W. W. A. SPRING FROLIC HELD IN GYMNASIUM

From the Treasure Hunt to the Dancing the Evening Was Enjoyed by All

SCHOOL ORCHESTRA PLAYS

The W. A. A. Spring Frolic was held in the gymnasium of the college Saturday evening, May 11. Emma Jane Lohr, President of the W. A. A. had charge of the Frolic.

The first attraction of the evening was a treasure hunt for three articles, namely, a bag of peanuts, candy and pretzels. In this event Emerson Packard and Don Rice were victorious.

A mock track meet was the main attraction of the Frolic. Each one of the six groups, which had been divided previously according to months of birthdays, sent a representative to each of the events. The mock track meet consisted of a mock dash won by Marie Williams, mock hurdles and shot put by Charles Thall, mock relay by Ralph Poorman and his team, and the mock high jump was won by Royce Johnson.

Refreshments and dancing completed the evening. The school orchestra furnished the music for dancing.

Y. W. Delegates Give Reports of the Millersville Conference

Reports of the Millersville Conference, held last week-end, were the features of the Y. W. C. A. program Wednesday, May 18. Mary Worcester and Grace Breidenstein, the delegates gave very interesting accounts of their trip.

Mary, who had attended the meetings of the Program group of the Conference, told of suggestions of programs, of practical suggestions for the time of meeting of the Association and for selection of magazines for the Y. W. room. We are quite proud to learn that our Association room is, in comparison with others, very well supplied with magazines for educational and recreational reading.

Grace told of the meetings of the Social group of the conference. This group not only worked on programs for social affairs for the Y. W.'s but also arranged an affair for the conference, a treasure hunt which proved thrilling and fascinating.

The talks gave the girls an idea of the worthwhileness of sending delegates to these conferences, for they did not realize until then the great work which the Y. W. C. A. is carrying on throughout the country.

OPERETTA, "THE LOST NECKLACE," GIVEN BY GIRLS' GLEE CLUB; PRELUDE FURNISHED BY CHORAL CLUB

A very talented group of girls, the Glee Club, gave an operetta, "The Lost Necklace," on Friday evening, May 10, in the College Auditorium. It was an entertainment of quite different character from any which they have previously presented.

As a prelude to the evening's entertainment, the Men's Choral Club sang three enjoyable numbers: "The Cooper's Song," "The Story of a Tack," and "Old Kentucky Home."

An American girl's unusual adventure in Spain formed the plot of "The Lost Necklace." The opening scenes showed the grape harvesters singing at their work. One of the Spanish señoritas, Lola, represented by Elizabeth Kittleberger, was asked by the others to sing. She sang the song "The Maid of Gerona," and in answer, Inez, another Señorita played by Beatrice Ellison, sang "Tis Well with Those." Inez and Lola sang other lovely Spanish songs until Margaret, the American girl, played by Margaret Spooner, came upon them. To show her love for her home-land was as great as their love for Spain, Margaret sang "My Homeland" for the harvesters.

A merry band of gypsies arrive, among whom there is a fortune teller, Esmeralda, played by Charlotte Mahaffy. For the amusement of the workers, she tells the fortunes of several of the maidens in true dramatic gypsy fashion. Then a couple of gypsy girls, Edith Lewis and Patty Bonner, gave a typical gypsy dance which was deservedly well applauded. Margaret discovers she has lost her moonstone necklace, precious because it had belonged to her mother. She accuses the gypsies of stealing it. Their wrath at this imposition is appeased only when Lola intercedes. Margaret tells her grief in the song, "My Mother, When a Girl," which moves the gypsies and the grape harvesters to sympathy. They make a successful search for the lost necklace and find it hanging on a grapevine. They then continue with their merrymaking, in songs by the señoritas, gypsy maidens, and by request, Margaret also sings. At the close of the day all wish Margaret luck on her journey home. The operetta ended with a chorus of all the gypsies, harvesters, señoritas, and Margaret.

The scenery very effectively represented a vineyard with its huge bunch of purple grapes. The costumes bright and colorful carried out the scheme. The chorus work showed much practice and skilful guidance by the director, Miss Whitwell. The special characters showed dramatic ability, and helped greatly to make the operetta the success it was.

That the audience enjoyed the entertainment thoroughly was evidenced by the sound of refrains hummed through the halls after the performance was over. One frequently heard was—

Gypsies can always your future foretell,

Bring you good luck or cast o'er you a spell.

J. H. S. Presents Operetta, "Hiawatha's Childhood"

Tuesday, May 14, at 3.15 in the afternoon saw a representative group assembled in the college auditorium to see the pupils of the Junior High School present "Hiawatha's Childhood," an operetta arranged by Bessie M. Whiteley and which won first prize in a national competition.

