Women join men on 7th floor McEntire Hall

By Mike McKay
Staff Reporter

This year McEntire Hall has a rooming situation truly unique to most dormitories at Lock Haven University.

Tim Susick, Associate Dean of Students, has instituted a co-ed floor, segregated by wing on the seventh floor of McEntire Hall.

Mary Lou Case, Hall Director for McEntire Hall, stated that no significant problems have evolved as of yet in the semester because of the co-ed arrangement, and she doesn't foresee any.

"Mr. Susick instituted the co-ed wing because of an increased number of women at the University," stated Case. "Originally the seventh floor was an all male floor."

There are two bathroom and shower areas on each floor so each sex has separate restroom facilities.

Senior Paul McElhenny, a resident of the seventh floor of McEntire Hall, said that there were no problems resulting from the unique situation.

"Personally, I think this floor is a lot quieter than the second floor of McEntire, where I lived last year," McElhenny added.

Kim Giorlando, a freshman living on the seventh floor, commented that it is fun living in a situation much different than most other dorms.

"Actually the situation in McEntire Hall is very much like the one already present in Smith Hall, only the lobby that separates the two sexes is much larger in Smith," stated Susick.

According to Susick, there are no future plans for making any more floors co-ed unless the need arises.

"We do, however, plan on instituting a plan tried three years ago but later dropped called 'Special Interest Housing'," stated Susick.

"The new program, whose project date is for the fall of 1987, will allow computer science majors or maybe social science people, for example, to live on the same floor or even wing," commented Susick.

The totally optional housing situation is designed to put students with similar interests together.

It's "girls only" and "boys only" this semester on 7th floor McEntire.

PUB Administrator Sharon Bange resigns

Sharon Bange

By Jeffrey Hilty
Co-News Editor

Currently, the Student Co-operative Council has no administrator for the Parson's Union Building.

Sharon Bange, the P.U.B. Administrator, has resigned because she will be joining the Air Force.

"I'll be leaving for the Air Force about January 12th and I didn't want to create a problem by resigning during the middle of the academic year."

Bange passed a test for bonus jobs that will teach her to be a linguist.

Bange was a Health Science major here with her emphasis on becoming a Physical Therapist.

SCC President Kevin McNamara said that although Bange's resignation created a void in the SCC Executive Committee, he will appoint an administrator as soon as a new P.U.B. administrator can be chosen.

"The Executive Committee will be conducting interviews in the search for a new administrator. I urge all interested students to apply," McNamara said.

McNamara also accepted the resignation of Rob Burns, Social Committee Chairman.

McNamara said that the position would be filled immediately and that he was grateful to Ken Foster and Sharon Bange for overseeing the job of the Social Committee Chairman.

McNamara stated that the recreation room in the P.U.B. will soon open and that all new equipment has been installed in the rec room.

Late last week, letters were stolen off this stone monument located by the Bell tower.

EDITORIAL

Stolen letters disgrace LHU

The picture on the front page of today's Eagle Eye is pretty sad. A few vandals have successfully turned a monument and official name marker, into a sorry representation of the students of Lock Haven University. I'm sure the story probably goes something like this: after a party Thursday night, someone was stumbling home, saw the sign and thought the large letters K and H, would look great in their room (maybe someone's initials). It must not have been too "spur of the moment", though, because the metal supports for the letters appear to have been cut or chopped, not just knocked off.

The stone monument was originally erected by LHU's Alumni Association and has been vandalised before. James C. Reeser, Director of LHU Alumni/External Affairs, is rightfully upset about the incident. He said that each one of the large letters stolen from the sign would cost $60 to replace. Reeser said that the Alumni Association simply cannot afford to replace the letters.

What makes the whole incident even worse is that it couldn't have come at a worse time with Homecoming only two weeks away. The mutilated sign will be a disgrace for the 16,000 LHU alumni living in Clinton County to see, not to mention the hundreds of returning alumni and guests on Homecoming weekend.

I'm sure the incident was never really meant to be destructive, just an adventure to get those letters. So, to the person or persons who took the letters...why don't you really think about it and reconsider. Is having your initials in big letters or an added decoration to your room really worth all the embarrassment that it is going to bring to the University? Come on, why don't you give them back...there will be no questions asked. Both you and the Alumni Association will feel a lot better.

Chris

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

Well, here we are again at "good ol' LHU." That is--if you can get out of your car. Yes, it's time once again to discuss: That Parking Problem.

Simply stated: the number of cars far exceeds the number of available (read:legal) parking spaces. I, along with many other out-of-town commuters, consider myself lucky to find a legal space when I can. I can only speak for myself, but while I can't afford a ticket every day, I can't be on campus at 8 a.m. just to park my car.

Okay, that's the problem. Let's talk solutions (or at least ideas). Perhaps Law Enforcement could issue a different color sticker for out-of-town commuters and allow them to park in Lot 8 (already designated for them). All other stickers could be easily spotted, and asked to park elsewhere. The cost would be minimal when compared to the cost of wasted paper (in tickets) or the cost of a new parking lot.

