Poll shows majority of LHU students approve PUB expansion

By Mike Walton and
Dennis McCandless
Staff Reporters

A projected majority of the Lock Haven University student body are in favor of the Parsons Union Building (PUB) expansion project, according to a campus-wide poll of 450 students.

Of the students polled, 55 percent were in favor of the PUB expansion, 32 percent were opposed and 13 percent were undecided.

The inadequacy of the size and of the facilities now provided by the PUB were cited by the majority of the students who wished to see the PUB expansion referendum passed.

"The current facility is grossly outdated and needs to be expanded to keep up with the increased student enrollment," said Rex Johnson.

Another student John Eldersaid, "It will improve student life on the campus, which in turn will improve the whole campus all around: socially, academically, and in appearance."

Also cited was the need for more parking areas for commuting students and resident students with automobiles. The plans for the expansion include a parking area that will provide approximately twenty-five additional parking slots.

"It would be nice not to have to walk a mile from my car to the university," said one commuter student.

Many of those who oppose the expansion said they felt the $3.5 million could be put to better use in the expansion of current resident hall space or in the creation of new residence hall facilities.

"Before they take a step like expanding the PUB, we should have the capacity of housing for students who will support such a building," said sophomore Jeff Jacobson.

In addition, some students said that the improvement of the campus grounds, Bentley Dining Hall, and the Stevenson Library should take precedence over the expansion of the PUB.

On the subject of the increase of the students' Community Center Fee, the two positions taken by the students were almost equal. 47 percent of those polled said the increase in the Community Center fee up to $60.00 per semester per student would be worth paying in order to have a more modern and larger PUB, while 44 percent were against the increase.

"I pay my own tuition and I don't have an extra 50 dollars," said Stephanie McGrath.

Official voting on the student referendum for the PUB expansion will be completed today.

For those students wishing to cast their vote, votes are being taken from 7:30 a.m. to 10 a.m. in the Eagle Wing Snack Bar and in the PUB; from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Raub Hall, the Stevenson Library, Zimmerli Gymnasium, and Thomas Field House; and from 4:30 p.m. to 7 p.m. in Bentley lobby.

The results of the voting will be printed in the Eagle Eye Friday, April 28.

Bloodmobile visits LHU...

Donations fall short of quota

By Diane Nixdorf
Staff Reporter

One hundred and thirty-two pints of blood were donated by students and faculty last Thursday when the Bloodmobile visited the University.

However, the project "was not as successful as it should be," said Mary Kell, a Red Cross board member in charge of registration for the Bloodmobile.

The Eastern Clinton County Chapter of the American Red Cross was hoping to surpass their quota of 190 pints of blood. In previous years, almost 300 pints were donated, said Kell.

"The blood supply is down everywhere," she said.

The fear of contacting the AIDS virus keeps many people from giving blood, according to Kell.

"You cannot get AIDS from giving blood. There's no way," she said. "The Red Cross is very, very careful. We discard used needles immediately."

Donors should be aged seventeen through seventy-five, weigh at least 110 pounds, and be in good general health, said Kell.

The process of giving blood requires several steps, according to Kell.

First, the donor must register and read a pamphlet containing important information, she said. A drop of blood is then taken from the ear to test for iron, said Kell.

The individual's temperature and pulse are taken, and a medical history form is completed. Finally, one pint of blood is taken from the arm, said Kell.

Upon completion of giving blood, donors must drink approximately four glasses of non-alcoholic liquids and eat some food to prevent feeling sick, said Kell. She said some people get an upset stomach, a dizzy feeling, or pain where the needle was injected.

The blood is taken to Wilkes-Barre to be tested, according to Kell. She said it must be processed within six hours in order to be used as a plasma. The portion of the blood that is left is put in blood banks and sent out on demand, said Kell.

The Eastern Clinton County Chapter of the American Red Cross does approximately twenty-five runs for blood each year in areas such as Mill Hall, Avis, Bench Creek, Lock Haven, and Woolrich.

Weaver elected chairman of Student Government Presidents

Terry Day
Editor in chief

Troy Weaver, Student Cooperative Council (SCC) president was elected the Chairman of the Board of Student Government Presidents by all the State System of Higher Education (SSHE) presidents at Kutztown, Saturday.