The dance of the Wind Spirits was beautifully done by the Junior High pupils. The fifth and sixth grades gave the dance of the fireflies, which greatly delighted the audience.

The music of the entertainment was under the direction of Miss Sisler, with Warren Scott at the piano. The combined efforts of the music, art, and physical education departments made the performance the finished product that it was.

Do it again, Junior High School!

"Let's go, Team!" yelled the farmer.

Y. M. Delegates to Gettysburg Meeting Give Reports

At the regular meeting on Wednesday evening, the Y. M. delegates who had been to the Gettysburg Conference gave a report of their experiences.

Johnson, Wagner, Poorman and McDonald were the representatives from S. T. C. A unique feature of their travel was the fact that they made their trip via the "thumb route." That is to say, they hitched. They told us that the Y. M. C. A. placards that they wore on their backs made getting rides a comparatively easy matter.

Each one of the delegates gave his impression of the conference, and many helpful suggestions were brought forth that should improve the service of Y. M. next year.

"I don't like the hang of things," remarked the convict on the scaffold.

STUDENTS HEAR FORMER PUPIL OF DANIELS

Mr. Malin Speaks to Students on the Daily Application of
Our Religion

RELIGION MUST BE HONEST

On Thursday morning, May 9, Mr. Malin, a former pupil of our Miss Daniel, spoke to the students at chapel exercises on religion and its application to daily life.

Most laymen, he said, have two habits, first, they accept the dogmatism of an expert, and second, they resist any change. The expert's advice, he said, is needed, but we must guard against dominance. Religion to be useful must be first-hand, and in order to get it first hand, we must search.

Religion gives us our attitude toward life, our conviction of what makes the most valuable things in life. First, he said, we must be honest. Those girls who have parties for their religions, and the boys who have John Wanamaker's store for theirs, have a dishonest streak in their religion. The generation of today must search for the absolute truth and not copy from the last generation and be mere imitators. This would delay progress, which is of vital importance.

In order to get this first-hand religion, we must begin to think of education and of religion as life itself. The religion we need is the kind that helps us to be interested in everything that man is interested in. For this we need to search for the facts, and then not fear our findings. We also need to gain a correct balance between ardent conviction and eager revision, he said, and to arrange for some spiritual inflow. In our busy lives, we are keyed to the tune of machines, and there is need for quiet, a need for prayer in our own way, a need to see more sunsets. Finally, he said, there is the necessity of sacrifice, an element which many of us try to escape. Christ sacrificed much that men might live. He has been called a Man of Sorrows. He sorrowed because he saw what people might be and then saw what people were content to be.

Effective Motivation Being Practiced by Miss Hommer

A fine piece of work is being done by Charlotte Hommer under the supervision of Miss Leshner, in the Third Grade.

There are four boys in this grade who are over-age, and much retarded. Miss Hommer is trying to get these boys interested in school work through other activities.

They have already developed home geography by observing the rivers and mountains. They also visited the brick yard and talked about the making of brick and its use. A visit to our new Training School building furnished opportunities to discuss iron, sand, cement, the construction of the building and its use when finished.

Specimens of coke were obtained and provided a desire on the part of the boys to know all about it. One day traffic signs along the river bank were read. At another time, the boys measured off and spaded the flower bed below the training school. Notice their plants growing the next time you go to the Arbor.

This means of teaching the boys has brought in the use of oral language lessons, reading, arithmetic, spelling and nature study. The results have made the effort worth while, for by means of these real life situations, Miss Hommer is succeeding to a certain extent in having the boys become interested in school work.

Rockefeller Story

The late William Rockefeller used to tell with delight a story illustrative of the financial genius of his famous brother, John.

"When John was a little fellow," he would begin, "a so-called Indian doctor visited our town with a cure-all. The doctor, to get trade started, took out a bright new silver dollar and said he would auction it off."

"How much am I bid," he said, "for this bright silver dollar?"

"But the crowd was cautious, silent, suspicious. No bids were made."

"How much am I bid?" shouted the Indian doctor. "Come, come, gents! A nickel? A dime?"

"I bid a nickel," piped John D. Rockefeller at last.

"The dollar is yours, boy," said the doctor. "Hand up your nickel."

"Take it out of the dollar," piped little John D., "and gimme 95 cents change."

Little Lucy had been in bed but five minutes, when she called out, "Mamma, I want a drink."

"You must keep still and go to sleep, Lucy. You had a drink before you went to bed."

Ensued a silence of three minutes, then—"Mamma, I want a drink."

"Lucy, if you don't keep still and go to sleep I will come there and spank you."

Silence for four minutes. "Mamma, when you come to spank me, please bring me a drink."

