Forum held on PUB expansion project

By Biff Miller
Staff Reporter

A new Parsons Union Building will have a positive impact for years and years, said the NUTECH architects at the PUB Expansion open forum.

The forum was held on Wednesday night, giving students a chance to ask questions about the PUB Expansion Project expected to take place if the referendum is passed next week.

The futuristic PUB would provide students with a quality environment as well as invite the community to "come together" with the campus, said Manny Cunard, a consultant to the project.

At the forum, NUTECH presented designs of the different levels of the new PUB.

The new PUB will have an increased number of windows for greater visibility, said Richard DeGerre of NUTECH.

The lower level will include a rental shop, a larger recreation room, television lounge, and commuter lounge.

Cunard said the commuter lounge "will bring the commuter population a lot closer to the campus than they are today."

It will allow sufficient security of clothes and books, he said.

Another level will include a larger bookstore, computer cluster, meeting rooms, banquet room, cafeteria, and main lobby, said DeGerre.

The main lobby will serve as a primary gathering area and will be critical to the campus, said Cunard.

Cunard also said, "a true student union has to have a fireplace" and NUTECH has included one in the project.

The new PUB features two balconies. A third balcony giving students a scenic view of the river is being considered, said DeGerre.

The futuristic PUB will appear more homey, without a lot of fluorescent lights and concrete, said Cunard.

LHU plans to spend the set total of $3.5 million on the project.

NUTECH has not had a problem staying within the set cost of the PUB

Expansion Project.

"Everything can be done within the price range," said DeGerre.

The project is expected to start in Fall 1989, if the referendum passes.

"Realistically speaking, the only problem we would have with the project would be running into winter," said DeGerre.

The current services of the PUB would temporarily relocate until the building is completed, said Cunard.

"Once the new building is built, we're going to say, 'How did we ever survive in that old building?'," said Leland Spangler, director of the PUB.

Student voting on the referendum will take place April 20, 21, 24, and 25.

Model U.N. at LHU

By Joan Bayer
Staff Reporter

The annual model United Nations (U.N.) for area high school students began Wednesday and continued yesterday.

The model U.N. director and instructor of History, Political Science, Economics, and Management Science at LHU, Richard Shryock, said the high school students are representing over 978 countries, from Afghanistan to Zambia.

Each student did research on the country they represent to give them a "more diverse view of the world."

Shryock said the students discussed the resolutions they had written on this year's main issues in committee sessions.

He said the issues were the status of women, the role of transnational corporations, and the future of the Western Sahara.

The model U.N. concluded with an awards presentation; each student was given a certificate of participation.

Three trophies were also awarded to the best delegate, the best delegation, and the best portrayed country, said Shryock.

The model U.N. provided the students with a "cultural understanding of other countries" and it "immersed them in current affairs."

Just a few of the 73 tombstones in the Highland Cemetery that were vandalized during the past three weeks. Damages totaled $5,000 but no leads have been found in the investigation. See related story on page three.

New SCC executive officers elected

By Sherry Lobb
Staff Reporter

New executive officers were elected to the Student Cooperative Council for the 1989-90 academic year this past Thursday.

Troy Weaver was elected president for the second year and Paul Knappenberger, formerly the PUB Administrator is the new vice-president.

Stephanie Perry, who was the SCC Corresponding Secretary this past year, was elected PUB Administrator. Andy Wendel was elected treasurer.

Tracey Leo Visconti and Julie Tritt were elected to the offices of Corresponding Secretary and Recording Secretary, respectively. Both Visconti and Tritt were SCC senators this year.

"All of us ran unopposed, and I don't know what that says about the students, but I thought it was very disappointing," said Weaver. He also said there was a very low voter turn out.

This new executive committee will work together to appoint qualified persons to the other SCC positions of public relations, cultural affairs chairperson, social committee chairperson, and parliamentarian.

Next year, Weaver said their biggest project will be the PUB expansion. Also, he said they will be working with administration on a possible new ID food service system.

New social activities such as coffee houses, "wild and crazy" events, and a concert are also being considered for next year, said Weaver. If anyone has any new ideas, Weaver said they are welcome to come see him.

"Forty people can't do it for all three thousand. We need as many ideas as possible," said Weaver.

The new SCC executive officers seem to feel confident about the new executive committee.

"This executive committee is a good blend of people," said Knappenberger. "I think we will be very productive and we'll work together."

Perry said the new officers are all qualified for their positions and she believes they will accomplish their goals.

Weaver said he is very confident in this new committee.

