Referendum Committee Formed

By Jeff Buck

A CAS Referendum Committee was set up at last Wednesday night's SCC meeting. The purpose of the committee is to inform the student population about the CAS referendum to be held on Wednesday, May 3. The referendum will decide whether students will pay a mandatory $1.00 activity fee to support CAS or not. CAS is a student supported organization that lobbies for student causes in Harrisburg. Committee members are chairman Bob Bullett, and senators Jeff Caulkins and Ceil Steadman.

In other activities, the Senate approved the constitution of the newly formed Athletic Training Club. The purpose of the club is to provide a meeting place for students interested in athletic training. The club will also provide a means for the supervisor of the specialization program in athletic training to become acquainted with all Health Education Majors at LHS.

Also, the Senate vetoed a motion to continue the voter registration drive indefinitely. As a consequence of the vote, president Joe Harper set a time limit that requires all senators to turn in their unused registration forms at the next regularly scheduled SCC meeting.

Harper also announced that a special SCC meeting will be held next Wednesday night. One of the main topics of discussion at the meeting will be the introduction of next year's budget proposals.

The Senate was also introduced to the new Vice President of Administration George Marshall. Marshall said that "although nobody could replace Russ Millikin," he was going to try to do the best job he could.

The senate also voted in a recommendation to the PCCEB committee that they not turn the music room into office space.

PCCEB chairman, Colin Weaver, reported that there would be a coffeehouse on May 4. He stated that there will be a pool tournament on Sunday at 12:00 noon. He also named the upcoming films, Mr. Billion on April 23 and Fantastic Planet on April 30. Starting time and place for both films will be Ulmer Hall at 7:00 and 9:00p.m.

Social Committee chairman Jack Sohnleitner announced that a free band concert featuring the Mansfield Jazz Band will appear on Friday at 8:00p.m. Donations for the United Fund will be taken at the door.

RHA chairman Dave Lepley reported that a coffeehouse featuring Tim Field will appear from 9:00 to 12:00p.m. on April 20 at High Hall. Lepley also said that the band Maraud will appear on Friday, April 21 at midnight in Rogers Gym.

He also announced the showing of the movie Blazing Saddles at Price Aud. on April 22, beginning at 7:00 and 9:00p.m. He reported on a musical festival to be held May 5. He said that parents weekend will be held on the weekend of May 6. Lepley reported that freshman orientation will be held on April 29. Executive Committee chairman Joe Harper expressed his desire to make freshman orientation a success.

Government (PSASG). The original organization had no regular meetings and accomplished very little. Then, in the summer of 1973, the CAS was formed at Sieg Conference Center. Doug Dows, a Lock Haven State College student, became the new organization's first executive director. Aided by Joe Nagy and 2nd Vice President Rich DeBernardo, Dows was greatly responsible for getting the organization on its feet. Dows was succeeded by LHS student Gene Carrell, who shared his position as executive director with Rick Kinane. These two men were responsible for getting the CAS involved in affirmative action projects.

Kinane then hitch hiked to the 13 other state colleges, talked to the students, and got them interested in getting involved in the CAS, resulting in the present statewide organization.

Lock Haven State College and its students were thus very instrumental in establishing and managing the CAS, the students' only voice in Harrisburg.

VICE PRESIDENT OF ADMINISTRATION MR. GEORGE H. MARSHALL -- addressed the S.C.C. at Wednesday evening's Senate meeting. Marshall, formerly with the Pennsylvania Department of Education in Harrisburg arrived on campus Monday to begin his administrative duties. Marshall has been familiarizing himself with the various facets related to his position and stated that his main concern deals with the preparation of the 1979-80 budget for the college. Red Cross Bloodmobile Receives Record Donation From Lock Haven Volunteers

By SUSAN SHELLY

The Red Cross Bloodmobile came to LHS yesterday hoping to meet a quota of 180 pints of blood. When it left, after seven hours of receiving donations from students and faculty, it took with it more than 280 pints of blood.

