

Vincent Hauge To Publish Dissertation

LOCK HAVEN—A dissertation written by Vincent Hauge, associate professor of political science at Lock Haven State College, has been accepted by the International City Management Association to be printed in monograph form.

Hauge is currently working on the monograph and the probable publication date is the spring of 1972.

The dissertation, completed last year at the University of Pennsylvania, is entitled, 'Representation on city councils: a comparative study of councilors' independence of constituents in six council-manager cities.'

It focuses on the norms which shape a city councilor's response to his constituents, with special attention to the councilor's independence as he 'represents' them. Sixty predictor-variables were related to a general measure of independence, 13 separate measures were developed and examined with a view to testing the construct and criterion validities of the usual measure of this phenomenon.

This is the first time such a validation effort has been attempted.

The data for the 160 page dissertation was primarily gathered through 45 days of interviews with 70 city councilors, attorneys, and managers.

The research effort was directly supported by $3,500 in grants including one from the International City Management Association.

The monograph for ICMA will present the bulk of the substantive findings of the dissertation in a form suitable for lay readership.

WASHINGTON, D.C.— Senator Bob Dole, Chairman of the Republican National Committee, today urged state legislatures to give speedy approval of the Constitutional Amendment giving 18 to 20-year-olds the right to vote.

In a letter to all Republican Governors, state chairman and legislative leaders he said that 18 to 20-year-olds should have the opportunity 'to take part in the full range of electoral activities next year and hereafter. We believe that eleven million new voters can make a significant contribution to the dialogue of democracy which we pursue daily.'

Speaking for his Party, Dole said, 'We supported the Fifteenth Amendment to allow Black Americans full voting rights of all citizens. We supported the Nineteenth Amendment to extend the franchise to women. It is now time for our Party at all levels to welcome America's youth into the rolls of our nation's voters.' The Constitutional Amendment, an Administration proposal, was passed by the House Wednesday and by the Senate last week.

Mrs. Wolfe Dies In Accident

Mrs. Florence T. Wolfe, the secretary of the Lock Haven State College Student Cooperative Council, was killed in a one car accident last Sunday.

Mrs. Wolfe was killed instantly, according to the coroner's report when her car left the road, jumped a 35 foot space over Two Mile Run and crashed into a tree.

The Clinton County Coroner, Mrs. Doris Kissell, said that the information that she received indicated that Mrs. Wolfe and her husband, James, had been at the home of some friends until 4:30 a.m. Both left the friends home driving their own car.

When Mr. Wolfe came upon the scene of the accident, he saw that his wife had been thrown from the car into a nearby stream. He tried to get his wife into his own car, but could not and had to go for help. In Westport he phoned for the West Branch ambulance.

The accident occurred on legislative route 18003 two miles north of Westport at 5:30 a.m.

Spring Fever Hits LHS Students

Akeley Investigation Begun

LOCK HAVEN—The advisability of phasing out the Akeley campus school at Lock Haven State College was the subject of a lengthy debate at the March meeting of the college faculty, resulting in the election of a faculty committee of five "to investigate all relevant information pertaining to the policy and procedures involved in the decision to phase out the Akeley Program."

The committee was instructed to submit at the May meeting a recommendation for faculty action on the issue.

Dr. Francis Hamblin, president of the college, stated that he would make all pertinent papers concerning the phasing out of Akeley School available to the committee. He agreed to suspend further administrative action until the committee had reported to the faculty in May.

Those elected to the committee were Robert Clemmer, professor of history; William Reich, professor of English; Donald Day, assistant professor of history; Dale Cooper, assistant professor of science education; and Michael Peplow, associate professor of English.

The issue was raised at the meeting through a letter addressed to the faculty by "a committee of concerned parents authorized to represent the Akeley Parent Teacher Association."

The letter, read aloud to the faculty at the meeting, stated the reasons why the parents hoped that "the children attending Akeley School will not be phased out of the program but be allowed to continue as part of the future student population of the Learning Resources Center."

The reasons given, in part, were that Akeley School provides the only alternative to the traditional classroom situation in the Lock Haven area, through innovative educational methods of ungraded classes, "open" classrooms, individually prescribed instruction, and a pre-kindergarten program. LHS students and area public school teachers are free to observe and participate in the programs.

The letter stated further that the "parents who have committed their children to this experimental program feel that the college has a moral obligation to complete the education. We so highly approve of this unique learning situation that we are very concerned that it continue not only for our own but for other children in the future."

The letter pointed out that, of the 117 families with children attending Akeley School, less than one-third are members of the LHS faculty.

New Policy Takes Effect

Effective April 1, 1971, the following policy for the use of student government vehicles will take effect.

