Delta Rho Beta's Hold Annual Dinner Dance

Dr. Flowers Was Guest of Honor
Many Alumni Were Present;
Carl Keller's Music

The social event of the year, the Delta Rho Beta Fraternity celebrated its tenth anniversary Saturday, May 7. Guests of honor were Doctor Flowers, president of the college, and Mrs. Flowers. Other guests were the three advisers, Mr. Sullivan, Mr. Smith, and Mr. Parsons.

In addition several alumni returned for the day and the festivities marked the reunion of "Derby" brothers, graduate and undergraduate. It was hoped that the founder of the group and several of the charter members might have found it convenient to visit at the same time for a moment at least. However, since circumstances did not permit, only one charter member, Mr. Parsons, was present.

Carl Keller and his orchestra furnished the music and the Clinton Country Club was the scene for the occasion. The new officers were introduced at the same time. The number of guests was rather large compared to other years and it is believed a precedent was set in-

Chi Kappa Sigma Enjoys Banquet at Country Club

Impressive Ceremony Used in the Induction of Officers; Members Are Honored

The annual Dramatic Club banquet was held on Monday, May 2, at the Clinton Country Club. Immediately preceding the banquet an impressive installation ceremony was held to inaugurate new officers to their positions.

Joseph McNerney, President of the Club, acted as toastmaster at the banquet. After the banquet, Mr. McNerney gave an address of welcome. The actor's viewpoint was discussed by Richard Brown, while Miss Poole was interested in the club from the point of view of the spectator. Dr. Flowers also spoke of the work of the club. Chi Kappa Sigma also spoke of the work of the club. Chi Kappa Sigma was fortunate in having Ray Zaner, an alumnus, tell what the club means to him.

Senior Survey Indicates Trend Course Selection

Local Four Year Seniors Answer
Questionnaire Concerning the Value of Courses Offered

In a survey made recently among four-year seniors in the college an estimate was attempted of the courses in educational theory now being taught. Thirteen seniors were asked to indicate the practical value of these courses in their experience as student teachers. The questions asked, and the replies offered follow:

Rachael Field's "Three Pills in a Bottle" to Be Presented in Assembly Friday, May 13

Although Friday, May 13, may be considered unlucky, the students on our campus will find fortune has smiled on them when they see the final Dramatic Club production of the year, Rachel Field's "Three Pills in a Bottle," directed by Ruth Crowley.

The play is unique in the fact that it was written for children and people who are interested in plays for young folks. The scenery and lighting effects have been carefully worked out by the respective committees. Katherine Frey has designed and painted the back drop for the window. You will enjoy the unusual cast of characters which include not only people of the everyday world but also their souls from the supernatural realm. Wouldn't you like to see your soul portrayed in human form? Miss Field has given us delightful creatures of her imagination which will entertain the college audience as well as the training school children.

The cast includes Mary Eleanor Lovett, the little girl with a fever; Charlotte Figgles, her mother; Helen McCloskey, the scrub woman and her soul, Betty Lou Smith; Jack La Rosa, the scissors grinder, and his soul, Harriet Figgles; William Masterson, the mid-

At 8:00, Wednesday, May 11, the students of the Physical Education Department of Lock Haven State Teachers College will present their seventeenth annual pageant—The Melting Pot of Years—under the able direction of Miss Maloise Sturdevant Dixon.

This year's pageant is a colorful historical retrogression, depicting scenes from the development of our country, our state, our city, and our college. Arranged in four episodes (with prologue and epilogue), the program opens with the life of the Indian before the advent of the white man, and traces itself logically through the years, ending with the present day development of physical education in colleges.

The program is as follows:

INTERCOLLEGIATE GOVERNMENT CONFERENCE

At the Fifth Intercollegiate Government Conference, which was held at Harrisburg, April 22-24, representatives from many Pennsylvania colleges met to discuss problems facing various states of the union.

The problems examined by the education forum were numerous. Representatives from the State of Texas (Temple University) advocated the increase of the school age to eighteen years. The State of Maine, represented by Lock Haven, advocated an increase of the number of school days during the year. An increased school age necessitates provisions for higher education, and Texas offered a plan for junior colleges.

Mississippi, which was represented by Indiana State Teachers College, was foremost in plans for expansion of the curricula.

Other subjects of discussion which really show the attitude of college students toward education today were: uniform certification of teachers, teacher pensions, teacher salaries, and state subsidization of teachers.

Many other forums discussed problems confronting the states. Among these were: health, utilities, public welfare, labor, and agriculture.

