Students recognized at International Convocation

By Karen Walters
Staff Reporter

Ten international students received academic awards at an International Convocation held in Hamblin Auditorium last Thursday. The convocation was the beginning of the 1988 International Spring Festival.

The convocation is held in order to recognize and award outstanding International students at Lock Haven University, with Recognitions being given to both foreign students who attend LHU and LHU students who study abroad.

Associate Dean of International Students, John Johnston, was very pleased with the academic performance of the foreign students. "They perform very, very well academically," said Johnston.

"The average G.P.A. of international students is just under a 3.0, although many are well above including a 3.9," said Johnston.

Johnston went on to say that the exchange programs from Lock Haven are faring very well. All programs for the fall semester are fully subscribed and the spring will soon be full also.

Johnston gave out awards for outstanding academic achievement to Wendy Webster, Marie Sandy, Yoginder Dandass, Richard Hackman, and Beth Ann Colburn. Also receiving awards were Angela Hansen, Atsuko Kitagawa, Mitsuro Saito, Jainene Scaff, and Anita Sood.

In addition to the academic awards, outstanding contribution awards were given out to Wan Xia Li and the President of the International Students Association, Michael Crosson.

Guest speaking at the convocation was Dr. Frank Turaj, Professor of film and literature at the American University. Turaj spoke about ideology in films in the United States and Poland.

Turaj said that ideology is used more widely in Poland than in the States. Moving pictures, said Turaj, are the most influential form of literature. He also said that the ties in Poland between society and films are deeper than anywhere in the world.

According to Turaj, Polish films were especially loaded with ideology after World War I.

In one example given by Turaj, a film that was criticized for going too easy on the Germans was remade to make the Germans seem more brutal and barbaric because that was how they were viewed by the Polish people.

Turaj said that propaganda has a lot to do with film making. People in Poland in the 1950's wanted to show society what was really going on in the world.

"Men have to be allowed to show what they see," said Turaj.

He also said that we should have more conservative heroes in the cinema instead of "Rambos" and "Clint Eastwoods."

Turaj has been a Professor at the American University in Washington D.C. for 23 years and has served as Dean of College of Arts and Sciences for 10 years. He is also the founder of film studies at the American University and American Studies.

SCC takes a look at Millersville student union expansion

By Sharon Adams
Staff Reporter

The SCC travelled to Millersville University last weekend and toured Millersville's student union, Student Memorial Building (SMAC), which is scheduled for expansion this summer.

The tour was a part of the SCC's regular attendance at the Board of Student Government Presidents meeting. The Board meets approximately three to four times per year in order to keep communications open between the 14 state schools in the State System of Higher Education (SSHE).

The SMAC building currently houses a dining area with a balcony overlooking it, a game room with many different video games and ping-pong and pool tables, conference rooms, radio and newspaper offices, and an all-purpose room.

In comparison with the Parsons Union Building (PUB), the SMAC is already much larger and offers a more modern and comfortable atmosphere for students to

"After seeing Millersville, I think we better get moving."

- SCC Recording Secretary
Machelle Grace

gather, according to Paul Knappenberger, the SCC Public Relations Officer.

After the five million dollar expansion and renovation is completed, the enlarged SMAC will house six racquetball courts, an indoor running track, a sauna, a whirlpool, and lockers. It will also include an aerobics and dance studio, and a fitness center, according to Robert L. Slabinski, General Manager of Student Services Inc.

Slabinski, also chairperson of the Millersville expansion task force, said that the student union is also proposed to include other types of recreational rooms such as additional offices for student organizations, meeting rooms, and additional parking spaces.

However, what can be added depends on the interest rate at the time of the expansion, said Slabinski.

"If we could build now, with current interest rate, we could add even more," said Slabinski.

In order to fund the Millersville project, according to literature on the expansion, a bond will be floated and will be paid off in the future by collecting a $45 Student Center Building Fee from students.

The bond is necessary because the Commonwealth will not fund the construction of any building to be used as a student center.

A referendum was conducted by the Millersville University Student Senate in February and of the 7,000 students, approximately 60 percent of the 1,300 voters favored the improvements.

In contrast to options being considered by the SCC, Millersville's additions are largely athletic because they don't have facilities comparable to LHU on campus.

The SCC is currently trying to gather information as to how the PUB could be expanded, according to SCC President Bob Rote.

