

New Name Given Liberal Arts Curriculum

Recently at Lock Haven State it was decided that the Liberal Arts curriculum would be known as the School of Arts and Science.

The old idea of a liberal arts education no longer applies to today's use of the term. In the past, higher education was available only to the upper classes. Liberal Arts was designed to provide information about culture and history on a world-wide basis. Usually there was a concentration in Latin, philosophy, religion, Greek and modern languages.

Now there is more demand for specialization because the concern of most students with earning a living. Science is included in the liberal arts program and the Bachelor of Science degree which is given connotes a greater amount of specialization.

Because of the courses in arts and sciences, the majority of the state colleges prefer to use "School of Arts and Science" to the expression "Liberal Arts".

This change is merely one of nomenclature. No change in requirements or courses will result.

The "Liberal Arts" (School of Arts and Science) reading list will also remain the same; all enrolled in the arts and science program must read 40 books outside of class during their 4 years of college. Transfer students must read 5 books for every semester spent at Lock Haven.

A wide range of over 360 authors and titles are provided for the student to choose from. The list is meant to achieve the basic purpose of the Arts and Science program by developing broader interests in the student.

Mr. John B. Gordon, a newcomer at Lock Haven State, will be teaching speech and theater.

Gordon has spent the last seven years studying and participating in various summer stock productions across the country.

In 1966, Gordon was pro master for the Oregon Shakespeare festival. He also worked as a technician for six plays at the University of Maine and as stage manager for an outdoor musical in Texas.

Gordon studied for his masters degree at the University of Michigan and for the past two years has studied under Howard Bay (set designer for many musicals including "Man of La Mancha" and "Music Man".)

LHS is his first experience teaching in the classroom.

Humanities Coming to LHS

Lock Haven has been selected as one of 50 communities in 34 states to participate in the 1970-71 National Humanities Series. The series is being sponsored by the Division of Humanities at Lock Haven State College and by the Lock Haven Rotary Club.

Using the theme "Time Out for Man," the National Humanities Series team will present literature, history, drama, music, the fine arts, and philosophy in a clear and entertaining manner to the Lock Haven community, the area public schools, and on the college campus. All events in the series will be open to the public with no admission charge.

While in Lock Haven, the Series team will be hosted by Dr. Marcus Konick, chairman of the local committee; Mrs. Sandra Berkebile, scheduling chairman; and Miss Rebecca Gross, publicity chairman. Also on the committee are Mr. O. P. Gillock, Mrs. Evelyn Konick, Mr. T. Scott McLean, Sister M. Bernita, I.H.M.; Sister M. Greta Collins, I.H.M.; Mrs. Molly Fromm, and Mrs. Jean Klewans.

The National Humanities Series, first organized in the fall of 1969, is produced by the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation under a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Pop Concert Scheduled

The Steve Poorman pop organ concert group will perform Sunday, September 20 at 2:15 p.m. in Price Auditorium. The concert will consist of such numbers as: "Spinning Wheel," "Rhapsody in Blue," "How Great Thou Art," "Somewhere My Love," "Aquarius," and selections from "The Sound of Music."

Steve Poorman, from the Lock Haven area, is a 20 year old organist who arranges the songs, plans and directs the concerts.

Featured with him will be Ken Poorman and Carl Henke. Henke is from a family of 2. Henke is from a family of 12, 10 of whom became professional musicians. Their father and mother were outstanding musicians for many years. When Henke was 15 years old, he played piano with various Pa. orchestras. His career at the pipe organ began at about 16 years old, when he substituted for his father. Included in his musical talents are shows, dancing and cocktail lounge work. Currently, he is playing nightly at the Penn Harris Motor Inn.

Both Henke and Poorman have released stereo organ albums: "Watch What Happens with Steve Poorman at the Consoles," and "Carl Henke At the Organ."

Poorman is a junior at Elizabethtown College and is working for his M.S. in Business Management with a minor in music planning to work in the music field upon graduation. Poorman also attends LHS during the summer.

