SCC budget approved

By Jennifer Brady
Staff Reporter

The main item of business on the S.C.C.'s senate agenda was approving the 1986-87 fiscal budget of $383,332 at their meeting this past Wednesday.

This is an increase of $9,192 from last year's budget.

Ms. Sharon Taylor an advisor for the Council said that she felt the budget proposal was the best she had seen since she has been here.

Taylor did advise that the name of one group, the Athletic Contingency, be changed to the Athletic Championship Contingency. This is hoped to eliminate the confusion of who is entitled to the funds which are separate from the general athletic funds.

It took three hours and 15 minutes, and Steve Donaldson, S.C.C. Vice-president, said, "We took it line item for line item. We talked each allocation over and then voted on them."

Athletics were allocated $117,700, a jump from $113,000 received in 1985-86. Another increase was made for small clubs which were allocated $21,663 which is an increase of $2163 over the past budget.

Other groups receiving increases include: the Band, the Executive Committee, New Vehicle(s), and the Social Committee.

Intramurals, CAMPS, and The Eagle Eye all received slight cuts in the budget that they proposed to the senate.

Jay Zech, Eagle Eye Co-Editor, said,

"I believe that the Eagle Eye provides a valuable service to the campus. The $300 they took from us is going to hurt, but I can't see it making a dent in a budget of almost $400,000.

The groups receiving the same funding as in the 1985-86 budget were: Choir, Cultural Affairs Committee, and the Residents Hall Association.

Donaldson commented, "There really was poor attendance by both Senate members and the groups that were requesting funds." He felt that all the groups were considered fairly by the members who were present.

Mr. David L. Cox, an administrator who assisted the student senators, said, "I think it's a very fair budget. It's also an optimistic, conservative budget."

Cox also said that students do not have to anticipate an increase in the student activities fee due to the design of the approved 1986-87 budget.

It was also announced at the meeting that several members currently on the Executive Committee would be running for offices in the upcoming elections. Kevin McNamara will be running for President. Steve Donaldson will run for Vice-president again. Bob Rote, not presently on the Executive Committee, will run for Treasurer.

Executive elections will be held on April 15. Petitions have to be into the Business office in the first floor of the PUB by Tuesday. It is hoped that there will be a least a few candidates for these important positions.

Aerobicise for education

By Tony Feller
Staff Reporter

Keep those thighs from getting flabby, that belly from bulging and help raise money for a good cause on Monday night!

Delta Psi Kappa will be holding an aerob-athon from 6-9 p.m. in the Thomas Fieldhouse to raise money for a scholarship fund that will benefit Health, Physical Education, or Recreation honor students.

Teams will be made up of six members, each participating for five minutes every 30 minutes. Sponsor sheets can be picked up at the equipment room in Zimmerli or from one of the following people: Bobbi Burdett, Amy Greczyn, Kim Cooley, or Laurie Forney.

The sheets can be turned in the day of the aerob-athon, and the teams with the most sponsor money will receive prizes; $120 for first place, $80 for second and $30 for third. All contributions are tax deductible.

The aerob-athon will be a first here at LHU. "We were trying to think of a marathon, but something different," said Delta Psi Kappa member Bobbi Burdett. "We're going to try to make it an annual thing."

The records will be spun by former LHU student Andy Shearer, and free refreshments will be provided. All of the action will be led by six qualified instructors.

Sources behind the aerob-athon say they are expecting a very good turnout and hope to make it an annual event.

Trying to gain support for his budget McCormick visits LHU

Lori Budinger
Staff Reporter

Chancellor James McCormick of the State System of Higher Education (SSHE) discussed the SSHE budget request for the 1986-87 fiscal year at a press conference held yesterday.

The Chancellor is the chief executive officer of SSHE.

Chancellor McCormick is making a tour of the 14 universities in the State System of Higher Education (SSHE) in support of the 1986-87 SSHE appropriations request.

SSHE has requested 290 million dollars in operating and educational funds to stabilize tuition and retain quality. This request is 9.9% above the 1985-86 level of funding.

Chancellor McCormick stressed that this budget increase is needed to maintain in-state tuition at $1,600 a year. The increase will also provide the opportunity to enhance the quality of educational offerings.

The quality enhancements will provide for new programs in Electrical and Computer Engineering Technology, Health Physics and Biotechnology, and Industrial Technology. It will also be used to help modify and update the libraries at the 14 state universities as well as the enhancement of public service institutes.

If the budget request is met, LHU would receive 11 million for the 1986-87 fiscal year. These funds would be used for general education, instructional equipment, and campus renovations.