COLLEGE HONORS BEL CANTOS

One of the most praiseworthy organizations in our college is the Bel Canto Choral Club. All year the group has been a most excellent representative for the school. Consider the effect of the singers upon audiences, both in and out of town! The striking, neat, simple, but effective gowns are an unusual but pleasing sight to those who behold them. Combine this visual sensation with the auditory one, and the total effect is extraordinary. For the singing of the club is on as high a level as is its appearance. Diligent practice twice a week under the careful, inspired direction of the leader, Miss Ullemeyer, cannot help but produce a high type of singing of which any school may be justly proud. May we congratulate the Bel Cantos and wish them every possible success in the future!

After this, Georgine Gottschall, Vice-President of the Club, presented Miss Brong, the club advisor, with an honorary pin and key as a token of appreciation for the work she has done for the club. Miss Brong then presented pins and keys to the following club members who had earned them: Ruth Crowley, Mary Hand, Joseph McNeerney, Lois Long, I. B. Nolan, Louise Knepp, Katherine Campbell, and Sara Sykes.

After the banquet a dance was held, and games were provided for those who did not care to dance.

The officers who were installed were as follows: President, I. B. Nolan; Vice-President, Robert Bowes; Secretary, Harriet Figgles; Treasurer, Katherine Campbell; Honor Chairman, Jean Dykens; Honor Secretary, Lois Wagner; Historian, Dorothy Sheasley; and Press Representative, Esther Crisman.

Next year's forum will be headed by: Mike Kolwasky, Directors; Leona Fern, Playreading; Richard Brown, Playwriting; Hannah Wesley, Costume; Sara Sykes and Ralph Link, Stage; Marie Kraemer, Make-up; Monroe Hurwitz, Radio Technique.

The success of this banquet was made possible by the effective work of the following committees: Gen-

How to Get a School In Three Easy Lessons

Are you going to apply for a school this year? Then, you don't want your letters to find their way to the waste basket immediately upon their receipt in the Superintendent's office. To avoid this disposal requires thought and careful preparation.

Use good and appropriate writing materials. Carelessness in writing, composition, spelling, punctuation, and general manuscript form predict disaster. Maintain professional dignity throughout your application. Make your letter brief and direct, clear, courteous, tactful, modest, absolutely right in form. Offer to answer further questions. Write easily and naturally, but still formally.

Be definite and specific in stating your training, preparation, and experience. Write your name on every photo you send out. Be judicious in selecting and citing references. Make the assumption that those to whom you are applying will want a superior teacher in personal fitness, training and experience.

Don't apply for everything in the whole series of grades unless your experience and training are very comprehensive. Such applications evidence a lack of appreciation of the demand of special fitness and expertness.

Do not accompany your application with a mass of credentials from nonexpert sources. A few letters from known educators of standing or from those whose official positions would indicate fitness to speak are all that should be submitted. Arrange for a personal interview if convenient. Over-insistent demands for prompt reply, for return of papers, for maximum salary show poor taste. Keep the board informed at intervals of about two weeks that you are still open for appointment. The applicant should be the one who keeps alive the question of appointment. Fill out all blanks with great care and fulness. Do you still want to apply for a school? Here's wishing you the best of luck.

COULD I

Could I but write some poetry
To stand the test of time,
Or even words to some dull song
With very dizzy rhyme.

Could I but point the changing view
As the sun sinks in the west
And casts its rays on busy towns
Forever seeking rest.

Could I but write majestic plays
With characters supreme,
And here and there a little scene
To gain me some esteem.

Could I compose a lovely song
With cadence strong and sweet,
Or one with military air
That's sounding slow retreat.

Could I but do just one of these
My life would seem worth while;
This futile attitude would pass
And I could really smile.

point out the importance of the public issues of the day. The keynote of the meeting expressed by the speakers was to judge a bill or proposal solely upon fact and to avoid newspaper propaganda and false theory.

Smith Harvey and Walter Montague, who along with Marian Arndt and Miss Poole drove to New York City for the Convention of Eastern States Association of Professional Schools for Teachers, graphically described the benefits derived from the meetings which were centered about six problems of educational interest in the form of six panel discussions. Such problems as the social program, the building of the college morale, guidance, examinations and grading systems, and the extent of the teachers college curriculum were the type upon which the speakers expressed opinions. The delegates numbered about one thousand at this thirteen-year-old convention. Ruth Crowley, who was at the Columbia University Press Conference, heard talks given by staff members of The New York Herald Tribune and The New York Times, who counted personality and experience as the prime factors in the success of newspaper work.