"I think we'll work well together and it should be a good year," he said.

Letter to the Editor:

Dear Editor:

I am writing in order to present some ideas to consider before voting on the PUB expansion project. While I believe that this campus is in desperate need of more activities, I don't believe that the PUB expansion is the answer.

First of all, the Price Auditorium Renovation Project has been in process since at least the fall of 1986 when I entered LHU as a freshman. It is now 1989. How long does it take to renovate a building, and how long will we have to wait for the expansion of the PUB to be completed?

Second, we need to do something to keep the rising costs of tuition and book fees down here at LHU. Perhaps, since this money belongs to the students, we should use it as an advance on next semester's tuition fee or reduce the fee for books and activities.

Third, do we really need a banquet hall? The idea is nice, but is it necessary? The organization and clubs who plan to use it won't really save a lot of money because the fee for a catering service must be considered for the function's budget.

Fourth, instead of expanding the PUB, let's use the money to create more campus employment opportunities. Pay the students a small fee to work in the bookstore and make the jobs strictly campus employment since work-study students get priority for most of the other job opportunities on campus.

Finally, we could also develop an agreement from the professors on this campus to use the same textbooks for several semesters and use the money to buy back the books, thus cutting out the middle man and keeping the cost of books at a more reasonable rate.

In conclusion, I would like to encourage everyone on this campus to vote on the PUB project. However, also consider the other options available and the other needs we as students have to consider.

Improved activities are needed, but will the PUB expansion really create these activities and take care of the problems on this campus? See you in voting day!

The oil upon their wings: Alaskan Lullaby

The captian was drunk there in Alaska,
He drove on the rocks there unaware.
Broke up the ship and spilled the oil,
It's just the worst, just one big spoil.
He was the one to trash the coastline,
While Exxon just stood and played with words,
Just like a fool they have no shame,
All that they know is what's the gain.

Did you ever see such devastation,
With oil ev'rywhere but where it should be?
Birds can't fly higher than a seashell,
There's nothing but oil their wings.

It might have appeared to go unnoticed,

But TV was there to view the scene.
I want you to know we the truth:
Now we must fight these greedy men.
Did you ever see such devastation,
With oil ev'rywhere but where it should be?
Birds can't fly higher than a seashell,
There's nothing but oil their wings.
Nothing but oil upon their wings.

Paraphrase of "The Wings Beneath
My Wings"
G. Renzelman

Dear Editor:

On April 8, 1989, several university students received a criminal trespass charge for playing frisbee in the field hockey field. The field is not posted the signs and the only barriers is an orange fence at the one end of the field. The field is exposed to the street along an entire side. Just before the students were cited for merely throwing a frisbee in bare feet, several softball playing students were practicing in their cleats and were not cited. Not that it matters, because the field is open and students should be able to use it if they wish. Since all students pay fees for for the upkeep of the field, why should it be restricted to the field hockey only? why not let the students population at large be free to enjoy the field in the off-season? We are very distressed with this situation and would like answers and action immediately!

Student Spotlight...Walker to make exit from college almost 16 years after starting

By Kristin Josephson
Staff Reporter

Bruce Walker, treasurer of the Student Cooperative Council, started in Lock Haven in 1973 and is now making plans for graduation.

Walker first came to Lock Haven in 1973 and stayed for only two years. He returned in 1977 and had to leave due to lack of funds.

For the next few years Walker worked and in 1986 he came back to Lock Haven to complete his education.

Walker will graduate with a triple major in mathematics/computer science, business/computer science, and management science.

Walker plans to use his talents to obtain a job as a software engineer or systems analyst. He already has a job possibility in Raleigh, North Carolina and will go for an interview later this month.

When asked about how Lock Haven has changed since he first came to school, he said the size is a major difference. Back in 1977 there were 1,500 students compared to the current 3,000.

He went on to say that the facilities that were sufficient then are now inadequate and he supports the PUB expansion. Few adults on campus are for the expansion, said Walker.

Being treasurer of SCC, Walker is aware of the financial aspects of the expansion and assures us that the money will not come out of the activity fee, but rather the community fee and will be more than worth it.

LHU student longs to return to Mexico

By Jainene M. Scaff
Staff Reporter

Marsha Way, a sophomore Spanish major, was an exchange student to Puebla University last fall. Now, Way plans to return to Mexico in September, exactly one year later.

Way said she is anxious to see her friends again. "I applied to go on the exchange when I came back to LHU, but I didn't think I would be allowed to go," said Way. "I just found out I could return last Wednesday."