Ken, Steve's older brother, will assist on the keyboard instrument.

The Master of Ceremonies for the program will be Mr. Lee Moore of WWPA. On percussion will be Mike Romanesky. The Classical and amplified guitar back-up will be provided by R. Thomas Bower.

All proceeds from the Lock Haven concert will go to the Lock Haven Y.M.C.A. Tickets are available at the Y.M.C.A. at a cost of $1.50.

Facilities Completed For New Campus Look

The Lock Haven State campus will emerge with a new look in the next two years through the construction of planned facilities.

Slated for completion by Oct. 17, 1970, is an automatic oil and gas boiler plant which capable of supplying power to all future buildings in addition to the present structures.

High Hall, a 200 capacity men's dormitory will be ready for occupation before the spring term of 1971. Students now living as the third resident in over-crowded rooms are to receive first priority in choosing to residence at High Hall.

Expenditures have been allocated for a 200 capacity women's dormitory which is now in the final designing stage. Projected completion date is 1972.

Also planned for 1972 is another dormitory housing 400 men, a kitchen-dining hall, and a learning research center equipped with classrooms and laboratories.

By October 27, 1970, the administration offices now located on Fairview Street will move to the old library which has been converted to offices.

Cross Country Season Opens

It's professional football time again; and the Great Prognosticator is back for his second year of picking winners. The AFL and NFL are now united into one league under the supervision of Pete Rozelle. The 1970 schedule has some real exciting match-ups.

The Great Prognosticator is out to better last year's .730 percentage; and here is the way the first week of action shapes up:

AMERICAN CONFERENCE

HOUSTON AT PITTSBURGH-Last year was a very disappointing season for the Houston Oilers. They played only .500 ball for the season and finished four games behind the division winning Jets. The Oilers looked fair in pre season play but have not improved enough. Pittsburgh moves over from the NFL and has looked good during pre season play. They are led by rookie quarterback Terry Bradshaw and will certainly improve last year's poor 1-13 record. I'm going for an upset. My pick-PITTSBURGH

OAKLAND AT CINCINNATI-The Oakland Raiders are one of the finest teams in football. Last year their record was 12-2-1 and have the material to better that this season. Cincinnati is a fine young team and will give the Raiders a good contest. However, it will take more than youthful desire to stop Oakland this season. My pick-OAKLAND

BALTIMORE AT SAN DIEGO-Baltimore is another team new to the American Conference. The Colts are always a contender for championship honors and this season will see no change. The Johnny Unitas led Colts will be hard to beat. San Diego was 8 and 6 last season and played fair football in pre season. However, Baltimore should win this one. My pick-BALTIMORE

NEW YORK AT CLEVELAND-This should be a great game! The New York Jets have another fine team and will be tough to beat. Broadway Joe is back and playing; he looked good in his last three games. If Joe stays healthy and the defense remains stingy, the Jets could go far. Cleveland was 10 and 3 last year and should be a strong contender this season. They played good football in pre season. My pick-NEW YORK

KANSAS CITY AT MINNESOTA-This is a rematch of last year's super Bowl. The Kansas City Chiefs are the defending World Champions. They have looked good in pre season and could win it all again this year. They combine an explosive offense with one of the best defenses in football and will be hard to stop. Minnesota is out to avenge last year's defeat. However, they will be playing without Joe Kapp which will hurt them. I think that K. C. will make it two in a row. My pick-KANSAS CITY

NATIONAL CONFERENCE

ST. LOUIS AT LOS ANGELES-St. Louis was a poor 4-9 last season. The Cardinals have many weak spots which they must fill to be a winner. Los Angeles has another fine team and went unbeaten in pre season. The Rams should win easily. My pick-LOS ANGELES

CHICAGO AT NEW YORK-The Chicago Bears posted a poor 1-13 record last season. They have improved greatly; but still will be lucky to win many games. The New York Giants have been playing inspired football during pre season; and they should improve last year's 6-8 record. My pick-NEW YORK