At the State Intercollegiate Conference of Government seven students represented Lock Haven. Jack Livingston, who acted as the governor of Maine, and Joe Whitaker reported for the group in assembly. The conference was marked by a number of lively discussions on such vital contemporary subjects as labor, birth control, and the legalization of prostitution. Caroline Brown was elected chairman of the education committee at the opening of the session.

SPORTLITE

By JOE SARAFIESKI

Spring sports got off to a bad start when both our track team and our baseball club lost their first contests.

Bloomsburg's superior distance men proved fatal to Lock Haven's chances of winning the track meet.

We managed to win at least two places in each of the field events, but our runners were far from being in good running form.

"Jocko" Nevins lost the hundred yard dash by an eye-lash when Van Devender of Bloom broke the tape a split fraction of a second before our boy "Jocko" did.

A surprise to me and many others was the beautiful form which "Ace" Skerpon had in tying Bill Hopkins for the lead in the pole vault, the "Ace" really looked graceful each time he vaulted the cross-bars.

Our old standby "Ringie" Smith came through again by making the best tosses in both the shot-put and the discus events. Tom Conrad took a very close second place in each of those two events.

Merle Long proved his superiority in distance jumping by capturing a first place over Bloomsburg and our own second place boy Bill Hopkins in the broad jump.

Our baseball team started off in the wrong direction also. For the first six innings the ball game was a nip and tuck affair, but after that wow! The slugging Bloom boys hit the ball often enough to flatten it like a pancake. Walt Nolan started off with some fine support from his team mates, but things just couldn't go on that way so the hard hitting boys decided to park some baseballs around the vicinity of the highway and the centerfield portion of railroad tracks.

Bonebreak and Kobilaresik showed some very fine methods of stopping hard hit balls from going into the outfield, while "Rusty" Moyer turned in a classy performance at first base.

Ollie Byers, Gene Springman, and Earl Young have just returned from a sort of vacation. They spent a week or more in Detroit with the Williamsport Y. M. C. A. basketball team. If your geographic knowledge of Detroit is small I ask all questions to be directed at those three boys.

Some time ago I had an article in my column suggesting softball as a spring sport. Since that time I have read that many of our large colleges and Universities have undertaken the task of developing softball as a sport equal to the long reigning baseball game.

In the second contests of both our track and baseball team we showed up much better. The track team defeated Slippery Rock T. C. with the same outfit getting points for us, while the baseball team lost by one run to Indiana in close contest on the Indiana diamond.

you find valueless to you in your student teaching?

Replies: (b) Eight checks; (d) one check; (e) two checks; one answer indicated that none of the given courses proved valueless.

5. Have you any suggestions to offer which you feel would make teaching conferences more helpful to student teachers?

The answers showed wide general agreement: that there was not enough discussion of actual classroom problems as they arise by the supervisor (five student-teacher judgments); other comments follow: "Be more forward and frank in criticism—destructive or otherwise." "Permit greater freedom of expression on part of student-teachers in conferences without fear of reprisals." One comment asked for special conferences with the supervisor to discuss the individual class. One expressed appreciation for "supervisors who study the problems of the high schools, who can speak on problems intelligently and who can teach well."

6. Do you intend to follow teaching as your life work? brought forth the following answers: nine "yes"; three "no"; and one "undecided."

The Naturalist Club held their annual homecoming Saturday, April 30, 1938, at Rauchtown. This organization is noted for the large number of alumni who return each year for this event. Thirty-five alumni returned this year to renew old acquaintances, play ball and enjoy the delicious meal. Guests at the outing were: Genevieve Poole and Dr. and Mrs. Flowers and family. The successful event was planned by the following committees: General, Helen Nichols; Invitation, Hilda Smith; Transportation, Jack Livingston; Entertainment, Bill Brown; Food Buying, Marguerite Strayer; Grounds, Stanley Doblax.

Y. W. C. A.

Our Y. W. C. A. was represented at the Christian Youth Conference which was held at Harrisburg, April 22, 23, 24, by Pauline Barrows, Amy Zaner, June Freed, Rae Gundlach and Helen Nichols. Noted speakers at this conference were Kirby Page, Margaret Slatery and Jerome Davis.

Senior Farewell was held Wednesday, May 4, at Mrs. Bossert's one of the advisers of the club. Supper was served to many club members and faculty. Following the hot dog roast, a service was held at which each senior girl received a black graduation cap and a nosegay of violets. Ruth Baughman was general chairman of the successful event.

Alpha Sigma Tau

Alpha Sigma Tau pledges entertained the sorority members at an Easter party at the home of Miss Dorothy Sheasley, Flemington. A buffet supper was served. A fashion parade and an egg hunt were the highlights of the party.