Janet Thorton, leader of the Gray Ladies, volunteers that help with the bloodmobile, said the turnout was "terrific - It's the best visit we've ever had at the college."

The entire donation process takes less than an hour for each individual who donates, and donors find out several things which may be important to them.

Each potential donor has a sample of his blood taken to be sure there is enough iron in it. The person's temperature and pulse is taken and then the blood pressure is measured. If everything is satisfactory, the person is accepted as a donor and the blood taking process begins.

Members of the Red Cross expressed their thanks to everyone at LHS who helped with the Bloodmobile.

Aid Available Through Friends of Lock Haven

Financial aid, in the form of scholarships, is being made available to LHS students for the Fall 1978 semester. These scholarships are provided by the Friends of Lock Haven State College, a special group of alumni and friends who are interested in Lock Haven State College.

Most of the scholarships are the result of dividends from sums of money willed or awarded to the foundation from alumni and friends. The size of the scholarship varies in accordance with the amount available in each year's fund.

Many of the scholarships designate a specific type of student who should receive the award. These descriptions include, students with outstanding records who are studying in the field of teacher education, students with outstanding academic records, and students who are majoring in mathematics. Also designated are, female students with outstanding academic records who have a financial need and are majoring in elementary education, students with outstanding records and unrestricted as to academic major, and those students who are majoring in the field of communications.

Generally speaking, high scholarship and an active role in College activities are considered essential to warrant selection.

Interested students may secure an application at the Alumni Office located on the third floor of Sullivan Hall. All completed applications must be returned to the Alumni Office by May, 1, 1978.

CAS Calls for LHS Support of Mandatory Fee

by MARY THORSON

On Wednesday, May 3, Lock Haven State College students will be asked to vote as to whether or not they feel that the $1.00 fee for the Commonwealth Association of Students (CAS) should be made mandatory.

Robert Bullett, CAS Minority Representative at Lock Haven State is very much in favor of mandatory fee. "The CAS," he explained, "has shown itself to be an organization who's credibility is highly regarded in Harrisburg. It's something we can be proud of, and we need to give them a chance. Right now they have no money. Therefore, they have not been able to work up to their fullest potential. But they've accomplished a great deal despite their lack of funds and, given additional money, they could really work wonders."

From its very beginning in 1973, the CAS has been working very effectively towards promoting the interests of Pennsylvania college students to our legislators in Harrisburg.

In its first year, the CAS sponsored a rally in Harrisburg to protest the rising cost of tuition. 5,000 students from the 14 state colleges and university took part in the assembly, which was virtually the first time Pennsylvania students made their voices heard in Harrisburg.

The CAS was also instrumental in revising the Commonwealth University Bill, now known as the Keystone University Bill. One of the major results of this endeavor was the appointment of 3 students to serve on the Board of Governors.

In the spring of 1975, the CAS once again took a stand against a potential tuition increase. The organization joined forces with APSCUF, the College Presidents, the AFL-CIO, and PSEA to protest the rising tuition rates. As a result, the state colleges were granted a supplemental appropriation of $3 million for fiscal year 1975-76, which then hindered any increase in tuition.

The CAS had its beginnings in the Pennsylvania State Association of Stu-

COPING

by MARY THORSON

Here it is, another Thursday, another laundry day. The experience of residence hall clothes-washing is just one of the many little joys [ha ha] that we dorm-dwellers must learn to cope with. To begin with, I always do my laundry on Thursday nights. The trouble is that everyone else, it seems, also decides to do their laundry on Thursday nights. Everyone needs clean clothes for the weekend. So here I stand, bulging laundry bag in one hand and a king-size box of all-temperature Cheer in the other hand, as I patiently [or impatiently] wait for my chance to grab one of the three washers and two dryers that I must share with 200 other people.

