Successful Frosh. Orientation Program Starts Off 1940-41 School Year For Newcomers

Dance on Saturday Evening
Climaxes Big Week

Highlighted by assemblies and social get-togethers, the Freshmen Orientation program drew to a close Saturday when all college students were the guests of the school at the convocation exercises in the morning and the all-school party in the evening. These five days, devoted primarily to acquainting the freshmen with their Alma Mater, have been unusually successful and profitable ones for all concerned.

"Freshmen Week" began on Tuesday morning at nine o'clock with the reception of new students by the Orientation Committee and their student assistants. At ten, the opening assembly program was presented in the auditorium with welcome speeches by Dr. Patterson and other faculty members. The afternoon was taken up with freshmen tests, and in the evening, a moving picture party at the Roxy Theatre was scheduled.

Wednesday was registration day for the frosh and after lunch the Student Cooperative Council was in charge of the afternoon's assemblies at which time the beginners were introduced to their counselors and advisers. At 8 p. m. the annual Y. W. C. A. pajama party in the girls' dorm occupied the time of the first year girls and the upperclassmen.

The orientation program assumed a more sombre aspect Thursday, when ministers from various local churches met with the freshmen at a Ministerial Tea in the new library from 3:30 to 5:30 p. m. That evening the "Big Sisters" of the Y. W. C. A. entertained their "Little Sisters" at a movie party, while the boys were being initiated into dormitory life at the dormitory men's jamboree in the East dorm.

Saturday morning the convocation exercises were held. The aforementioned dance and party in the evening brought to a close this year's Freshmen week.

CALL FOR CHEER LEADERS IS ISSUED

Dene Hocker, captain of the cheerleading squad, has issued a call for candidates for this year's yell leaders. Jane Harrison and Blair Owens, along with Alf Hocker are returning from last year.

The spirit and enthusiasm which are inspired by this group was somewhat improved last year and if one good male cheerleader were uncovered, this year's squad should be the finest in years.

Anyone interested in cheerleading is requested to hand in their name to Dene Hocker sometime this week.

Two Members of Faculty Granted Doctor's Degrees

Mr. Fredericks and Miss Bortoff Get Doctorates at Penn State June 10

Two more members of the college faculty became doctors when Miss Bortoff and Mr. Fredericks received their doctorate at Pennsylvania State College on June 10. According to Miss Bortoff, the two local faculty members were almost hand in hand as they mounted the platform to have the degrees conferred.

Dr. Bortoff received her degree in Education, majoring in Education, minoring in psychology. With the completion of the ceremony, Doctor Bortoff became the first woman teacher of art in the Commonwealth to receive a doctorate. The subject of Miss Bortoff's thesis is: "An Approach to an Appreciation of Art." Within this thesis are many individual studies and problems comparing methods of developing an appreciation of art, controlled experiments comparing methods of drawing the human figure, and a study of the extent to which principles studied in art program are applied in

MISS POLLOCK WEDS MONTANA MAN

Announcements of the marriage of Miss Edna H. Pollock, of Libertyville, Mont., a member of the faculty of the Teachers College here for the past 14 years, were received recently by her friends here. Miss Pollock was married Aug. 20 to Walter Knudsen of Billings, Mont., at Forsyth, Mont.

A member of the college faculty here since 1926, Miss Pollock has been critic teacher in charge of the Sixth Grade at the Training School, and is widely known in the community. She is the daughter of Mrs. John F. Pollock of Libertyville.

During her stay here, Miss Pollock made her home at the residence of Mrs. W. W. Reed. Mr. and Mrs. Knudsen are now residing near Forsyth, Mont., where the latter owns and manages a large sugar beet ranch.

Student Council Set for Big Year; Frosh Welcomed

Objectives for This Year Explained by President Link—Committees Hard at Work

The objectives of the Student Cooperative Council for this year were explained and outlined for the Freshman class in an assembly period on Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 10. The program was conducted by Ralph Link, president of the council, who gave a detailed report of Council activities to the incoming students.

Dr. Patterson, one of the faculty advisers, gave an interesting presentation of the philosophy of student government and the way it has been incorporated into the set-up here at Lock Haven. Richard Hartzell, treasurer, spoke on the budgeting and allocation of student funds, and explained how such funds may be spent. Lewis Rathgeber represented the publicity committee and commented on the local plan. Closing the program, William Masterson gave a brief report on the social committee's schedule for the coming year.

