patty Kellett made it 2-0 Eagles with a goal half way through the first period. The Lady Bions closed to within one at the half as Nancy Williams scored on an assist from Sue Moore.

Patty Kellett opened the second half with her second goal of the game and Kelly Canavan gave Lock Haven a three point lead with an unassisted goal.

Bucknell pulled to within one when Nancy Williams scored for the second time and Ann Kennedy scored for the first time. That ended the scoring as Lock Haven held on for a 4-3 victory.

Lock Haven's Cheryl

Fluck turned in a fine performance in the net with 15 saves.

Coach Rose Ann Neff said, "We were very hesitant, we lacked aggressiveness, and we were lucky to win the game."

The Bald Eagles next home game will be against Cortland State, April 11, at 3 p.m.

Softball Team Blanked in Doubleheader

The Lock Haven women's softball team opened their season on a downbeat Wednesday by dropping a doubleheader to Bloomsburg. It was a lack of offensive punch by the Bald Eagle bats as they were shutout in both games with scores of 3-0 and 4-0.

The strong pitching of Kim Eckley kept Lock Haven in the game. Eckley threw shutout ball until the fifth inning when Bloom scored their initial run.

Peg Pennepacker came on to relieve in the fifth inning and was later touched for two runs in the seventh.

In the nightcap Kelly Kern pitched for Don Keener's team and threw four strong innings before allowing a single run in the fifth inning. Bloomsburg also scored three runs in the sixth inning.

Pennepacker also pitched in relief for Lock Haven.

Jeane Serino led the offensive attack for the Bald Eagles with two of their five hits.

Yesterday, Lock Haven traveled to East Stroudsburg for a doubleheader. No report was available at press time.

LHSC Tennis Team Defeated By Bloom

By BOB BAKER & MARTY MYERS

The Lock Haven men's tennis team played in another shutout this week, only this time the tide was reversed. The Bald Eagles ran into a tough Bloomsburg State squad and lost a 9-0 match.

The Lock Haven netters could win only one set, when Jeff Wear and Greg Farrell won 7-6 in their second set.

Head coach Karl Hermann said afterwards, "They (Bloomsburg) won the big points in the big games. We had a good match and some good points. They are fun to play against, but I wouldn't want to play them everyday."

Bloom 9, LHSC 0 SINGLES

1. Marty Coyne (B) def. Jeff Wear, 6-2, 6-4.
2. Ken Grove (B) def. Greg Farrell, 6-4, 6-3.

Baseball Team Splits with the Rock; 8-7, 9-5

The Lock Haven baseball team split a doubleheader against Slippery Rock in action played Wednesday. Slippery Rock won the first game, 8-7. Lock Haven rebounded to take game two 9-5.

In the first game Lock Haven nearly pulled one out from the hands of defeat when they scored seven runs in their final at bat. However, this was not enough as they still trailed by one after their final out.

The Rockets nipped Lock Haven starter Bill Wortman for a pair of runs in the first inning and a single run in the second. Wortman settled down through the third and fourth, but allowed two runs in the fifth inning.

The three Rocket runs in their half of the eighth proved to be very important as the Haven hitters started to connect. Held to only two hits through the first six innings, the Bald Eagles rapped out six hits in their final at bat.

Ed Vaz led off the inning and reached first on an error. Wortman then singled and Scott Day ripped a long triple. Glenn Fultz then delivered a single scoring Day and Lock Haven trailed 8-3.

Kevin Swisher, pinch-hitting for Ray Picciotto, doubled down the line, preceding a walk to Doug Reed, and the bases were loaded.

Ray Billotte produced a sacrifice fly for run number four. Ed Tarconish followed with a double making the score 8-5 and putting the tie-ing run at the plate. Vaz brought home the final two runs with a single to right.

The Bald Eagle offense continued their barrage in game two by holding a 9-0 lead after four innings. The first four Haven batters drew walks and Day welcomed Slippery Rock relief pitcher Pete Lavelli with an RBI single. Tarconish also scored on an error during the relay throw from center.

Reed completed the five-run inning with a two-run double. Lock Haven starter Pat Guerriero pitched five and one-third innings to pick up the win. Dave Stanko relieved him to pick up a save.

Lock Haven now 4-8 on the season, will host Indiana in a doubleheader beginning at 1 p.m.