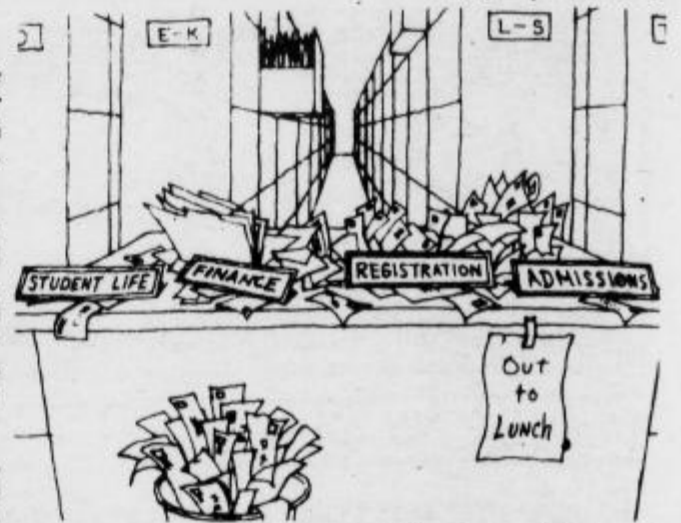

In the meantime, the laundry room is beginning to resemble Grand Central Station, with a constant flow of traffic in and out, checking for vacant washers and dryers. The room is crowded with girls in bathrobes, with heaping baskets of laundry at their feet. After an hour or so of worthless waiting, the girls begin to get restless, and start engraving their names on the windowsill, playing with the venetian blinds, and trying to break into the detergent dispenser.

And then, a miracle. All three washers empty! Just as I finish gathering up my dirty clothes and head for the washers, some 250-pound monster, who looks like King Kong's sister, stomps in and proceeds to shove her laundry into all three washers. Being a 120-pound weakling, I'm not about to protest. So I quietly walk over to the window, play with the venetian blinds, and wait.

Finally, it's my turn. I throw my clothes into two of the washers, let out a great sigh of relief, and proceed to engrave the windowsill while I wait for my clothes. Meanwhile, I'm getting angry, impatient looks from those still waiting for their turns to use the washers. By the time my washers have stopped, these people have made me so nervous that on my way to the dryer, I drop half my clothes on the floor and get dirt, cigarette butts, and soap all over them. In the meantime, someone else has claimed both the dryers, and it's back in line again!

Perhaps I should start doing my laundry in the morning—6 o'clock, maybe. But the, what fun would that be? Better to just grin and bear it, I guess. And cope...

PHEAA Aid Deadline is May 1

May 1st, the filing deadline for students who need aid to finance higher education costs, is quickly approaching, and students who have yet to do so are urged to file immediately for a State Higher Education Grant, according to the Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Agency.

Executive Director Ken R. Reeher of PHEAA wants to remind students that May 1 is crucial. "After that date," says Reeher, "an application for state grant aid will be considered late, and since applications received after the deadline are considered on a 'funds available' basis a late applicant may get nothing by way of a state grant."

The deadline applies to all students wishing to renew their present state grant, as well as 1978 high school graduates planning to attend a four-year degree granting college and those seeking a two-year degree at a community college or a junior college. Students planning to enroll at a business, trade, technical, or nursing school have until August 1, 1978, to apply for a state grant as do those hoping to enroll for non-degree courses at community colleges.

For 1978-79, the state grant form is a composite application, the completion of which allows the student to apply for both a state grant and the federal Basic Educational Opportunity Grant. The deadlines apply only to the state grant program. Copies of the State Grant/BEOG Composite form can be obtained from the financial aid office, or by writing PHEAA, Towne House, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania 17102.

