LOCK HAVEN GIVEN HIGHEST TEACHERS COLLEGE RATING

ANNOUNCEMENT MADE AT N. E. A. CONVENTION

American Association of Teachers
Colleges Gives "A" Rating
After Investigation.

On Wednesday morning, Dr. Armstrong announced in chapel that the Lock Haven State Teachers College had been given an "A" rating by the American Association of Teachers Colleges. This is the highest possible rating to be given to a Teachers College and when we consider that the classification is made on a comparative basis with the other Teachers Colleges all over the United States, we realize the magnitude of this honor.

Dr. Minnick Inspects College.

Dr. Armstrong stated that Dr. Minnick, who was a visitor at our College last fall, had been called here to classify our College. He brought with him a long and detailed report which had been previously submitted by the College to the American Association of Teachers Colleges. This report was a guide for his inspection and he checked on all the items which were contained in the report, which included every possible phase of condition affecting Teacher Training for public schools.

Entrance Requirements High.

The first requirement of a Teachers College is that it be a four-year institution which grants degrees. This requirement having been satisfied, Dr. Minnick began to analyze the College from every possible angle. He took into consideration the college entrance requirements and as no one is admitted to our College without being a first class high school graduate, this was very much in our favor. Next, the students' grades were checked and the standard for graduation considered. The preparation of the Faculty was also included in the complete report that Dr. Minnick submitted to the Committee of

THREE STUDENTS CHOSEN AS COMMENCEMENT SPEAKERS

The award of highest honors in the graduating class has recently been made with the announcement of the names of the three student speakers for the college commencement exercises of May, 1930. These awards are made entirely on the basis of scholarship standing throughout the work done in the entire course. One student, from the graduates, is chosen from each main field of work in the curricula offered by the college, to represent his particular group on the commencement program.

Elizabeth Kittleberger has been chosen as the highest ranking Senior of the Group I two-year course. Miss Kittleberger, whose excellent voice has made her musical talent well known in many college activities, is president of the Y. W. C. A. She is a graduate of Curwensville High School. As representative of the Group II two-year class, Marion Puckey is awarded truly deserved honors as a fine student, who came to Lock Haven two years ago as a graduate of Altoona High.

Samuel Long, who will appear as speaker from the College Group, graduated from Williamsport High School. His varied interests and abilities leave a record of personality prominent upon L. H. T. C. campus from the time of his entrance upon his college course. Mr. Long holds the presidency of the Y. M. C. A. and the Naturalist Club and heads the Praeco Staff as editor-in-chief of the Year Book for 1930.

NEW TRAINING SCHOOL TO BE READY FOR SUMMER SESSION

Students, alumni and other persons interested in our College will be glad to learn that work on the new Training School building is progressing so rapidly that it is altogether probable that it will be ready for use at the time of the opening of the Summer Session, June 16.

This beautiful and strictly modern building will, when completed, have cost approximately $200,000.00 and is equipped with the most complete and up-to-date heating and ventilating system available. The ventilation is so constructed that fresh air from outside, will be heated and forced into the rooms.

Special Observation Room.

A number of interesting and convenient features are included in the class room arrangements. For instance, a special demonstration room in which the rows of seats are arranged in ascending order, has been provided. This will eliminate much of the congestion that is likely to take place with a large number of observers in a regular class room. Also, each class room has been provided with an adjoining office or conference room for the supervisor, and a special room for teaching retarded pupils.

This attractive new building, added to our already beautiful campus, will make Lock Haven one of the most beautiful and well equipped Teachers Colleges in the state.

S. T. C. ADOPTS NEW SYSTEM OF RATING

Letters to be Used For Grades;
Quality Points Assigned to Each Grade Mark.

A new system of scholarship ratings and honor points has been adopted at Lock Haven S. T. C. in order to raise the standards of scholarship and maintain the high standing which this college has always enjoyed. The new system will go into effect September 2, 1930. In brief it is as follows:

Scholarship Ratings.

Scholarship ratings on the report cards and on the students' permanent records will be indicated by letters according to the following marking scheme:

- A. Superior accomplishment—90 per cent. to 100 per cent.
- B. Excellent, above middle half—80 per cent. to 89 per cent.
- C. Average accomplishment—70 per cent. to 79 per cent.
- D. Inferior accomplishment—60 per cent. to 69 per cent.
- E. Failure, requiring repetition of course.
- I. Incomplete—Indication that work is incomplete but may be brought to passing standard by complying with conditions prescribed by the instructor in charge of the course.