Certain committees appointed last Spring have already begun to function rather actively. The initiation committee has met and is planning a very active program. (Fresh Please Note) this Fall. The budget committee has been working throughout the Summer in order to establish a definite arrangement for organizations to receive their allocations with the least possible delay.

GEN. STATE AUTHORITY ADVERTISES FOR BIDS ON COLLEGE EQUIPMENT

The General State Authority is advertising for bids for additional equipment at the Lock Haven State Teachers College, including seats for the field house, book shelves, and stocks for the library, for general alterations to buildings and for extension of the fire alarm system and other electrical work.

Bids close September 25.

Enrollment To Exceed Four Hundred; Large Class Of Freshmen

Plans for This Year's Debating Team Revealed

Plans for the Lock Haven Teachers College debating teams are being pushed with unusual activity this early in the year. Under the leadership of Dr. Weber a greatly enlarged schedule is being formed. Contracts have been made with Dickinson Jr. College, LaFayette, Muhlenberg, Moravian, Mt. St. Mary's, Susquehanna, California and Slippery Rock State Teachers Colleges, and Pennsylvania State College. If time permits the scheduling of debates with all of these colleges, Lock Haven will have a list of new and formidable opponents. This is the first attempt to open relations with LaFayette at Easton, Moravian at Bethlehem, and Muhlenberg at Altoona.

The prospects for the new debating teams seem very promising. Dr. Weber, who expects to form two and perhaps more teams, explained that he intends to use a large number of freshmen.

More Resident Students in Dormitories Than Any Time in Recent Years—Boys Predominate

As near as can be discerned from advance figures the enrollment for the Fall semester here at Lock Haven will be approximately 400 students. Late registrations may bring it slightly above that figure.

The freshman class is far and away the largest on the campus; with the sophomores a poor second and the juniors and seniors following in that order. For the past four years the trend has been towards a larger freshman class, an indication of continued progress so far as the size of the college is concerned. A very conservative estimate of the students enrolled and the number in each class would look something like this:

Freshmen 145
Sophomores 90
Juniors 80
Seniors 85
Special 20
Total 420

An encouraging feature is the number of the incoming teams who have signed for rooms in the dormitories. About 75 per cent of the freshmen boys are rooming in

25 Students Enroll For Special Course Of Work and Study

PROGRAM UNDER WAY

Freshmen to Attend Classes in Mornings and Work at Piper Aircraft Plant in Evenings

First arrivals among the students registered for the new term arrived Monday evening, when 25 were enrolled in a special work-and-study course, providing part-time employment at the Piper Aircraft Corp., came here to begin their schedule. Other first-year students arrived Tuesday and members of the freshmen class came in throughout the early part of the week, which was devoted largely to orientation activities for the new students. The upper classmen arrived in time for the start of classes Friday and the weekend was devoted to social events designed to bring the members of the various classes and faculty members into closer association.

The new study-work course for young men who will spend part of their time working in various shops in the Piper plant will cover a period of six months, during which the students will carry a regular schedule of classroom studies. Work periods will be interspersed with their class work, extending the course an entire year's period.

The 25 youths who have enrolled in this course are coming here from a wide area over the state. There were 60 or more applicants from which the 25 students were chosen.

New Teachers

The vacancy in the Training School faculty caused by the resignation of Mrs. Walter Knudsen, the former Miss Edna H. Pollock, has been filled by the re-assignment of the assignments of the Training School staff. Miss Coltrane Rook will take Miss Pollock's

ON ENTERING COLLEGE

After the efficient and well-carried-out orientation program presented by the faculty and their assistants, it should hardly be necessary to welcome the new students, and to tell them how genuinely glad we are to have each and every one of them here at Lock Haven. We have the feeling that they know they are welcome, and most of them are taking a fine attitude toward the greetings their present home and Alma Mater has extended.

Behind the scenes of this orientation program, deep in the hearts of every member of the faculty and every bonafide uppersman, lies the fervent hope that last week's activities kindled in the freshmen that certain spark which we call "school spirit." School spirit is something we don't talk about and can't write about. Nevertheless it is the force that makes a college a college and not just a diploma mill. We at Lock Haven are proud of our spirit and our traditions, one of which is that "Everyone here is the friend of everyone else," and if only something of this spirit can be instilled into our new students, a great step has been taken towards making our school what we want it to be.