Also, I don't want to start a commuter war, but those who can would be helping those who can't by walking to school. (Before you in-town commuters get upset, read that last sentence again. See, I don't mean everyone.) I know it will be cold soon, and your feet get tired, but I used to walk. It saves on gas and snow tires.

Short of building another parking lot (which probably wouldn't be finished until next Sept. anyway) I can't think of any other alternatives. Can you? If so, please speak up. Until then can someone--preferably one of you "powers that be" out there--please advise all of us nomads where we can park until a long-term solution is found?

All efforts would be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,
Lee A. Mix

Dear Editor,

The article "On the wrong side of the ball" which appeared in the September 12 issue of the Eagle Eye addressed a complicated and widely publicized issue in sports today. However, the article seemed to suggest that drug testing is the only possible solution being considered by the NCAA and colleges and universities in the United States. The author failed to mention one other option which is currently being implemented at various universities across the country and deserved mentioning in his article.

Drug Education programs are currently being implemented at universities across the nation and are being reviewed by the NCAA and universities who are considering drug testing. Central Michigan University is one of these schools which has implemented a pilot drug education program. The program is designed around the concept that an accurately informed athlete will make a responsible decision about the use of drugs. The program is in its early stages, however, early results indicate that the program is having a positive effect on athletes.

Perhaps drug education is not the only answer. However, if athletes stop purchasing drugs by choice then drug pushers will be hard pressed to sell drugs and thus will be put out of business. This is not to suggest that drug education is the only viable option. Many possibilities exist. Drug education is not entirely fool-proof, but, then again, is drug testing?

Sincerely,
Daniel Gales

Game 1: Warriors edge Bald Eagles 24-21

By Bill Alexander
Co-Sports Editor

The Lock Haven University football team lost a heart-breaking game to the Lycoming Warriors 24-21 on Saturday at Hubert Jack Stadium.

Warrior quarterback Larry Barretta threw a 15-yard TD pass to Rich Kessler with 2:37 remaining in the game to pull out the victory.

The Eagle's drew first blood though as quarterback Pat Cahill scored from the two with seven seconds left in the first quarter. Mickey Miller's extra point made the score: LHU 7; Lycoming 0

Three plays later, Barretta hit tight end Jim O'Malley with a 59-yard TD pass. Rusty Fricke's extra point knotted the score at seven with 14:26 left in the second quarter.

Lock Haven regained the lead with 1:37 left in the first half when halfback Bruce Pendleton hit wide receiver John Klacick for a 28-yard TD pass. Miller's kick failed and the Eagle's led 13-7.

Lycoming came back with a 60-yard drive and scored with five seconds left in the second half on a two-yard TD pass from Barretta to Kevin Steffen. Fricke's extra point gave the Warrior's the lead at halftime 14-13.

Fricke added to the Warrior's lead with a 31-yard field goal at 10:15 of the third quarter.

Lock Haven regained the lead as Tom Smykowski scored on a one-yard plunge with 3:24 remaining in the third. Cahill ran for the two-point conversion and the Eagles led 21-17.

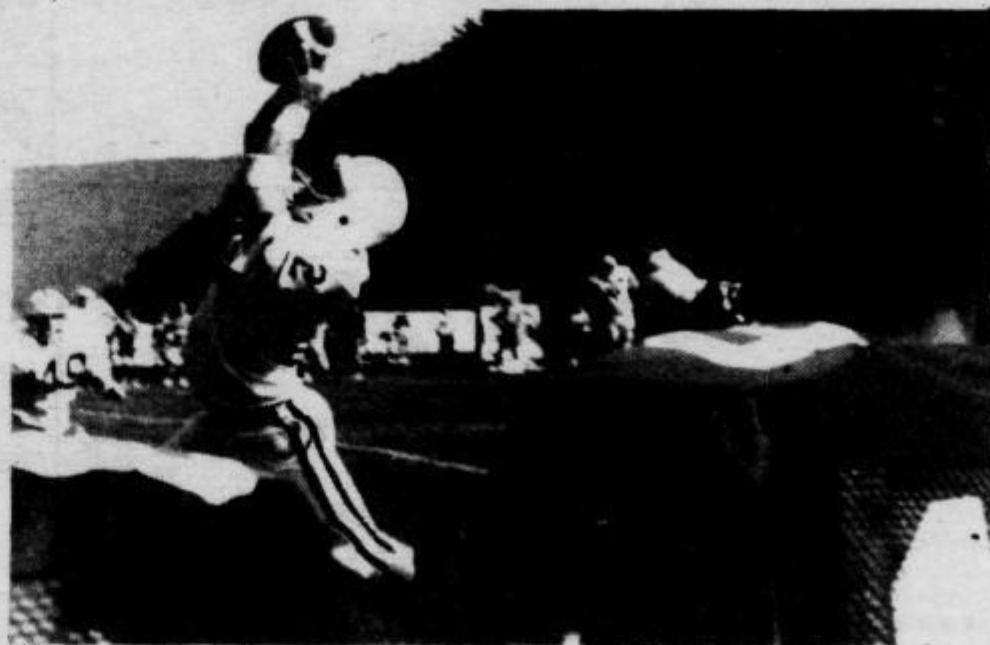

Lycoming came back late in the fourth quarter and drove 90 yards in 14 plays for the winning score.