A mark of "Incomplete" in any course must be made up and the passing grade recorded in the office NOT LATER than the middle of the following semester, otherwise the mark of incomplete will be marked as FAILURE.

Courses dropped without adequate reason, shall constitute an "E."

Honor Points or Quality Points.

Honor points or Quality points will be assigned to the various grade marks as follows:

- A—3 points per semester hour.
- B—2 points per semester hour.
- C—1 points per semester hour.

EVERYBODY IS TIP-TOP BECAUSE EASTER IS NEAR

Everybody is tip-top because Easter is near. For us college students Easter is a day through which we get a much deserved and much needed vacation; for the early Christians it was a day for commemorating the resurrection of Christ; for the ancient Greeks it was a festival for the celebration of the rebirth of Spring. Doubtless it is the first item of this three-fold evolution which is best suited to the present state of affairs at L. H. T. C. At any rate, now that Shylock has obtained his pound of flesh from each of us (rather, from the girls), through the gym meet and the nine-week exams, the first one seems to find the most favor.

However, we cannot discard all the old ideas connected with Easter. There is one superstition which holds that it is unlucky to omit wearing new clothes on Easter day. Girls, don't you think that this superstition would serve as a good argument in inducing your dads and mothers to get you a new Easter bonnet or one of those long silhouette dresses for which your heart has been aching? Without a doubt this idea was advanced by the female population of the day when it was prevalent. So, girls, let's give three lusty cheers for those pioneers of women's right to get new clothes and other paraphernalia for Easter!

Another superstition used to be that the sun participated in the general felicity of Easter day by dancing in the heavens. Some even said that it whirled around like a mill wheel and then gave three leaps. Perhaps if the Yankee Doodle Clog had been known of in that day the people would have argued as to whether the sun made a "five" or a "seven." Though this latter statement may seem rather absurd, certainly it is not any more nonsensical than the fact that some Devonshire maidens used to get up early on Easter mornings in order to see if the sun really did dance. Suppose this idea that the sun dances on Easter mornings still existed today, how many girls of this college would be willing to sacrifice a couple of hours of sleep to see it dance? Even if such a miraculous thing were to happen, very few, I believe would get up. Most of us are going home with the idea that at last we are going to sleep as long as we want to and without being interrupted at 6:20 by Bely's alarm.

We must not forget to mention the date of Easter. There has been almost as much animated arguing about the proper date for Easter as there has been about the matter of how many angels could prouette simultaneously on the point of a needle. Since it would require too much time and labor from each busy individual of L. H. S. T. C. to work out the proper dates for Easters to come, we have computed them ourselves. Doubtless you are all anxious to know as what date your next Easter vacation and other Easter vacations will come, so we are giving you a list of the dates for the next thirty-five Easters:

1931—April 5    1948—March 28
1932—March 27    1949—April 17

Just think dear readers, there are but "eight more weeks till vacation—and back home" we'll go. And have you noticed how the approaching end is reflected in the Klub activities of this institution of learning? Well, we haven't either, but there is no doubt that Alumnae banquets and bids to societies and initiations forecast the end of the year.

And did you hear about the Art Club initiation? Well, that's the kind to attend. After scaring the poor little pledges, the big-hearted Senior members came across and took them all to the movies and the Sugar Bowl. Well, we truthfully say we never got initiated that way. Recollections of meals eaten from the mantle-piece testify to that.

From the Educational Enthusiasts I have elicited the following enlightening items: At Monday's meeting (1) Two new members, Lily Fye and Mid Kyler, were elected; (2) Everyone of the Klub was present (three cheers and a tiger); (B1) The Klub is going to have a home-coming picnic party the Saturday after Easter vacation. (Every time we hear a Klub discussing foods we wish we belonged).

Tuesday night the W. A. A. elected new officers. The returns will appear in the next issue. President Lohr and her trusty cohorts deserve a big hand for their management of W. A. A. during the past year.

The L. A. L.'s met Friday noon and, due to the withdrawal of their president, Maurine McClure, elected your faithful servant president (what a blow!) The Day-Roomers then discussed the purchase of a gift for Maurine and planned for a party to be held April 16 for the whole day room.

The Naturalists are all alive and anxious to tell the story of their trip to Woodward. If you want to hear the harrowing details ask. But it has been whispered that the speed laws were slightly violated in their endeavor to get back in time for dinner. The meals must be good around here.

The Times Staff met Monday night and planned for a special meeting on Thursday at 4:30. The Editors are going to elect a new installment of "cub reporters."