COMMENTARY

Have you ever dared to visit the local child care center disguised as a fraternity, located at 220 West Main Street on a Thursday night? All kinds of fun things happen including drenching the crowd with the fire extinguisher, dumping beer on people for amusement, and embarrassing girls to the point of no return. Oh, and we can't ever forget the "funniest" stunt of all that occurred during last week's visiting hours, when some "stud" decided to expose his body to the nearest uninterested female. The female, feeling sick to her stomach, tried to free herself from this sexually deprived grouping octopus [poor soul, it must've been a long time since he's had female companionship]!!!! Do you think that any of the brothers would come to her rescue? No, of course not, they entirely engrossed in the nauseating event. Isn't it a shame that the brothers of KDR, still haven't outgrown the childish behavior of high school? We are still anxiously awaiting some sign of adolescence!! If you have never had the privilege of visiting the "HOME" you can surely spot these animals in the cafeteria. They are located in the mid-section, accessible to all passer-bys. It's hard for all of us to imagine college males acting as imbecile as they do, but believe it cause they do!!! So why don't you animals shape up and think about this as intelligently as possible. Is it any wonder that girls are an endangered species at KDR????

THE POTTERY OF KENNETH BEITTEL -- is now on display in Sloan Gallery. Beittel, an art education professor from Penn State, will exhibit his creations until the end of this week.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR . LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:
Dear Mr. Way,
I am replying to your article of Tuesday April 11, 1978 entitled "African Exchange Students Suffer Communications Problems."
1. African students in Lock Haven State College right now are not exchange students. They are all here individually.
2. If you say Africans have a speech problem, you mean we are all suffering from speech retardation. There is a difference between speech problem and lack of communication.
3. Africans come to Lock Haven because they want an internationally based education, not because they don't have any good educational system back in their homes. The quality of education in African countries is just as good as any part of the world.

4. Families hosting Africans do so of their own free will. I do not think it is absolutely necessary to have a family take in an African if they feel it is duty. Such things should come from the heart and not because they want to seem kind. Before one leaves home to come this far, one is prepared to take care of one's self.
Please note that we are not refugees, we are with well founded identified nationalities, coming to Lock Haven with the belief to study more and gain an internationally based education.
I think to much criticism is made about the African students in this college. After all, we are not the only international students here.

I finally think that next time Mr. Dan Way should seek the opinion of other African students before writing any information about us. The English we speak has been taught to us by the British and in any case it is only a second language for us so we can't speak like americans because we are not.

Yours sincerely,
Olayinka Boyo

Future Looks Good for Job Seekers

By MARY THORSON

A major concern that is probably on every student's mind is the outlook for the job market after graduation. Who, after all, wants to sweat it out in college for four years only to find themselves pumping gas for a living, due to a lack of jobs in their field of preparation?

The future might not be so bad after all, according to a recent report published by the Placement Service of the Career Development Center. The report stated that employment opportunities increased last year substantially over the previous year, and this increase in job openings is expected to continue. The College Placement Council has reported that employers expect to hire 16% more graduates during 1977-78 than in 1976-77.

One of the major factors in this growth of job opportunities is the increased hiring anticipated by the Federal Government. Opportunities for liberal arts graduates for positions to be filled from the Professional and Administrative Career Exams (PACE) are especially good.

Graduates in Math and Computer Science have had a phenomenal rate of employment, with 88% of last year's graduates now working. Of the remainder, 4% are continuing their education, 4% are unemployed, and 4% unknown.

Last Year's Humanities graduates had the lowest rate of employment, with only 19.1% working as of December 1977. Prospects for majors in Social Sciences and Natural Sciences are fair, with last year's employment rates at 48.1% and 56% respectively.

The job market for education majors seems to be improving significantly. According to statistics from the Pennsylvania Department of Education, the number of teachers prepared to fill vacancies has decreased 42.9% over the past two years.

This decrease, and anticipated reductions in the future, could develop into a shortage of teachers in Pennsylvania in the near future. At the present time there is a definite shortage of chemistry, mathematics, physics, and various dual area certified teachers. Teaching positions are available in all areas—perhaps not in the candidate's backyard—but excellent candidates willing to relocate can secure positions.