"I was speechless," Weaver said.

"I will organize meetings and set up the agenda for the four meetings next year," Weaver said.

According to Weaver, the Board of State Government deals with the problems on the campuses.

"One problem we will continue to work on is the tuition. Example is this year five Universities are working on expansion of the student union," Weaver said.

Other issues are arming campus police, town relations, and racial problems on campus, Weaver said.

Weaver held the position of the board's parliamentarian position this year.

The executive board will consist of Vice-chairman Jennifer Crissman, Millersville University, Secretary/Treasurer Jason Bradley, Kutztown, and Parliamentarian Jill Kirby, West Chester University.

Letters to the Editor:

Dear Editor:

I wish to express my extreme displeasure with our school's "judicial" system. I wish to expose the gross unfairness which students may some day face, if they are ever caught red-handed, as I was, in the act of taking the life of a defenseless Starburst.

Yes, I took a piece of Starburst candy and without mercy put it into the microwave oven at the McEntire Hall reception desk for three seconds! (No damage done or mess created and an offer was made to replace the affected piece of candy.)

Oh genteel reader, I know what profound shock you must be experiencing as you read this but perhaps you will find solace in the fact that I have received an official warning and have been banned from McEntire Hall for the the duration of my school career.

If you are ever caught doing an unforgettable act such as this, beware for then you will be at the mercy of a "judicial" system that depends on the whims of the administration and brainwashed students.

First, you will be written up, behind your back, without warning that you breached the secret code of behavior against candy abuse.

Next, you will have an informal "hearing" with perhaps Carol Latronica, although this is just a formality since you are already guilty unless proven innocent. If you're lucky, you receive your right to due process and a "hearing" with your "peers," most of which are closely associated with "Student Life", the organization prosecuting you.

Next, you will be railroaded through the kangaroo court and found guilty. This is despite thoroughly proving your innocence of any crime, and despite the fact that the prosecution's witnesses agree with some of your points. You will also be barraged with hundreds of accusations which are not part of the original alleged offense, but do sway the decision.

Then, when you know you're right, but all seems lost, the prosecutor will be called into the jury's chambers before the final decision is made.

But, what should I expect? A no-frills University therefore no-frills justice. When my advocate Mike Zantopp was asked about the proceedings, he said, "If I had known college was going to treat us like this, I would have gone to Apex Tech, and had my tool box by now!"

LHU softball splits twinbills with Cal, ESU

By Merritt La Porta
Sports Reporter

After struggling through a week of controversy, the Lady Eagle softball team made it to the weekend and promptly split two twinbills against California and East Stroudsburg.

Last Thursday, LHU athletic officials discovered that sophomore Kathy Wambold had been declared ineligible by the NCAA, and the team would have to forfeit its first 14 games.

Somehow the team managed to put the problem behind them and took the field on Saturday to face Western division foe California.

Game one was a close, fierce battle throughout all seven innings, but LHU held on for the 2-1 victory.

After an uneventful first inning, California threatened in the top of the second. With a runner on third with two outs, Sandy Hess gave up a walk.

The runner ran to first, and then tried to steal second. Hess whirled around, threw the ball to second baseman Sue Weller, who zipped the ball to catcher Jennifer Huntzinger after the runner on third broke for home. A major collision ensued, but Huntzinger managed to hold on to the ball to kill California's rally.

The Lady Eagles got on the board in the fourth. Jana Zimmerman reached first with a single, and Hess drove her in with an RBI double.

California gave LHU what turned out to be the eventual game winner in the sixth. Amie Zimmerman smashed a single and scored all the way from first on error by the catcher.

However, California threatened again in the seventh. With one run in and a runner on third with one out, Hess dug in a struck out the next two batters to end the game.

"I thought the girls played very well in the first game," said head coach Wayne Allison. "I got a little concerned at the end, Sandy seemed to be tiring a bit and they started to hit her, but I think she out-finessed them."

"One of her main strenghts is her ability to think on the mound," added Allison. "When she knows she's getting tired on the mound, she can compensate by being a smart pitcher."

Hess finished the game with seven strikeouts while issuing two walks and giving up four hits.

Game two was different story. California struck for four unearned runs in the second inning and held on for the 4-0 shutout.