The R. O. L.'s were the only sorority to meet on Monday and they decided where they were going to hold their Alumnae Banquet, but they wouldn't tell us where. Well, the truth will come out and we shall soon see! Hist! We shall see!

Dramatic Club Try-Outs Held Tonight

Dramatic club try-outs will be held in the Auditorium this evening, April 4, starting at 7:00 o'clock, under the direction of Miss Arey, and the Try-Outs Committee of the Dramatic club.

These try-outs are held for a double purpose: for selecting a cast for the Junior play, "Tons of Money," which is the first activity on the Commencement program and for selecting promising material for new Dramatic club members. All students not graduating in May are cordially invited to participate.

the Association. The Faculty members were rated for their experience and preparation. Due thought was also given to the Training School and its supervision.

Dr. Minnick took into account the academic standing, living conditions, conditions of our class rooms, laboratories and libraries. His report was then submitted to the Committee on Classification of the American Association of Teachers Colleges and they gave the Lock Haven State Teachers College an "A" rating. The rating of our College was announced at the National Educational Association Convention held at Atlantic City.

Teachers and students alike are very happy over this rating, as it means much to the College and to the people who will graduate in the future. The possibilities of securing a position or entering a graduate school are now even greater than they have been in the past. We congratulate Dr. Armstrong and the Faculty for the honor which they have gained for themselves and our College.

NATURALIST CLUB GOES TO WOODWARD CAVE

Last Saturday afternoon, March 29, the members of the Naturalist Club, several of the faculty and friends journeyed to Woodward Cave where they spent an enjoyable afternoon. The trip was made in cars furnished by friends and members of the club.

Woodward Cave is the largest dry cave in Pennsylvania and has a crushed gravel walk all through, making the walk through entirely convenient to all. All persons wishing to go through the cave do so in a party under the leadership of a guide. Illumination is obtained by electric lights strung throughout the cave. The cave also contains an abundance of stalactites and stalagmites which are formations of carbonate of lime caused by the dripping of dissolved limestone. The stalactites hang from the ceiling of the cave, while the stalagmites are built up from the bottom. Beautiful effects are obtained by colored lights placed at strategic points in the cave.

Another feature of the cave is its number of rock formations that show likenesses to well-known persons, animals and other objects. These likenesses are formed entirely by nature in solid rock, and the more striking ones are pointed out by the guide. Many bats were seen clinging to the ceiling and walls of the cave, and some of the party actually made pets of the creatures.

The souvenir stand was a big attraction for many of the party, while others contented themselves by taking pictures of the group and the mouth of the cave. The trip was thoroughly enjoyed by all. Those present were: Miss Holoway, Miss Bently, Miss Russell, Miss Bressler, Miss Noel, Mr. Ulmer, Mrs. Ulmer, Mary Ulmer, Norman Morgan, Clarence Mutchler, Williamsport; Betty Dalby, Edith Merkle, Louise Rhoads, Margaret Lundy, Dorothy Drake, Paddy Bonner, May Collins, Arlie Knowles, Ethel Andrews, Ellen Petdusky, Alice Ankony, Ruth Schmoyer, Helen Schmoyer, Samuel Long, Bob Smith, Happy Poorman, Floyd Bollem, Russell Bohn, Fred Malone and Hal Poust.

ALPHA ZETA PI HOLDS PARTY IN THE GYM

Members of the Alpha Zeta Pi held an informal get-together party in the College Gymnasium last Friday evening with Miss Baer, faculty adviser, acting as chaperon. The entertainment for the evening consisted of dancing and card games. That the event was a big success no one can doubt after consulting any of the fortunate members that were present and a large share of the credit must go to Martha Zeigler and her entertainment committee for the manner in which they made it possible for all those present to enjoy themselves.

He—"Let's get tied?"
She—"Let's knot."

EDITORIALS

The feeling of being rated as an "A" student in a course is something to be proud of, especially when there are a few hundred or more other students almost as good. The world looks bright and prosperous and a feeling of conquering anything is acquired.

That same sensation has come over this college as it has been recently announced that the Lock Haven State Teachers College was given an "A" rating by the American Association of Teachers Colleges. Hundreds of Teachers Colleges all over the United States were examined and rated and Lock Haven was found to be in the highest group.

All people in any way connected with this college are proud of the rating and with the new improvements on the campus it looks as though there is a great future in store. Even this year the enrollment has increased immensely and under the new ruling that no one will be admitted without being a graduate of a first class high school, it will be proven that the highest type of students will attend.