During this spring semester, Way has been speaking to Spanish classes and groups to encourage students to apply for the exchange program to Puebla.

In her talks, Way explained to students that they can improve their Spanish and learn a lot about Mexican history. Way also told students about exciting places to visit and differences between cultures.

"Mexicans have no concept of time," said Way. "They're not governed by a watch like some Americans. It's okay if they're late for class or show up an hour after they said they would."

Way added that Mexican culture is also more open and friendlier than here in America. "When I was at Puebla, everyone hugged and kissed me and shook my hand. They touch each other more and make you feel like a close friend."

Way has also visited Columbia on a high school exchange program and spent a week in Mexico when she graduated.

"When the exchange program with Puebla began I applied right away, and now, I can't wait to get back," said Way.

Seventy three tombstones turned...Cemetery vandalized

By Emilee Groce
Co-News Editor

Seventy-three tombstones were vandalized in the Highland Cemetery, resulting in damages of an excess of $5,000, said Officer Joe Sanders of the Lock Haven City Police Department.

Campus Law Enforcement is working with state and city police on the case because of the proximity of the cemetery to campus, located behind Bentley Dining Hall.

"A lot of people would assume it is college kids because the cemetery is so close to campus, but there are no suspects as of yet," said Lieutenant Dennis B. Grenninger of Campus Law Enforcement.

The incident is considered a third-degree felony, carrying a maximum sentence of seven year jail term and fine of $15,000, said Sanders.

The vandalism occurred sometime over the last three weeks, said Grenninger.

The tombstones vandalized ranged in size from small marble markers to large monumental tombstones, said Grenninger, which leads police to think that more than one person is involved in the incident.

The Cemetery Association is looking for anyone who would be willing to help set the tombstones aright, said Sanders. Anyone interested should call Mr. Williams at 748-3318.

Students harassed by telephone

Three cases of harassment were reported over the past week, said Lieutenant Grenninger.

Alarm system vandalized

The alarm system in High Hall was vandalized last Sunday night, said Grenninger.

Students caught with street sign

A Penn Dot One Way sign was confiscated from some LHU students after Law Enforcement Officials spotted it in their car.

The students claim to have found it. They also said they were going to return the sign to its rightful owner, Penn Dot, said Grenninger

Someone breaks into PUB for midnight snack

Several miscellaneous snack items were stolen from the PUB snack bar last Monday night, said Grenninger.

The back door to the snack bar was fixed so the students could enter after it closed.

Law Enforcement Officials do not have any suspects in these cases but they are still pending further investigation.

Alcohol gets confiscated

Law Enforcement Officials confiscated alcohol from a car parked by Smith Hall.

The owner of the car was visiting a LHU student and is over 21 years of age.

Frisbee players cited for playing on field

Five students received citations for playing frisbee on the field hockey field last Saturday, said Grenninger.

After being warned once by Law Enforcement Officials to stop playing on the field the students did not leave the premises, said Grenninger

Grenninger said the field is soft and students playing on it will only make it worse for the upcoming field hockey season.

Book thief in Ulmer

Fifteen textbooks were stolen from Dr. Yoho's office last Monday, said Grenninger.

Yoho's office is located in Ulmer Planetarium

Harassment strikes again

A student was harassed by a fellow student who was passing by her on the street, said Grenninger.

After shouting obscene remarks the student got into a passing truck and left.

Law Enforcement Officials have a possible suspect in the case.

The Fixx debut on RCA with their new album

Cy Curin -- lead vocals, guitar
 Jamie West-Oram -- lead guitar, backing vocals
 Adam Woods -- drums, percussion, backing vocals
 Rupert Greenall -- keyboards, backing vocals
 Dan K. Brown -- bass guitar, backing vocals

"CALM ANIMALS" is the debut album from The Fixx on RCA Records, and their fifth studio album to date. It marks several new departures for the band in both production and content.

It wasn't until 1980 that Cy Curnin, Rupert Greenall and Adam Woods found the guitarist they had been looking for in Jamie West-Oram.

With the emphasis on songwriting the band rehearsed daily in a derelict factory by the River Thames in South East London, sculpting the sounds that came naturally to them.

By the end of the year the band found themselves at the edge of the limelight with the release of their first single, "Lost Planes."

This quirky and original independently released record attracted major label interest and the band was signed by MCA.

On their early albums The Fixx sang of the fragility of peace in a nuclear age and explored the conflicts that possess us as individuals and the dangers of focusing these emotions on the banners of nationalism ("Red Skies," "Stand or Fall").