WASHINGTON AT SAN FRANCISCO-Washington had its first winning season in 14 years last season under Vince Lombardi. They have continued to look good this fall and will give anyone a good battle. San Francisco posted a poor 4-8 record last year. They feel they have improved their team over the winter and did look good in pre season. However, there is much yet to do. My pick-WASHINGTON

DALLAS AT PHILADELPHIA-The Dallas Cowboys have to be the most frustrated team in pro football. Last year they were 11-2-1 in regular season play but lost to Cleveland in the conference championship game. This season they started slow in pre season but looked good toward the end. Philadelphia—what can I say? My pick-DALLAS

DETROIT AT GREEN BAY-This should be one of the best games of the week. Detroit was 9-4-1 last season and should be better this year. They have looked great in pre season and will be hard to beat. "The Pack is Back" and have looked great in pre season. They have built up their offense and defense; and they could be a contender for honors this season. Green Bay was 8-6 last year and finished below Detroit. I feel the tables will turn this year. My pick-GREEN BAY

The Lock Haven State cross country team faces its hardest test of the year when it opens its regular season on Saturday at Slippery Rock. The Eagles will be meeting Slippery Rock and Point Park, two of the best teams in the district.

LHS will count on six members of last year's team which won the District 18 NAIA championships. Back from last year's 10-1 team that dropped their opener to Slippery Rock 26-29, and then won 10 in a row are senior captain Mike "Em" Brow-ski, senior co-captain Dave Mosebrook, juniors Steve Podginy and Nibs Gordon, and sophomores George Bower and Carl Klingaman. Sophomore Steve Harnish has been injured and will not compete.

Bald Eagle freshmen who figure to be contributing to the LHS cause are Bill Sowich, Lloyd Peters, and Charlie Mathus.

Slippery Rock, the defending conference champions will be relying on an all veteran team led by Ed Gralewski and Randy Demer. "The Rock" lost once last year in the district championships to Lock Haven.

Point Park, fourth in the district last year will rely on Dan Haynes heavily on Saturday in the first dual meet ever with Lock Haven.

The race to the tape will be primarily between Podginy, Mosebrook, and Gralewski, but whichever team places its fourth and fifth men high will win.

Following Saturday's meet the Eagles will know fairly well where they stand for the district and conference championships.

Slippery Rock coach Bill Lennox said it will take a good boy to beat his Gralewski-Lock Haven has a couple "good boys".

Team Travels

Tonight the Lock Haven State Bald Eagles travel to Bloomsburg to play their arch-rival, the Bloomsburg State Huskies.

The Eagles will be coming off a 19-14 loss at the hands of Delaware State.

Bloomsburg is the Eagles oldest Pennsylvania Conference opponent. Since 1908 the neighboring rivals have 47 times with Lock Haven holding a slender 24-21 edge. Last season Lock Haven won a 28-25 thriller.

The Huskies had 65 varsity candidates report for pre-season drills. Included in the group were 25 lettermen led by tri-captains Mark Sacco, Joe Bolliglieri, and Hugh Jones.

Bloom Head Coach Jerry Denstorf stated that this year's team will be better off experience-wise and depth-wise than the teams of his two previous years. Game time is at 8:00 p.m. at the Bloomsburg High School Stadium.

Injuries Hurt Team Says Coach

The LHS soccer team of Karl Herrmann open their 1970 intercollegiate schedule on Saturday at Frostburg State College in Maryland.

The Eagle team is faced with illness and injuries to many key players. Co-captain Tom Ellis; last year's high scorer, Don Fay; veteran Jack Infield; Tom DeFrancesco; and standout veteran Jim Steicher, are among the questionable starters.

"We have many injuries in key spots for this first game, and Frostburg has a very strong team," commented Coach Herrmann.

"We are taking things day by day and will not be sure of who will be able to play until Saturday," added Herrmann.
