Campus police stop student brawls

By JIM DORAN
Staff Reporter

A knife and wrench were displayed and two persons injured in a brawl outside the Parsons Union Building (PUB) last Friday evening said Mr. Carl Nelson, Director of Law Enforcement for Lock Haven State College.

According to Law Enforcement reports, a fight started at a dance held in Bentley Hall about 2:00 a.m. last Friday, which was stopped by Campus Law Enforcement officers and the Student Auxiliary force.

Soon after the first fight was halted, campus police were called in to stop a second brawl around the PUB area in which two persons were injured.

One of the students involved in the disturbances was reportedly struck with the wrench.

Both persons were examined at Lock Haven Hospital and later released.

Nelson reported that the seriousness of the disturbances lies in the fact that weapons were displayed by participants.

The incident involved approximately 20 people and is presently under investigation by Law Enforcement officials.

In other activity which occurred over the weekend campus police officials reported that James R. Hanjaras of R.D. 1, Montrose, Pennsylvania, was arraigned on a charge of Public Drunkenness by Magistrate Carl Hamberger last Saturday.

According to official Law Enforcement reports, Hanjaras was arrested and charged by campus police. Hanjaras was then committed to Clinton County jail before his arraignment.

Total cost of the fines charged to Hanjaras by Hamberger is $36.00.

Kaune cleared of charges in ceiling tile case by magistrate

DAVID KAUNE

At a hearing held yesterday morning before Carl Hamberger, District Magistrate, LHSC student David Kaune was found not guilty of a charge of "criminal mischief."

The case revolved around a broken ceiling tile in High Hall. The prosecutor had a witness who claimed to have seen Kaune break the tile with a basketball.

In Kaune's defense were four witnesses who verified that the ceiling tile had been broken before Kaune was seen with the basketball in the corridor.

Hamberger stated that if any harassment comes to the prosecuting witness as a result of his testimony, A fine of three-hundred dollars will be assessed to the guilty party.

International Day sponsored

By TINA BROOKS
Feature Editor

Approximately 400 high school students and their teachers will be visiting the Lock Haven State College campus today for International Day, which is being sponsored by the Foreign Languages Department.

International Day, part of the department's response to the mission in International Education recently assigned to LHS, will consist of entertainment, lectures and films concerning the foreign languages and countries.

Students and teachers are attending from the high schools of Patton, Jersey Shore, Lock Haven, Hughesville, Canton, Alexandria, Huntington and Emporium.

Prizes are being awarded to the schools based on performances of the student guests.

Performances are expected to consist of dances, songs and skits in all languages. Foreign Language music records will be the prizes.

Three one-act Spanish plays are to be presented entitled El Censo, El Juego Sagrado, and El Delantal Blanco.

Dr. Edmund Carney, a member of the Spanish Department, stated, "The college community is cordially invited to join us in any or all of the events. Lock Haven State students are urged, if interested, to attend the 8 p.m., Tuesday or the 4 p.m., Wednesday performances of the Spanish American plays."

Donkey b-ball set for tonight

Thomas Field House, which has housed everything from concerts to circuses, will serve as a part time livery stable tonight as "Donkey" basketball performs on the Lock Haven State campus. This "roundball classic of comedy" will pit the brothers of the Kappa Delta Rho fraternity against seven members of the college faculty. Tip-off is slated for 7:30 p.m.

Donkey basketball, a novelty sports contest which is rapidly gaining fame in this area, follows the same rules and guidelines as its regulation counterpart.

The major difficulty in the game lies in making a goal from the back of the donkey. The player must coax the animal to move fairly close to the net, and then hope the donkey doesn't make any sudden movements. The comedy of the contest is seeing the participants straining to control the often stubborn and "hard to get along with" animals.

The college contingent who agreed to represent the faculty are Ms. Carol Eckman, Ms. Dora Vandine, Dr. Bruce Young, Mr. Brad Black, Prof. Karl Herrmann, Prof. Richard Kohlan, and Prof. James Dolan. Their opposition, the brothers of KDR, are using a "swing" time strategy, where all the brothers get some riding time.

Tickets are still available from the local YMCA, or from any member of Kappa Delta Rho.

Super salesman Ralph peddles original 'Real McCoy' shirts

By BILL STERNER
Staff Reporter

"Hey c'mon. You better get your shirt now while the limited supply lasts," pleads the salesman to an attractive, black-haired coed as she walks away from Bentley Hall. His eyes and smile, the picture of absolute sincerity, he drapes a sample of the garment over his huge frame. His customer continues her retreat on to the campus, giving a casual, but interested glance back at the eyes following her. "Well, it's your loss," he says with a broad smile.