According to a survey of 1977 graduates, 50.6% of the education graduates who responded were gainfully employed part-time or unemployed as of December 1977. Teaching positions were secured by 108 candidates in 40 of the 67 counties in Pennsylvania, 18 candidates in 8 other states, and one in a foreign country.

Early Childhood majors had the highest rate of employment of last year's education graduates, the Health and Phys. Ed. graduates having the lowest employment rate with only 63.8% employed.

Six One-Act Plays to be Presented by NANCY STOY

Six one-act plays will be presented as studio productions in Sloan 321 within the next four weeks. The plays are being directed by students in Dr. Gary's Directing class to fulfill the requirements for that course.

The first of these, A Wedding by John Kurt Patrick will be presented on April 25 at 2:30 and 8:00. The cast under the direction of Diane Crompton includes Rick Kline, Sharon Schawlder, Kirk Buckler, Phil Story, DeDe Tally, JoAnn Miller and Dave Clark.

On May 4, 5, and 6 at 8:00 Dennis Greenaway's production of No Exit by Jean-Paul Sartre will be presented. The cast includes George Custer, Frank Leister, Nancy Stoy and Dee Murphy.

Three productions will be shown on May 10 beginning at 8:00. These include The Tiger directed by Leslie Taggart with a cast of two, Gary Mazzu and Jayne Bolduc; Over Tones directed by Robin Quinn with a cast including Lorrie Jordan, Felice Proctor, DeDe Tally, and Nancy Guerin; and If Men Played Cards as Women Do by George F. Kaufmann directed by Kalyn Shaible with a cast including Rick Kline, Montie Cousins, George Strunk and Larry Harris.

Montie Cousins is directing The Shock of Recognition. Members of his cast are Judy Oakes, Merl Campbell, Leonard Pardoe, and Mike Ferster. The date of production will be announced at a later time.

Bike/Hike to Occur Sunday

The Clinton County Association for Retarded Citizens will hold their annual Bike/Hike on Sunday, April 23rd. The Bike/Hike will begin at Gillott's Garage on East Water Street in Lock Haven, down the river road to Charlton, then return to Gillott's Garage. Registration will be from 11:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. in front of Gillot's. Refreshments will be served in Charlton.

Registration forms can be picked up in Mr. John Washington's office, Akeley 104, or in Russell Hall, Romm 23.

Keystone State University Bill Spells Autonomy for PSCU

The state Senate Education Committee has moved Pennsylvania's State Colleges and University (PSCU) one step closer to becoming an autonomous system, announced the office of the Commonwealth Association of Students (CAS).

At the committee's last meeting, the members voted unanimously to move Senate Bill 473 to the International Day Sparks Interest of Students

According to members of the Foreign Language Department at LHS, who sponsored International Day, held April 11, interest in foreign language study seems to be increasing. Junior and senior high school students of foreign language and their teachers responded to an invitation to visit LHS for a day of activities which included refreshments and welcoming addresses. During the day, two Spanish plays presented by our own students, a movie in German, a slide show on Paris, and a tour of the campus were included as part of the International Day presentation.

Foreign students at the college exhibited displays illustrating various cultures

Senate floor. This bill, known as the 'Keystone State University System.

Said Senator Jeannette Reibman, committee chairperson, "This bill, which was first introduced about five years ago, is the result of a great deal of staff work."

One of the committee's staff members, Dave Myers, explained that under this act "the university and the Argentinian group on campus offered a program of song and dance.

Of the fourteen state colleges of Pennsylvania, only LHS has an official mission in international education, and some of the high school students attracted here for International Day have already announced their intention to enroll here either as foreign language majors in education or to prepare for a career through the recently developed International Studies Program.

The purpose of this program is to provide the education required for employment either in government agencies or in private corporations with overseas interests and commitments.

would be an economist system, independent of the Pennsylvania Department of Education (PDE)."

Myers added that the system would still be subject to the regulation of the State Board of Education, governed by a Board of Governors and administered by a Chancellor.