To the freshmen—Now that you are here, relax and enjoy yourself—up to a certain point. You need have no fears. We have no such thing as hazing at this college, but on the other hand, you will be asked to take customs and our advice is that you take them in the spirit in which they are "offered." It is our contention that the tribunal does not or should not enjoy freshman customs any more than you will yourselves.

You have been told before that you will get out of college just what you put into it. Allow us to go a little further. Here at Lock Haven we honestly believe that you can get MORE out of college than you put into it. We're just that good on our school and YOUR school.

Lock Haven Merry-Go-Round

By RICHARD F. HARTZELL

Well, this week it becomes our duty to dust off the old keyboard and brush aside the cobwebs from our alleged brain. The dead-line is just around the corner and we have promised ourselves that this column will not be in the spasmoidic list this year. (A friend told us about that word spasmodic. He thinks we should give it to the frosh right away. P. S. It's in the dictionary, freshmen.)

The first matter that comes to our attention is, of course, the frosh, male as well as female. We have it from sources in the know that this year's crop is an exceptionally fine one. We hope that if this is true, that the freshmen will set a good example for the uppersmen. If the frosh get right down to work maybe the rest of us will follow suit. Thus we have outlined one of your biggest tasks, freshmen.

If we are to set a good example there are some things you should know. In the first place you (most of us) are rather proud of our student council. Lock Haven has a good reputation for student government not only in Pennsylvania, but all over the East. We have as fine a president in "Doc" Link as we could ask for. If we are to maintain our reputation the freshmen have to accept their responsibility immediately.

You as freshmen will meet all sorts of uppersmen. All of them will be glad to give you advice. We would like to give you a bit of advice concerning that advice. Listen to what everyone has to say, but don't believe all you hear. One of the most contagious of all the advice givers are the eternal knockers. When you classes of all the advice givers are the eternal knockers. When you classes of all the advice givers are the eternal knockers. When you classes of all the advice givers are the eternal knockers.

Alumni

FALL GREETINGS TO YOU GRADUATES

SEPTEMBER greetings, Alumni! We hope you've all had a pleasant Summer, and now that the season has come you plan to get back to Lock Haven's Campus for some of the Fall sports events.

The landscaping project is under way, and the turf is a bit dry up just now, but you'll probably be just as anxious now to see Campus with its new walks finished and its new buildings equipped.

Perhaps some of this job will be done in a month from now, on Oct. 10 and 11, when many of you who are in service will be back from the Central district P. S. E. A. meetings.

MORE than we could ever cram into this column, affecting Teachers College graduates, has occurred since the successful Alumni Day on May 25 which saw some of us together here. President W. Max Bossert of the Alumni Chapter and "Slim" Hoy Bossert have become parents of "Tommy" Bossert, so named by his older sister, Jane.

Sam Long of the executive board, a Williamsporter, has finished work for his master's degree from Columbia University, and among his other graduates were off this Summer working on advanced degrees.

Ray Zaner of the alumni officers has accepted the principalship of the Gustafsa School, resigning at Avis. He succeeds Charles R. Dale, another alumni, who went to work in Lock Haven for Piper Aircraft.

JACK Livingston, a recent graduate, who has been teaching in North Carolina, accepted a job at Alexandria, Pa.; Ray A. Kniss left a few days ago for his first job at Mayodan, N. C.; and Miss June N. Breining, high honors graduate of 1934, has accepted a position as critic teacher at Indiana T. C. She was teaching at Mill Hill High School. Caroline Brown is now teaching the first graders at Emporium.

I. B. Nolan of last year's class and Miss Lola Bittner, an undergraduate, were married in Maryland in mid-August. Mrs. Thelma Williams Grimm, a graduate of some years ago and "Miss Pittsburgh" in the Atlantic City beauty contest of 1928, was killed in a motoring accident in South Dakota. Dr. Victor L. Williams, M.D. graduate, and also an alumnus, of the University of Pittsburgh where he was graduated in dentistry, "Round the World" in Graham of Pittsburgh wegg recently married. The bride is the daughter of r. Ben G. Graham, superintendent of the Pittsburgh schools.

TWO of our "honorary alumni members" of the faculty made news this Summer. Miss Edna H. Pollock and Walter Knudson of Forsyth, Mont., were married in August. They will live there. Dr. R. Stewart MacDougall appeared in the "Twenty Years Ago" items in a local paper. He began his service with the college in 1920. Miss Edna A. Bottorf, graduate of and faculty member at Lock Haven, is now Dr. Edna A. She finished her work with the college in 1920.