This is how Ralph McCoy, a junior elementary education major, has been spending his free time. The shirts he sells are not of the usual variety one purchases at the bookstore or at a sporting goods supply. These shirts, believe it or not, carry Ralph McCoy's face on the front.

"I just thought about putting my picture on a t-shirt one day," says the soft spoken native of Norristown, Pa. "My father and I have done silk screens at home for team shirts. The idea began as a joke at home, but some of my friends thought it was really great," he related. "Pretty soon, they all wanted to buy one."

McCoy prints the shirts himself by the use of a silk screen. So far, his sales have netted a total of 60 garments at a clip of $2.50 a piece. He has sold shirts in Philadelphia, at Penn State, Millersville and Lock Haven. "I currently have an order to fill for some friends at Slippery Rock," McCoy said. McCoy said he sells the Heinz, who was born and raised on a farm, is concerned about a wide range of issues. The Congressman is against federal meddling in the running of small towns. He is in favor of legislation which would allocate money to rebuild the railroads and give thousands of people jobs. Concerning defense, Heinz is not in favor of any cuts in the present defense budget.

When asked why he voted against prayer in public schools, Heinz stated he was not against prayer in public schools, but against forced prayer or the government dictating what the prayer should be. He is concerned with how the federal government is dealing with the pesticide problem and stated, "Not all the pests you have are in your fields."

Accusations against politicians concerning political payoffs and corruption, run rampant today, and Heinz has not

Tennis team scores win over Lycoming

By DOUGLAS GREITZ
Staff Reporter

This past Thursday, at the Haven, the Lock Haven State College tennis team easily disposed of Lycoming College by a score of 8-1.

Tag Helt, who is in the No. 1 singles position began the afternoon competition and was upset by Bill Levegold of Lycoming 3-6, 2-6.

However, the netmen captured the next five singles matches starting with John Hubert's crushing defeat of his opponent 6-0, 6-1.

Craig Shindler (No. 4) won 6-2, 6-4; Rich Morell ground out a three set 3-6, 6-3, 6-4 victory, while Steve Hower also topped the opponent 6-2, 6-3.

In doubles competition, play was dominated by the Bald Eagles as the No. 1 duo of Helt and Miller beat the Lycoming twosome 6-3, 6-3.

Hubert and Shindler, in the No. 2 position, were victorious in two sets 6-0, 6-4. Morell and Scott Bishop rounded doubles play out with a rugged 3-6, 6-1, 7-5 win.

In exhibition play, Freshman Rick Hoover defeated his man 3-6, 6-2, 6-4. Jim Marton, also a freshman, ousted Joe Zyssett 10-8, 6-2.

In a crucial if not pivotal match, Karl Herrmann's netmen cruised to a fairly easy 8-1 victory over the Indiana University of Pennsylvania (I.U.P.) tennis team on Saturday at home.

The final score was not indicative of play as five of the nine matches went to three sets, and in three of those matches a tie-breaker set was involved. The match was in contrast with the match against Slippery Rock earlier this season, because, as Coach Herrmann put it, "This time we won the big points in the big matches."

Tag Helt, came out on the short end 6-3, 3-6, 1-6, and his troubles lie mainly in the stiff competition he faces. However, the Bald Eagles swept the remaining singles matches.

John Hubert (No. 2) outlasted Kevin Kelley 6-1, 7-6. Craig Shindler (No. 4; trounced Dennis Neal 6-2, 6-2, in what Coach Herrmann called, "Craig's best match thus far this season."

Rich Morell (No. 5) continues to be impressive by extending his streak four straight by defeating Mark Tanrora 6-2, 6-4. Also playing consistently is Steve Hower, who also prevailed, 6-1, 4-6, 6-4.

In doubles competition, Helt and Miller knocked off the I.U.P. duo, 6-2, 2-6, 7-6. Hubert and Shindler coasted

Baseball team continues it's winning ways

By STEVE HEVERLY

Galen Miller's clutch single in the top half of the seventh inning drove in Ed Stum from second base with the winning run in Lock Haven State's 3-2 win over Indiana University of Pennsylvania's baseball squad last Thursday. The 3-2 victory enabled the Bald Eagles to sweep a doubleheader from the IUP Indians, after winning the first game 9-2.

"These are the biggest two games we've won since I have coached here," coach Charles Eberle stated after the games. The sweep of the defending division champs on their feild leaves the LHSC baseball team as the team to beat in the division. Their conference record is now 4-0.

Miller's heroics in the last inning were set up by leadoff walks to Stum and Dave Royer. After back to back strikeouts, Miller sent an opposite field grounder between first and second, and Stum beat the ball to the plate.