On later albums, The Fixx evolved their message to one of hope, optimism and belief in self ("One Thing Leads To Another," "Are We Ourselves," "Secret Separation").

Determined to record the new album with a more direct approach, the band enlisted Bill Wittman (Pat Benatar, The Outfield) as producer and banished themselves to the island of Montserrat in the Caribbean to record "CALM ANIMALS."

The hero of the new album is the ordinary individual who exercises his freedom but is alert to the consequences.

From their early days The Fixx's message was one of awareness. Like the nervous eye of a grazing deer, "CALM ANIMALS" is an album on edge.

The Fixx will be appearing in Port Chester, NY on 4/15, in Montreal on 4/17, and in Mississauga, ON on 4/18.

For the week of 4/14 to 4/20

Aries (Mar.21-April 21)

Financial burdens will increase painfully mid-week. Careful and miserly behavior should keep you from sinking into a sea of debts.

Taurus (April 22-May 21)

The person of your dreams could be a nightmare in disguise. Avoid the hassle of an excruciatingly painful broken heart by walking with a net.

Gemini (May 22-June 21)

Your romance blossoms at the beginning of the week, but like every flower, will soon turn brown, brittle and decompose.

Cancer (June 22-July 23)

You might think that you have made a new beginning, but the sad fact, that will become apparant this week, is that you have regressed to your painful past.

Leo (July 24-Aug.23)

Good advice for Leo this week is to relax, otherwise, a sudden illness will strike you with the force of a death-blow. Close the windows at night.

Virgo (Aug.24-Sept.22)

A one night affair from the past will enter your mind more often this week as you consider the difference in how you are treated and how you would like to be.

Libra (Sept.23-Oct.22)

Things will continue on this week as they have been continuing lately. Nothing too tragic will happen, so you should be thankful for the monotony.

Scorpio (Oct.23-Nov.21)

A special friend from the past will continue to haunt your every waking thought and make every other person you deal with seem poor in comparison.

Sagittarius (Nov.22-Dec.22)

Hair will be a very important factor in the coming week. Washing, cutting, styling, and rinsing and the ways in which they are done could change your life.

Capricorn (Dec.23-Jan.19)

You'll take a look at your life and realize that you may just be convincing yourself to stay in a situation that is slowly driving you mad.

Aquarius (Jan.20-Feb.18)

With all health problems behind you, you can now go out and enjoy the spell of nice weather that is coming. Remember: wear a good sunblock.

Pisces (Feb.19-Mar.20)

This coming week will be full of bright, sunny days compared to last week's forecast. Some good news will be arriving shortly.

On the lighter side... Questions and comments on commitments

By Abby A. Mylin
Features Columnist

Recently when I caught myself singing "It's crazy but it's true...I only want to be with you," and actually smiling to myself, I looked in the mirror and much to my distress it was happening--oh gag and yuk.

I thought I'd developed huge enough callouses on my heart so that nothing short of a pumice stone could get at it.

Obviously, we're messing with something bigger here than my illusionary callouses.

So, with this revelation I pondered quite a bit on this word "commitment"--and with no result found, I did draw a few interesting conclusions.

These days you're expected to be committed to being committed from the time you crawl out of the crib until you make your hike to heaven.

Like a few other choice words--love, happiness, faith...the word at hand certainly is one that is defined by your personal culturization.

I wouldn't expect the guys growing up on the Harlem playgrounds to have the same perspective on commitment as the boy-next-door yuppie.

According to societal standards, Normal Norm should be committed to his career, health, religion, friends, hobbies, family, parents, personal fitness, clubs...just to skim the scum of this idealistic surface.

But the term "commitment" really doesn't come to full circle until it's rolled off your romantic interest's tongue.

Suddenly, it becomes a dangerous piece of syntax.

If it could only be clearly defined, then nooooo problem, but really it's as vague as it's complimentary term, love.

From my own experience, anyone who messes with it creates their own definition.

Webster has really copped out herein defining commitment too, with his "to put in charge of trust" thing.

Weak, weak, weak...I could've came up with that much.

Maybe, I surmized after one totally squat experience, I wasn't able to trust the word let alone another individual.

So, I racked my brain, and found it all began when I was a mere child of seven.

That's the year I uncovered the fat man fallacy.

I wasn't a normal child, at least when it came to Christmas.

I fell passionately in love with the whole holiday-- Rudolph, trees, wrappings, ribbons, snow-- I literally threw myself into the spirit.

My blissful, blind love for Santa went to pot with a single phrase from my sister's mouth as I sat up waiting patiently for the sound of reindeer prancing on our roof.

