'73 Interns Given Salary & Credit

Two Lock Haven State College students will be selected to participate in the State Government Internship Program. The internship program, headed by Secretary of State Pittenger, will be held in Harrisburg during the 1973 fall semester.

Students who are selected for the internship will receive $80. weekly salary. These students will also receive a full semester credits from Lock Haven State.

To receive the college credits, each student must complete one internship paper composed of a log and field research. Attendance at weekly seminars with key individuals in government, politics and press, and regular conferences with fellow interns is required along with the completion of special assignments.

According to the program director Dr. Colabrese, the college will select two students of average academic achievement. These two students should be self directed, imaginative, flexible, and able to cope with an urban environment. This program is not intended solely for students who eventually want government jobs, but are available to any students who want to broaden their experiences.

Dr. Colabrese stresses that students wishing to apply for these internships must fill out applications in Himes 106 immediately. The two Lock Haven State recommendations must be made by Dr. Colabrese's office by Monday, April 9. After the two students are nominated, attempts will be made to match the student's career orientation to the government department to which he is assigned.

Chance for All To Work For Degree Open

by Joan Molyneux

Any person who wishes may be admitted as an adjunct student during the summer sessions at Lock Haven State.

This encourages people, who otherwise would not have the chance, to attend available college courses and determine if they are capable of successfully completing a college education. Also new courses can be picked up if enough people are interested in them.

Such admission in no way implies admission toward a degree at Lock Haven State. Credits earned in this way may be applicable to degree programs and transferable to other institutions; acceptance of these credits depends on the consent of the individual institutions. High school students under this program may receive credit for their work if they are later accepted at Lock Haven as degree candidates. These credits can also be transferred upon approval of the institution concerned.

Anyone being admitted under this program must fill out an application, which is available in Dean Eischeid's office.

yet registered to vote will have the opportunity to do so this Thursday and Friday. Registration will be held from 10 a.m.-7 p.m. on April 4 and 5 in Bentley Hall, lounge.

Anyone who will be 18 before the next election and who has been a resident of Clinton County for 30 days may register. Proof of age is not necessary but an oath, swearing that one is of age, must be taken. The college address would be given as the permanent address.

Those students who have already registered in another county or state may not register again. It is possible to change a voting address. Anyone may do this by simply turning in his Voter Registration Card.

New Library Science Program May Be Offered At LHS

by Barb Weis

There is a good possibility that Lock Haven will offer a new Library Science program in the near future. A proposed K-12 (Kindergarten-12th grade) Media Education program is expected to replace the Library Science Endorsement program if approved by the State Department of Education.

The proposed program, which is currently being prepared for presentation in Harrisburg, would certify students as a library media specialist in both elementary and secondary schools. The librarian, as a library media specialist, could serve as a consultant and as an instructor for the students and staff. Preparing print and non-print material would be another aspect of the specialist's job.

Until this program is approved by the Pennsylvania Dept. of Education, the endorsement program currently being offered will continue. This program is only available to elementary education certificate holders and endorsement is valid upon the completion of 12 semester hours in library science.

The Department of Education has divided the state into ten proposed planning regions and Lock Haven State will be the only school in the Susquehanna region to offer a Library Science program. The proposed K-12 program would give additional strength to LHS present program.

The proposed K-12 program has already been approved on all necessary levels at LHS. It now goes to Harrisburg where it is also expected to gain approval.

Can You Afford To Pay $50 More?

Remember how you felt last spring when the tuition at LHS was increased $25 a semester? You may have justified it by thinking $25 isn't really that much more. It may have taken a little juggling of your savings but you made it, right?

Well gang, if that increase didn't get you, maybe the next one will.

ANOTHER ONE IN THE MAKING

Yes, another tuition increase is in the making. The exact amount is not yet known, but the figure $50 per semester has been kicked around by a few people—namely Education Secretary John Pittenger and Governor Shapp. You remember Shapp—the one who ran on 1972 on the "low-cost, higher education" platform?

Well, he thought the $50 per semester tuition increase was such a good idea that he has already worked it into next year's state college budget. For LHS, this extra tuition money falls under the heading of "other funds" which will be available to the college. After figuring in these alleged "other funds," Shapp has come to the conclusion that neither LHS nor any of the other 13 state colleges will need one penny more than last year to maintain operations at their current level.

NO MATTER HOW THE FIGURES ARE JUGGLED...

This is either naiveté, stupidity, or wishful thinking on the part of Governor Shapp and his budgetary advisors. With the negotiated 10% increase of the faculty's salary and 5% increase for non-instructional staff, not to mention the ever-rising cost of living which adds better than a 5% increase onto the cost of running a state college, his proposed budget leaves 14 state colleges with a monetary gap that is $21,530,000 wide. The "other funds," comprised of the monies the increased tuition would yield to all 14 colleges, totals $4,100,000 of revenue which hardly comes close to filling the gap. These figures really hit home when applied to the situation at LHS. Here, the deficit stands at $792,027. The "other funds" are listed as totaling $142,400 which makes up approximately one-fifth of the needed funds.