The game wouldn't have come down to the last inning as Lock Haven rolled along with a 2-0 lead into the sixth inning, but Indiana's Joe McMonagle ripped a two run homer to tie the game.

Lock Haven had achieved their two runs on an RBI single by Russ Martin in the fourth and a wild pitch in the sixth.

Bob Weber started the second game and looked good, evening his record at 1-1. Weber struck out three and allowed just three hits in six innings of work.

Ed Sampsell came in to work the seventh and recorded a save. Sampsell pitched a key strike-out on the last batter with the tying run on third.

The Bald Eagles ran away with the first game by scoring six runs in the first two innings.

In the first inning the team scored three runs without a hit taking advantage of six walks.

The three runs in the second came on a leadoff triple by Mike Crone, who then advanced home on an error by the IUP pitcher fielding the throw. Russ Martin then fol-

Golf team captures two wins

By AL VALLETTA

Despite cold and windy weather the Lock Haven State college golf team has opened their season in fine fashion.

The linksmen of Coach Stan Daley topped neighboring Lycoming College in the season opener, then put another win under their belts with a victory over Juniata College last Tuesday.

Led by senior three year letterman John Thomas 76, and sophomore Dave Kenner's 79 opening day scores at Belles Spring golf course the Eagle team smashed Lycoming by a 402-455 margin.

Rounding out the score for the Haven were sophomore

John Gaenzle (81); and two freshmen, Jeff Rupert (82), and Chris Cooper (84) on the par 72 course.

The second match found Lock Haven gaining revenge over Juniata 407-417. Last year Juniata won by the identical score.

Leading the way for the Eagles was Keener who came in with a fine round of 74. Keener eagled the par 5 16th hole at Belles Spring on his way to an excellent score.

Rupert, Gaenzle and junior Jim Brungard followed with a score of 83. John Thomas' 84 rounded out the scoring for the team.

Allegations were made stating that the Congressman solicited and accepted an illegal campaign contribution from Gulf Oil Corporation. Last year Heinz disclosed the reception of $6000 in cash from Gulf for his 1971 and 1972 Congressional campaigns. He believed the money came from employee groups rather than the corporation. Recently, he returned the money.

These accusations prove to be a detriment to his campaign because his opponents constantly emphasize it. Arlen Specter, former District Attorney in Philadelphia, who is competing against Heinz for the Senate nomination, stated, "Mr. Heinz is out of serious contention because his competency and integrity have been obviously undermined." George Packard, also competing for the nomination, has called for a full-scale investigation.

Heinz is campaigning vigorously for the Senate nomination even though he won his seat in the House of Representatives with 70½% of the vote.

The Congressman is endorsed by Pennsylvania State Education Agency (P.S.E.A.) and American Federation of State County & Municipal Employees (P.F.S.C.M.E.). Groups such as these are limited to a $5000 contribution by campaign laws. The union leaders must work to produce actual votes and support for the endorsements for them to be of any consequence.

Heinz is a descendent of the founder of the H.J. Heinz food conglomerate.

band's American management company confirmed the split, but announced that Sparks would reform for another tour. But Ian Hampton (bassist) said, "There is no way the band is going to come together again. The whole thing is finished." Spark's British publicists have denied all knowledge of the reasons for the split. The man who waved a gun at Ted Nugent on stage in January at Spokane, Washington was arrested on a charge of first degree murder of his mother, sister and two nephews. The charge indicated that the murders happened some time before the Nugent incident. In May, Ian Hunter will come out with a new LP which will feature Herbie Hancock, David Sanborn, Anysley Dunbar and the Brecker Brothers. lowed with a single and after consecutive fly balls, Steve DeLisle ripped a two-out single and advanced to second on the throw to the plate. Jeff Kashner then brought DeLisle home with a single.

The Eagles scored two more in the fifth when Crone doubled sending home Miller, and Joe Tarconish advancing to third. Miller and Tarconish had gotten on with singles. Tarconish then advanced home on an error by IUP's shortstop.

Lock Haven's last run came in the seventh. After Crone got his third hit of the game, a single, designated hitter Stum boomed a RBI triple to right center.

Steve Lebo pitched another strong game giving up four hits and striking-out 10.

Today the Eagles try to keep up their winning ways in a non-conference doubleheader with Bloomsburg. The doubleheader starts at 1:00 and will be played at Woolrich Memorial Field.

But with his salesmanship abilities, those shirts just may go down in history along with Beethoven sweatshirts and Spring Break t-shirts.

When asked if he had anything else to say, McCoy pondered for a moment and then grinned from ear to ear. "Yeah," he said at last, "They come in all sizes."