We're anxious to hear of advancements, or special news concerning our alumni association members. Won't you write the editor of the Alumni Column of special happenings among your alumni crowd? Address M. B. Zeigler, the Lock Haven Express, Lock Haven, Pa. A penny postcard will turn the trick, and be most appreciated.

THE Alumni Association plans to center its interest on three points this year:

1. Alumni membership.
2. The expansion of our Alumni Chapters.
3. Building up our Alumni Loyalty Fund to aid students in college.

It's a big program. You'll hear more about it later. In the meanwhile, your alumni correspondent extends best wishes to you all for the Fall and Winter. M.B.Z.

HEAD COACH

Dr. J. Wynne Fredericks, athletic director and head football coach, holds high hopes for a successful gridiron season for the Maroon and Grey, despite the loss of several lettermen. Freshman prospects are the brightest in years.

Prospects Bright For Brilliant Soccer Season According To
Rev. Blake Hammond, Coach

TO PLAY PENN STATE J.V.

Prospects for a great soccer season at Lock Haven Teachers College are rosy this year, the Rev. Blake B. Hammond, coach, said last Thursday morning. Practice for the Eagle booters is scheduled to begin Monday at 4 o'clock.

Rev. Hamond, former All-America soccer star at Lehigh, expects a squad of at least 30 players, with seven returning veterans. Another cheery note is the fact that five freshmen with high school experience are expected to return.

"We expect to have the best team so far, as we will have more experienced material with which to work," Rev. Hammond said.

Several inter-squad practice games will be played before the season opens: "Black vs Whites," Freshmen vs Juniors; and Sophomores vs Seniors.

Student Manager Monroe Hurwitz announced he would welcome an assistant, immediately.

The schedule:
Oct. 12—Bloomsburg T. C. C. home
Oct. 26—Ithaca College, home
Oct. 30—Bloomsburg T. C. away
Nov. 1—E. Stroudsburg, away
Nov. 8—West Chester, away

NO BACKFIELD VETS
Fine Group of Freshman Candidates Pleases Coach Fredericks

Football, slightly on the wane here at Lock Haven Teachers since the great championship teams of several years ago, took on a new hue this fall as practice began two weeks ago. Dr. J. Wynne Fredericks, former Yale footballer, beginning another season at the helm, waxed enthusiastic as nearly 50 gridirers went through daily paces on the practice field.

Fine Prospects
"The finest freshmen prospects since the days of Jack Tohe, Al Brazinski, Mac Hoffmagle and other Eagle greats on the championship teams, are here this year," Dr. Fredericks said. Most of the line from last year's aggregation is back to add to the prospects.

Lost via graduation were Pete Mollura, Clearfield; Jimmy Hopkins, Six Mile Run; and Johnny Kainowski, Mt. Carmel, backs; and Earl Young, end, and Ted Tomlinson, center. Vic Crocco, flashy freshman fullback, transferred to the University of New Mexico, and Ned Fairchild, veteran lineman, did not return to school, because of the illness of his father.

Fredericks lined the boys up with John Plummer, Glenn Miller and Flash Patton, on the ends; Hank Blake and Henry Meng, tackles; Bill Beightol and Bob Kemmerer, guards; and Don Campbell, center.

In the backfield, Pat O'Neill, an env. on last year's eleven; Wm. Saggola, John Bernardo and Charlie Duncavage were working with Tut Moore, Walt Ganz and Stan Daley close behind.

The first game will put the Eagles against Indiana Teachers on the Indiana's gridiron, Sept. 28. East Stroudsburg will appear here Oct. 5 in the first home tussle.

The schedule:

"A Slim and Pretty Man Called Daley, Pitched Screw Balls While They Fanned"

This traditional department of the College Times opens another year with this issue. As you can see from our head, the feature of this issue is the story of one Stanley Edward Daley, athlete unparalleled. . . .

It smethat that Stanley boy is a member of the hurling corps of the Avis baseball team during the first few months. The Avis outfit, incidentally is right now engaged in a death struggle with a gang of baseballers from Beech Creek (home of those Bechdel Sisters) for the championship of the Central League. . . .

Of a summer evening, Stanley would journey to Avis and play ball with the Railroaders, who in turn would play ball with Stanley boy. Now, Avis, mind you, is a baseball town. The natives of that village do really go for the diamond sport in a big way, and for the baseball players in a bigger way. . . .