The renovations would include repairs to walkways and roadways, installation of new top surfaces for the tennis courts, and exterior repairs to Academic and Administrative buildings.

Chancellor McCormick encourages students to appeal to their Representatives to vote in favor of the SSHE budget. An individual appeal is the most effective way of getting a representative to vote in favor of the budget the students and state is advocating for.

EDITORIAL

Don't we deserve better?

As you can see from our front-page story on last Wednesday's SCC meeting, the major topic of discussion was the 1986-87 fiscal budget.

All of the major student organizations who asked for increases in SCC funding, with the exception of C.A.M.P.S., Intramurals, and the Eagle Eye, received some kind of budgetary increase.

Now I'm told that C.A.M.P.S. has not, to date, used all of their money from the 1985-86 budget, and that Intramurals receive funding outside of what the S.C.C. gives them.

That brings us to the Eagle Eye. This year our publication costs (over which we have no control) went up over $2,500 from last year. But we did not ask for a $2,500 budgetary increase. We cut corners and decided we could get by with a $330 increase from the SCC. If you read the story on the front page, you already know that we didn't get the $330.

Perhaps I should point out that the SCC gave out $9,192 in increases this year, and works on a budget of nearly $400,000. The $330 we asked for would have come out of General Contingency, (the SCC surplus fund, which, by the way, contains well over $10,000) so it wouldn't have taken money away from some other organization.

The question on our minds is why. Why would the SCC turn down such a meager request? Indeed, $330 is a mere drop-in-the-bucket compared to the kind of money the SCC controls.

It is difficult for myself, and the rest of the staff, not to take this personally. We've worked hard, and continue to work hard, to make the Eagle Eye the best paper it can be, and we like to think it shows (if you have doubts, take a look some of the Eagle Eye's back issues). We didn't walk away with three first class awards by being lazy.

Now, just to keep the record straight, of all the organizations which asked for increases, the Eagle Eye's request was the smallest. Athletics received $4,400; the band received $1,557; Small Clubs received $2,163; and the University Players received $540.

All of these organizations deserved their increases. All we asked for was $330, and I, for one, think we deserved to get it.

Archie going for gold at boxing nationals

Lock Haven's 119 pound, Rob Archie has qualified to box in the 1986 National Collegiate Boxing Association Championships April 11 and 12 at the US Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs.

According to Dr. Ken Cox, Archie, the outstanding freshman from Harrisburg and the ECBA-North Regional champion is expected to receive his stiffest challenge at the nationals from R. Fernandez of the US Naval Academy and Andre Horton of the US Air Force Academy.

Archie is attempting to become the Bald Eagles 19th All-American since boxing was re-established at the "Haven" in 1978-79.

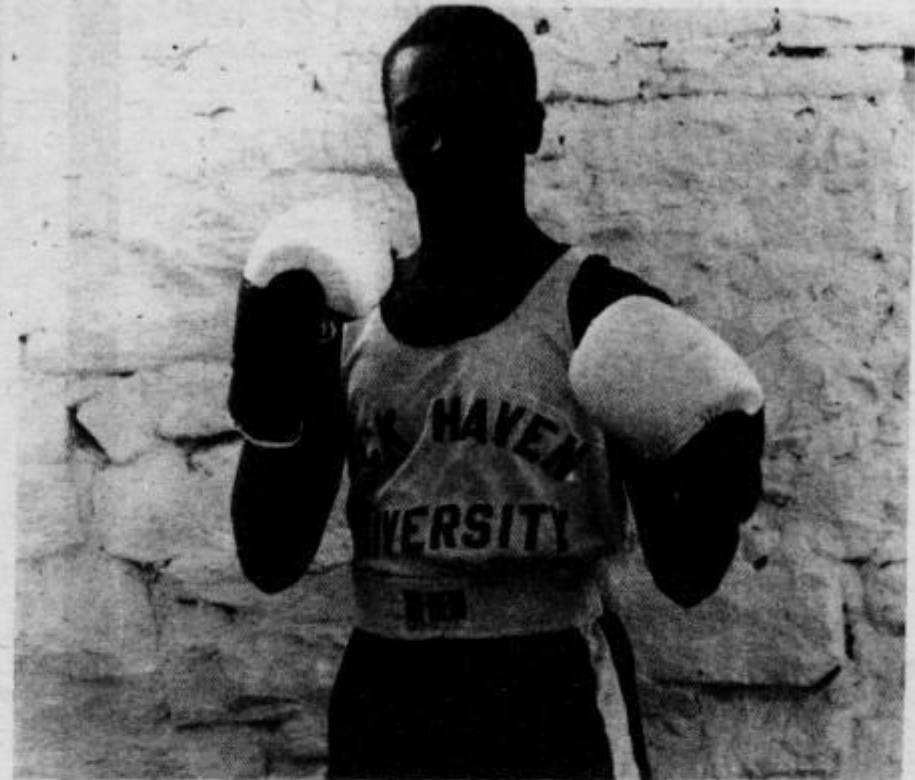

The Bald Eagles have produced one national champion, when Dave Washington won the 119 pound title in 1984. The Bald Eagles have produced 10 silver medalists, including three-time national runner-up Tim Frymyer, a 1985 LHU graduate.