Cahill led the Eagles with 74 yards on 18 carries and was 6-of-18 passing for 123 yards and two interceptions.

Rosie Brown added 72 rushing yards on 14 carries and Pendleton had 52 yards on 13 attempts.

For Lycoming, Larry Barretta rushed for 66 yards on 20 attempts and completed 18-of-32 for 255 yards and 3 TD's.

The Eagles face the defending PSAC Champion Bloomsburg Huskies away on Saturday. Kickoff will be at 1:30 p.m.

A Lycoming defensive back intercepts a Pat Cahill pass late in the third quarter. The Bald Eagles lost the close contest 24-21.

Soccer grudge match ends with no decision

By Bill Hunter
Co-Sports Editor

In a struggle that ended in a no-decision bout, the Lock Haven soccer team tied Trenton State University by the score of 0-0.

The Saturday evening match was a test for the Haven booters. Trenton State had not been beaten at home in its previous 16 games.

After 90 minutes of scoreless soccer, the match was forced into two 15 minute overtime periods.

During the second overtime period, Lock Haven defenseman Phil Stephenson was red carded and ejected from the game. According to NCAA rules, Stephenson must sit out the next game.

Lock Haven directed 11 shots and ten corner kicks at the Trenton net.

According to Coach Lenny Long, "Our defense was great, but we still cannot put the ball in the back of the net."

Long singled out midfielder Dimitrios Frangiadis and goalie Warren Westcoat as playing exceptional games.

Trenton State players took nine shots and three corner kicks at LHU goalie Westcoat.

The Bald Eagles return home against the Huskies of Bloomsburg on Wednesday at 3 p.m.

Long said, "They are a very young team, but they are better than ever."

Lady Eagles take 2nd in tournament

Joselle Mellito
Sports Reporter

In back-to-back tournament games this past weekend, the Lock Haven University Women's Field Hockey team took second place, defeated only by top ranked Division I University of Connecticut.

On Saturday, the Lady Eagles were victorious over the University of Maine by the score of 1-0. Heidi Firth scored the Haven's only goal at 7:18 into the second half.

Lock Haven attempted a total of 31 shots and eight penalty corners. Goalie Lori Sannella had nine saves.

Assistant Coach Rose Ann Neff said, "We had expected to beat the University of Maine team, but we looked rather shaky. Although we won, we didn't play well at all."

In Sunday's game against the University of Connecticut team, the Lady Eagles were defeated by the score of 3-0.

"We had some chances to score, but we didn't put enough sustained pressure on them in the circle," said Coach Sharon Taylor.

The Haven directed a total of 11 shots and six penalty corners on net. Sannella had 13 saves in the match.

"I did have a few ladies that played very well despite our loss," said Taylor. "Sannella, Ginny Neiss, Diane Lokey and Karen Fry all had good games. Fry did an excellent job guarding All-American Tracy Fuchs."

The University of Connecticut's record now stands at 3-0, while Lock Haven falls to 2-3.

The Lady Eagles home opener will be this Saturday at three o'clock against James Madison.

Women's Tennis visions bright future

By Gloria Seville
Sports Reporter

The Lady Eagles 1986 tennis season officially began yesterday in a home contest against the Warriors of East Stroudsburg University.

The match, originally scheduled to be played last Saturday, was rescheduled for Monday due to administrative problems at East Stroudsburg.

Third year coach Carol Ritter said she has high expectations for this year's team.

"We are strong all the way through and everyone is important. Even those who aren't in the line-up push those who are," she said.

As for the team's season this year, it also looks promising according to Ritter.

"Everyone is tough and they have been recruiting, but we'll just have to see how it all comes out," said Ritter.

Autumn Swisher, LHU's 1985 No. 1 singles and doubles leader and also last year's State champion, thinks the hardest teams to beat will be Bloomsburg and Shippensburg. As for her thoughts on this year's team, she said "Although we came in second in States last year, I hope we will take first this year."

Swisher's personal goals for the year are "to hopefully be number one in singles and doubles again."

Lisa Stopper, who had an undefeated record last season, will be Swisher's doubles partner this year.

Bernadette Spielberger, a LHU junior, said she thinks she will improve her game this season. Her feelings and attitudes for this year's team as a whole are good.

Returning lettermen are: Swisher,

Stopper, Spielberger, Jean Vuk, Colleen Werkheiser, and Kim DiCesare. New additions to this year's squad are: Peggy Buckmaster, Jo Culver, Diane Zieger, Karen Novak, Amy Wolfe, and Eike Hoffmann.

Results of yesterday's match were unavailable at press time.

Coming off a undefeated singles record last season, Lisa Stopper will team with PSAC champion Autumn Swisher in doubles competition.