How does the Shapp administration propose to fill this budgetary deficit? It doesn't. Instead, it is leaving this problem up to each state college to worry about.

SINKLER SAYS...

And worry they have. In the words of Arthur Sinkler, chairman of the State College and University Directors, to operate the 14 state colleges on Shapp's proposed budget would mean "the elimination of one out of every ten employees, or 20% of non-personnel expenses, or a $160 increase in tuition instead of the $50 increase proposed by the Governor, or a combination of all three."

At LHS, it would probably mean a reduction of faculty, an inability to implement new programs, and a tuition increase. However, it is not known exactly what the effects will be. Until LHS receives notification of how much it will be allotted next fiscal year, everything is up in the air—including some of our students' futures.

MORE FOR LESS

In short, the Shapp administration has shifted the burden of his deficient budget onto the students of Pennsylvania state colleges. As a member of this group, you are already paying the highest tuition in the United States to attend a state school. Can you afford to pay more for what, out of necessity, will be a lower quality education?

If not, then do something about it. Show the state 'powers that be' that you cannot and will not pay more. Join the SCC's letter writing campaign. All it involves is dropping by the SCC office, picking up a fact sheet, and writing the letter. The SCC will address and mail it for you.

You will not be alone in your fight. The other thirteen state colleges have initiated similar campaigns on their campuses. Statewide organizations such as the Pennsylvania State Association of Student Governments (PSASG), APSCUF-PAHE faculty bargaining unit, and the State College and University Directors (SCUD) are working very hard to prevent this increase. The power these organizations wield, combined with the sheer number that supportive students of 14 colleges provide, could

APO Thanks a Few

To the Editor:

On behalf of Alpha Phi Omega, I would like to take this opportunity to thank those few people who cared enough to come to the Jason Concert. Thanks each and everyone of you. As for the rest of you apathetic and indifferent people, you missed a good concert and the United Fund was the loser. I would also like to thank the Brothers, Sisters, and Pledges of APO and the others who helped with the set-up and take-down of the concert.

This Saturday, APO is sponsoring a Round and Square Dance. Guys, why don't you get your girl and do something different this weekend? Girls, if your boyfriends don't ask you—go get them. It promises to be a fun evening.

Sunday of Spring Weekend, Alpha Phi Omega is sponsoring a Bike-A-Thon with all proceeds going to the Mental Retardation Association. If you have access to a bike, why not ride for this worthy cause, if you are "bikeless" why not consider being a sponsor? Keep looking for more details.

Fraternally yours,

Kohl, Wagaman 'Outstanding' in Pi Games

by David Munson

This past weekend the Sigma Pi Chapter of Lock Haven State was one of the ten basketball teams to participate in a double elimination Sigma Pi Invitational Tournament at Fairmont College in West Virginia.

Things got under way for Sigma Pi Friday evening with West Virginia Tech being their first opponent. Sigma Pi had no trouble disposing of the West Virginia five by soundly trouncing them by 35 points 86 to 51. Keith Kohl, captain of Sigma led the scoring attack with 19 points, with Steve Wagaman and Dale Voorheis pumping in 16 and 15 points, respectively.

At 8 p.m. Friday the University of Virginia and Sigma Pi took the court in Pi's second game. This proved to be no contest. Sigma Pi pounded Virginia by 30 points 78 to 48. Again Keith Kohl ripped the cords for 22 big points, with Dale Voorheis coming through with 16 points.

On Saturday morning Sigma Pi and tourney favorite, Salem, squared off in what was the roughest game of the tournament at Fairmont. Sigma Pi lost this game by two points 53 to 51. Steve Wagaman was high this game with 25 markers and once again Dale Voorheis and Keith Kohl hit double figures with 14 and 10 points respectively.

Later on Saturday, Sigma Pi met their first opponent for the second time, West Virginia Tech. This game was much different than the first with Sigma Pi losing this their second loss by a score of 63 to 60. Early in the first half, Sigma Pi's hustling guard, Steve Wagaman, suffered a severe knee injury which caused him to leave the tournament. Keith Kohl once again came through with 25 points, and Jim Desantis ripped the nets for 12 points.

Captain Keith Kohl felt that Randy Krick and Dale Voorheis were the outstanding defensive players for Sigma Pi with their constant hustle all over the court. In this Fairmont Tournament seven players are picked out of all the teams there as "All Tourney." Each team votes for whom they feel these seven players should

Tennis Begins: Herrmann Has Fear But Hope

The Lock Haven State College tennis team opened its 1973 season yesterday with an away match at Bloomsburg.

This year's team is led by returning regulars Ken Gibbons at the number 1 spot and Scott Kaercher at number 3. The number 2 position is held by freshman Craig Shindler and the 4 and 5 positions are occupied by seniors Tom Bowen and Bill Lentz. The number 6 spot goes to Chip Snare, but he will be pressed by Lenny Long and Rich Morrell.

Head coach Karl Herrmann expressed fears of his team's lack of experience, but added that this year's team was one of the hardest working that he has ever had. He expects the team to keep improving as the season progresses.