Jana Zimmerman took the loss, striking out six and giving up seven hits.

"With the exception of the one inning, I thought we played well," said Allison. "Jana pitched well enough to win and we played defense well enough."

"It's been the same story over and over again. We put so much pressure on our defense because we don't score enough runs," he said.

Sunday the team traveled to East Stroudsburg for a makeup game and lost the first game, 3-2.

Zimmerman took the loss, striking out six, walking two and giving up seven hits. Lori DiVecchio paced the Haven, going 2-4 for the game.

"In at least five of the seven innings, we had runners in scoring position and could not score," said Allison.

That problem went away in game two as the Lady Eagles pounded out 13 hits and scored six runs for a 6-1 victory.

Ivy Dashkin got the win allowing only four hits, walking one and striking out two.

"It's at the point now where if the kids want to salvage anything for the season, they have to go to the plate with more intensity than they have," said Allison.

"This team is different from last year's team because there isn't the cheering on the bench, there's not as much team support and why that is I'm not sure," he added.

The team hits the road to Edinboro today, and Allison isn't sure what to expect from his slumping team.

"I don't know how they'll play today," he said. "It all depends on which team shows up. Some kids will be ready to play today and others who play key positions for us, I don't know where they'll be playing today."

Lacrosse beats Kutztown, falls to Colgate

By Deb Donlick
and Lisa Newmiller
Sports Reporters

The Lady Eagles concluded their home portion of the 1989 schedule with two games this past weekend. On Saturday the Lady Eagles defeated the Golden Bears of Kutztown, 6-5. An 11-5 loss to Colgate on Sunday gave LHU a weekend split.

The late afternoon (4p.m.) start seemed to work to the Lady Eagles advantage. The extra bottled energy exploded early in the first half as junior Peggy Buckmaster got the ball rolling. The Golden Bears answered back quickly to tie the game 1-1.

It didn't take long for the Lady Eagles to recapture and hold their lead when freshmen Kenna Werkiser came knocking at the Golden Bears door.

As the saying goes teammates stick together; Buckmaster and Michelle Smith did just that, they each added a goal to make it a 4-1 contest.

Kutztown tried for a comeback as they added two more goals in the half, but Junior Katrina Heebner snuck between; adding a goal of her own.

The Lady Eagles led 5-3 at the half.

The Lady Eagles came out all fired up to start the second half. Heebner continued her hot streak adding yet another goal, her ninth of the season, making it a 6-3 contest.

The Golden Bears answered quickly adding two goals of their own. The Lady Eagles defense exhausted any anticipation of a Kutztown comeback as time ran out, holding on to a 6-5 victory.

Junior goalkeeper Stacy Giorgio had 8 saves off of 18 attempts.

Ah Sunday, the day of rest. This proved to be just the opposite for the Lady Eagles as they prepared for a tough Colgate team.

The nationally ranked Lady Raiders of moved out to a quick lead. Junior Peggy Buckmaster answered very quickly with a goal of her own.

Colgate gave the Haven a run for their money as they added another goal. Once again the Lady Eagles answered right back as Junior Katrina Heebner added another goal, making it 2-2.

The Lady Raiders added four more goals in the first half, making it 6-2 at the intermission.

The second half continued the way the first half ended, with the Lady Raiders on top.

The Lady Eagles would not lay to rest as Heebner, Eileen McCoy and Werkiser added goals to bring the Lady Eagles to within six goals against this Division I team.

The Lady Raiders would go on to take the game 11-5.

Lady Eagle goalie Stacy Giorgio had 12 saves against 24 shots, while Lady Raider goalie Sabrina Gilmore had 10 saves against 22 shots.

Lady Eagles Head Coach Bridget Roun said the team played well in the first half. She added that the team began to fall apart, but they were able to come back and maintain their composure.

"This shows that we were maturing as a team and learning to work as a unit," Peggy Buckmaster.

"After they (Colgate) scored, we took it right to them," said Laurie Kerr. "Even though they were an overpowering team, we fought til the very end."

The split gives the Lady Eagles a 2-7 record on the season (2-3 in the conference). The Lady Eagles will be in action again on Saturday at Slippery Rock and will finish up regular season play at West Chester on Monday, May 1.