"Give it up Ab, he's fake."

Of course the Easter Bunny and the rest of them crashed after that, too.

I spent a couple of miserable Christmases after that trying to work it all out in my head--how could Mom and Dad set me up like that...?

Well, that was only the beginning of the downfalls where the word commitment was concerned.

I think most outstanding enlightenments where this word is concerned pop-up when you start dating and in sports, but since I rapped on the sports page last week we'll go with the dating idea.

Gradually, I've come to understand that most men are looking for a superwoman.

A creature with the culinary talents of Betty Crocker, parenting ability of Mrs. Cleaver, the girl-next-door qualities of Vanna White, the athletic ability of Wonder Woman and the sexiness of a Playboy bunny, all rolled-up into one mob of marvelous body and brains.

Someone who never experiences a (hush, hush) bad day or worse yet, a problem.

Someone who can not only manage their own life, a career, a household, children, but one who comes out with energy surplus so they help the hubby along, too.

Well, women got themselves into this mess.

For sometime we had it pretty much in control when we could state our occupation as "homemaker" in mixed company and not blush with incompetence.

Then we struck-up the ERA bandwagon, and look at us now.

As long as I know I can bring home the bacon and fry it up in the pan, etc...I'm not too concerned about all the masculine fantasizing going on.

So, in dating I frankly think women should put in as much as they get out.

That's what I think, practice of course is another story...(sigh)... if you just pull those melt-away eyes out of his head...

But, back to commitment and dating, I find that the old "actions speak louder than words" very applicable here.

When your lovey-dovey is pushing for a one-on-one thing and you wake-up finding, let's say, an empty Hawaiian Love Potion Oil bottle and realize it was one potion that hadn't lubricated your relationship, well you begin to wonder...

Is it hype?

Yes, the best commitments come from the heart, and not necessarily the mouth.

But, one look in those deep, dark brown eyes, and oh my, on the lighter side of this commitment masquerade, take the plunge.

LHU Chorus vocalizes next Thursday

Singers of the Lock Haven University Choral Union will be showcased at the Sloan Theatre on the LHU campus in a Spring Concert, 8 p.m. Thursday April 20.

In combination, the ensembles and soloists will perform Stephen Foster's "Some Folks Do," "Gentle Annie" and the humorous "If You've Only Got A Moustache."

To open the concert, the Vocal Arts Quartet of Jessica Yothers, music major soprano from Emmaus, professor Sue Malin, mezzo-soprano, professor Gary Renzelman, tenor and professor Glenn Hosterman, baritone will sing eight of the Brahms "New Love Waltzes (Op.65)" with four-hand piano accompaniment by professor Mary Renzelman and Kathy Malenke.

Soloists Barbara Grant, soprano, from Philadelphia, Craig Young, baritone, from Sunbury, Krystal Smith, mezzo-soprano from Columbia, and a trio of sopranos Colleen Marie Simpson' from West Chester, Angela Roher from Orbisonia, and Jennifer Kranich' from Easton, will sing four Stephen Sondheim selections including "Green Finch," "Linnnet Bird," "Johanna" and "Not While I'm Around" from Sweeney Todd and "Old Friends" from Merrily We Roll Along.

Tenor Chris Raup, from Carlisle, will be soloist with the Choral Seminar in the spiritual "I Believe This Is Jesus."

Other soloists include Colleen Marie Simpson in Foster's "Beautiful Dreamer," and tenor Bill Miller, of Harrisburg, in Foster's "Gentle Annie."

Krystal Smith and baritone Christian Holland, from Huntingdon, will perform Cole Porter's "Night and Day" as a duet and Holland will also sing Paul Anka's "My Way."

Soprano Katie Shearer, from Jersey Shore, will sing Franz Lehar's "Vilia" and Angela Sparks, senior theatre major from Frederick, Maryland, will sing Ebb and Kander's "City Lights."

From the Sound of Music, baritone Brian Parchesky, from Millerton, will sing "Edelweiss," tenor David Rockwell, from Philadelphia, will perform "Sixteen Going On Seventeen" and Angela Roher and Jennifer Kranich will do the "Lonely Goatherd" as a duet.

The Men's Ensemble directed by professor Hosterman will perform Jester Hairston's "Amen" and Yale Glee Club selections. The combined men's voices of the Choral Union will join in Gaudeamus.

The Women's Ensemble, directed by professor Malin, will sing folk song arrangements of Old Joe Clark and All the Pretty Little Horses.