His gymnastics background includes being a member of the U.S. Olympic team in 1960 and the Pan American Games team in 1961. Dr. O'Quinn is the author of a book on Elementary Gymnastics and has made numerous presentations at national conferences and colleges throughout the nation.

The choices were made by the players themselves with the thought of leadership qualities in mind.

It is Wolf's second season as a co-captain, Seidel's first.

Harnish, Wise Truck On At Caesar Rodney

by Lloyd Peters
WILMINGTON, DEL.-

Two Lock Haven State College distance running standouts ran excellent races here Sunday in the prestigious Caesar Rodney Half-Marathon road race.

Steve Harnish finished in a creditable 24th place with a 77:03 clocking. Harnish, training on his own the past several months in the Lancaster Pa. area because of student teaching obligations, was with the lead group of runners from the start of the race.

Larry Wise was the other Bald Eagle trackman to finish the rugged 13.1 mile course. Wise managed a 31st place finish of 78:15 despite being hampered by a severe stitch from the nine mile mark.

"Caesar Rodney" drew nearly 200 competitors from all parts of the Eastern Seaboard. The tough hilly course was won in record time by Patterson State star Tom Fleming. The race is used by many distance running enthusiasts as a final tuneup for the famed Boston Marathon.

Spotlight: Turchetta's Colorful Background Is Asset

by Ray Oberheim

Returning this season for his 3rd year as a member of the Eagle's baseball squad, is journeyman outfielder, Paul Turchetta.

Paul, who hails from Parma, Ohio, brings a lengthy background in baseball participation to the Eagles, having played ball in a variety of places and been associated with numerous knowledgeable baseball individuals.

To begin with, we start at Bowling Green University, where Paul began college, tried-out and made the team in the fall there, but left after his first semester without playing a game.

We next follow wandering Paul to Edinboro, where he meets head-baseball coach, Jim Christopher, becomes good friends with him, works out with his team, but once again leaves without actually playing in a game.

Then comes Broward Junior College in Florida. Paul attended classes there, while, at the same time, working for the Fort Lauderdale Baseball School as a student instructor and a member of their travelling squad.

The baseball school ran from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. daily, with games being played mostly at night.

Paul met such notables there as Larry Brown, now with the Orioles, and the former-great-Indian's hurler, Bob Feller.

Numerous other pros helped-out or played at the school, between December and March, until their spring training began.

Upon graduation from Broward, Paul, who had the opportunity to enter the University of Tampa, called Jim Christopher, at the time, head-basketball coach at Lock Haven State. Paul himself describes the outcome:

"He painted for me an exotic picture of 'The Haven' and swayed me into coming here. The school's a little smaller than I had imagined."

Paul's story concerns at Lock Haven, though centered away from the school itself toward the problem of his baseball performance:

"Since coming North, I've had trouble with my spring hitting. The weather is somewhat different here in April and May than in Florida. Nevertheless, I plan to give an all-out effort to make this-coming season at least an equal to my performance in Florida.

Paul cites his friendship with Larry Brown as being more influential upon him than any other:

"Larry, whom I first met at a series of baseball clinics in Ohio and later at the Fort Lauderdale Baseball School, won my admira-

Be a special kind of Navy Flyer. Be a Naval Flight Officer.

Whenever a Navy plane is under electronic control, that plane is in the hands of a Naval Flight Officer. Naturally, as a candidate for Naval Flight Officer training you'll need some very special qualifications. First, you must really want to fly, even if you've never flown before. You'll also need a college degree and the kind of mind that works well with math and physics.

Waiting at the end of your training program is a Navy Commission and the Golden Wings of a Naval Flight Officer. By then you'll be an expert in areas like Jet Navigation and Airborne Control . . . equipped to do your job wherever you go.

But whatever your specialty, travel will be part of your life. And so will challenge, responsibility, achievement and reward.

The benefits aren't average either. A Naval Flight Officer can earn up to $10,000 upon completion of flight school. The pay after three years is up to $14,500. There is also a program for obtaining a masters degree at no cost. The Navy gives its Naval Flight Officers the best.

If that's the kind of career you're looking for, and if you think you've got what it takes to be a Naval Flight Officer, send in the coupon.

tion through his likeable nature. He was easy to talk with, honest, and not the type to put himself on a pedestal, like some other big-leaguers often do."

Paul says his biggest baseball thrill came when he rapped-out 4 hits, once, against the Expos AA farm club at West Palm Beach, while his biggest disappointment has been his performance the past two seasons here at Lock Haven.

He describes the team, this year, at Lock Haven, as "Probably the most balanced small-college team in this part of the country, with one of the greatest team attitudes I've ever been acquainted with. I'll be disappointed with anything less than a conference championship."

Paul closes by saying, "I hope this year's team will help start a winning athletic tradition here at Lock Haven and an end to the current 'I-don't-give-a-damn' athletic feeling."

Paul Turchetta's been on a lot of teams in a lot of different places, so his opinion on the caliber of a club should be valued. Let's hope his high feelings about the Eagles proves to be accurate.