Graduation brings excitement, thrills, presents and sorrow and to a few people it brings a great honor. That honor, is having the highest scholastic standing of your group. There is nothing else that could be given to take the place of this privilege, the granting of which means

D—0 point per semester hour.
E—-1 point per semester hour.

In order that a student may be eligible for graduation from any curriculum, the total number of quality points attained must equal or exceed the total number of semester hours of credit accepted for graduation. This means that in Groups I and II, where 68 semester hours of work are required, a total of at least 68 quality points must be earned by the candidate before he will be graduated. In the four-year college course where 136 semester hours of work are required, a total of at least 136 quality points must be earned for graduation.

If a student has, at the end of any semester, earned less than one half as many quality points as he is taking semester hours of work, he is asked to withdraw from the college and may not be reinstated until at least one semester has elapsed. The following hypothetical cases will illustrate this. Students 1, 2, 3 and 4 have a total number of quality points exceeding one-half of the number of semester hours which they are taking

DR. PIKE COMMENCES HIS ANNUAL SERIES OF LECTURES

On Wednesday, March 26, at 3:20, Dr. Pike, noted psychologist from Danville, delivered the first of a series of most interesting psychology lectures.

Dr. Pike's first discussion was on the unconscious mind, a matter of much discussion and divided opinion on the part of psychologists. In a most interesting manner he gave us to understand that the mind had a definite structural foundation, whose history was not made in one or two hundred years, but is the cultural development of man for five hundred thousand years.

Compares Mind to Page.

Dr. Pike does not like to think of the human brain as a blank paper, as some psychologists do, but rather like a leaf of a book, under which are pages, black with indelible markings, which are the product of man's development through five hundred thousand years. These characteristics and tendencies like self-preservation, adaptation, sex, religious and social instincts are the background for the child's development into worthwhile men and women. Conflict between these instinctive tendencies creates desires, some of which must be repressed.

Repression of these desires is not last in mental machines, but is pushed back into unconsciousness, which is often the cause of mental disease. Dr. Pike illustrated this fact, in the case of the woman, who when marrying at the age of nineteen, gave up her faith and consented to not rearing her children in that faith. However, there came the time in her life of which Dr. Pike spoke, when the repressed practice of her Catholic faith preyed on her mind and almost resulted in the ruination of her life.

Psycho-Analytical Field.

The Psycho-analytical field with which Dr. Pike is very familiar, is frequently discussed by persons who may be well-informed, but who certainly are not capable of imparting the knowledge—particularly the discussion of sex topics. The publishing of bad, cheap literature, dwelling on this topic fall into the hands of young people poisoning their minds, creating desires for the lower ideals.

Dr. Pike illustrated the presence of this literature by the fact that while on a train, he found five copies of a book, which was refused publication in England and France, and had finally been censored by the United States—in the possession of young women who were literally devouring it.

The idea that repression of sexual desires is probably the cause of many mental diseases, is proved false by the investigation and reports at State hospitals. Hence in order to make our lives worthwhile these tendencies and instincts of ours must be sublimated—that is, they must be converted from lower levels to the high level which benefits humanity. This may be illustrated in the case of curiosity, which on the low level leads to "back yard gossip" and when sublimated may result in the production of a scientist. Dr. Pike closed his ad-

CAMPUS CHATTER

Excerpt from Times Meeting:

Einar Eliason, "Madam President, I think that we should let the printer know what a mess he made of last week's issue—all the columns were misplaced." Einar evidently didn't know that this is April.

From the comments heard around the halls about our last week's issue we've come to the conclusion that the April Fool was on us.

We never heard that moral support was necessary to pose for a picture, but Ann seemed to think that holding Moon's hand was certainly bracing.

Wonder why Ted has been called "Sailor" Robb for the past couple of weeks? Is it because he has a girl on every floor?

How come all the orchestra members don't play in chapel every day? We saw them getting their picture taken the other evening. Quite a representative group—Congratulations.

Ken Miles and Ed. MacDonald: "When we picked up the saxophone and bass horn they all laughed, but when something went 'bang' they knew we couldn't play."

Sam Long in a men's session gave his side of an ideal girl. She must have pep, personality, vim, vigor, vitality and good looks. She must be a good cook and will not need training in the gentle art of opening cans. Try-outs will be held soon.

Dick Parsons is doing his student teaching in the Junior College group. What an April Fool for the class.

Y. M. C. A. MEMBERS REPORT ON LENTEN SEASON TOPICS

On Wednesday evening, March 26, the members of the Y. M. C. A. and several of the other fellows met in the Y. room for a very interesting meeting.