Delta Pi. Financial difficulties have always prevented the action from occurring. The present members, by a succession of undertakings, have overcome all obstacles. Students on the campus who will be honored by being admitted to the fraternity are: Pauline Barrows, George Bluhm, Caroline Brown Ruth Crowley, Franklin Courter, Florence Duke, Alice Fredericks, June Freed, Ruth Freeman, Smith Harvey, Vera Lyons, Lois Long, Marguerite McCollum, Joseph McNerney, Woodrow Rohrbaugh, Jane Seltzer, Helena Silagyi, Ruth Simon, Chrls Slonaker, and Hilda Smith. Naturalists Honor Brown and Yohe

Miss Caroline Brown, Lock Haven, and Mr. Jack Yohe, Jersey Shore, were chosen as the honorary members of the Naturalist Club. Each year the two most prominent members of the senior class are selected for this honor. A faculty committee, elected by the Naturalist Club and composed of Miss Faddis, Miss Waldron and Dr. North, made the selections for this year. The committee made the announcement that its choice was based upon intellectual, spiritual and social leadership. Both Miss Brown and Mr. Yohe attended the annual banquet of the Naturalist Club, April 30, and were formally received into the club at the next meeting, May 5.

Miss Brown has been an outstanding student for four years. She is a member of Kappa Delta Pi, an honorary fraternity in education. She is also an active member of Sigma Sigma Sorority, past president of the Y. M. C. A. and a leader in the English Club.

Mr. Yohe has for four years been a prominent athlete on the college teams. In football Mr. Yohe was the varsity quarterback and has several times served the squad as captain. In track he is an outstanding hurdle man. He is also a member of the Delta Rho Beta, social fraternity.

Miss Russell, adviser of the Naturalist Club, commenting upon the selection, said, "Our honorary members each year surpass the selections of the previous years."

Education Club, will receive membership and become the chapter counselor. Dr. Bagley, Dr. and Mrs. Flowers, Dr. and Mrs. Rude, Miss Geary, and Miss Poole will be the guest of the chapter at the banquet.

Kappa Delta Pi was conceived by the Illinois Education Club, founded in 1909. This organization resolved to sponsor the founding of a national society with local chapters similar to its own organization. The aim of the organization is to foster high standards of preparation for teaching and to bring into bonds of fellowship those who have attained excellence of scholarship and distinction of achievement as students and servants of education. The incorporation of Kappa Delta Pi took place in June, 1911. In October, 1932, the title was changed to Kappa Delta Pi, an Honor Society in Education. At present there are more than one hundred and five active chapters in the colleges and universities of the United States. Other chapters in Pennsylvania are at Mansfield, Bloomsburg, Indiana, and East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. Many of the larger chapters may be found in the mid-western regions. Some of the outstanding members of the organization are: John Dewey, Graves, Thorndike, Judd, Hanus, Bagley, Bode, Dorothy Canfield Fisher, Walter Damrosch, William Kilpatrick, Jane Addams, James Angel, Mary E. Wooley, Paul Monroe, and Frank Ballou.

Sororities Enjoy Picnic

The girls of the three sororities on the campus enjoyed a picnic at the Loganton Long Run Park yesterday. The successful event was planned by the Panhellenic Council. Sorority girls in charge of the picnic were: Transportation, Ruth Datesman; Food, Ruth Baughman; Cooking, Mary Jane McKeever; and Games, Marion Brown.

Sport-O-Grams

By JACK YOKEMICK

Breaks A Record

Johnny Nevins, Teachers track star, broke the local college high jump record with a leap of 5 feet, 9 inches in a recent dual meet against Slippery Rock. Nevins also managed to turn in good time in the century dash when he won the event in 10.1 seconds.

Bloom Relay Team Impressive

Bloomsburg Teachers, who recently defeated the Lock Haven Teachers in a dual meet, entered a crack relay team in the Penn Relays, held at Philadelphia. The quartet won their race in the mile in fast time of 3 minutes, 25.8 seconds.

College Athletes Return

Ollie Byers, Earl Young and Eugene Springman, outstanding basketball athletes who played for the Williamsport Y team in the national basketball tournament, returned to their college classes. All three boys played against Detroit, Beloit, Michigan, and Hannibal, Missouri.

Sport Clinic a Success

The local sports fans and high school students were highly pleased with the sport clinic held at the college athletic field under the supervision of Coaches Fredericks and Bossert. The Teachers athletes gave the fans the opportunity to see the participation of correct techniques in football, track, basketball and boxing.