In an American Medley of "In the Good Old Summertime" and "The Sidewalks of New York," the ensemble will include choreography.

The forty-five voice University Choir will sing in concert: "Carousel" by Rodgers and Hammerstein with four-hand piano accompaniment in "June Is Bustin' Out All Over," "If I Loved You," "A Real Nice Clambake" and "You'll Never Walk Alone."

Completing their concert, the combined voices of the Choral Union will sing the Lock Haven University Spirit Song adapted by professor Gary Renzelman from a Jule Styne song "Ev'ry Street's a Boulevard."

LHU Choir President Michael Drummond, of Glassboro, New Jersey, will provide narration for the concert.

Other accompanists besides professor Mary Renzelman and Kathy Malenke include Jill Dougherty of Candor, New York, and Melissa Reese of Hollidaysburg.

The concert is open to the public and college community free of charge.

Tennis wins third match in a row with 5-4 victory over Kutztown

The men's tennis team won its third match in a row Wednesday when it defeated the Golden Bears of Kutztown by a count of 5-4. Earlier in the week LHU defeated Lycoming 6-3.

Kutztown took an early 1-0 lead in singles when Steve Anzalone defeated Rob Baker 4-6, 6-3, 7-5. LHU then knotted the match up via Mark Stevens' 6-4, 3-6, 6-4 victory over Gary Davidovich.

Enrique Villagomez put LHU up 2-1 with a straight-set 7-5, 6-2 victory over Bill Wirth. The LHU streak extended to four when Steph Darian was knocked off by Bald Eagle Scott Kinloch 6-3, 1-6, 6-3.

LHU continued its dominance in singles when Keith Burrus defeated Ken Mackley 6-3, 1-6, 6-3. John Griffin of the Haven then closed out the singles program with a 6-4, 6-3 decision over Doug Jacobs.

Kutztown made up for its inadequacy in singles by sweeping the three doubles matches. The tandem of Wirth and Darian defeated Baker and Griffin 2-6, 7-6, 6-2, Mackley and Davidovich knocked off the LHU team of Stevens and Villagomez in straight sets 6-2, 6-4, and KU's Anzalone teamed up with Thanh Ngnven to defeat

Kinloch and Burrus 2-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Lycoming got off to a fast start in the week's earlier match at Williamsport with Matt Whelan's 4-6, 6-1, 7-5 defeat of Baker. Stevens pulled LHU even with a 6-love, 6-love whitewashing of Paul Fochtman. The Warriors' Bill Nichols put his squad up one when Burrus was forced to retire during the second set. Kinloch then equalized for the Haven by defeating Kirk Bower 5-7, 7-5, 6-3. Villagomez and Griffin swept the final two singles matches for the Haven, defeating Ron Mendler (6-2, 6-0), and Keith Barrows (6-0, 6-0), respectively.

The doubles competition started similarly for Lycoming when their twosome of Whelan and Nichols defeated Baker and Stevens 6-1, 6-4. Kinloch and Burrus returned the favor with their 6-2, 7-6 (7-5 tiebreaker) victory over Bower and Mendler. Villagomez and Barrows closed out the match on a high note for LHU with a 6-0, 6-1 romp over Fochtman and Barrows.

Now at 3-3 on the season the Bald Eagle netmen will take to the courts here on Saturday versus East Stroudsburg.

Tibor Kobolak wins award

The highest sporting honor in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania was recently bestowed upon a Lock Haven University athlete.

Tibor Kobolak, a starter on the LHU soccer team was recently presented the Kelly Cup. This honor is awarded to a Pennsylvania athlete who exemplifies outstanding athletic achievement and the spirit of the Keystone State Games, the Commonwealth's annual Olympic-style sports festival.

Kobolak entered the open division soccer competition in the 1988 Keystone State Games that were held in the Scranton/Wilkes-Barre area. He scored five of his team's ten goals in leading them to the gold medal.

Kobolak is a junior health science major from Medford, N.J. He plans to graduate in 1990 and continue his studies in a graduate program in either physical therapy or physiology.

Golf team wins first match

The golfers of LHU started their season on a successful note with a 426-435 victory over Juniata last Friday in a match played at Huntingdon, Pa.

Lock Haven's Mike Sneiderman was the overall winner with an eight over par 78 on the 6100-yard Huntingdon Country Club course.

Following Sneiderman was LHU's John Shapcott who carded an 82. Dan Dudley (87), Chris Kalna (89), Brian Reeser (90) rounded out the scoring for LHU. Joe Yalch (95), and Bryan Dobson (96) also participated for Lock Haven, but did not figure in the best four scoring system. Bob Kelly lead Juniata with an 82.