KLUB KORNER

The Rho Omega Lambda Sorority had their regular meeting on Monday, May 6, at 5.30. After the business meeting, plans were discussed for a picnic as a last social event.

The College Times Staff held their regular meeting on Monday at 7.15. Quite a number of the members were absent on account of practices and so forth, but a conclusion was reached that a new constitution be made to be used at the opening of the fall term. The following committee were elected: Sam Long, Chairman, "Peg" Ferguson, Elizabeth Dalby, Kate Anderson, and "Bob" Bolinger.

An instillation of officers was held by the Beta Sigma Chi Sorority on Tuesday, May 7, at 5.30.

Art Club met on Wednesday, May 8, at 7.15. After the meeting, lantern slides were shown of Miss DuBois' trip to Europe last summer.

Price Literary Society met Thursday, May 9, at 7.15. Plans were made for election of officers, the Board of Directors, and a nominating committee.

On Friday, the T. H. R.'s had a meeting in Price Hall to plan for their Alumnae banquet on Thursday, May 16, at Shuler's tea room. A nominating committee will be appointed on Monday, May 13, for the nomination of officers for the coming year.

Vesper Services Held in Honor of Mother's Day

Mother's Day was celebrated at Vesper services held in the auditorium at 6.05 Sunday evening, May 12. After the opening hymn and a prayer by Margaret Ferguson, who was leader of the meeting, Miss Wagner recited a poem entitled "Mothers," the theme of which was, "let us not forget to be kind to mother."

Marjorie Snow played a beautiful violin solo accompanied by Gene Harmon, after which Warren Scott read a lovely story of the boyhood of Jesus, entitled "The Mother." Margaret Weidley then very appropriately sang "Mother of Mine," with Warren Scott at the piano.

"Now the Day is Over" was sung as a closing hymn.

Dramatic Club Holds Annual Banquet at New Fallon

The members of the Dramatic Club held their annual banquet at the New Fallon Hotel, Saturday evening, May eleventh, at six-thirty.

The tables were very tastefully decorated in the club colors, red and white. The place cards were clever cards with Egyptian motifs, each containing a riddle and hidden answer.

The entertainment of the evening was furnished by the newly initiated members of the club in the form of readings, plays and skits. Several toasts were given during the course of the dinner.

Miss Arey, the faculty advisor of the club, was presented with a hand tooled bag as a token of the club's appreciation of her interest and untiring efforts in regard to the club's welfare.

After the dinner the members went to the Silk Mill Club House and enjoyed several hours of dancing.

EDITORIALS

The Girls' Glee Club presented something new and different in the form of an operetta, "The Lost Necklace." This was a most interesting entertainment and was splendidly given.

Just as anything which is at all worthwhile, this operetta, too, needed very hard and faithful practice in order that it might prove successful. Miss Whitwell, the director of the club, who made this event possible, deserves a great deal of credit.

We are always glad to have presented to us the talent which our own students possess and we wish to congratulate the girls of the Glee Club for the fine way in which they rendered their parts in the operetta.

The numbers given by the Men's Choral Club were also greatly appreciated.

In college we are likely to emphasize the intellectual and social sides of life and to neglect the religious. Mr. Malin, in his various addresses here Thursday, May 9, has shown us how the spiritual life may penetrate into all of life itself.

We have found many worthwhile thoughts in his addresses and feel that there is really something splendid after all in having a religion and applying it to everything we do.

Mr. Malin has made a deep impres-

Us and Others

Astrid Johnson and Emma Kelsall spent the week-end in Renovo. They returned ready to attempt any exam!

It seems that Elizabeth Dalby and Jean Peters are investigating other schools again. This time they reported a fine visit to Shippensburg.

Helen McClellan's mother spent Friday with her, and they went home together for the week-end.

Agnes Powers, Marian Fox and Eleanor Root spent the week-end at their homes in Bellwood.

Isn't it interesting to note that all those on the Danville excursion returned! A good time was had by all, so they say.

Mr. and Mrs. Twigg and Mrs. Acton, of Phillipsburg, spent Sunday with their daughters.

We're thinking of moving Elsie Harper over to East Dorm. Any time you look for her, you see her either entering or leaving Lear's room.

Helen Walters spent the week-end at her home in Mifflinburg.

Miss Marian Scott, of Montoursville, and Miss Ruth Russell, of Jersey Shore, visited Elda Hoffman.

Adda Edwards, Ethel Edwards, Sally Vonada, Sally Foreman and Edna Ernest staged a big feed Saturday night. All we got was a cracker.

Margaret Smeltzer has returned after having spent a few days at her home at Pleasant Gap on account of illness.