1. Vehicles used for student government activity will receive first priority. In the event that a vehicle has been previously signed out for use by another organization, which will conflict with a student government activity, notification will be received by the organization in time for them to secure another source of transportation.
 2. Second priority will be given to those organizations funded by SCC on a first-come first-served basis. Reservations should be made at least one week in advance of the date needed.
 3. Third priority will be given to those member organizations of SCC that are not funded by the student government.
 4. No group or organization, not under SCC control shall be granted use of the SCC vehicles. This includes classes, special groups, or faculty.
- Arrangements for use of SCC vehicles will be made through the office of the Director of the Union. Under past terms pertaining to mileage etc., any damage to vehicles shall be reported to said Director's office upon return.

Centennial Ball tickets for the student body may be purchased from Mrs. Brown in Raub 411. The price of tickets for our students has been reduced to five dollars ($5.00) a couple. This is a rather formal occasion, but dress is optional. Music will be provided by Jack Purcell from Pittsburgh. This is an eleven piece band with a vocalist. Let's get behind the committee, and support this very important occasion.

Abolition Of Board Attempted

The SCC Constitutional Revision Committee, whose members include students, College administrators, and Trustees, is trying to abolish the board of directors and replace it with a senate composed of approximately thirty senators. The committee has been working on the revision since September 30, 1970, and hopes to have it completed sometime before the close of the spring semester.

It is thought that senators will be chosen from various organizations and dorms on campus and will be chosen by the members of these clubs and houses. These representatives will be responsible for influencing more concern about campus problems and situations of concern rather than the distribution of SCC funds.

David Riggs, Chairman of the committee, explained that the revision was necessary because "there were some points in the old constitution which are a violation of state laws and which need to be changed, along with specifications of the offices of treasurer and parliamentarian."

SCC Treasurer James J. Lebda, a member of the committee, said also that "the student government cannot function under the present financial situation." He explained that "the budget for the school year 1970-71 is $187,775, and we're almost out of money already." Riggs added that students should be concerned less with campus activities which require more expenditures, such as dances and debates, and concerned more with campus problems such as women's dorm hours and an examination file in the library.

In addition to students Jim Lebda and David Riggs, C. Gordon Klingaman, Jr., and James T. Dawes, both members of the SCC Board of Directors, Dr. John H. Bone, Dean of Students; Dr. Paul F. Klens, Dean of Arts and Science; and Francis J. Cornelius, Dean of Men; have been working on the revision.

RIPPEY SCORES BIG IN EAST WEST MATCH

by Al Smith

Lock Haven State College's Larry Rippey scored a major upset in the fifth annual East-West wrestling match at Stillwater, Okla. which helped the East to a tough 19-13 victory, April 2.

Rippey upset NCAA champion Roger Weigel of Oregon State at 134-pounds and avenged a 16-5 lacing suffered to Weigel at the NCAA tourney just a few weeks ago at Auburn, Ala.

The LHS senior, the first Bald Eagle to ever participate in the event, wrestled Weigel on his feet to gain a 9-4 verdict for his revenge. Rippey had finished fourth at 134 in the NCAA tourney.

Match Nip And Tuck

The all-star match was nip and tuck all the way with the biggest lead of the evening being six points, by the East on three different occasions.

The Easterners jumped off to a quick 3-0 lead on a 5-1 decision by Iowa State's Greg Johnson over Oklahoma State's Ray Stapp. The 118-pound bout was a rematch of the NCAA finals two years ago at Evanston, Ill. where Johnson gained a referee's decision in overtime for his first national title. He won his second at Auburn against Navy's Tom Schuler, 6-5.

The West tied the match at 126-pounds when Oklahoma State's Dwayne Keller, down from 134, clipped Mark Massery of Northwestern, 8-5. Keller had dropped his first collegiate loss to Weigel at Auburn in the finals, 15-7, after winning two national titles and being voted outstanding wrestler in 1968.

Keller Ties Bout, 6-6

After Keller knotted the score, Rippey followed with his big upset. Darrell Keller, Dwayne's twin brother, then tied the score at six all by nipping Navy's Lloyd Keaser, 4-3.

Darrell Keller had pulled one of the major upsets at Auburn by clipping Washington's Larry Owings, 16-12 for the 142-pound title and outstanding wrestler award.

The East then took a six-point lead after the next two bouts receiving a 9-4 decision from slippery Rock's Stan Dziedzic at 150 over Oklahoma State's Jay Arneson. This bout was a rematch of the finals in Auburn where Dziedzic had gained a 6-1 victory for his title.

LHS Wins Track First Team Meet

The Lock Haven State track team started its season right on April 3 by upsetting defending conference champion Millersville and by also beating Lincoln. LHS scored 79½ to Millersville's 67½. Lincoln scored 34. The victory was especially meaningful since the Marauders blasted the eagles last year by a 103 to 40 count.