Word got around the village of Avis, as word will get around, you know, that the baseball team was to have a new pitcher this year—a college boy! And all the village damsels did pretty up in their finest manner on the evening of the Avis mound debut of one Stanley Edward Daley. And all the village swains did cuss and gawd right and left and vow to wreak (Continued on page 4) revolution to correct all the evils of our school until you know what those evils are.

Don't wake us from our complacent lethargy too rudely. We would like to put in a plug for one of the best advice givers and helping-handers around the old place, Will Poff. He can give you advice on anything from cramming for a music exam to diapers for babies. Will is a little older than most of us and he hands out good stuff.

Another item that is of particular interest right now is conscription. We met a fellow from the University of Minnesota last week. Believe it or not, quote Robert Ripley, he was a bonafide magazine salesman working his way through college. According to him the students at Minnesota are strongly in favor of conscription. We know a few fellows that aren't, also in which they haven't given it much thought. The last group are those in fact who are interested. Suffice it to say that the matter merits much thought. Any reaction will be welcome.

The student council will probably meet next week. So all you people with ideas should contact your representatives. Let us in on any good brainstorms you may have.

revenge upon the innocent brow of Stanley Edward Daley—athlete unequaled.

Of course, of all this disturbance, our hero was ignorant, as usual. (We might say that those last two words were not our idea, but the trusty butting-in of the uncouth rowdy on (or) elbow.) And so one summer evening, as the purple shades (what a color for shades!) descended in the village of Avis, the new hurler took the mound against the hardy mountaineers from the faraway village of Oxington. Tobacco-fueled farmers spat in the dust in disgust as the sweet-looking college boy ascended the hilly ascent that was the mound. Had it not been for the dark baseball cap set at a jaunty angle on his fair head, one might have glimpsed mebbe a halo 'round his manly brow.

And over on the sidelines, the village gals did sit—and sigh, and sigh and hope that by some chance the slim hurler would deign to glance their way and—but, no that would be to much—mebbe smile!

Our hero did get to work with vim and vigor, and settle the hash (and also the sauer kraut) of the Pennsylvania Dutchmen from the moorings of Oxington. When the smoke of battle had cleared, Stanley Edward Daley was the king of Avis. For the lean southpaw had won the audacious hill-billies, and he reigned supreme in the hearts of all true Avis folk.

And all unknown to friend and foe alike, there witnessed the game a youthful poetess, who like all the other Avis fems, of eligible years, was enraptured in her heart of hearts a distinctly warm feeling for the youthful and athletic Stanley lad.

And so the pretty miss, a baseball fan if there ever was one, hies herself homeward, and feeling the touch of inspirational genius, seats herself in her favorite lonely spot, and composes herself a poem. And such a masterpiece was the poem considered by all who read it, that it was thought publication was a necessity. Thereupon, the poem was forwarded to the sports editor of the most widely read newspaper in the vicinity, naturally the LOCK HAVEN EXPRESS.

It was there the author of these notes did come across the literary masterpiece. Casually reading through the poem, as all true poetry lovers do, the reader was struck with the opening two sentences of the fifth or sixth paragraph, he forgot which. In fact he was struck so hard, he nearly fell out of his swivel chair.

For it was those two sentences which are contained in the head, at the top of this column, which the young Avis High School sophomore had composed. Viz: "A Slim and PRETTY man called Daley Pitched screw balls while they fanned."

You, dear readers, (and I hope that I am correct in using the plural there) may draw your own conclusions from these few notes.

Summer Scenes Seen Under
Sundry Circumstances—Doc Link,

The last issue of this pillar decried the lack of beautiful co-eds in this institution, and stated that the lone example of feminine pulchritude in the school, at that time—if you remember—was the assistant editor of the TIMES, who has since graduated. As yet, this writer has not glimpsed any of the new chickens due on the campus, but the feeling exists that mayhap, without a great deal of effort, they can do better than the aforementioned assistant editor, even.

Griffith, backwoods professor, pitching the bull to a bunch of inebriated kids in a leathery one-room school up Pollock Holler. . . Senator La Rathgeber, just in there pitching.

Yes, the feeling that prompted last year's editorial department outburst on the assistant editor, has long since departed. Sad indeed. For the two editors concerned, natchery.

Equipment for the new campus buildings continues to arrive very slowly, so that the new term must start without the use of the new library and without the use of some classrooms which, it had been hoped, would be equipped for the opening of the fall work. So far, however, the only equipment for the new buildings, aside from the auditorium, which has been received and installed, are lockers, waste receptacles and fire extinguishers.