"The SCC is working on the ground-work to get the specific details down so that they can offer the expansion idea to the students. It will then be up to the students to decide if they want to expand," said Rote.

He also said that if the referendum would pass, it would be funded in the same manner as Millersville. It will then be up to the Board of Trustees to set a fee that each student will pay.

A survey was created by Herb Monroe, a member of the PUB Expansion Committee, to get student opinions and feedback as to what they would like to see in an expanded PUB. This survey appears today on page two in the Eagle Eye.

The SCC is currently in search of a private design consultant or architect to start work on the project, according to Machelle Grace, the SCC Recording Secretary.

Rote added, "I believe that all students and student organizations are going to have to see what they are missing and back the expansion in order for it to work."

Announcements

Newspaper Schedule

Here are the dates that the Eagle Eye will be published for the rest of the semester:

Fri., April 15	Tues., April 19
Fri., April 22	Tues., April 26
Fri., April 29

Mathematics Placement Test

The math placement test may be taken any day in Russell 28. Call Mrs. Rehn at 2091 for an appointment. No student should pre-register for a mathematics course without a placement test score on file.

Math Placement Test Results

Students and/or advisors may get math placement test results and recommendations by calling 2091 or by stopping by Russell 28.

Athletic Trainers

There will be a meeting for all student athletic trainers on Thurs., April 14 at 7:30 p.m. in the Health Science Building Classroom.

Attention Film Buffs

Please note that the number for the course Ideology in Film was misprinted in the master schedule. It should be listed as PH 310. If you have any trouble getting into the course, please see Daniel Shaw immediately in Raub 412. Join in the study of such thinkers as Jefferson, Marx and Freud, and also in seeing good films from throughout the history of moviemaking.

Havenscope

There will be a Havenscope meeting Thurs., April 14 at 1 p.m. in the television studio in Robinson Hall.

Athletic Director Forum

Sharon Taylor, the only candidate for the position of athletic director, will present her views on the position of athletic director today at 1 p.m. in Hamblin International Auditorium. The Search Committee will receive comments about Taylor's candidacy in writing from any member of the University community until Fri., April 15. Send any comments to Mary Rossman in Robinson Hall Room 103.

WLHU Disc Jockeys

There will be a mandatory meeting of all DJ's in the station on Tues., April 12 at 1 p.m. If most of you once again fail to attend this meeting, we will be forced to shut down broadcast operations. People have become too lax of late, failing to show up for shifts and all, and this must stop. We must also begin to get organized for next year. So this is a very important meeting, and if you fail to show up, you may find yourself without a show the next week. Get a grip!

Softball team splits doubleheader with Army 2-1, 1-2

By Merritt La Porta
Sports Reporter

The Lady Eagles softball team broke even again on Saturday as they split a home doubleheader with the U.S. Military Academy, winning 2-1 in the first game and losing 2-1 in the second.

LHU was held to just one hit in the first game, but it was a first inning double off the bat of Lisa Suppan with the bases loaded. Two runs scored before Army cut down the third run at the plate.

Junior right-handed hurler Sandy Hess held Army scoreless through six innings until the seventh, when a lead-off double followed by a single drove in Army's only run of the game.

The run ended Hess' string of innings without an earned run at 62, but the victory raised her season record to 8-1.

In the second game, Army struck first with an unearned run in the fourth inning, but LHU answered right back in the fifth when Hess led off with a double and pinch runner Gretchen Caton then scored on a throwing error by the shortstop on a ball hit by second game pitcher Shawna Kohler.

Army's winning run came in the seventh on two singles, a sacrifice bunt and a sacrifice fly ball to centerfield.

Kohler allowed eight hits, struck out two and walked three.

Hess and Kohler each smashed a double while Lori DiVecchio, Kim Hasson, Vicki DiVittorio and Suppan all added singles.

The Lady Eagles visited the Nittany Lions of Penn State yesterday but the results were not available a press time.

Today they travel to Bucknell for a doubleheader beginning at 3:30 p.m.

LHU gets three first places at Ship

By Jeffrey Hilty
Sports Reporter

Bald Eagles Carl Fisher, Steve Reeser, and Angie Jones had first place finishes at Shippensburg University Collegiate Invitational in track action last Saturday.

Reeser won the 400 meter meter dash in 49.66 seconds and Jones threw 129'1" for the win in the discus.