Boxers from 32 colleges qualified for the regional tournaments. The champions from each region come from 15 colleges and universities across the nation. The four schools with the most qualifiers are: US Air Force Academy, 9; US Naval Academy, 8; University Nevada-Reno, 6; and Central Connecticut State University, 5.

Nine former All-Americans suffered defeats in this year's regional championships. All four regional directors, including Dr. Cox of the ECBA-North have agreed that the caliber of competition at the regional championships was probably the best in the history of NCBA.

This is the seventh consecutive year that a Bald Eagle boxer is competing in the nationals. For the first time in history, both West Chester University (a three-time national team champion) and Lehigh University have been shut out of the NCBA championships. Texas A&M will make its first appearance in the nationals.

Rob Archie will travel to the US Air Force Academy to compete in the NCBA boxing championships

Snyder shoots for seventh title

Junior World Powerlifting Champion, Gerard Snyder is scheduled to travel to the University of Illinois at Chicago April 4, 5, and 6 and compete in the 18th annual National Collegiate Powerlifting Championships.

Snyder, a senior Journalism student, is unbeaten through six powerlifting contests and seeks to repeat as National Collegiate Champion.

In last year's event, he was nominated Outstanding Lightweight at the United States Military Academy in West Point, New York, by garnering first place in the 114 pound weight class.

In powerlifting, lifters are judged on three exercises, the squat, bench press, and deadlift. The highest weight lifted of three attempts at each exercise contributes to an overall total weight lifted. The person who accumulates the highest totals is then crowned champion.

Snyder's best contest so far has been at the Junior National Championships where he lifted a combined total of 1,113 pounds. Late last fall, he journeyed to Soest, West Germany and claimed his World Champion title in a record-breaking fashion as well.

"I'm looking for a more balanced performance at this meet," Snyder said. "I've won in the past by a few good strokes of good fortune. This time I want to play things smart. There's only one way to do things and that is to do them better than before."

Accompanying the lightweight to Chicago will be coaches Greg Buckwalter and John Weyand. The entourage is being sponsored by the SCC.

Powerlifter Gerard Snyder is currently competing at the University of Illinois at Chicago in the National Collegiate Powerlifting Championships.

Snyder is undefeated in his last six competitions and will be seeking his second national title. He won the World Championships in Soest, West Germany.

Fishing hints for opening day

By Joe Krause
Sports Columnist

The countdown is winding to a halt and in a matter of days the surrounding streams will be overpopulated with anglers dangling a nightcrawler in a mountain stream for that prize trophy fish.

Yes, the fishing season is finally upon us, and if prior years are any indication as to what we can expect, increased numbers of anglers are sure to be waking up in the wee hours of the morning when April 12 arrives (The first official day of trout season).

"I'm ready" said Harry Phillips, a senior at LHU who has been involved in the sport since he was eight years old. "I've been getting ready since January. There's no such thing as being prepared, you never know what to expect."

Preparation may be the rule rather than the exception. So if your planning on spending anytime at all out at the stream this year, for heaven's sake, make sure your prepared.

One way to insure preparation is by reading the fisherman's bible, the Pennsylvania Fish Commission Summary of Fishing Regulations and Laws. Inside you'll discover everything from bait to information about the Youghiogheny Reservoir. (Boundary between Pa. and Maryland)

Now, here are some of my helpful hints:

"Keep in mind that the minimum size for trout has been increased to seven inches as compared to the traditional six, which it had been until this year.

"According to Chapter 27 in the Pennsylvania Fish Laws, proper identification must be in the possession of the angler and the license must be displayed. Violation of this rule will result in a $25 fine.

"The daily limit is eight for all lakes unless otherwise noted, such as fly-fishing areas.

"And finally, enjoy the challenge on opening day, but remember, to get up early. "There's a definite trend toward fishing this year," said Cousin Ernie, manager of Uncle Joe's Woodshed, the numbers are growing annually."

The challenge increases as the numbers do grow and the countdown is now at eight days and counting...Be prepared to snag that prize Brownie.