The two teams will meet once again in LHU's next match April 20 at Juniata.

Two win at Shippensburg track meet

The Lock Haven track teams traveled to the Shippensburg Invitational last weekend and came home with some fine performances.

LHU finished with two first places in the meet, although Carl Fisher's first place in the 110 meter hurdles didn't officially count as he is redshirting this season while competing unattached. Fisher also had a third place finish in the long jump.

Lori Lingenfelter provided LHU with its other first in the 1500 meters, finishing in a time of 4:45.05.

Steve Reeser finished second in the 800 meters, clocking a 1:57.00.

Third place finishers for Lock Haven were Jennifer Bomboy in the 400 (59.90 seconds), and the foursome of Bomboy, Lingenfelter, Ann Mullen, and Julie Grasser in the 1600 meter relay (4:13.20).

Angela Jones' throw of 128 feet 1 inch was good enough for fourth place in the discus, while Kristin Walters finished seventh in the javelin with a toss of 118 feet 2 inches, an effort good enough to qualify her for the Pennsylvania State Athletic Conference championships. Also taking seventh place was the men's 1600 meter relay team of Reeser, Joe Jefferson, Mike Sowers, and Ken May, who timed a 3:18.12.

Chris Cassel provided the Bald Eagles with a fine effort in the 1500 meters, finishing with a time of 4:08.2.

Taking eighth place finishes for LHU were Mullen in the 400 meters (1:10.82), Joe Kravitz in the 800 meters (2:02.82), and the quartet of Reeser, Jefferson, Kravitz, and Waverly Pinckney in the 400 meter relay (44.23 seconds).

The next meet for Lock Haven will be Saturday at Mount St. Mary's. Starting time is 11 a.m.

Nationally ranked Lady Eagles softball drops two to Bloomsburg

By Merritt La Porta
Sports Reporter

Bloomsburg University came to town Thursday afternoon and showed the Lady Eagle softball team why they're ranked fourth in the nation as they swept a doubleheader, 2-0 and 3-0.

Game one remained scoreless until Bloomsburg broke out in the fifth inning.

The Lady Huskies struck for four hits off Sandy Hess and scored two runs before the Lady Eagles could end the inning.

The closest LHU came to getting on the board was in the third when Lisa Kostantewicz singled and Vicki DiVittorio sacrificed her over to second. However, Kostantewicz was picked off second and the rally was stifled.

Hess finished the game with eight strikeouts and three walks while allowing five hits.

Game two saw the Lady Huskies jump out to a quick 1-0 lead in the first inning off pitcher Jana Zimmerman. They added two more in the fourth and held on for the victory.

Once again the Lady Eagles had a prime opportunity to get on the board in the fifth inning following back-to-back singles by Sue Weller and Karen Brown. They both moved up one base following a passed ball and Jennifer Huntzinger reached first safely on an error by the second baseman.

With the bases loaded and none out, Kostantewicz popped up and confusion on the base path led to two LHU runners being thrown out at home.

Bloom regained their composure and shut down the Lady Eagles' bats for the rest of the game.

Zimmerman gave up 12 Huskie hits while striking out two and walking one.

"You have to credit Bloomsburg," said head coach Wayne Allison. "They attacked the ball, they're batting .350 as a team, they made the fundamental plays and they capitalized on their scoring opportunities."

sometimes a team as good as Bloom can, "make you look like you're not playing very well at all."

This weekend the team is on the road to play in the SUNY Cortland Tournament. Allison calls the tournament a test of the team's character.

"The way we come out of this weekend will tell where we stand and where we're going," he commented. "I will be very disappointed if the girls continue to play down, like they are now."

"We just didn't execute at the plate or in the field very well," he added.

Bloomsburg is currently ranked fourth in the nation while LHU is ranked tenth and according to Allison,

Let's Talk Sports...*Bald Eagle baseball: never the home team

By Rob Yoegel
Sports Columnist

Thank God I'm back on the sports page...

After a not so lengthy stay on the features page I have decided (which by the way wasn't hard) to come back home to the page that I belong to.

Now that I'm back where I belong it's time to listen once again to my words of zanny and sometimes confusing sports rap.

Baseball season is in full swing now. I think I realized that after attending a fantasy baseball league draft last Sunday from seven in the morning to one that afternoon (sorry guys, I don't know how to spell Rotisserie... whatever).