The big guns for LHS were Joe Walker and Chuck Simcoe. "Jumpin' Joe" won the hundred, the 220 and anchored the 440 relay to victory. His 220 time qualified him for the NAIA championships, held in Billings, Montana in June. "The Deacon" (Simcoe) ran on the 440 relay, won the 440, placed third in the 220 and ran on the mile relay.

Also instrumental in the Eagle victory were Byron Almoney, first in the high hurdles and second in the intermediates, John Mingo, first in the intermediates, Galen Hess, first in the pole vault, and Bill McNelis, first in the javelin, third in the long jump, and fourth in the triple jump.

Probably the most surprising performance of the meet was the 12 foot, second place vault by Randy Kress in the pole vault, a personal best for him.

Important also in the scoring were Wayne Covington, Steve Podgajny, Nibs Gordon, Steve Glass, Tom Allen, Terry Mantle, Vic Campagna, George Bower, and Don Taylor.

800 — 1. Girvin (M), 2. Johnson (L), 3. Bower (LH) T — 2:09

East Ups Margin To Six

Ohio University's Bruce Trammel upped the East margin to 12-6 with a 7-3 triumph against Larry Laush of Oklahoma. Laush who did not place at Auburn, substituted for NCAA champion Carl Adams of Iowa State. Trammel had place third at Auburn.

The East maintained their six-point lead after the next two bouts as both squads split two draws.

Junior Johnson of Portland kept the West in contention when he held Penn State's NCAA champ Andy Matter to a 1-1 draw at 167. The draw made the score 14-8.

East Gets Mild Upset

The East received somewhat of a mild upset from Ohio University's Russ Johnson when he drew with Oklahoma State's two-time NCAA champ Geoff Baum 3-3 at 177 making the score 16-10.

The West drew close at 16-13 at 190 when Ben Peterson of Iowa State decided Vince Paolano of Syracuse, 3-1 in a rematch of their NCAA finals bout. Peterson had gained an 11-6 verdict at Auburn.

Penn State's Dave Joyner then clinched the bout for the East when he edged Jim Shields of Oklahoma State, 5-2 putting the final score at 19-13. Joyner was named to the team when Toledo's Greg Wojchichowshi, the heavyweight champion, elected to compete in the National AAU meet.

The win gives the East a 3-2 edge in the series.

To The Editor:

The recent College Board decision to 'phase out' the Akeley School, as reported in the Express of March 25th, raises serious questions in the minds of many Akeley P.T.A. members. They have taken this opportunity to raise public issue with the Board's action.

Perhaps it is true that the function of laboratory schools has changed in recent years. But have they outlived their usefulness? An investigation by P.T.A. members indicated that all of Pennsylvania's state owned colleges and university that have committed themselves to a 'Learning Resources Center,' except for Lock Haven, have incorporated or intend to include a permanent student population in their new centers. Would those most directly concerned with teacher education at Lock Haven State College subscribe to the notion that campus laboratory schools are outdated? It is understood that they almost unanimously oppose the educational position taken by Dr. Hamblin. The P.T.A. questions the practicality and, more importantly, the educational consequences of shuttling our children from the public school classroom to the Learning Resources Center on a short-term basis.

Dr. Parsons' opinion of 1966 is presented as a justification for the recent action taken by the College Board of Trustees. Should this opinion serve as a justification for 1971 administrative decisions? Has no progress been made in the development of this program since 1966? In the distant past, Akeley School principally served elementary majors, but at present the programs serve future teachers at all levels, pre-kindergarten through high school (For instance, the middle school project, early childhood education, mathematics education, music, child psychology, art, physical education). Is this not serving more than elementary education?

The Express article reported that a 'faculty study committee' agreed in December that the Learning Resources Center would concern itself with a 'non-residential, non-duplicatory, and a permanent-variable population.' The P.T.A. has learned that of the committee of ten, all nine members who were present agreed that 'a permanent pupil population representative of Clinton County' was both desirable and necessary in the future Learning Resources Center.

Dr. Hamblin supports his contentions by citing a cost factor and the need for more classroom space. How is it that the other state-owned institutions can support permanent student populations in their Learning Resources Centers and still continue to expand their college facilities and student population? The effect of Dr. Hamblin's plan, of course, will shift a part of the cost of teacher and student education from a state-wide base to the shoulders of the tax payers of Clinton County. Regarding classroom and office space, is it not reasonable to assume that the state freeze on building programs is temporary? Does it make good sense to eliminate valuable educational programs because of temporary financial adversity?

It seems unfortunate that the College Board of Trustees saw fit to act on this crucial matter without the full benefit of community, faculty, parent, and student opinions. Any one of these groups might have contributed viable alternatives to the option selected by the administration and the Board.

Sincerely yours,
Elizabeth S. Brobst
