

LHS Students To Appear in Court

Four LHS students allegedly involved in a series of SCC bookstore robberies appeared before Alderman Samuel S. Walker Wednesday and were ordered to court.

Charged with burglary, larceny, and receiving stolen goods, Raymond F. Zale, 18, represented by Allan W. Lugg, entered no plea.

Appearing on charges of receiving stolen goods, Robert Bannister, Gary Sheruda, and Jacob Vilella were also represented by Mr. Lugg and entered no plea.

At the request of attorney Lugg, charges of receiving stolen goods against Louis Martarano were dropped due to lack of sufficient evidence. Trooper Daniel S. Wilt criminal investigator, of the Pennsylvania State Police served as prosecutor and concurred with Mr. Lugg's request.

All four were released under nominal bail and will appear before the next term of Clinton County court.

Monroe Hurwitz, bookstore manager, testified that a rough inventory revealed that three class rings, three jackets, a beer mug, and records were missing after an attempted entry on August 4.

Access to the bookstore had been gained by pushing out the false ceiling of an adjacent hall and crawling through the ceiling framework and dropping down inside the bookstore.

Fellowships To Be Offered In Education an Urban Affairs

Inquiries about the Danforth Graduate Fellowships, to be awarded in March, 1970, are to be submitted before Wednesday, October 1, 1969. Interested students should contact the local campus representative, C. Herbert Larson, Jr., director of placement, Bentley Hall.

The Fellowships, offered by the Danforth Foundation of St. Louis, Missouri, are open to men and women who are seniors or recent graduates of accredited colleges in the United States, who have serious interest in college teaching as a career, and who plan to study for a Ph.D. in a field common to the undergraduate college. Applicants may be single or married, must be less than thirty years of age at the time of application, and may not have undertaken any graduate or professional study beyond the baccalaureate.

Danforth Graduate Fellows are eligible for four years of financial assistance, with a maximum annual living stipend of $2400 for single Fellows and $2950 for married Fellows, plus tuition and fees. Dependency allowances are available. Financial need is not a condition for consideration.

The Danforth Foundation, created by the late Mr. and Mrs. William H. Danforth in 1927, is a philanthropy concerned primarily with people and values. Over the years the work of the Foundation, while oriented toward these concerns, has taken varied forms depending upon changing circumstances and the presence of promising opportunities for constructive action. Presently the Foundation focuses in two major areas, education and urban affairs.

Events Planned

The Physical Education Majors club will hold its first social event at Camp Hate-to-Leave-It this Sunday. The meeting will be in the form of a picnic from 2:00 to 6:00 pm. There will be opportunities for student-faculty interaction through which the club hopes to promote better understanding and cooperation within the physical education department.

There is also a program planned for Sunday, September 30 at 7:00 pm in Bentley Lounge which will feature speakers discussing the purposes and functions of the Men's Athletic Association, the Women's Athletic Association, and the Women's Athletic and Recreation Association. Following the program there will be an important meeting affecting local membership.

The club is not only open to PE majors but to anyone who enjoys participation in physical activity, whether this interest be in athletics, coaching, or recreation.

EAGLE EYE
Vol. XIII No. 15 LOCK HAVEN STATE COLLEGE Fri., Sept. 26, 1969

WHERE WERE YOU . . .

Son: Dad, remember that legend of 'Locked Haven' you told me about before I left for college? Well, in my sociology class we've been studying groups of people of the '60s. The students of Locked Haven have been the topic of several lectures and discussions. Would you like me to tell you what I've learned?

Father: Certainly son, I have a great interest in that institution which stifled my education.

Son: I questioned in our last conversation whether LHS students allowed tradition to rise from the dead. From what I've heard, tradition merely took a few days off. (No one more deserved a vacation, though. After all, tradition had quite a reputation to uphold and had been functioning effectively for a straight 28 years.) Within a week after the 'Bitch-In' tragic signs of tradition sneaking around the campus were appearing.

Father: Such as what, son?

Son: Are you sure you can bear to hear it?

Father: I'll try!

Son: Tradition's next move was to paralyze the student's feet. An open forum concerning the succession to the throne atop the mountain was conducted Thursday evening. A grand total of eleven students gathered in the auditorium! (Maybe if free hot dogs were being offered, the attendance would have equaled that of the 'Bitch-In'.)

Father: Are you trying to tell me that the students weren't concerned with the incoming president?

Son: Eleven representing the student body? Imply what you like Dad. I think the implication is quite obvious, though.

Father: I wish the health officials had known about tradition's plague--perhaps they could have inoculated the students against it!

New Library Opens Soon

Dr. Gilmore Warner, head librarian at LHS, announced that the new library will be open for limited student access early next week. Students can now obtain their own books from the stacks until 4:30 pm. The library will close early because of the limited staff.

Dr. Warner also stated that full scale operation is not immediately possible because the card catalogue is still located in the old library building, and the new furniture has not yet been moved in.

The only books remaining in the old library are T-Z and those in the reference and reserve rooms. Dr. Warner stated that it is necessary to move books ourselves because of Governor Shaffer's austerity bill which deprived us of funds for a professional moving company. However, the situation was beneficial in that paid student help was employed.

Lock Haven To Host Meeting In Tech.

Media specialists from Pennsylvania's 14 state colleges, plus Penn State, Temple, Pitt, and the University of Pennsylvania, will convene at Lock Haven State College today. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss and examine the use of media technology as an aid to classroom instruction.

The meeting is being called by the Higher Education Division of the Pennsylvania Learning Resources Association, which is composed of media directors, librarians, and television specialists from Pennsylvania's colleges and universities. The group meets five times a year and is meeting at Lock Haven State for the first time. Lock Haven was chosen because of its successful demonstration of how a small college with limited financial resources can establish an effective program in instructional technology. The group will examine Lock Haven's program in detail.

Mr. Arthur Reardon, Director of Learning Resources at Lock Haven State, will be the host, and Dr. V. A. Champa, Millersville State College, will serve as chairman.

Who Did It?: This was the marker found in front of Russell Hall Wednesday night.