Nolan Will Soon Have Relief

After losing two games so far this season, Walt Nolan, Teachers twirler, will be relieved by Ollie Byers in the mound work. Nolan seemed to have tough luck in the seventh inning of both games. Pitching one game after another is hard on the arm. If you don't believe it, write to "Dizzy" Dean in care of the Chicago Cubs.

Quite a Throw

The Teachers College, which meets Shippensburg Teachers in a dual track meet, will have plenty of competition in the javelin event. According to the latest report, a boy by the name of John Armstrong, threw the javelin 190 feet, which took only a fifth place for Shippensburg at the Penn Relays, Philadelphia.

Ring News

Skerpon, Teachers welterweight is fighting in great form and proved his class to earn a draw with Koontz, a rugged fighter, at York, Pa. Skerpon caused Koontz plenty of trouble in the first two rounds but he seemed very tired in the last round and his rival collected enough points to earn a draw.

Wetzel was to make his appearance on the same card, but the promoters had no rival on hand. Ferd forgot to shave that evening, causing opponents to run for hide-outs!

laid in the very humble suburban kitchen of the young Johns.

The remaining members of the Dramatic Class participated in the various phases of backstage work. Rita Fleming served as student director, Shirley Byrol was prompter and head of the make-up. Dorothy Caprio had charge of the lighting. The stage was prepared by Jane Mervine and Ruth Freeman with the assistance of the cast.

Following the play Joe McNerney, President of the Dramatic Club, gave a short address on the various campus activities. The Bel Canto Glee Club then excellently presented two numbers.

Dr. Flowers Speaks

The official address of welcome to the guests from surrounding high schools was delivered by our President, Dr. John G. Flowers, in the college auditorium as a part of the High School Day program. Stating our purpose in having these students on our campus was not to interest them in Lock Haven alone, he said, "We invited you because we would like to be of some assistance to you as you make up your minds what kind of service you would like to go into."

There are attractions in any profession; but there are also some questions which the person considering the profession should ask before making any decision. Some of these, as outlined by the President, are:

1. What social recognition does the profession have?
2. Does it provide for earning a living?
3. What opportunities does the field offer in the line of creative work?
4. What chances are there for future growth in the profession?
5. What chance is there for the individual in this field to render a great service to humanity?

The speaker then interpreted these features as they pertain the major professions, which, of course, includes teaching.

The audience seemed especially interested in the fact brought out by Dr. Flowers that the last census, taken in 1930, listed 30,000 kinds of work into which a person may enter. None of these lines of endeavor are overcrowded, he assured us, with persons who are well-trained, well-equipped, and fitted for their positions.

Afternoon Activities

After the assembly program Mr. Patterson directed everyone to the gymnasium for lunch. There each student was presented with a bag containing sandwiches, apples, potato chips, and chocolate milk. These lunches could be eaten on the bleachers back of the building, or up on the hillside.

so far as enjoyment is concerned.

The new officers were elected at the last regular meeting, Friday, April 29. Three weeks previous nominations had been made. Woodrow Rohrbaugh was chosen president for the year 1938-1939; George Bluhm, vice president; James Bowes, treasurer; Breon Lauderbaugh, secretary; I. B. Nolan, chaplain; John Bowes, sergeant-at-arms, were elected at the same time. Nominating speeches featured the election.

The progressive officers who have achieved such signal success for the fraternity for the past year were: Roy Kress, president; Jack Livingston, vice president; Woodrow Rohrbaugh, treasurer; Lynn Earon, secretary; Gerald Smith, chaplain, and George Bluhm, sergeant-at-arms.

Lunch completed, the group re-assembled in the auditorium to begin the tour of the campus.

The gymnasium was the scene of gay activity from 2:00 until 5:00. Under the supervision of Miss Maloise Sturdevant Dixon and Miss Dorothy E. Deach, the visiting girls augmented by many college students, enjoyed a variety of games including volley ball, ping pong, badminton, teniquits, paddle tennis, shuffle-board; all of which proved very popular.

A group of college women demonstrated folk-dancing. Following the exhibition, all the visitors and college students formed a large circle around the gymnasium for a gay folk dance.

The Sports Clinic for the men was held on the college athletic field. Coaches Fredericks and Bossert had demonstrated the correct techniques of football, basketball, track and boxing.

At 3:30, the scene of the visitors shifted from the baseball field to the college gymnasium. Here approximately three hundred hilariously participated in a two-hour social entertainment. The committee making this event a successful one consisted of Miss Dixon, Miss Poole, and Miss Bentley. Miss Dixon was accountable for the prepared folk dancing, while the other committee members were responsible for the "best punch we ever drank" and the delicious cookies.