CAS Executive Director Kathleen M. Downey pointed out that CAS is supportive of this legislation. "One good point," she said, "is that there will be student representation on the Board of Governors. This will give the student sector a chance for input in the decision-making process."

Myers noted that the primary advantages of such an independent system would be the elimination of "the present dichotomy of PDE."

"Right now," he explained, "the department both advocates all of higher education and directs public higher education. This causes conflicts and complications between the public and private sectors."

Secretary of Education Caryl M. Kline agreed with Myers' explanation adding that "this system would grant far more autonomy to these institutions, while decreasing bureaucracy."

Lacrosse team bows to East Stroudsburg

By TERRI CORNELIUS

The LHS women's lacrosse team played like Dr. Jeckle and Mr. Hyde in Tuesday's game against East Stroudsburg. After a good first half, the Haven women lost it all in the second half to suffer their first loss of the season by an 11-6 score.

"It was like 'two separate games,' according to coach Sharon Taylor. "The good things we did in the first half like cutting and checking, we just didn't do in the second half." The statistics proved to back Taylor up as the Haven was up 4-3 at the half but came back in the second half to be out shot, 26-7. LHS had a total of 43 turnovers due to bad and dropped passes. Taylor summed the game up best by saying "We just made too many mistakes."

Sue Woolston was top scorer for the Haven's offense with three goals followed by Carolyn Rheiner with two and Amy Ousler chipping in one.

The JV's were successful in getting revenge for LHS as they obliterated their opponents 13-2. "They have just done a super job all season," added Taylor. "They pay close attention to the varsity game and learn a lot."

The first half score at 4-2 in the Haven's favor was mild compared to the nine goals the women were to score in the second half. The scoring was dispersed throughout the offense with Frankie Baily and Diane Minshall as top scorers with three each. Paula Ernst, Patty Kellet and Kelly Murray contributed two apiece while Elaine Pierson had one.

Coach Taylor plans to make some changes in this Saturday's game with top contender, Ursinus College. "Some of the JV's have earned a chance at varsity so there will probably be some changes in the varsity game."

Rec. Trap Shooting Contest To Be Held Next Week

by MIKE FIGARD

A trap shooting contest will be held next week, and co-director Mr. Wayne Allison wishes to remind those interested students to register for this activity as soon as possible. Although there is a slight cost involved, special arrangements will be made for those students bringing their own ammunition.

Any questions regarding the trap shooting contest or other recreational matters should be directed toward Mr. Allison or Mr. Burdett in Zimmerli Building.

Indoor Soccer Season Ends/IM Softball Season Begins

by MIKE FIGARD Regulation play in the LHS Recreational indoor soccer tournament concluded this past Tuesday, and semifinal playoffs began the following night. Those teams competing in the semifinals were, from Division I, Lamda Chi Alpha (3-0-2) and TKE "A" (3-0-2), while TKE "C" (4-0-1) and Kappa Delta Rho (3-1-1) both entered from Division II.

After winning their respective semifinal playoff games, both Lambda Chi Alpha and TKE "A" moved into the championship game held last night. Results of the game were not available at press time, but will be published early next week.

The I-M softball tournament, according to student director Louise Balliet, has recently begun and is running well despite complications from the recent bad weather.

ROTC Invites All To 'Take To The Cliffs'

By SUE SHELLY

Students, faculty and college staff will have an opportunity to test their sense of adventure and agility this Saturday from 10:00a.m. to 3:00p.m. by participating in the ROTC repelling demonstration. The event will be taking place on the cliffs around the soccer field.

The ROTC coordinator for LHS described repelling as "going down the side of a cliff, with the help of ropes, that's too steep to walk down."

He said that safety precautions will be taken - a LHS ROTC member will be stationed at the bottom of the rope as the belay man, and four ROTC cadets from Penn State will be there to give safety instructions.

Participants are advised to wear long pants and either boots or sneakers while repelling.