Jones said that her closest competition at the Ship Invitational, Jill Cicierski at 127'11", is also her main competitor this year.

"My goal this year to win against her because last year she has beaten me most of the times when we competed," said Jones.

Reeser said that his time, as well as everybody's time was off a little last Saturday due to the windy weather.

He added that his competition last Saturday will probably his hardest until the conference.

"I've met most of my competition already and I think that it'll be in the conference until I would meet them again," said Reeser.

Fisher placed first in the 110 meter high hurdles with a time of 14.84 seconds and also placed second in the long jump with a distance of 23'9".

Fisher also combined with Reeser, Mark Robinson, and Tony Fleury in the 400 meter relay with a finish of 43.67 seconds to take second place.

Reeser also combined with Fleury, Robinson, and Mike Bachman to place third in the 1600 meter relay team with a time of 3:24.3.

Joe Kravitz sprinted the 800 meter run in 1:58.19 to take a sixth place.

In women's competition, Sonja Yingling placed fifth in the 100 meter hurdles with a time of 16.31 seconds and sixth in the long jump with a distance of 16'10".

Jill Baumgartner ran the 10,000 meter run in 40:02.7 to finish fifth and qualify her for the Pennsylvania Conference Championship meet at IUP, May 5-7.

Antoinette Whittington teamed with Sherri Bowen, Vicki Sterner, and Melissa Reese to place seventh in the 400 meter relay team with a time of 52.70 seconds and dashed the 100 meter in 13.17 seconds for an eighth place.

The 1600 meter relay team of Kerry Shaginaw, Amy Caldwell, Suzanne Hatcher and Karen Cole placed eighth with a time of 4:23.3.

Head Coach Stan Burke also said that several members of the team were achieving personal bests in their performances.

Included were Waverly Pinkney in the 100 and 200 meter dashes with times of 11.39 and 23.24 seconds, respectively. Brian Catherman and Rob Hovier both cleared 12' in the pole vault.

Also named were Billie Reish's 27.13 seconds and Whittington's 27.01 seconds in the 200 meter dash, Julie Grasser's 2:26.3 in the 800 meter run and Kathy Stein's 5:16.4 in the 1500 meter run.

Burke added that the times for everyone at the Ship Invitational were probably "not as impressive" due to the wind, but that team members were winning the events as opposed to looking for a best time was the key to performance in Saturday's invitational.

Next Saturday, Lock Haven University Invitational will be held here at Hubert Jack Stadium at 10 a.m.

Lacrosse loses to S.U.N.Y.

By Maryellen Jaskuta
Sports Reporter

State University of New York (S.U.N.Y.) at Cortland stalled the last ten minutes of the game to preserve a 11-7 win over the Lady Eagle lacrosse team.

The Haven was down 4-1 in the first half and battled back for the halftime tie.

"The first half was excellent, we played well," said Head Coach Bridget Roun.

Heidi Firth scored all four of her goals in the first half to keep the Lady Eagles within reach while Jen Lesefka and Karen Learn also scored one apiece in the first half.

With the score tied 6-6 at halftime, Sophomore Karen Learn scored the first goal of the second half to put LHU up 7-6.

Three minutes later, S.U.N.Y.'s Laurie Fletcher scored to notch the game at 7-7.

One minute later, Fletcher's teammate Steph Quarticcio scored the go ahead goal.

Then S.U.N.Y. put the game on a stall.

"They spread the offense out and took the best possible shot they could," explained Roun.

While stalling, S.U.N.Y. scored three more goals to open up the game.

"They worked for all their shots, nothing came cheap," said Roun.

In the stall, LHU lost its composure and started to panic according to Roun.

"We started to double team them and we did get the ball back but we went down and took a bad shot," said Roun.

Paula Stephens and Karen Learn each recorded an assist.

"Defensively we also played well," said Roun.

Lady Eagle Goalkeeper Laurie Kerr had 15 saves while S.U.N.Y. goalkeeper Kris Lapaglia also had 15 saves.

LHU had 24 shots on goal while S.U.N.Y. tallied 22.

"I'm pleased with the team's performance right now," said Roun. "It's coming together and it's gonna fall in our court one of these times."

The next game for the Lady Eagles is Wednesday as they travel to Millersville University.

Find out the results of the Eagle Eye sports poll in Friday's paper.