The State Council has provided the men with a little booklet called "The Fellowship of Prayer," which contains little meditations written especially for the Lenten season. Each of the members prepared one of the articles from the book for a special report and at this meeting discussed it; and all shared ideas that they had gleaned from their readings.

The general subject was "Coming to Terms With Ourselves." All the members responded well, and the meeting was an example of the kind of "socialized recitation" that you read about.

In order to come to terms with ourselves we must dedicate our lives to God, man and duty; and in that process the best in us is bound to find a way out.

Friendly German to Waiter—"Wie gehts?"

Waiter—"An order of wheat cakes?"

German—"Nein, nein."

"Yes—justice tempered with mercy."

dress which swayed each and every one of those present, toward an enlightenment on the unconscious mind, by reminding and warning us that the conscious mind must control the unconscious.

Those, who missed the first lecture would find it very much worthwhile to attend the other five, the last of which will be given at Danville the day that the psychology students visit the institution there.

TRIP TO TRAINING SCHOOL PROVES VERY INTERESTING

A visit to the Training School reveals many interesting things.

A visit to Miss Rook's room, grade 5, tells us that they have advanced in English and are now writing a play. The plot is being worked out and very soon they expect to announce the title and present the play as completed.

A few steps up the hall and we are at Miss Phillips' door, grade 2. A chart with many bright golden keys attracts our attention. Miss Phillips very kindly explains that this is a politeness chart and the rules are made by the children. Such rules as, "Excuse me," "Thank you," "I beg your pardon," and so forth are to be observed and each time a child breaks a rule his key is taken down for a day. The children decide when it may again hang upon the chart.

Next to the politeness chart and equally as pretty, is a chart containing step ladders in many colors. The figure of a child is on each ladder and below each ladder is the name of one of the children in the arithmetic class. Each time a child completes a unit of work he advances a step up the ladder. The children have set a goal to reach the top of the ladder before school is out. As this room contains so many interesting things, I must mention the pictures of Black Sambo. The second grade dramatized Black Sambo last Friday in assembly and after the dramatization they made pictures of Black Sambo and wrote their stories beneath the pictures.

The story of Peter Rabbit was also dramatized but this production was managed and reproduced by the first grade. The children were not coached as to what lines they were to speak. The story was read to the children several times and the children used their own ideas and lines and presented a fine dramatization.

The third grade, Miss Leshner's grade, proved to be the grade of artists. In language work they have

SERMON OF DR. FOSDICK REVIEWED BY MISS HOLOWAY

The Vesper Services held last Sunday afternoon proved to be of exceptional interest and value. Huldah Davis gave a delightful vocal solo after which Miss Holoway reviewed an inspiring sermon by Harry Emerson Fosdick.

Miss Holoway brought out the fact that we are living in an age of change and adjustment and are continually faced with the question of what is right and what is wrong. There are two standards that are consulted when trying to determine just what is proper; one is taste, the other, fact. In Hinduston it is considered a sin to eat steak, but in America it is thought quite permissible. So it is with moral obligations, we practice a great many things that are conventional because the rest of society gives its approval.

Miss Holoway gave much consideration to personality and how we should hold it in respect. Most of us try to hold our own personality on a high plane but are sometimes forgetful of the other person's personality. When we gossip or say unkind things we not only subtract from our own personality but tend to establish the habit of being an unkind person. It was suggested that we substitute love when we are tempted to do or say something unpleasant, as we are told that "love is the fulfillment of law."

In closing Miss Holoway gave a quotation from Dr. Fosdick: "Whatever elevates and enriches personality in ourselves and others, is right; whatever depresses, besmerches, or impoverishes personality in ourselves and others is wrong."

SUMMER SESSION TO BE HELD FROM JUNE 16 TO JULY 26

The 1930 Summer Session promises to be one of the best in the history of the College. Practically all of the courses offered during the year will be given during the summer, with the regular college faculty to handle the work.

A very large enrollment is expected. Many alumni are planning to return for additional work toward degrees, and a large number of others plan to spend six weeks of the summer vacation in a profitable manner. Many have their programs already made for the session.

The Summer Session this year will open June 16 and close July 26. The early closing date will give students the month of August and a week in July for vacation before the fall session opens in September.

All persons interested in attending the Summer Session are invited to write to President D. W. Armstrong for further particulars.

used the March wind as a motive, not only in language work but in art also. They have made weather vanes. These weather vanes are really very pretty with a bright red rooster at one end and a wide fan-shaped tail at the other. The vanes are mounted for use and balance with mathematical exactness.