Well now that I realized the boys of summer are back and freezing to death most of the time while they play the early parts of their seasons, I decided to go to a sports trivia night at a hotel that I probably can't mention because it would be a plug.

Well, my baseball knowledge may need to be polished up a little. The only question I got right was college basketball, it figures.

This fantasy baseball league I'm involved in will hopefully make me watch more games and help me catch up on what I may need to know or remember.

Baseball, wow what a sport!

Wherever you go, from April to October someone, somewhere is playing America's pastime.

Major leaguers to little leaguers you are sure to at least run into one game some time during the seven month season.

Oh yes, along with baseball comes softball.

I never quite figured out why softball was called what it is because I play softball in the summer and when a line drive comes ripping at me while I'm playing second base, man does it hurt when I snare it down from at least ten feet above my head (okay, maybe not ten feet).

Lock Haven University has both baseball and softball at its finest.

The LHU men are among the top of the PSAC West and have already earned a split with national power Slippery Rock on the road.

The LHU Lady Eagle softball team are among the best in the nation and have proven it already.

Ranked tenth in the nation along with finishing second in the NCAA tournament last spring, the ladies keep soaring high and should continue to do so.

What is special about these sports teams are that when someone mentions playing "on the road" to them, they may start to wonder.

Well alright, the softball team does play half or so of their games up at Lawrence Field, but the men do play in central Pennsylvania's baseball capital, Woolrich.

Last year I wondered who would be interested in having the boys brought closer to home, the responses weren't too overwhelming.

I don't know why people didn't respond, but hey they deserve to play at the college they represent.

And make no mistake the softball team does too.

A lot of people have groaned about the installment of the new security system in the dormitories.

This is not a gripe, simply because I can't in the column, it wouldn't be fair.

But let's face it, with the money we spent for that, we probably could have kept Lawrence Field in great shape while the football players practiced on it, refurbished the intramural field so that the baseball team could use it, and maybe just maybe, find some place that the recreational baseball and softball players could enjoy themselves too.

Let's think about it, and if you decide you agree, maybe we can do something.

If you don't think it'll work to gripe about it then hey that's alright, because you're probably right; but let's at least give the support to the men and women of spring just like we do to those of the winter and fall.

Lacrosse loses, 20-9

By Lisa Newmiller
Sports Reporter

The Lady Eagles lacrosse team fought fiercely Wednesday but fell to the nationally ranked Lady Marauders of Millersville, 20-9.

The Lady Marauders came out strong; taking a 6-0 lead in a little over ten minutes.

Finally, the Lady Eagles Kenna Werkiser lit up the scoreboard with her fourth goal of the season at the 12:04 mark. Peggy Buckmaster, Katrina Heebner, and Denise Pileggi added goals for LHU in the first half, which ended at 10-4 in favor of Millersville.

The second half began on the right foot for the Lady Eagles as sophomore Bridget Gillespie scored her first goal of the game.

The Lady Marauders answered right back with four quick goals, before Buckmaster scored her second goal to make close the gap 14-6.

Three more goals would get past the Haven, but they were not ready to die. Heebner had two more goals in the half.

The Haven fought furiously until the final seconds when Gillespie had her second goal at the :34 mark. It proved not to be enough for the Haven this day, they fell 20-9.

Lady Eagle Head Coach Bridget Roun said it was a fine team effort. "The game was a lot closer than the score portrayed."

"The defense and the attack came together as a whole," said Assistant Coach Penny Kempf.

The Lady Eagles will take to the field again Saturday, when they host East Stroudsburg at 1 p.m.

“HOW I MADE $18,000 FOR COLLEGE BY WORKING WEEKENDS.”

When my friends and I graduated from high school, we all took part-time jobs to pay for college.

They ended up in car washes and hamburger joints, putting in long hours for little pay.

Not me. My job takes just one weekend a month and two weeks a year. Yet, I'm earning $18,000 for college.

Because I joined my local Army National Guard.

They're the people who help our state during emergencies like hurricanes and floods. They're also an important part of our country's military defense.

So, since I'm helping them do such an important job, they're helping me make it through school.

As soon as I finished Advanced Training, the Guard gave me a cash bonus of $2,000. I'm also getting another $5,000 for tuition and books, thanks to the New GI Bill.

Not to mention my monthly Army Guard paychecks. They'll add up to more than $11,000 over the six years I'm in the Guard.

And if I take out a college loan, the Guard will help me pay it back — up to $1,500 a year, plus interest.

It all adds up to $18,000 — or more — for college for just a little of my time. And that's a heck of a better deal than any car wash will give you.