Grace Marx spent the week-end at her home in Williamsport.

Dorothy Robb and Leona Conrad, of Clearfield, former graduates here, visited Verna Peters on Sunday.

Dot Kling spent the week-end at her home in Altoona.

Maud Cunningham has returned from Portage after having been home for three weeks on account of an appendicitis operation.

Vi Morris, '29, visited friends here on Wednesday.

Athletics

Phillies Lead in Baseball

The Intra-Mural baseball game scheduled for Monday, May 6, was postponed on account of rain. The next day, Tuesday, the Phillies defeated the Athletics 11 to 3. The Phillies seem to be the farthest advanced in the league, while the Athletics appear to be far behind.

The Athletics forfeited a game to the Pirates on Friday, May 10. They were at a great disadvantage in this game as some of their team were ill, and others going home for the week-end.

With the exception of a postponed game, there is but one more game of Intra-Mural baseball to be played.

As a result of the track try-outs on May 7, Fred Malone and Robert Smith were selected to represent Lock Haven at the State Teachers College Track Meet to be held at Shippensburg on May 18.

In the try-out, Malone won two first places and one second place giving him a total of 13 points. Smith won one first place, one second place, and one fourth place, making a total of 8 points.

Girls' Athletics

The girls' athletics during the last week have included baseball and tennis. The baseball tournament has now reached the finals. During the course of the tournament several stars have been discovered, and we advise the big leagues, that when they want recruits, they should come to S. T. C. and select our stellar players. The results of the games played thus far are: Senior Primary's defeated by Junior Intermediate, score 27-18; Junior Primary's defeated by Third and Fourth Year's, score 27-6; Third and Fourth Year's, score 27-6; Third Intermediate's, score 16-6; College Soph's defeated by Senior Intermediate's, score 33-4.

This leaves a final game to be played between the Junior and Senior Intermediates.

The tennis tournament has not progressed so rapidly. The first round was to have been finished last Saturday, but because of the trip to Danville, several games had to be postponed until Monday. The results to Saturday morning, May 11, leave Roche, Kittleberger, Phillips, Reed, Evin, Anderson, Potts, and Zeigler still in the running, while Lohr, Noll, Galbraith, Scott, Sigmund, Diack, Peters, and Neiswenter have been eliminated.

There are ten matches still to be played off, and because of the great number left to be played, the second round of the tournament may be postponed until the middle of the week.

J.; Eida Hoffman, Montoursville; Charlotte Homer, Glasgow, Cambria Co.; Martha Hunter, Beech Creek; Genevieve Kennedy, Jeanette; Mary Louise Lewis, Sheffield; Doris Mattern, Phillipsburg; Alice Miller, Tyrone; Miss Myrna Miller, Aliquippa; Margaret Martin, Aliquippa; Clarance Mutchler, Williamsport; Constance Newcomb, Bellwood; Agnes Powers, Bellwood; Martha Sleight, Ridgway; Charles Vonada, Altoona; Mary Niebauer, Rosebud; Gertrude Haight, Altoona; Joyce Harpster, Chester Hill; Margaret Weidley, Altoona.

Lines Written in Early Spring

I heard a thousand blended notes,
While in a grove I sat reclined,
In that sweet mood when pleasant thoughts
Bring sad thoughts to the mind.

To her fair works did Nature link
The human soul that through me ran;
And much it grieved my heart to think
What man has made of man.

Through primrose tufts, in that green bower,
The periwinkle trailed its wreaths;
And 'tis my faith that every flower
Enjoys the air it breathes.

The birds around me hopped and played—
Their thoughts I cannot measure—
But the least motion that they made
It seemed a thrill of pleasure.

The budding twigs spread out their fan
To catch the breezy air;

Checking Up

One morning a negro sauntered into the office of a white friend. "Good mawnin', Mr. Withrow. Kin I use yo' phone a minute?" he asked.

"Why, certainly, Sam."

Sam called his number, and after a few minutes' wait, said, "Is this Mrs. Whiteside? Weel, I seen in de papeh where you-all wanted a good culled man. Is you still wantin' one? Then the man youse got is puffdectly satisfactory, and you doesn't connemplate makin' no change soon? All right, ma'am. Good-bye."

Getting Out a Paper

Getting out a paper is no picnic.

If we print jokes, readers say we are silly.

If we don't, they complain we are too serious.

If we write all our own stuff, they say we lack variety.

If we clip from other papers, we are too lazy to write.

If we stick to the desk, we ought to be about digging up news.

If we are out digging up news, we are letting things go hang in our office.

If we don't print contributions, we aren't showing proper appreciation.

If we do print them, the paper is filled with junk.

Like as not, some one will say we swiped this from another paper.

We did.
